Bad Weather Complicates Ball Opening

By JACK HAND
Associated Press Sport Writer

NEW YORK, April 17 (AP)—Unruly spring training weather that washed out many final tune-up games, plus a trickle of returning ball players whose draft and war job status have been exchanged serve to further complicate the third wartime major league season that opens tomorrow under an unofficial nod of approval from the White House.

Vice President Henry Wallace will sub for President Roosevelt again in tossing out the first ball at Washington when Clark Griffith's highly-regarded Senators pry off the lid with Philadelphia A's. Other openers in the American are New York's Yankees at Boston, St. Louis at Detroit and Cleveland at Chicago.

In the National St. Louis Cardinals make their bid for a third straight flag at home against Pittsburgh. Chicago will be in Cincinnati for the traditional opener. New York's only game will find the Giants entertaining the Boston Braves while Brooklyn will invade Philadelphia.

Lots of Rookies

With all lineups liberally sprinkled with rookies, managers had banked heavily on the final week-end of exhibitions to give them a starting-day lineup, but most of them will have to experiment as they go along.

The unexpected return of Ed Head, Pat Ankenman and Lloyd Waner to Brooklyn, Spud Chandler: Ernie Bonham and Rollie Hemsley to the Yanks, Pete Coscarart to Pittsburgh, Lou Novikoff's signing and the surprising shift that sent Tony Lupien from the Red Sox to the Phillies are a few of the examples of last-second moves that will alter lineups.

A glance at tomorrow's probable lineups as compared with the 1943 opening-day box scores shows that 60 per cent of the men who started last year are still available.

Some clubs have as many as seven of the first nine and the average is five, not including entire squads of subs and other pitchers.

Of the 474 players under contract in the big show, approximately 40 per cent are 4-F and the same percentage 1A, on call or subject to induction. The other 20 per cent is divided among those with military discharges, under 16, over 38 and Cubans not subject to the United States Army draft for six months.

Chose The Cards

NEW YORK—(AP).—Of 67 baseball writers in the annual Associated Press National League baseball poll, 57 picked the St. Louis Cardinals to take their third straight pennant. Cincinnati was the choice for second, Chicago third and Pittsburgh fourth. Boston was generally picked for cellar position.

Giraud's Advice

NEW YORK, April 17 — (AP) — Gen. Henri Giraud, whose post as French Commander-in-Chief has been abolished, told his troops in a farewell message Saturday to "be disciplined, be prepared, be strong" and said he harbored "no bitterness" for his removal. The 65-year-old General was removed as Active Commander by the French committeen of National Libzeration Friday.

FELL 19,000 FEET—Tail Gunner Sergt. James A. Raley, Henderson, Ky., escaped death when he fell 19,000 feet to earth in the severed tail section of a Flying Fortress over Italy and landed in a tree. He received an injured back and cut chin.

BARCLAY ON BRIDGE

ON THE BORDER LINE

WHAT DO you consider the border line between a hand barely strong enough for an opening bid and one barely too weak? Whatever it is, in your system of counting, there is one way to resolve the question. Treat it as too weak to bid in dealer's position, but strong enough if you are in the second-hand spot. The reason is simple. One opponent, having failed to open, cannot have a strong hand. His holding ranges from mediocre to weak. That increases the likelihood that your partner has enough strength to protect your bid.

North: ♠ A 4 2 ♥ K 8 6 2 ♦ Q J 3 ♣ 10 7 6

West: ♠ K 7 5 ♥ A 3 ♦ 8 6 5 4 ♣ 8 5 3 2

East: ♠ J 3 ♥ Q J 10 9 4 ♦ K 7 2 ♣ K Q 9

South: ♠ Q 10 9 8 6 ♥ 7 5 ♦ A 10 9 ♣ A J 4

(Dealer: East. Neither side vulnerable.)

East	South	West	North
Pass	1 ♠	Pass	1 NT
Pass	2 ♠	Pass	3 ♠
Pass	4 ♠

Reaching out for game, as that pair did, is justifiable in rubber bridge, or in total point duplicate, when it would not be in match-point contests. But the principle underlying South's opening bid would be sound at any time. East having passed, it was more likely that North had a bit of strength than if South had been dealer and East had not been heard from. The chances were South would gain at least a part-score for his side by bidding, rather than cause his opponents to score.

West led his diamond 4, and South made his game without any fancy plays. He had to have a bit of luck, finding trumps so that he would lose only one trick in the suit, and managing to limit his other losses to one trick each in hearts and clubs. But all of these breaks developed for him. Even if he had lost one more trick in each of those suits, however, he still would have had a total of seven tricks, enough to make 1-Spade as a bare justifier of his bid.

Tomorrow's Problem

North: ♠ 6 2 ♥ J 10 8 7 ♦ A 9 6 4 ♣ A 7 5

West: ♠ Q 5 3 ♥ 6 3 2 ♦ J 10 3 ♣ K Q J 10

East: ♠ 9 8 ♥ A 5 4 ♦ K Q 8 7 ♣ 9 8 4 2

South: ♠ A K J 10 7 4 ♥ K Q 9 ♦ 5 2 ♣ 6 3

(Dealer: East. Neither side vulnerable.)

What is the best way for South to seek 4-Spades on this deal after West leads the club K?

Allied Council Essential Post-War Need

TORONTO, April 17 — (CP) — Formation by the Allied governments of a United Nations Council "vitally needed for most of the major political issues confronting the world" was urged here last night by Marshal Field, editor and publisher of the Chicago Sun. Such a Council, he said, should:

1. Have jurisdiction over the air traffic of the world.
2. Should facilitate trade between all nations and work to free that trade of cartel control.
3. Should strive to make fair access to vitally needed raw materials a fact.
4. Should set up machinery for peaceful settlement of international disputes.

Mr. Field, addressing the oronto Advertising and Sales Club, said the Council should "make it ts business to assist backward peoples to capacity for the realization of self government." Such self government is "not always immediately in sight but our times move rapidly and reforms even of this magnitude are by no means impossible."

Urging post-war international police force, Mr. Field said such an organization, backed by the popular opinion of the world, would do much to discourage local acts of aggression.

Germany must be disarmed and her outstanding war criminals punished, he said, and to ensure that German factories are not again turned to armament an Allied army of occupation must be kept in the country.

THEY FOUGHT BRAVELY FOR CASSINO—Under the protection of the Red Cross flag, New Zealand troops bring their wounded through the ruins of the Cassino area from the fighting line on Castle Hill. These New Zealanders are the troops that swarmed into the fortress town after Allied air and ground bombardment had made it a pile of ruins.

Mount Pleasant W.I. Re-elects Head For 2nd Term

MOUNT PLEASANT, April 17.—(ENS).—At the annual meeting of the Mount Pleasant branch of Women's Institute, Mrs. Harry Tully was elected president for a second term.

Other officers elected were as follows: Vice-president, Mrs. E. Lawson; secretary, Mrs. M. Handley; treasurer, Mrs. T. C. Morden; district director, Mrs. A. Tully; branch directors, Mrs. M. Best, Mrs. N. Fee, Mrs. M. Jones; convener of 'Prayer for Peace,' Mrs. W. H. Lowes; visiting sick committee, Mrs. T. Graham, Mrs. Ira Lowe, Mrs. H. Gardiner; flower committee, Mrs. W. H. Lowes, Mrs. T. C. Morden; W.I. committee, Mrs. W. H. Lowes, Mrs. T. C. Morden, Mrs. T. Graham, Mrs. Ira Lowe; pianist, Mrs. M. Best; auditors, Mrs. Ira Lowe. Mrs. W. H. Lowes.

The following reports were given by the secretary and the treasurer:: Eleven meetings were held during the year, with an attendance of 86 members and 24 visitors. 'Prayers for peace' were offered at the meetings under the convenership of Mrs. W. H. Lowes. A roll call contest was held throughout the year, winning side with Mrs. T. C. Morden as captain had 201 points against the losing side with 159 points.

A parcel of clothing was sent to the Russian relief. Mrs. T. C. Morden was presented with a life membership certificate and pin at the May meeting in recognition of her 35 years as an active and faithful member. In June the oldest and only charter member of the Mount Pleasant branch, Mrs. W. H. Lowes, was presented with a bouquet of roses on the occasion of her golden wedding anniverary. A pot luck dinner was held in July at the home of Mrs. Ira Lowe, with Mrs. Ballantyne of Toronto, as guest speaker. The August meeting took the form of a quilting when two quilts were quilted and sent to Red Cross. Miss Gardiner from the department gave a health lecture and demonstration on accident prevention and first aid for emergencies in the home. Cigarettes were sent to nine boys three times during the year and chocolates once. Two euchre parties and two pot luck suppers were held to help with this work. A travelling apron was sponsored for the British War Victims' Fund and a donation was sent to the Sugar for Jam Fund. The sum of $7.50 was realized from commission on the Farmers' magazine. A paper on citizenship, a report of district annual and a report on the convention held in Toronto made up the program for the year.

Cash receipts for the year, April 1943 to April 1944—Cash on hand, $20.47; members' fees, $3.50; life membership fund, $5; collections, including pot luck dinner in July, $9.40; hall rent, $12; refund on cigarettes sent overseas, $1; donations to cigarettes for boys overseas, $4.40; two euchre parties, $14.50; two pot luck suppers, $25.50; government grant, $3; 10 subscriptions to the Farmers' magazine, $10; travelling apron, $5.20; Coleman lamp, $2. Total. $115.97.

Hall, $13.49; convention fees, $1; flowers, $3.75; lining and batt for quilt, $1.49; cigarettes for boys overseas, $27.50; chocolates for boys overseas, $9.50; British War Victims' Fund, $8.35; cards for sick, $1.20; 10 subscriptions to Farmers' magazine, $2.50; expenses pot luck supper, $1.70; wood for W.I. hall, $20; caretaker, $4.36; insurance on piano, $3.75; postagt, paper and envelopes, $1.36. Total receipts, $115.97; expenses, $110.12. Balance $5.85.

Letters of appreciation for cigarettes and boxes of chocolates were read from six boys overseas. They were: Pte. J. Edgerton, Lieut. Stewart Lake, Pte. Alfred Perkins, Pte. Joe Pollard and Pte. Fairbairn Magee. The district annual meeting will be held on June 6 at Elizabethville.

Ways of replenishing the treasury were discussed and tickets will be sold on a knitted afghan, and a bingo party will be held in the W.I. hall on April 24. A committee of Mrs. Ira Lowe, Miss Jean Fairbarirn and Mrs. L. McConkey are in charge of arrangements. Mrs. T. C. Morden was named in charge of the tea.

A vote of thanks was tendered to the officers by Mrs. Ira Lowe for their efficient work during the year, the president having the record of not having missed a meeting. She also gave the auditor's report.

The hostess, Mrs. E. Lawson, assisted by the refreshments committee, Mrs. M. Handley and Mrs. Lowe, served refreshments.

Girls' Club Honors Leader For Her Work

WARSAW, Apri 117—(ENS)—30 members and visitors attended the Home Economics meeting of the Women's Institute in the town hall on Thursday.

Mrs. Stewart Clysdale presided and the treasurer reported on the financial work for the year, and a balance of $59. It was decided to invite Miss Young of Nicholls Hospital to be guest speaker at the May meeting, with the idea to encourage young women to become nurses.

A special meeting will be held in the next week to make definite plans for the cheese patrons banquet to be held in June. Rev. E. D. Snelgrove presented the Blood Donors' Honor Roll, which was donated by the Canadian Red Cross. This was hung in the hall. Mrs. Trevor Watts, leader of the Girls' Homemakers Club, presided for the program of music and readings presented by the Club. A very amusing skit, "Misjudgments" was well played and caused much amusement. The girls presented Mrs. Watts with a pair of towels in appreciation of her leadership during the winter.

Mrs. John Morgan and Mrs. George Weller judged the record books, with Edna Clysdale and Marion Davis getting the prizes. The Institute voted a donation of $5 to the club to be used on Achievement day, May 27.

Mrs. Digweed voiced the appreciation of the meeting to Mrs. Watts and the club girls for their entertainment and lunch, which they served.

ALL THE COMFORTS OF HOME—Another step in increasing the chances of rescue for shipwrecked sailors is this all-metal raft being tested by U.S. Coast Guardsmen near New York. The raft boasts a sail, canopy, stove, blankets, water and food to sustain 20 men for a month. It also is self-bailing.

Montreal Power Company Changes Hands

QUEBEC, April 17 — (CP) — The production facilities, distribution system and customer service of electricity and gas in the Province of Quebec changed from the hands of private company to public ownership to-day as a five-man commission, headed by Senator T. D. Bouchard, took over the Montreal Light, Heat and Power Consolidated, its subsidiary the Beauharnois Power Company, and the Montreal Power Company.

Provision for the expropriation of the three companies and the setting up of a commission to supervise rural electrification in the province was enacted in a Bill, introduced in the Legislative Assembly March 28, and given Royal Assent by the Lieutenant-Governor, Sir Eugene Fiset, yesterday.

Other members of the commission, including two engineers and two accountants, are J. W. McCammon, member of the Quebec Public Service Board; Raymond A. Latreille, Quebec civil engineer; L. E. Potvin, chairman of the Quebec Municipal Commission, and George C. McDonald, Montreal chartered accountant.

Salary for the chairman was set at $18,000 a year, while the other members get $15,00 a year each.

The commission assumes liability for the M.L.H. and P. bondholders, with the amount of such bonds set at $78,000,000 by Premier Godbout. Hon. Wilfrid Hamel, the Minister of Lands and Forests and sponsor of the Bill, said the big company and its subsidiary would cost approximately $154,000,000.

A sum of $10,000,000 will be provided to meet the costs of constructing rural distributing lines. Another $1,000,000 has been provided for loans to meet installations on farms to speed up rural electrification.

Case Of Whiskey Found For Flier

NEW YORK, April 17—(AP)—Capt. Eddie Rickenbacker's problem of finding a case of good Scotch whisky in these days of drought seemed solved to-day. He had two offers, 1,500 miles apart.

Rickenbacker wanted the whisky to send to Maj. Richard I. Bong, Wisconsin farmer, who has shot down 27 enemy planes in the Southwest Pacific, a new top mark for an American airman.

Demetrio Kyriakis, a night club proprietor in Nogales, Mexico, offered to supply the liquor "on behalf of the peoples of Nogales."

Later Doug Thompson, a hotelman in St. Augustine, Fla., said: "I've got only two cases left and Capt. Rickenbacker can have one of them."

How to get the Scotch to Maj. Bong still was a problem.

TEST YOUR SHOPPING KNOWLEDGE

Here's a challenge to your shopping I.Q. Each picture below represents the name of a well known EATON Brand. The illustration gives a clue and further help is given in the short description below each one.

The answers are included in the list of names at the lower right-hand corner of the page. See how many you can get. Then check your results with the correct names which are shown up-side-down in small type at the bottom of this list.

Think of the name of a famous British battleship and you'll also recognize it as the name of a well-known EATON brand found on men's shoes, suits, socks, hats, pyjamas, etc.

2

It's the name of a fashionable residential district in London and EATON'S selected the name to mark their own brand of fashionable, higher priced women's dresses, accessories, etc.

3

Our widest known Branded Line—the "yardstick of Value" . . . the name of which is coined from that of the founder of the largest departmental store in the British Empire.

4

It's a quality popularly ascribed to the Scotch, but is certainly applicable to all good housewives . . . and it fittingly describes a low priced EATON brand in women's shoes and hosiery.

5

Remember the popular expression for a little reserve fund? We thought it an apt name for our low priced EATON Brand of hosiery and children's shoes, etc.

6

There's a Scottish word meaning "slope" of a hill. Add to it the idea of "more" for your money and you get [illegible] in an EATON Brand of women's popular priced housecoats, hosiery, lingerie, etc.

Always look for.

EATON'S OWN BRANDS...

To thousands, EATON'S Own Brand names tell a worth-while value story. For years, they've been the basis of countless family budgets for everything from clothing to cosmetics . . . furniture to food. And all because EATON'S Own Brands have proven trustworthy.

This confidence was gained the hard way. Days, weeks and even months of research and comparison have gone into these brands. Why? To make your satisfaction a certainty. Yes, every article that aspires to an EATON label is subjected to test by EATON'S Research Bureau and Comparison Shoppers . . . naturally only the strong survive. And that's why you can expect and get sound value and outstanding quality when you buy EATON'S Own Brands. Some of our better-known brands are listed on this page. Look for them when you shop . . . buy them with confidence.

Due to wartime restrictions, some EATON Brands are missing; in others the assortment is limited. In most of them there is still a fine attractive choice sufficient for your present needs.

Huns Trapped In Sevastopol Fight From Street Barriers

By EDDY GILMORE—Associated Press Staff Writer

MOSCOW, April 18—(AP)—Two big Russian Armies were reported nearing a juncture in the outskirts of Sevastopol today for a final onslaught against a frenzied Axis garrison barricaded in the streets after failing to effect a large scale evacuation from the burning city. The Vichy radio, quoting a German report, said "the battle for Sevastopol now has begun," with heavy fighting taking place in the fortified region of the town.

(The broadcast asserted that the German-Romanian withdrawal toward the southwest of the Crimean peninsula is "being effected in perfect order and in complete accordance with German plans. Generals Feodor Tolbukhin and Andrei Yeremenko have not succeeded, in spite of all their efforts and numerical superiority, in enveloping the German retreating formations and cutting them off from the rear as they had hoped to do.")

Front dispatches said Gen. Andrei I. Yeremenko's independent maritime army was moving downhill on the city from the southeast after cracking a 2,200-foot mountain position known as Baidar Gate in a drive that yesterday swept up a road junction 12 miles from Sevastopol and five miles from Balaklava, scene of the famed "charge of the Light Brigade" in the Crimean War.

This force, moving through dense minefields, was expected to link up at any hour with Gen. Feodor I. Tolbukhin's 4th Ukraine Army, already filtering through Sevastopol's barricades from the north, the dispatches said.

All reports from the front, including those from correspondents who have flown night and day over Sevastopol, indicated the German command has not been able to accomplish a Dunkirk scale evacuation, although in the last few days the trapped Axis troops tried to get out of the battered port on any kind of craft they could find, throwing caution to the wind as cannonading Russian guns echoed over the city and bombers raked the docks.

The dispatches estimated thousands of Germans and Romanians were still stranded on the docks of Sevastopol while others, fighting a determined rearguard action in the suburbs, were pouring machine-gun fire on Red Army engineers clearing barbed wire and stone barricades as well as felled trees and deep mined trenches barring the way into the city proper. Inside the city, the Axis troops were said to have thrown everything they could find into the streets.

Meanwhile, the Red air force's heavy blows at the Romanian Dan-

'Human Torpedoes' Being Used With Success Against Enemy Shipping By Royal Navy

LONDON, April 18.—(CP).—"Human torpedoes" guided to targets by two men riding them in divers' suits have been used "with conspicuous success" against enemy shipping, the Admiralty announced to-night.

The torpedoes are about the same size and shape of ordinary torpedoes and are driven by electric batteries. Explosive charges are about the same. The crewmen who sit astride the body of the torpedo manouevre them slowly toward their targets and then dive under it.

The nose charge is then detached from the torpedo and fixed to the bottom of the enemy shp. Time fuses are set and the "human torpedo" is then ridden away before the explosion.

The use of this new secret weapon was disclosed by the Admiralty in announcing decorations for four navy men for a daring attack on the enemy base at Palermo in Sicily, before the invasion. A cruiser was sunk.

The Distinguished Service Order was awarded to Lieuts. Richard T. Greenland and Rodney G. Dove. The Cross of St. Michael and St. George went to Signalman Alexander M. Ferrier and Seaman James Michael Freel. Astride two torpedoes, they penetrated the harbor and sank the Italian cruiser Viminale.

All those decorated reached shore safely and were captured with the two-man crew of a third torpedo used in the operation.

The human torpedo has a relatively small range, presumably about ten miles. It is dependent upon a mother ship or submarine. It is similar to a weapon used by the Italians in what they called successful attacks on British shipping in the Mediterranean.

Drastic Security Measures Bans Diplomatic Travel

By ALAN RANDAL—Canadian Press Staff Writer

LONDON, April 18—(CP Cable).—The Government's unprecedented security measures banning diplomatic travel and the use of codes, along with the censorship of diplomatic bags, was seen today as just one of many portents that invasion time is nearer.

The drastic new steps apply to diplomats of all neutral and Allied countries except the United States, Russia and the British Commonwealth.

Berlin and neutral countries were quick to make the prophesy that the invasion is near after the new measures were announced today. But this new step is merely one of many signs in this embattled island, which holds the world's greatest military secrets, that soon invasion forces will move on Europe.

Eire Isolated.

Eire already has been isolated to guard against secrets reaching enemy ears in Dublin. Strange explosions across the Channel indicate German preparations for defence of the Continent while Berlin announces that Field Marshal Karl von Runstedt and Hitler have been conferring on defence plans. Japs Withdraw Burma Division

KANDY, Ceylon, April 18—(AP)—The Japanese were officially reported yesterday to have withdrawn a division from the Salween River area of Eastern Burma apparently in an effort to safeguard the few remaining routes supplying their embattled forces in Northern Burma and India.

The movement of the division was announced as Allied airborne troops applied increasing pressure on vital Japanese rail, water and road communications over a front now more than 130 miles wide and about 200 miles inside Burma.

One air-borne force blocked a main route supplying the Japanese around Imphal, Allied base in the Indian state of Manipur, by blowing a 35-foot gap in a road bridge in the interior. Anotner column ambushed and killed 100 Japanese, suffering three casualties.

Southwest of Mogaung in Northern Burma sharp fighting was reported taking place around road and rail blocks south of Henu.

In the area of Myitkyina, vital Japanese communications hub northeast of Mogaung, air commandos struck a sharp blow by blowing up a bridge over a deep gorge just after 400 enemy vehicles had crossed in a southerly direction. There is no other way to cross the gorge for miles on either side and it probably will require at least a month to repair the bridge.

Southwest of Mytikyina food and ammunition dumps were destroyed by ground and air action at Indaw and a British brigadier commented that "thousands of Japs either are living on their humps or going hungry."

French Are Warned Time Getting Short

LONDON, April 18.—(CP).—"The time is getting short," the French people were warned to-day in the latest of a stream of pre-invasion broadcasts from the BBC.

They were advised to store as much food as possible because "at least until the day of liberation comes, civilians must live on what is stored."

Even after France is liberated the Allies will not be in a position to distribute much food, listeners were told. The French were instructed to memorize details of London broadcasts for fear their wireless sets might be confiscated by the Germans.

The Shylock Touch

LOS ANGELES, April 18—(AP)—Kenneth M. Springer, 33, convicted of failure to report for military induction, stood before Judge Pierson M. Hall for sentencing. "I'm not a Shylock," Judge Hall said, "but I want a pint of blood from you." Springer received a three-year suspended sentence on condition he visits a Red Cross blood bank within a month, and was fined $1,000 and ordered to get a job in a veterans' hospital.

Allied Forces Gain On Imphal Front

North Burma Troops Continue Advance Down Mogaung Valley

By THOBURN WIANT
Associated Press War Correspondent

KANDY, Ceylon, April 18—(AP).—Allied forces carrying the fight to the Japanese invaders northeast of the plain of Imphal have scored advances and still are "making satisfactory progress," an Allied communique announced today.

Presumably this offensive was directed against one of the three original strong columns of Japanese which invaded India last month, although the communique did not specifically give the location of the fighting.

On the southern sector of the Imphal front Allied forces drove the Japanese out of one position near the track to Silchar, but the enemy counter-attacked and fighting still is going on, the communique added. In this area the infiltrating Japanese are striving for possession of the Bishenpur-Silchar track, an alternative land route connecting with the Bengal-Assam railroad, Allied lifeline to Burma-China operations.

Sharp fighting broke out on the Kohima-Dimapur road northwest of Imphal, where Allied troops, holding positions which the Japanese formerly had occupied, repulsed enemy counter-attacks, the communique declared.

Here Allied forces are fighting to break up Japanese infiltrations along the mainland route to the Bengal-Assam railroad.

There was "no material change" in the bitterly contested Kohima defence area, 60 miles due north of Imphal, the communique said.

Advance Continues

Chinese troops in north Burma continued their advance down the Magaung valley in their drive on Myitkyina, main Japanese base, forcing an entry into the Japanese strong point of Warazup, which is 25 miles northwest of Mogaung.

Allied aviation continued to harass and bomb enemy air fields, installations and concentrations throughout the Burma area. For the second time in three days American long-range fighters struck at the

Japanese Bases In Pacific Blasted Anew

ALLIED HEADQUARTERS, Southwest Pacific, April 18.—(AP).—Allied air and ground forces today reported new successes in their offensives against Japanese bases along the New Guinea coast.

The Southwest Pacific communique told of a heavy bombing attack on Hollandia, Netherlands New Guinea, where airdromes were blasted and supply installations, jetties and a coastal vessel were blazing. The raid Sunday was the latest of recent smashing blows at this base.

Australian ground fighters, who captured Bogadjim April 13, have progressed two miles along the 18-mile road northward to Madang, without encountering enemy opposition, Australian Imperial force headquarters reported. It appeared that the Japanese were evacuating the area, officers said. Bogadjim was an outpost of the Madang base which Allied aircraft have long punished.

Bomber patrols ranged the coast day and night from Bogia, north of Madang, to Wadke Island, west of Hollandia, hitting enemy airdromes, gun positions, warehouses and shipping. Two coastal vessels were destroyed.

Medium bombers of the Netherlands Indies Army Air Force and Australian Beauforts struck the enemy airdrome at Koeang Dutch Timor, 400 miles northwest of Austraia. Fighter planes destroyed three Japanese coastal vessels and damaged two more in attacks off

Polish Jews Ready To Strike Back

LONDON, April 18 — Jews in Poland now number scarcely more than 500,000 out of a pre-war total of 3,000,000, a young non-Jewish Pole disclosed in London today. He ecaped from Poland only a few weeks ago.

Most of the Jews who escaped massacre have been rounded up into 17 Jewish labor camps, mainly in western Poland. Hiding in forests, or disguised as non-Jews living in cities, they wait for the hour to strike back against the Nazi hangmen. Further 300,000 Jews have escaped to Soviet Russia.

The young Pole declared that Poles of all classes were most anxious that people living outside Poland should realize the sweeping extent of Jewish massacres. He added fresh details concerning the fierce battles in the Warsaw Ghetto when thousands of Jews living there were slaughtered. Picked SS Black guards using artillery, flame throwers and dynamite were brought up to overcome the fierce resistance of the Jews.

Some of the Jewish fighters were well-armed with guns and ammunition purchased from German soldiers. They used shortwave transmitters to communicate with the outside world.

Though the Nazis flooded sewers with tear gas to prevent escape by this means, many hundreds of Jewish fighters escaped and joined Polish partisans.

Not a single house remains intact in the Ghetto area, which Poles even now are not allowed to enter, as Germans are convinced some Jews are still living in cellars and sewers.

Aerial Duels Numerous Along Route

Germans Report Many Fliers Take To Parachutes

By W. W. HERCHER
Associated Press Staff Writer

LONDON, April 18. — (AP).—About 2,000 American heavy bombers and fighters attacked Berlin and other objectives in Hitler's continental fortress to-day, forcing German planes into heavy aerial battles.

One strong formation carried out the bombing of Berlin, the first daylight blow at the much-bombed capital since March 22.

The Britain-based bombers struck Germany in strength for the first time in five days. A separate force lashed at anti-invasion targets in the Pas-de-Calais area in Northern France.

The first announcement of the big operation indicated that probably 1,000 heavy bombers took part, accompanied by as many fighters flying a protective escort.

"When the American bombers approached the Berlin area their losses increased and a great many parachute landings were seen," Berlin claimed. The Nazis claimed that German fighter planes took off from dozen of airdromes along the route to engage the American formations "despite bad weather conditions."

R.A.F. Mosquito bombers blasted the Rhineland city of Cologne last night.

The Air Ministry announced that one plane was lost during the night operations which also included minelaying operations.

Allied Mediterranean air forces, meanwhile, complete 72 hours of incessant hammering of the enemy's Balkan supply lines last night as R.A.F. Wellingtons and Liberators smashed at the Plovdiv railyards, 85 miles southeast of the Bulgarian capital of Sofia.

Like Sofia and Belgrade, Plovdiv, Bulgaria's second city, is on the route of the Orient Express main line through the Balkans to the Dardanelles.

Bucharest Hard Hit

A Stockholm dispatch quoted advices from Switzerland as saying that Romanian railroad and oil field workers were fleeing their jobs by the hundreds as a result of the heavy air attacks. Bucharest was described as without water and electricity and 40 per cent of its population was said to have been evacuated.

The Germans have thrown a cordon of troops around the Ploesti oil works and have forbidden workers to leave even when off duty, it was said. Attacks on the rail centres have hampered the flow of supplies to the eastern front, the report added, and because of a shortage of labor the Nazis were being forced to use special troops for repairs.

London enjoyed its fourth raid-free night and a German plane which ventured over the south coast of England early today was shot down.

New Zealand To Transfer Skilled Men From Army

By C. R. BLACKBURN—Canadian Press Staff Writer

WASHINGTON, April 18—(CP).—A number of skilled workers in the New Zealand armed forces are to be transferred "to arrest a decline in food-production which threatens to have world-wide implications", Prime Minister Peter Fraser of New Zealand told a press conference here.

And lest the move prompts Congressional criticism in the United States similar to that which followed a similar decision in Australia, Mr. Fraser is going before the Senate committee on foreign relations tomorrow afternoon to explain it, and tell generally what people in the Antipodes are thinking and doing.

This move to decrease the New Zealand army for productive purposes, like that Australia announced some days ago, is taken on the advice of the combined chiefs of staff of the United States, the United Kingdom and New Zealand, Mr. Fraser said.

He said New Zealand had mobilized on a scale equivalent to a United States army of 13,000,000 and a home force of 8,000,000; its forces had fought gallantly on many distant fronts; its casualties were one in every 63 of population, killed, wounded, missing or prisoner—equivalent to total United States casualties of

Buy 43 Farms For Veterans

TORONTO, April 18 —(CP)—The Federal Government recently purchased 43 Ontario farms of various acreages to be used for re-establishment of veterans of the present war, it was learned today.

The lands, bought directly from the owners, are held in the name of Gordon Murchison, director of the soldier settlement of Canada and of the veteran's land Act. The farms vary in size from 40 to 100 acres of productive soil and are well equipped with habitable buildings and satisfactory water supply.

No lands have been resold to veterans so far mainly because of the impossibility of purchasing new or used farm machinery at a reasonable price, it was stated.

These properties are available only to veterans who had at least two years' practical farming experience before they enlisted. Others interested must undergo a period of agricultural training.

It was learned the government also is interested in purchasing acreage suitable for smaller holdings of about one acre.

It was explained that these lands would supplement the earnings of the veteran who will have to have outside employment and only work the holdings as a side line.

The maximum financial assistance available under the veterans' land act is $6,000 of which $4,800 is the maximum for land and buildings and the remainder the top amount to be used for chattels. The maximum indebtedness the veteran assumes is $3,200.

Says Kurile Islands Will Be Invaded

WASHINGTON, April 18.—(AP).—Invasion of a part of the Japanese Kurile Island chain reaching north from the enemy homeland may be expected, Navy Secretary Frank Knox said to-day.

Asked at a news conference whether it was likely that the United States would attempt to take that island group in the North Pacific, he replied "Sometime, sure, but nobody nows when."

The discussion was prompted by the increasing regularity of American bombing raids on islands in the chain which extends from the Japanese mainland north to the Russian Kamchatka Peninsula.

Burma Situation Controlled By Allies

Mountbatten Dispels Public Concern, Says Imphal And Kohima Safe

By DEWITT MACKENZIE
Associated Press War Analyst

Admiral Lord Louis Mountbatten's favorable overall assurance regarding the Allied position in relation to the Japanese invasion of the remote Manipur district of northeast India should help dispel some of the public concern which has been created in Allied countries by lack of adequate official news of the operations.

There's nothing on the face of the situation to warrant us in refusing to accept the assurances of the high command that the Allies have the invasion in hand.

What we seem to have been up against mainly has been faulty official presentation of the news. Judging from the strike of five British war correspondents against the censorship, there may also have been a fresh exhibition of stupid hamstringing of the press. Certainly the communiques dealing with the invasoin of India have, either by intent or through bungling, concealed what they should have revealed and thus have created for the average reader a worrying mystery. And, of course, this inadequate news has invited outbursts from the calamity merchants.

Never A Major Threat

Analysis of all the circumstances surrounding this Japanese invasion make it clear that it never has presented a major threat to India proper, whose capital of New Delhi lies some 1,200 miles away as the crow flies. How could three or four divisions of men seriously threaten that vast sub-continent?

The British have at least 1,000,000 troops, trained and fully armed, ready for action in India. There are powerful British and American air forces in that theatre. And there are transport facilities available to move adequate aid to the invasion area.

But how could such a small Japanese force penetrate into India if the Allies were prepared? Well, it's the easiest thing in the world for enemy columns to outflank one another in jungles so dense that one can see only a few yards.

It has been easy for the Nipponese to penetrate to the big plain in which stands the city of Imphal—the main Allied base in that theatre. Imphal is the immediate objective of the enemy. He wants it so that he himself can have a base from which he can strike at the Allied communications just to the west—the highways, the Bengal-Assam railway and the navigable Brahmaputra River. If he could cut them he would force the Allies to fall back on air transport to maintain a life-line to China.

However, Admiral Mountbatten's headqurateers assures us that the Plain of Imphal is strongly held by Allied forces, and that the city is secure. So is the town of Kohima, 60 miles north of Imphal.

A month from now the Burmese jungle will be deluged from the Monsoon which will last until fall. If the invadnig Japanese are still sticking to the Manipur district without a base, they will be in a bad way, for the jungle paths will be turned into raging torrents.

There's no reason for us to conjure up bugbears out of this situation.

Big Snowstorm Hits States

Calf And Lamb Losses Heavy In Colorado

KANSAS CITY, Mo., April 18. —(AP).—One of the most severe unseasonal snowstorms in years has spread out unexpectedly over the high great plains area of Western Nebraska and Kansas, threatening livestock and halting already-late farm operations.

McCook, Neb., had an unprecedented 19 inches of wet, heavy snow with the fall continuing into the night, and at Kearney, motor cars stalled in drifts from a 10-inch snowfall. Lighter snow was general throughout Nebraska and as far eastward as NorthCentra Kansas.

Sub-freezing temperatures were general throughout the area last night, brining fears to livestock men for the safety of both cattle and sheep.

In the Oklahoma panhandle, a 55-mile wind stirred up a dust storm which reduced visibility to less than a mile at some points.

The weather bureau at Kansas City forecast slightly rising temperatures for the area to-day, but gave no promise of the snow being melted in less than 48 hours.

Eastern Colorado ranchers reported heavy calf and lamb losses in the snowstorm which extended southward into northeastern New Mexico.

Inciters Face Stiff Fines

Wartime Regulation Curbs Trouble-Makers

LONDON, April 18.—(CP).—The government announced a new defence regulation to-day authorizing imposition of penalties up to five years' imprisonment and $2,000 fines to curb instigation of strikes.

The regulation, which comes into force immediately, presumably was an outgrowth of investigations earlier this month of mine, shipyard and other strikes impairing the war output of this country geared for invasion.

"No person shall declare, instigate or incite any other person to take part in, or shall likewise act in furtherance of any strike among persons engaged in performance of essential services or any lockout of persons so engaged," the regulation said.

It was explained, however, that a worker should be permitted to say what he likes at any proper trade union meeting, but if he starts fomenting a strike on the outside on his own initiative he becomes subject to prosecution.

It does not prevent strikes themselves. There is nothing in it to prevent a man from walking out as long as he does not incite others to follow his example.

Urges Closer Ties With Empire

Bracken Claims Canada Shuns Responsibility

OTTAWA, April 18.— (CP).— It would be a "terrible responsibility" for Canada to choose a course likely to lead to the impairment or weakening of co-operation with other nations of the British commonwealth, John Bracken, national leader of the Progressive Conservative Party, said in a statement last night.

Mr. Bracken said Canada, whose colonial days are "long past," has up to now failed in many respects to exercise her independent sovereignty, and the country realizes it is "only vanity" to "parade the glories of independent sovereignty and to ignore those responsibilities that independent sovereignty entails."

He said his views of Canada's position and proper function in the British commonwealth had been misrepresented following a brief comment which he made upon a speech delivered at Montreal April 11 by Rt. Hon. Malcolm MacDonald, United Kingdom High Commissioner to Canada.

(In his speech, Mr. MacDonald warned that if post-war policy is framed on the basis of a balance of power between Britain, America and Russia "we shall be heading for a disaster worse than anything which has yet happened to humanity.")

Mr. Bracken said his (Bracken's) comment that it appeared Mr. Macdonald had rendered a "very good service" in drawing attention to the danger of the balance of power doctrine has "given rise to misrepresentation."

He said also that his statement was prompted because he was anxious that nothing should be said or done to impede free discussion at the approaching meeting in London of Commonwealth Prime Ministers.

An Important Angle.

Accordingly, he considered the question of Commonwealth Co-operation raised by Lord Halifax, the British Ambassador to the United States, in an address at Toronto on January 24 "too important for the future of this nation to be made the subject of small political discussion."

(In his speech Lord Halifax said the United Kingdom could hardly claim equal partnership with the United States, Russia and China after the war without the rest of the British Commonwealth and Empire, and urged the Dominions, Colonies and Motherland to "fortify our partnership," not draw apart.

2,000,000 in proportion to population.

Mr. Fraser is here en route to the London conference of Dominion prime ministers.

He said New Zealand and Australia were anxious to maintain the individuality of nations in post-war international conferences, as against the idea of groups of nations forming into solid blocs on questions of world policy.

The Australia-New Zealand agreement signed at Canberra last Jan. 21 was in the nature of an agreement to discuss mutual problems on a defined basis and was not intended as a proposal to "cut across" world co-operative efforts of the democratic nations, he said.

Mr. Fraser said he hoped there would be an opportunity to discuss with Secretary of State Cordell Hull the question of sovereignty of South Pacific bases established by the American forces, and other phases of the Canberra agreement which he would also discuss in London.

He said all airfields, navy bases, camps, hospitals and other facilities in New Zealand had been "paid for by ourselves under the mutual aid agreement and we have been very willing and very proud to contribute in this way toward the common cause."

The Canberra pact of last January expressly declared that "no change in the sovereignty or system of control of any of the islands of the Pacific should be effected except as the result of an agreement to which they (Australia and New Zealand) are parties, or in the terms of which they have both concurred."

Children Who Haven't Seen Soldier Fathers Cheated Important Phase Of Family Life

When daddy comes marching home he's apt to find himself a stranger to the little family he left behind, and he will have to be introduced to the son or daughter he has never seen. A severe blow for the man serving overseas, is the separation war enforces, depriving him of the delightful experience of watching his brood grow up, sharing their confidences and helping them over the rough spots.

For what will soon be four long years, Mrs. James T. Lang, 268½ McDonnel street, has had to be mother and father, comforter and disciplinarian to her four growing children. Her husband, Pte. James T. Lang is doing a job overseas and is at present attached to Canadian Headquarters staff in England.

To Jimmy, a happy, bouncing lad of 4, father is a word with little meaning. He has never had one, and while other boys have dads to pal with and comfort them when they tumble and collect bruises, Jimmy picks himself up tearfully, and relies on his mother to reassure him.

"Not My Daddy"

Snaps arriving at regular intervals keep Pte. Lang present in the minds of his other children, but to Jimmy, he's just another man.

"There's daddy," exclaims Mrs. Lang, holding the picture before her young son, who with a coldly critical eye, pronounces scornfully:

"That's not daddy, that's a man."

Seeking to make the acquaintance of his young son, will not be the only job this soldier will face upon his return. When he left four years ago he had three little girls, but Barbara, already 16, will be a young woman. Gloria, his second oldest, is growing up too and at 13 is completing her first year in high school. His third daughter, Patsy, is in her ninth year.

Do Their Share

Although memory of their father is somewhat hazy, the children are proud and conscious of their responsibility of writing letters, and according to their mother, almost spoil him with mail. Letters bearing an overseas postmark are eagerly awaited by even the youngest.

Women, left with a family to bring up while their husbands are overseas, face a difficult task heroically. They have to assume the entire responsibility for the well being of their kiddies; run a household on a small allowance, and take over carpentry jobs, furnace pipes and other tasks, definitely within the male sphere of influence.

Like Mrs. Lang, however, they accept it as a matter of course, hiding their loneliness and heartbreak. Doubling up for missing fathers, whose memory they must keep alive in childish hearts, mothers exercise a little more sympathy and at times a little more sternness as they hold the family circle together.

They too are fighting the battle of democracy. If they fail to hold inviolate the things for which Pte. James Lang and his comrades are fighting for, the war will have been lost. There are no medals given them, but they are preparing the new generation to take their places in a greater Canada.

Oil Company Asks If Request For Removal Is An Order

Replying to a request from the council to consider removal of their gasoline tanks from Hunter street in Ashburnham to some place safely spaced from residential property, British - American Oil Company through their legal department enquired of the council Monday night whether the proposal was to be considered as an order.

"Tactless" tactic was the comment of one of the members, referring to the letter, and Alderman Swanston said: "They seem to be making it only worse for themselves. A few more letters like that and they might be glad to move out of here."

The letter from R. L. Hughes was referred to the legal committee of the council.

Following the fire at the company's tanks, the council on its own initiative and complying with a petition largely signed by residents of Ashburnham, wrote to British-American that the experience left the community apprehensive of a possible repetition of the fire threat to their property and even to their lives.

Mr. Hughes pointedly asked in his letter whether the council was questioning the legal position of the company, and, if so, what bylaw was being invoked.

It was admitted that no municipal bylaw applied to the company and their Hunter street property. City Solicitor Huycke said a bylaw could now be passed but it could not be made retroactively applicable to the British-American Company.

"Only good fortune and the efficiency of the firemen prevented that fire from spreading," Alderman Dutton said. "Something did happen, and it could possibly happen again, and it might have been a great deal worse than it was. Surely we have a duty to our citizens when their property is in jeopardy."

"The company, according to that letter, hasn't much regard for public opinion," was the comment of Alderman Sullivan. "We have written them three letters telling them that it is the desire of the community, as expressed in the petition we received, that some effort should be made to move those tanks to some other place."

Alderman Glover said the company had not lived up to their promise to send a representative to Peterborough to hear for himself what is the local opinion.

A motion by Aldermen Bradburn and Sullivan sent the Hughes letter on to the legal committee.

Rev. Paterson To Get Degree

REV. J. A. PATERSON

Invitations have been issued for the annual commencement exercises of Wycliffe College Toronto to be held on Friday evening. In addition to the regular graduation of students two degrees will be conferred in accordance with the regulations of the General Synod of the Church of England in Canada. The Reverend Professor Coggan M.A., B.D., will receive the degree of Doctor of Divinity, (honoris causa) on his departure from Canada to take up the Principalship of "the London College of Divinity" in London, England. The degree of Bachelor of Divinity will be conferred on the Rev. James Douglas Paterson, B.A., L.Th. rector of Christ Church, Oshawa. This is by examination and required the writing of ten papers in the Greek New Testament. Mr. Paterson is the son of the Reverend Canon Paterson formerly rector of All Saints' Church and he received his early education in Queen Mary School and at the Collegiate Institute. His first studies in Greek were under the teaching of Dr. H. R. H. Kenner.

RECTAL SORENESS AND

PILE TORTURE

QUICKLY RELIEVED

If you are troubled with itching piles or rectal soreness, do not delay treatment and run the risk of letting this condition become chronic. Any itching or soreness or painful passage of stool is nature's warning and proper treatment should be secured at once.

For this purpose get a package of Hem-Roid from McDermid & Jury or any I.D.A. or other drug store and use as directed. This formula which is used internally is a small, easy to take tablet, will quickly relieve the itching and soreness and aid in healing the sore, tender spots. Hem-Roid is pleasant to use is highly recommended, and it seems the height of folly for any one to risk a painful and chronic pile condition when such a fine remedy may be had at such a small cost.

If you try Hem-Roid, and are not entirely pleased with the results, your druggist will gladly return your money. —(Advt.)

Christ's Death Gives Redemption To Sinners

On Sunday evening another large audience gathered in the Regent Theatre to enjoy the Gospel song service led by Aylmer Moore, with Ashton Fife at the piano, followed by three vocal solos by Andy Gibson of Hamilton. The speaker was Rev E. L. Simmonds, M.A., B.D., of the Church of the Messiah, Toronto, who urged those present not to miss the service in Peterborough on July 16, when R. G. Le Torneau, chairman of the Christian Business Men's Committee International, who will give a business man's interpretation of the Gospel of Christ. The text chosen by the speaker was John 3, 16. Breaking down this text into four parts, he spoke on God Loved, then God Gave, then I Believe, and finally I Have.

"Why are we here?" he asked. "Because God loved and He wanted someone to love so He created man in His own image. When man sinned he rejected God's love and God cannot forgive sin. He is a merciful God, but also a just God, and our rejection of God by our sin cannot be forgiven. But God not only loved but He gave, and this gift is the antidote for sin, Sin required punishment, and so by giving His Son Jesus Christ the claims of justice could be satisfied. He was punished for our sin and so justice and mercy were both satisfied by the death of Jesus Christ.

"There is also the other part of this text, which is equally important. God loved and God gave, but unless Christians believe and accept His gift it is no gift at all," Mr. Simmonds said. "The penalty of sin is death, and if they would have this gift, Christians must first admit that they have sinned and then they can claim His promise, whosoever believeth on Him should not perish, but should have everlast life."

The speaker at next Sunday's service will be Rev. A. G. Bentle of Montreal, formerly of Peterborough, and the special soloist will be Mrs. Charles Baster of Toronto.

$1,000 Bonus Is Suggested For Returned Men

One thousand dollars in cash to every returned soldier who saw action on the fighting fronts, as a bonus to tide them over until they re-adjusted themselves to civilian life again was proposed by Reid Murdock, Toronto business man, addressing the Peterborough Lions Monday night.

Mr. Murdock is a past International Director of Lions Clubs and in a serious vein pointed out that great responsibility that rests with the "people who stayed at home." He stressed the fact that men who return from battle are restless, keyed to a high pitch, and will find it difficult to stay on a job, and must have time to get "back on an even keel."

"The cream of Canada's youth has gone out to fight for us, and whatever sacrifice we are called on to perform, it won't match what they go through. Employers of labor must realize when these men return that they must get special consideration. I am sure few of them abuse any privileges, but they must be allowed time for a smoke, or a soft drink, or even a walk outside if they feel the need of it. They will tax our patience, but we owe them much more than patience. Let us start thinking now of the problems we will have to face when the war is over, and thus plan to make a definite contribution to the re-establishment of fighting men as useful producing citizens."

Mr. Murdock stated it was imperative that a substantial discharge allowance be given these men, because it would take at least six months and perhaps a year for many of them to overcome their tension, nervousness and restlessness after going through hell for months on end.

The speaker taking as his topic "How do we Qualify," enumerated the contributions in time and cash from the 165,000 Lions in America to aid youngsters who are physically and mentally handicapped and to bring succor to those orphans in Britain whose lives have been twisted by enemy bombings. "Lions today are united in a spirit of service and are bringing an honesty of purpose before the world."

The meeting was the annual Past President's night, and Fred Cripps, was in the chair. J. E. Girven introduced the speaker and Herb. Jamison voiced the thanks of the members.

British Seek To Open Ledo Road

Fortunes Of War See-Saw Along Burma Front

BY JAMES M. LONG
Associated Press Staff Writer

LONDON, April 18 — (CP) — The Burma-India campaign, in which both sides are on the offensive in different sectors, appears to be headed for a May monsoon stalemate, with the Allies holding stubbornly to a narrow margin of tactical advantage.

When the monsoon strikes it has in the past bogged down all but airborne operations.

The over-all picture shows that the Allies are trying to blast a short-cut through northern Burma to open the Ledo road link between India and China. The Japanese offensive against Imphal and Kohima in India seek to counter this by cutting off the Allies' railroad supply line.

Have 90,000 Men

The whole Japanese force actually in action along some 700 miles of broken jungle and mountain front is estimated at six divisions— a maximum of about 90,000 men. It obviously is not aiming at the conquest of India.

The strength of the Allied defence force in eastern India has not been disclosed, but it at least equals the Japanese.

Permits Issued For Playgrounds

Kiwanis Club has been given permission to use the Ashburnham Bowl for their carnival on June 8, 9 and 10. The recommendations of the parks committee which were adopted by the council Monday night also permit Peterborough-Whitaker Cricket Club to use the Nicholls Oval for their games and practices.

Lion Club are allowed to equpi a playground at Riverside Bowl on condition they supply proper supervision for the wading pool and playground.

This motion also included the clause, "and assume all responsibility for accidents." Mayor Hamilton and Alderman Ovens, Sands and Dutton mildy contended that "surely the city could afford to assume the cost of insurance against accidents "to children using the Riverside spot the Lions Club are working on.

Alderman Marks and Bradburn suggested that insurance could be obtained and at reasonable cost. The council generally agreed that the Club was spending a considerable sum of money for the Riverside Park playgrounds and wading pool, and the city could at least provide accident insurance.

"It is not my idea," said Mayor Hamilton, "but I'd like to see us provide an indemnity policy."

Alderman Curtis, parks committee chairman, was asked to consult the Lions Club and report at the first meeting in May.

Another clause in the parks committee report was: "That the work recommended to the chairman by the Board of Education to improve King George School grounds be left with the chairman of this committee to do as he sees fit."

Purchase of used lawn roller from Goodwin Machine Shop at not more than $100 was left to Alderman Curtis to decide whether it was suitable.

To Plan Barn

Alderman Swanston reported proposals from a meeting of the property committee at the incinerator yard Friday afternoon.

They included: Purchase of a general purpose automobile, which will be available for G. G. Torrance, superintendent of the garbage collection and incinerating department. This car will not be only for Mr. Torrance, but it was felt that to know how the collection work was being done he should be able to get about the city.

Dismantling of the old incinerator was also recommended; and application to the government for permission to build a barn for the department's horses, and a plan of the municipal yard on Townsend street will be prepared with allotment of space for its most efficient use.

Obituaries

MRS. SAMUEL CLEGG.

Mrs. Hattie Sarah Clegg, 295 Stewart street, passed away Monday morning at Nicholls Hospital in her 83rd year. A resident of Peterborough for half a century, she had been in ill health for two years.

Born in Bridgenorth, daughter of the late M. S. Dean and Sarah Milburn, she was married to the late Samuel Clegg, who predeceased her 25 years ago. Her son and daughter also died some few years back. A sister, Mrs. W. H. White of this city, survives.

Mrs. Clegg was education in the public school at Bridgenorth and Peterborough High school and was a member of Trinity United church, in which she was an active worker while her health permitted.

The funeral will be held on Wednesday from the Belleghem Funeral Home, 190 Hunter street, at 3.30 p.m., Rev. William McDonald officiating. Interment will be made in Little Lake cemetery.

HUGH McMASTER.

The funeral of the late Hugh McMaster, for many years a resident of this city, was held from the Belleghem Funeral Home, 190 Hunter Street, on Sunday afternoon, with an impressive service conducted by the Rev. H. J. McAlister of Penticostal Mission.

Mr. McMaster was postmaster of South Dummer for many years, and operated a grocery store for some time in the city. He was in his 75th year.

He leaves to mourn his loss one brother and two sisters.

Interment took place in Norwood Cemetery.

DR. T. W. H. YOUNG.

Funeral services were held on Monday morning at 11 o'clock at the Belleghem Funeral Home, 190 Hunter Street, for Dr. T. W. H. Young, for the past fifty years a physician and surgeon of this city.

There was a large attendance of representative citizens at the service, which was conducted by Canon W. P. Robertson of St. John's Anglican Church. Dr. Young leaves to mourn his loss his sorrowing widow; one daughter, Dr. Phylis Black, Port Colborne; three son: Dr. Herbert of this city, Dr. Howard of Camden, N.J., and Douglas of Fort Erie, N.Y., and several grandchildren.

Honorary pall-bearers were F. D. Kerr, K.C., Magistrate O. A. Langley, Dr. A. Moir, Major Medd and Norman Hatton.

Active pall-bearers were V. J. McElderry, K.C., Guy Quartermaine, Horace Watkins, Charles Moore, Col. J. Dewart, Dr. N. Buchanan.

The funeral cortege proceeded to Toronto to the Necropolis Crematorium.

MRS. SOPHIA B. ANTHONY

The death occurred on Monday at her late residence, 870 Oasington avenue, Toronto, of Mrs. Sophia Bakewell Anthony, the mother of F. D. Carlisle of Vancouver, W. J. Carlisle, Lindsay, Charles Carlisle, Toronto and Mrs. H. W. Nott (Ruth) and Clarence Anthony. She was in her 91st year.

Private service will be held at her home, this evening at 8:30 p.m. and interment will take place at Little Lake Cemetery, Peterborough, Wednesday afternoon at 1:30.

WILLIAM ARTHUR HEAD.

The sudden death of William Arthur Head, 257 Bethune Street, occurred early Monday morning as he was coming off the night-shift at the Colonial Weaving Co., where he had latterly been employed. A British-born resident of the city since childhood, he passed away in his 75th year.

Born in Cheshire, England, son of the late William and Elizabeth Head, he came to Peterborough in 1876. He was a member of All Saints' Anglican Church. Surviving are his wife, formerly Henriette Day, and a daughter, Mrs. Jack Kemp. A sister, Miss Mary Head, and a brother, Fred, reside in Toronto, while a second brother, Frank, lives in Cobourg.

The funeral will be held on Wednesday at 2 p.m. from the Belleghem Funeral Home, 190 Hunter Street, with service conducted by Rev. W. A. Filer. Interment is to take place at Little Lake Cemetery. Pall-bearers will be Ray Hutchison, Harry Hutchison, Bruce Hutchison, William Lang, Ernest Payne and Walter Head.

Drastic Security

move imperative. Washington, Moscow and the Dominion capitals were consulted.

Just how necessary the action is can be seen by the increasing efforts of enemy propagandists to fish for information by broadcasting almost daily new rumors about the "second front."

The order in effect immobilized the diplomats and their staffs, including air, military and naval attaches, within Britain's shores for the time being. None may go home.

Diplomatic pouches, heretofore inviolate, now will be opened and all their contents put through the censorship mill. Not even in the First Great War was such action taken. Coded telegrams are banned.

The regulations went into effect at midnight and will remain in force until further notice.

"Any inadvertent disclosure of information which resulted in helping the enemy or in unnecessary loss of British or Allied lives might have such serious effects, not only upon the course of these (invasion) operations...that the Government has reluctantly felt bound to adopt this unsual security measure," the Foreign Office said.

"These restrictions will, of course, be removed at the earliest possible moment consistent with the requirements of security . . ."

A spokesman explained that such Allies as China, Brazil and others were made subject to the order because they are not immediately concerned with establishment of the western front.

Previous Allied steps to keep the invasion information from leaking to the enemy included banning visitors from an area 10 miles deep and 700 miles long on England's southern and eastern coasts, suspension of all except the most vital travel between Britain and Ireland, prohibition of all news concerning convoy arrivals, and suspension of air mail between Britain and neutral countries.

Although no mention of civilian travel was made in the new order, it was obvious that civilians would not be permitted to depart for neutral countries except under unusual circumstances. Civilian communications already are tightly censored.

The British Press applauded the government's action while emphasizing that it was no reflection upon the diplomats themselves.

A Berne broadcast recorded Monday night by CBS quoted German military circles as saying the invasion "will not be long delayed." A German transmission heard by the U.S. Broadcast Intelligence Service suggested a leeway of six weeks.

Allies Smash Rail Lines At Plovdiv

Balkan Centres Set Aflame In Series Of Raids

NAPJLES, April 18. — (AP).— Italy-based heavy and medium bombers continued the Allied pounding of German communications in the Balkans last night by attacking the railyard at Plovdiv, 85 miles southeast of the Bulgarian capital of Sofia, it was announced to-day.

A communique said the night foray followed yesterday's daylight blows by escorted heavy bombers against railway targets in Sofia and the Yugoslav capital of Belgrade and against airdrome and aircraft factories in the Belgrade area.

Twenty-six German aircraft were destroyed during the day's operations, the bulletin said. The Allied losses were two heavy bombers and eight fighters.

Other air operations yesterday included medium and fighter-bomber sorties against rail lines and bridges northeast of Rome and similar targets just beyond the battle lines across Italy.

Of some 50 enemy aircraftt encountered during the day, 25 fell before the guns of the heavy bombers and fighters during the Sofia and Belgrade raids. Bomber gunners shot down 15 fighters, one of them over Northern Italy. Escorting planes bagged seven fighters at Sofia and three transport planes near Belgrade.

Photo interpretation of the attack on the Sofia railroad yards showed numerous bomb hits in the freight yards, warehouse areas, and repair shops.

At Belgrade direct hits were registered on a warehouse, train sheds and the main station. Much rolling stock was wrecked. The aircraft factory and hangars at the Rogarski airfield near Belgrade was well covered with bombs.

Japanese air field at Heho, Central Burma, destroying some 17 fighters and damaging two in the air.

The communique disclosed that three days ago American heavy bombers of the 10th Air Force attacked Japanese shipping at Port Blair in the strategically important Andaman Islands off the coast of Burma, scoring near misses on three motor vessels, and destroying two enemy fighter and damaging two which attempted to intercept.

The Allied communique made no comment of ground action on the Arakan front to the south where British forces have run into stiff resistance in their effort to secure the Akyab peninsula which would be an invaluable foothold for any full-scale campaign for the reconquest of Burma.

(Tokyo radio broadcast a Domei dispatch claiming that the fall of Paletwa, 37 miles northwest of Buthedaung, was imminent. It identified Paletwa as an "enemy stronghold.")

Sixth Victory Loan "Salesmen Identification Contest"

THE PURPOSE OF THIS CONTEST IS TO INTRODUCE TO YOU VICTORY LOAN SALESMEN FOR PETERBORO AND DISTRICT

You would probably prefer to have the boys in uniform from your own street be the salesman to call on you . . . but they are in England or Italy. The salesman who will call on you is a patriotic, responsible citizen, doing his part and desirous, in a courteous and confidential way to assist you to do your part for our men in uniform by making the 6th Victory Loan a real success. Your salesman has been trained and is qualified to discuss Victory Bonds as an investment. He has an objective for your street. When he calls, welcome him . . . invite him into your home and have him acquaint you with the progress of the objective for your street and for Peterborough in general.

WIN A $100.00 BOND

HERE ARE THE RULES

In the 6 days following the appearance of the series of advertisements, of which this is the first, citizens of Peterborough, selected at random, will be asked, "DO YOU KNOW YOUR VICTORY LOAN SALESMAN IN YOUR DISTRICT?" If you are able to reply correctly—giving the name of the salesman who will call at your address, you will be asked for your name and address, which will be placed on a draw ticket for the "Victory Loan Salesmen Identification Contest." The draw will be made Monday, May 1st, and the lucky winner's name published in this paper.

RUFUS PAYNE

Mr. Rufus Payne, 592 Water Street, will be a canvasser on the Sixth Victory Loan, this being five Loans on which he has canvassed.

Mr. Payne is quite well known in this vicinity, having had a general store in Warsaw, Ontario, for some time, and before being in the general store business was a farmer in the Dummer Township. In 1932 he sold his interest in the store and came to Peterborough to associate himself with the London Life Insurance Company, and at the present time is still with the London Life as a salesman.

L. M. BROOKS

Louis (Lou) M. Brooks, 199 Dalhousie Street, is again a salesman on the Sixth Victory Loan, starting on his fourth campaign. Mr. Brooks was formerly a business man in the city, and for many years operated the Brooks Grill Hunter and George Streets.

During the last World War, Mr. Brooks was connected with the Imperial Munition Board as Chief Inspector of Steel. During this war he has to content himself with being a regular blood donor at the Red Cross Clinic.

Mrs. Mary C. Shortreed, daughter of Mr. Brooks, is dietitian at the Ferry Transport Command at Dorval, Que.

BRUCE SARGENT

Bruce Sargent, 513 Weller Street, well known business man in the city of Peterborough, is again campaigning on behalf of the Sixth Victory Loan.

Mr. Sargent has been a resident of this city practically all his life. At the present time he is district manager of the Great-West Life Assurance Company.

He is very active in the various civic clubs, being a director of the Lions Club, chairman of the Health and Welfare Committee of the Lions Club, and secretary of the Life Underwriters' Association.

W. E. METHERAL

Mr. Walter E. Metheral, 301 Boswell Avenue, is another charter member as far as Victory Loans are concerned, having served on the past five Loan campaigns and will again be canvassing on the Sixth Victory Loan.

Mr. Metheral is a familiar figure to Peterborough citizens, having been connected with Thomas Mark & Sons, in the general insurance business, for approximately twelve years. He was born in Peterborough and at all times has the interests of the city at heart and is always a voluntary canvasser during the annual Community Chest drives.

VICTOR TULLY

Victor Tully, 553 Downie Street, will again be a canvasser on the Sixth Victory Loan. Mr. Tully is well known in Peterborough, having been born here and has lived in this city practically all his life. For a time was in the general insurance business. He has canvassed on three previous Victory Loans, and will again be covering his same territory and will look to his former prospective customers for their continued co-operation to assist him in keeping up his enviable Victory Loan record.

C. A. GALLAGHER

Cecil A. Gallagher, 571 Park Street, is again a canvasser on the Sixth Victory Loan. He has served on two previous Loan drives.

Mr. Gallagher has been in Peterborough for 27 years, coming here from Toronto. He has been a representative of the Confederation Life Association for the past twelve years.

He has been connected with the Prince of Wales Rangers (R) for nineteen years, and holds the rank of sergeant.

JOS. MACKNESS

Mr. Joseph Mackness, 223 Princess Street, is again a canvasser starting on his fifth Loan drive.

Mr. Mackness has an enviable war record, being a veteran of the Boer War, 1899-1902. He was in the Canadian Army (PF) practically twenty-one years. In the last World War he went overseas in 1916 and was wounded the beginning of 1918 during the Second Battle of the Somme.

When in the Boer War, Mr. Mackness won the Queen's Medal (Victoria) and in World War I. won the General Service and Victory Medals and Long Service Medal awarded for good conduct and service.

W. S. ROSE

W. S. Rose, 265 Rubidge Street, is another charter member on the roster of Victory Loan salesmen, starting in again on his sixth campaign. In the business world of Peterborough he is a life insurance salesman, being connected with the Sun Life Assurance Company.

Being a native of this city, he is always interested in the various civic enterprises and is a regular canvasser on the Red Cross Community Chest drives.

J. D. ANDERSON

J. D. (Doug) Anderson, 20 Victoria Avenue, may be young in years, but he brings with him to the Sixth Victory Loan canvass a background of experience as far as Victory Loans and War Savings Stamp drives are concerned. This will be the second campaign for Mr. Anderson in Peterborough, but he was a salesman on four campaigns for Oxford County, and was chairman of General Sales for South Oxford County on War Savings Stamp drives.

Mr. Anderson has been in Peterborough about a year and a half and succeeded Mr. George McCague as manager of the local branch of the Imperial Life Assurance Company.

W. ROBERTS

Mr. Woodrow (Woodie) Roberts, 304 Frederick Avenue, who has been in Peterborough about six years, is just embarking on his first Victory Loan Campaign canvass. For a time he was employed at J. K. Hughes and at Grafton's, and at present is a salesman with the London Life Insurance Company. He is a member of the Y's Men's Club.

Signalman Ed Spurway, who is stationed on the Pacific Coast, is a brother-in-law.

J. S. CURTIS

J. S. Curtis, or Jack Curtis as he is known to his friends, of 13 Benson Avenue, is a charter member on the roster of Victory Loan salesmen. This will be the sixth Loan as canvasser for Jack.

Mr. Curtis, when not working on Victory Loan and Red Cross Community Chest drives, is associated with the Davis-Thompson Company, general insurance office, with which firm he has been connected for 25 years. He is also a representative of the Imperial Life Assurance Company.

J. G. HARKNESS

James G. (Jim) Harkness, 345 Park Street, is again a canvasser in the coming Victory Loan campaign.

He is well known in the city of Peterborough and always assists in the Community Chest drive, and is a regular Blood Donor, now coming up for his seventh donation at the Red Cross Blood Donors Clinic.

Lt.-Col. R. B. Harkness, stationed in Toronto, but formerly the C.O. of the Newmarket Basic Training Centre, and who saw active service overseas during the last War, with the 19th Welsh Regiment, is a brother.

JAMES SKINNER

Mr. James Skinner, 273 Monaghan Road, is another charter member as far as Victory Loan salesmen are concerned. Mr. Skinner is well known in the city, having been City Passenger Agent for the C.P.R. in Peterborough for thirty years, prior to his retirement in 1938.

Mr. Skinner, who is a charter and an honorary member of the Kiwanis Club, is always a willing worker on the Red Cross Community Chest and other civic drives. His only son, Fraser Skinner, saw active service in the last War, and at the present time is with the C.P.R., residing in Kingston.

L. A. McFADGEN

Mr. C. A. McFadgen, 475 George Street, is another charter member as far as Victory Loan salesmen are concerned. This will be the sixth Victory Loan for Mr. McFadgen as canvasser.

Mr. McFadgen came to Peterborough from Stratford about nine years ago, and opened the local office for the Canadian Government Annuities. He is now the special representative for the Canadian Government Annuities.

ALEX. SMITH

Mr. Alex. Smith, 554 Reid Street, although a new canvasser for the Sixth Victory Loan, brings with him a wealth of experience not only of bitter active service, but of Loans running in Canada in 1919.

Mr. Smith came to Peterborough from Winnipeg in 1939, and until recently had been employed by the Peterborough Utilities Commission in a temporary capacity.

During the last War Mr. Smith was connected with the 44th Battalion from Winnipeg. He was a drill instructor at Shorncliffe until the spring of 1918. At Amiens in August, 1918, Cpl. Smith received a wound on the left side of his face resulting in a permanent paralysis of the facial nerve.

GEO. W. HERON

George W. Heron, R. R. 7, Peterborough, Ontario, is a canvasser for the first time on this, the Sixth Victory Loan.

Mr. Heron has first-hand knowledge of wars, having served in World War I., and also in the present conflict. During the last War he was a pilot in the Royal Flying Corps, and had the reputation of being youngest pilot in the Flying Corps. When the present war broke out he immediately enlisted and was an instructor in the R.C.A.F. at Brantford and Hagersville, holding the rank of Flying Officer. Because of medical reasons he has since been retired.

ROY IRWIN

Roy K. Irwin, 136 Lansdowne, salesman with the Great West Life Assurance Company since December, 1941, is canvassing on the Sixth Victory Loan for the first time. He came to Peterborough from Keene about fifteen years ago and has been a resident of this County practically all his life.

He has three brothers-in-law who are in the Armed Forces, namely Sapper John Dunford, R.C.E., of Mount Julian, who has been overseas for two years; Able Seaman Robert Lacey, R.C.N.V.R., on active service on the Eastern Coast; and Cpl. Aleck Lacey, R.C.A.F., on active duty on the West Coast.

F. R. REVOY

Frederick R. Revoy, 145 O'Carroll Avenue, again is a canvasser for the Sixth Victory Loan. This is the fifth Loan campaign for Mr. Revoy.

He is well known to the people of Peterborough, but especially is he well known to the children of the schools, because he has been the Attendance Officer for the Board of Education for the past four years.

E. J. LEESON

Ernest J. Leeson, Havelock, is a new Victory Loan salesman on the Sixth Victory Loan. He is in the general store business operating under the name of A. Leeson & Son, Havelock.

He is well known in Havelock, having been in business there for some 19 years, and is always very active in Red Cross drives.

Donald Miller, his son-in-law, has been overseas since December, 1942, and is with the Canadian Army Overseas.

S. G. COLE

Mr. G. S. Cole, 709 Water Street, will again be a canvasser on the Sixth Victory Loan. This will be his third canvass, even in view of the fact that he has only been in Peterborough for a year and a half, having come here from Fort William.

Mr. Cole has retired from business life, although he is still a representative of the Canadian Institute of Public Opinion, Toronto, but before coming to this city he was associated with the Corporation of the City of Fort William for 36 years and before that was a Public School teacher.

JOHN LEE

Mr. John Lee, who resides at the Y.M.C.A., is another charter member on the roster of Victory Loan salesmen. This will be his sixth Victory Loan campaign.

Although he is comparatively new in the city, having come to Peterborough from Fenelon Falls in 1940, he is quite well known. Before coming to Peterborough he graduated from Shaw's Business College, Toronto, and for a time was employed as a private secretary in Toronto.

W. P. KINLIN

Mr. Wm (Bill) P. Kinlin, 298 Park Street North, is starting on his fifth canvass. He is a representative of the Dominion Life Assurance Company, having been with that firm for three years.

Mr. Kinlin is also on the roster of speakers for the Sixth Victory Loan, having done considerable public speaking during previous Loan drives.

His brother, Rev. P. S. Kinlin, is Chaplain for the Canadian Army in Regina, Saskatchewan.

A. J. McCLELLAN

Mr. A. J. McClellan, 599 King Street, is an old-timer as far as the Victory Loans are concerned. Mr. McClellan, who is the district manager of the Excelsior Life Insurance Company, is embarking on his fifth Victory Loan canvass. He has been district manager of this Insurance Company for some thirty years.

A. E. CAULEY

Arthur E. Cauley, 509 Homewood Avenue, will again canvass for the Sixth Victory Loan. Owing to illness he has had to discontinue his connection with the Public Relations Sections, on which committee he has served for the past four Loans.

Mr. Cauley has been manager of the local Capitol Theatre for over eight years. He is also past president of the Rotary Club, and is always willing to help on any civic enterprise.

Two sons are in the R.C.A.F.—Pilot Officer John Stuart Cauley and LAC. Bob Cauley.

S. A. DARLING

Stanley A. Darling, 529 Weller Street, is well known in the Peterborough district, having been in business for himself in the general insurance line for about 12 years.

He always assists on the Red Cross Community Chest drives, is past president of the Lions Club, and at present is President of the newly organized Peterborough Fire and Casualty Insurance Agents' Association.

This will be the third Loan on which Mr. Darling has canvassed.

R. H. McCLELLAN

Robert (Bob) H. McClellan, 282 McFarlane Avenue, is again a canvasser on the Sixth Victory Loan, this being his fifth Loan campaign. Bob specializes in Group Pay-Roll Division, working along with Everitt, Sinclair and Bob.

Peterborough is Mr. McClellan's home town, and he is in the general insurance business, being associated with Messrs. Clegg & McClellan.

He is a member of the Kiwanis Club and is an officer in the Sea Cadet Corps.

ROBT. EVERITT

Although Robert (Bob) Everitt has only been in Peterborough a short time, he has made quite a name for himself in connection with his "Stamp Out Hitler" Club and his hobby of collecting postage stamps to be sent overseas to the War Victims. To date he has sent over 200,000. He is assistant chairman of the War Savings Stamp Committee in charge of publicity and radio.

He resides at the Y.M.C.A., and is employed by the Empress Hotel, having been in the latter business some twenty-two years.

JOHN SINCLAIR

John (Jack) Sinclair, 618 Walkerfield Avenue, will be canvassing again on the coming Victory Loan, this making four Victory Loan campaigns on which Jack has given freely of his time and energy. He is a supervisor on the Group Pay-roll Division along with Bob McClellan and Bob Everitt.

He has been here some sixteen years and has been in the real estate and general insurance business for five years. He was formerly with the Canadian General Electric Company for 11 years, having served his apprenticeship in the main drafting room.

A. E. V. GALLON

A. E. Victor (Vic) Gallon, 563 Weller Street, is sales supervisor on the Sixth Victory Loan. He has been a diligent worker during past Loans. When not working on Victory Loan campaigns, Mr. Gallon is the territorial salesman for Walter M. Lowney Company, Montreal.

He enlisted at the age of 17 as a private, and in 1916 he entered the Officers' Training Corps, and received his commission in 1917. He went back to France where he was on active service, and in 1918 was promoted to the rank of captain. Shortly after, in the same year, he won the Military Cross.

MRS. E. C. MOORE

Mrs. E. C. Moore, who is the wife of Rev. E. C. Moore, rector St. George's Anglican Church, is the only female canvasser, and has been a faithful worker since the inception of Victory Loan campaigns.

After the war broke out and the First Victory Loan campaign was under way, the organizer for the district approached Rev. Mr. Moore, then rector St. Aidan's Anglican Church, and asked him if he could see his way clear to canvass for subscriptions. This was impossible for Mr. Moore, and he suggested that possibly his wife could act in his place. Needless to say, Mrs. Moore's services have been more than satisfactory.

P. J. MATHER

Peter J. Mather, R. R. 2, Keene, will be a canvasser on the Sixth Victory Loan. This will be the third Loan campaign for Mr. Mather.

As Reeve of the Township of Otonabee and ex-Warden of the County of Peterborough he is very familiar to this district and working along with Mr. J. H. Henderson, he feels confident that the prospective customers in their district will again show their confidence in Canada by subscribing to their utmost in the present campaign. (Roy Studio)

H. MORGAN

Harry Morgan, of Norwood, Ontario, again a canvasser for the Sixth Victory Loan, this making a total of four Loans on which he has canvassed.

Mr. Morgan is venturing into a new business this summer, namely the Summer Resort business. He will be operating Beachwood, at Deer Bay, which is near Buckhorn.

Mr. Morgan was very pleased with the response from his customers during the last Loan. He is hoping to receive the same co-operation during this Loan.

G. HANCOCK

Mr. Gordon Hancock, R. R. 2, Peterborough, is well known as a prominent auctioneer, valuator, and farmer. He was born on the family homestead on the Second Concession, and has lived in Smith Township all his life.

He is president of the Ontario Crop Improvement Association, vice-president of the local Federation of Agriculture, and vice-president of the Peterborough Exhibition Board.

Mr. Hancock maintains that his customers in his district, which covers from the Fourth Concession of Smith Township to East of the Centre Line north to Burleigh, have always co-operated.

CECIL PELTON

Cecil Pelton, a newcomer to the district of Young's Point, having been there only four years or so, where he is in the general store business with Mr. Nicholson, coming here from Oshawa, has made many friends during his canvass on his two previous Loan drives. Being a stranger, more or less, he was afraid the people would not welcome his efforts to put the Loan across; however, he was very favorably surprised and he feels that again during the coming Loan "his" people will come to his aid and really buy the Bonds.

W. H. STABLER

W. Harry Stabler, Lakefield, is again canvassing on behalf of the Sixth Victory Loan. He is very well known in the Lakefield district, having been born there, and has been living there all his life.

Mr. Stabler's brother, Sapper Gerald Stabler of Lakefield, is with the Canadian Engineers and has been overseas for three years. A brother-in-law, Quartermaster-Sgt. Gerard Dunn, of Toronto, has been overseas since 1939, and at present is stationed in Italy.

M. J. HEALEY

Mr. M. J. Healey of Douro, Ontario, formerly of Dummer Township, is again a canvasser for the Sixth Victory Loan. This is the fifth Loan on which Mr. Healey has canvassed, and he has said that he sees no reason why the response to this Loan should not be as good as heretofore.

Mr. Healey is well known in the Douro Township, having been born in that district, and he has farmed in Dummer Township for some 22 years.

DAVID MILLER

Mr. David Miller, Warsaw, Ontario, is a charter member on the roster of Victory Loan salesmen. He is a retired farmer, was born in Douro, and has lived in that part of the county all his life.

In World War I., Mr. Miller enlisted in the 93rd Battalion from Peterborough. He was in the Belgium drive with the Royal Engineers, moved down to Vimy Ridge with the Royal Canadian Engineers, and was there until the spring of 1918. For four months he was also with the Forestry Corps in England.

HENRY BATTEN

Henry Batten, R. R. 3, Peterborough, is another Victory Loan salesman who needs no introduction to the people of the County of Peterborough. He has canvassed on four previous Loan drives, has lived in the Peterborough County all his life, his family having been here since the Crown (1828), and was one of the original families. He was a salesman for ten years with the Peterborough Cheese Board, and formerly secretary-treasurer and salesman of the Warminster Cheese Factory.

He is in demand in the musical circles, being a singer of note and he is one of the soloists in the George Street United Church choir.

JACK ARNOTT

Jack Arnott, 136 Sophia Street, starting on his second Victory Loan canvass, has been in Peterborough about three years, having come here from Toronto.

Since coming to this city Mr. Arnott has become actively interested in many worthwhile organizations, such as being a post warden of the East City A.R.P., is a regular donor at the Red Cross Blood Donors Clinic, now being ready for his sixth donation, has canvassed on the Red Cross-Community Chest drive, and is a member of the Peterborough Lawn Bowling Club.

J. S. HENDERSON

Mr. John S. Henderson, R. R. 7, Peterborough, is the dean of Victory Loan salesmen. He holds an enviable reputation in the annals of Victory Loan salesmanship, in that he was the leading salesman for the rural district of the County of Peterborough during the Fourth Victory Loan, and raised his status on the Fifth Victory Loan by being the leading salesman for the whole County of Peterborough.

He is interested in the Otonabee Branch of the Red Cross Society, and is a regular canvasser on their behalf.

W. H. GIFFEN

Another charter member now starting on his Sixth Victory Loan campaign is W. H. (Pete) Giffen, of Norwood, Ontario. Mr. Giffen has been in Norwood since 1918, and has been Postmaster of that village for 20 years. He is also in the general insurance business.

Mr. Giffen was a corporal in the last War and served overseas four years, with the First Motor Transport Company. He was wounded during the Second Battle of Ypres, and holds the 1914 Mons Star.

C. H. HUNTER

Mr. Charles Hunter, of Lakefield, Ontario, is another new member on the list of Victory Loan salesmen, this being his first canvass. However, he is well known in Lakefield, having been born in that village.

He was an Honor Graduate of the Peterborough Business College in 1918, after which he became a partner in the furniture and funeral service business of Hendren & Hunter, in Lakefield. For seventeen years he was also connected with the Lakefield Creamery.

W. R. NICHOLSON

W. R. (Ran) Nicholson, of Young's Point, will be starting on his third campaign in the interests of the National War Finance Committee.

Mr. Nicholson has been in the general store business for five years, being in partnership with Mr. Cecil Pelton, also of Young's Point.

The district of Harvey, Burleigh, Anstruther and Chandos is covered by Mr. Nicholson, and during the last Loan they went "over the top."

JAMES GIFFORD

Mr. James (Jim) Gifford, R. R. 2, Ennismore, will be canvassing on behalf of the National War Finance Committee during the Sixth Victory Loan. This will be the fourth Loan on which Mr. Gifford has canvassed.

Mr. Gifford is very well known in the County of Peterborough, being Reeve of Ennismore since 1934, and in 1936 was the Warden of Peterborough County.

Mr. Gifford said that the last Loan was the best ever, as far as he was concerned. (Roy Studio)

WM. DARLING

Mr. Wm Darling, R. R. 1, Warsaw, Ontario, is a canvasser for the first time on this, the Sixth Victory Loan. He will be a co-worker with Mr. David Miller.

He is very well known in his district, having been born in Dummer, and has lived there all his life.

His son, LOC. John Darling, is with the R.C.A.F., stationed at Picton, Ontario.

H. T. MATHISON

Mr. Harold T. Mathison of Havelock, Ontario, is starting to canvass on his fifth Victory Loan campaign. Mr. Mathison is the postmaster at Havelock and was born in that village.

Mr. Mathison saw service during the last War, having enlisted in the 93rd Battalion from Peterborough. He was seriously wounded during the Battle of Vimy Ridge in April, 1917.

A daughter, Betty Mathison, who was nursing at the Nicholls Hospital for some time, is a Lieutenant Nursing Sister at the Military Hospital, Quebec City.

BILL KLEM, CENTRE, WITH McCARTHY AND DUROCHER

KLEM STILL GOING AT 70—"The old arbitrator"—Bill Klem, chief of staff of the National League umpires, has been retired from league umpiring since 1941 but he still works a game now and then. Klem recently worked one between the Dodgers and Yankees, at which time he was photographed above. Klem joined the National League in 1905.

Employees Have

an absolute zero—so we suggested to them that housekeeping was the first problem which they should tackle. They planned a housekeeping drive that very first night and started the following morning. It soon became evident that extra help would be necessary so we loaned them three laborers and at the end of the first day over 6,000 lbs. of scrap metal had been removed from behind machines and from under benches. Then next concentrated on the piled material and after having solved that problem they requested that we reline the aisles with white paint in order to ensure that material would be kept within certain boundaries. I am proud to say that in less than one week they had removed hazards which we had been working on for several months. Their department had blossomed forth as one of the show places in the Works and it was the members of the Department Safety Committee that did it—full credit goes to them for the planning and execution of the drive—all that we were required to do was supply some extra help so that the debris could be removed. Th change was so marked that it was obvious to every workman in the plant and we found that it had an unexpected effect—machinists and others who used to leave wrenches and scrap on the floor around their machines were now beginning to take pride in the neatness of the department and the few who didn't were soon told about it in no uncertain terms by their fellow workmen.

Asked For Tips

We were also very careful to immediately investigate any recommendations which are made by the mendation is practical we try to have it put into effect with a minimum loss of time—if on the other hand it is not practical a full and complete explanation is given to the committee to ensure that each member fully understands why it can not be adopted. The good effects of this combination of active participation and increased safety education became evident in a very short time and the results were so encouraging that we decided to continue with the scheme. We next decided to organize our Punch Press department which had, at that time, the worst accident record in the Plant. Our object in doing so was twofold—1st, we had proved that departmental committees were successful amongst skilled tradesmen and we were curious to know if they would be equally as successful with semi-skilled help—and secondly our accident control had apparently broken down in the Punch Press department and the ratio of injuries had become so high that immediate action of some kind had to be taken. Again we were faced with a housecleaning problem and when it was submitted to the Committee it was cleaned up in short order. They helped us to design boxes which could be piled safely one on top of the other and in this manner much valuable floor space was reclaimed for manufacturing purposes. Each section representative accepted the responsibility of seeing to it that unsafe practices such as operating without guards were stopped. They made it their business to police the department for Safety and their efforts succeeded beyond our wildest hopes.

During the first six months of that year before the Safety Committee was organized, 40 accidents had occurred, some of which involved amputations—in the same period of time after the committee was formed the Punch Press Department's accident record dropped to six, none of which involved loss of time. During the year following this period, and at a time when we were expanding and running a full staff on night shift the total number of accidents was nine—with only one of them being a lost time case and that was caused by infection.

HONOR SEA HERO

CHICHESTER, England — (CP) —Joseph Walker, M.B.E., has been awarded the George Medal for limiting that damage in his ship from a serious explosion. Though wounded and with fire exploding ammunition threatening his life, he went into the engine room, shut off the steam from the main engines, shut off the oil fuel and opened safety valves.

Soapy Porridge

NIAGARA FALLS, April 18 (CP).—The son of a Niagara Falls woman recently returned from overseas after four years' service and the mother was happy because once again she could prepare his usual big plate of porridge for breakfast. It wasn't until she began stirring the mixture for the first-morning's bowl that she noticed she was making it out of soap chips instead of rolled oats.

Can Operate At Profit Modern Arena

As a preliminary step to launching the campaign for a modern hockey arena and auditorium for Peterborough, a fact-finding committee of the newly formed local committee headed by Chairman J. A. Jebson has inspected the arena at St. Catharines and studied the campaign situation in Welland and the plans drawn up there for an up-to-date sports centre.

The deputation consisted of Mr. Jebson, J. K. Hughes, Frank Buckland and Walter L. Blackwell, architect.

They came home convinced that a modern arena can be operated at a profit and that in addition to providing facilities for hockey there must also be provision for skating, roller-skating, dancing, conventions and other features.

"We were impressed by the St. Catharines arena," said Mr. Jebson today. "However there have been some mistakes which we will endeavor to avoid. One of these the St. Catharines people themselves are going to provide for by making an addition to the arena so that people waiting for tickets will not have to line up outside in the cold."

"Another defect in the St. Catharines building that a suitable floor was not included so that the place is not as useful as it might be, except for hockey and skating.

"Still another is that only one ice plant was provided for and if anything goes wrong with that the arena is useless for the time being. We found that Welland had taken care of that situation by installing two plants."

The fact-finding committee will prepare a report for presentation to the local general committee in two weeks time in which the approximate cost of the proposed arena, the probable revenue, based in the experience of other centres and other useful data will be outlined.

Red Cross Shipment

GORE'S LANDING, April 18 (ENS) — The Red Cross group of workers in Gore's Landing, convener Mrs. Ames, reported the following articles sent in to Cobourg Headquarters from October 1943 to April 15, 1944:

85 pair short socks; 13 pairs 26-inch seamen's socks; 2 long sleeved navy sweaters; 5 sleeveless navy sweaters; 4 ditty bags; 2 pair sockees; 1 girls' refugee sweater.

A Sporting Offer

FORT McPHERSON, Ga., April 18—(AP).—Any member of Fort McPherson's baseball team can get a three-day pass if he wallops a ball through a window of the commanding officer's quarters during a game. Col. Frank K. Ross, post commander, made the offer. The colonel's quarters are across the street behind the right field fence of the baseball field. It takes a 340-foot drive from home plate to reach his house.

SPORTS - Day by Day

By FRED D. CRAIG

Peterborough boys in the services are all hoping that the new arena project will be carried through to success George Sullivan of this city who is in charge of sports with the Knights of Columbus war services project in Newfoundland writes. "I have kept up on the sporting news of Peterborough in your column," says his letter, "and also on the news of the sport world in general. The different boys in the services here, a good many of them from Ontario, all agree on one point, that we have a great city and one with a sporting future as well as a great past. I am on sports here with the Knights of Columbus and naturally on the arrival of The Examiner the first spot I head for in the paper is your column. I must say you are putting up a great battle for the new proposed arena. It comes as a surprise to other boys from all over Canada that we are still without artificial ice in Peterborough. My best wishes go to you with the hope that soon your harping on this important project will bring forth a fiery and energetic committee. Continued battling in behalf of some action in regard to the proposed arena will, I know, meet with the full approval of all Peterborough boys in the services and your column is well read, I can assure you."

Peterborough softball fans are delightful with the honor paid to Gladys Mortimer in her election as president of the Provincial Women's Softball Union. No one in this city has come close to doing so much for the cause of softball among girls as Miss Mortimer has accomplished. This column remarked at one time in connection with her services in behalf of the Ladies' Softball League that she did about everything except mark out the diamond for the games. Starting as a player, she afterward graduated to an executive position and ever since she has devoted much of her time and energy all summer to looking after the affairs of the girls' league and the success that organization has attained and the prominence given Peterborough by the good showing made by Peterborough teams in the P.W.S.U. playoffs can in a large measure be accredited to her. It is fitting therefore that the provincial organization should recognize her services by paying her the highest honor it could possibly bestow by electing her as head of the organization. That she'll make good on the job, everybody who knows her record here will feel sure.

The Best Of The Crop

Tonight's wrestling card at the Brock Street Arena looms up as one of the outstanding bills of the whole campaign; in fact many fans will be disappointed if it does not develop into about the best. With the classy Yvon Robert, Montreal's favorite son, battling with Strangler Bob Wagner in the main bout that in itself should be enough to make the program one of the feature cards staged here but when you add a semi-final battle between two stars like Earl McCready and the unpredictable Tom Zaharias in the semi-final you have another bout that is entirely worthy of top billing; one that in fact would pack the customers in everywhere. Then there is a newcomer who promises to add a lot of interest to the opening bout. He is Tony Leoni, an Italian-American grappler from Hollywood, Cal., who brings the reputation of being a fast and clever performer and will clash with the tough Jan Gotch in the preliminary round. Gotch's style is well known but not so well-liked here. He simply goes on the theory that if you belt your opponent often enough, it doesn't matter how fast and clever he is you can slow him down to your own speed. Perhaps Leoni will have different ideas on that subject. At all events the opener should get the program away to a fast start.

* * * * * *

And Earl McCready and the rowdy Tom Zaharias will bring the intensity to a higher pitch when they tackle each other in the semi-final brawl. And we mean brawl. Zaharias knows all the mean tricks in the book and a few that have not been published. On the other hand McCready has faced all the bad men in captivity and his record shows a high percentage of success in taming them. The garrulous Greek may have very little to say if he happens to get caught in a pinchers' movement and finds himself rolling around the Greek in the Moose's favorite rocking-chair cradle hold. All of which brings us to the main bout and what an argument that should turn out to be. Robert, the good-looking French-Canadian who knows about all there is to know about the art of wrestling but is apt to explode like a string of firecrackers if things don't go just right is facing a bird who will make it a point of seeing that everything goes all wrong so far as Monsieur Yvon is concerned. Bob Wagner is tough; he admits it and he has proven it. He knows how temperamental Robert is and he'll try his whole repertoire of tricks in an effort to get the Montrealer's goat. He'll probably succeed, too, and in that case the fans will get plenty of thrills. It gives a big night at the Brock tonight.

At The Half Way Mark

As this column predicted attendance at the second game of the Oshawa-Trail Memorial Cup final series in Toronto Monday night slimmed down appreciably. As a matter of fact the crowd was not much than half the size of the mob that attended the opening fixture on Saturday. Apparently they saw a much better game for the Trail kids shook off some of their stage fright and gave the the Generals quite a battle before the Oshawa speed and power began to assert themselves. The Smoke Eaters scored the first goal and held the Generals to a 1-1 tie in the first period. Eventually however the Motor City team fired two goals in the middle of the second stanza to take the lead and after that the result was never in doubt. Trail had their moments but not enough of them. Oshawa gradually pulled away and they won the fixture by a comfortable margin. It was predicted they would take the series in four straight games. They are half way there now and apparently have everything under control.

According to Bill Walshe, first choice for the Canadian Hockey Hall of Fame is the late Howie Morenz. Says the Kingston scribe: "Arthritis which flopped your reporter for a few days released its toe-hold long enough yesterday to permit a hobble to the telephone for an ear on sports happenings. Capt. James Sutherland reported progress for the Hall of Fame at the annual meeting of the Canadian Amateur Hockey Association in Montreal where he was honored as a C.A.H.A. candidate with Claude C. Robinson of Stevenson, B.C., for admission to the hall's honor roll. The Board of Governors for the Hall of Fame, which was appointed to select players and officials for the hockey shrine, held its first meeting in Montreal when W. A. Hewitt, O.H.A. secretary and C.A.H.A. treasurer and recorder, was appointed secretary for the board. With his vast knowledge of hockey, his association and position, he is perfectly suited for the important position. Bas O'Meara, who has been unofficially considered chairman of the board, explained that many nominations and suggestions had been received for the Hall of Fame honor roll but the general opinion of all governors was to proceed with caution to avoid possible errors of omission. The only positive election to the Hall of Fame appears to be Howie Morenz. His name is mentioned on every ballot. This department conducted a casual canvass for suggestions by prominent men in hockey and although the returns are not yet complete Morenz's name heads all."

The president of that body is given the power to appoint the secretary.... In other words Peterborough will be the headquarters for women's softball in the province this season.... As the big leagues swing into action the one best bet in either loop is the St. Louis Cards who still have the Coopers, Max Lanier, Stan Musial and most of last year's stars.... Preliminary reports say the Cards are a standout and the best-looking club in either league.... The Kingston City Ball League will have five clubs this season.... W. A. NEW YORK, April 18—(AP)—Now that northern baseball training is all over but the groaning, it can be reported that they had spring training in the south of Russia this year...A Moscow dispatch states: "Prominent Soviet masters of sport renewed an old tradition by gathering in the Black Sea coast to train before the beginning of the summer sports season. This time the U.S.S.R. champions gathered in Sukhumi, where the weather is sunny and warm and roses already are in full bloom."...The dispatch goes on to say that participants in a track and field meet, April 11, included several Red Army officers and the Georgian girl discus thrower, Nina Dumbadze, who has trained hundreds of soldiers in precision grenade throwing. Two of the strongest Russian soccer football teams also have been training at Sukhumi...Florida papers please note.

Major Baseball League Gets Underway

BY TED MEIER
Associated Press Sport Writer

NEW YORK, April 18 — (AP) — For better of for worse the major baseball leagues open their third wartime season today—a campaign that has been forecast as one of the most keenly contested in years despite, or rather because of draft uncertainties.

If the weatherman is kind, some 125,000 persons are expected to witness the eight scheduled games in the American and National loops.

This is far short of pre-war opening day crowds, but the boys in the front offices are convinced that because of the anticipated close competition, the season total attendance for both circuits will exceed the 7,714,636 of a year ago and perhaps the 8,874,755 of 1942.

The world champion New York Yankees open on the road against the Boston Red Sox while the St. Louis Cardinals, National League Champs, entertain the Pittsburgh Pirates at home but the Washington Senators, as usual, will put on the most glamorous inaugural spectacle.

Wallace on Deck

With President Roosevelt away from the White House on a brief vacation, Vice President Henry Wallace has assumed the role of chief thrower-outer of the first ball, a scene to be duplicated by other dignitaries at New York, Philadelphia, Cincinnati, St. Louis, Boston, Detroit and Chicago.

Sharing the limelight with Vice President Wallace at Washington will be a 81-year-old Connie Mack, starting his 61st season in the sport as manager of the Philadelphia athletics. Mr. Mack thinks his A's, tailenders last year, have a chance this season.

The Cincinnati Reds, picked by sports writers as the team likely to end St. Louis' bid for a third straight National League Flag, expected the largest turnout of the day, some 27,000 to get a glimpse of the Reds and Chicago Cubs.

Paul (Dizzy) Trout of Detroit is the only 20-game winning pitcher of 1943 nominated to work this opening day. Some 22,000 are expected at Briggs Stadium in Detroit to watch him toil against the St. Louis Browns.

Hank Borowy, instead of Spud Chandler, is listed to pitch for the Yanks against the Red Sox while Southpaw Max Lanier, instead of Big Mort Cooper, will toe the slab for the Cardinals against Pittsburgh. Rip Sewell, who won 21 games for the Pirates with his tantalizing slow ball last year, has been supplanted by a rookie, Elwin Roe.

In other games the Brooklyn Dodgers play the Phillies at Philadelphia, the Boston Braves at New York, Giants, and the Cleveland Indians at Chicago, White Sox.

MILLIONS WED—Pfc. Ben R. Violette, who will be remembered as the soldier who inherited an estate rated as worth up to two million dollars, from his half-sister, a Canadian, Mrs. Mary Martin of Oakville, Ont., some two months ago, is shown following his wedding in South Bend, Indiana. Both he and the bride, the former Jo Ann Reeder, are from South Bend.

Nazi Strength Up

LONDON, April 18 — (CP-Reuters). — After nearly five years of war, Germany still has 5,500,000 frontline troops, according to latest Allied intelligence reports. More than half of Hitler's forces are locked in the struggle on the Eastern front. Military reports from occupied Europe place the Wehrmacht total strength at 7,334,000 men, indicating that the Nazis have managed to increase their army's strength in spite of the disastrous defeats of the last two years. The Germans are believed to have started the war with 5,000,000 men.

LONDON WATER SUPPLY LOW

LONDON — (CP) — The River Thames—London's main water supply— is running at only one-third of its normal flow of 22,000,000,000 gallons because of the serious winter drought. Londoners have been urged to economize in the use of water.

HERE AND THERE IN SPORTS

By The Canadian Press

With the Kentucky Derby scheduled for May 6, there is still wide divergence of opinions among the turf specialists as to possible favorites for the Churchill Downs classic largely because of the uncertainty that some of the best-known eligibles will be among the starters. Due to delayed training because of weather conditions, Brownell Combs' Duranza, has been withdrawn while Twilight Tear, Miss Keeneland, Jezrahel, Don Jose H., Seeing Eye and Occupy which was the leading juvenile of 1943 are uncertainties.

There is yet no definite word that Col. C. V. Whitney's Pukka Gin and George D. Widener's Platter will be among the starters. Among the favored long shots is Mrs. Tilyou Christopher's Bel Reigh which was a juvenile winner of five races including two stakes.

Outfielder Jeff Heath, native of Fort William, Ont., yesterday signed a contract to play again with the Cleveland Indians and is expected to join the Tribe in time for today's opener against White Sox in Chicago. Heath had been working in a shipyards at Seattle.

Ike Williams today was pounding on Bob Montgomery's door—ready, willing and qualified for a shot at the Pa.-N.Y.-N.J. version of the lightweight title held by the Bobcat. Ike qualified for a return bout by blasting Mike Delia's aspirations at the Philadelphia arena last night in one minute and 54 seconds of the first round of a scheduled 10-rounder.

A sellout crowd of 9,447 paid $26,777 to watch Williams belt the former Californian into oblivion.

Instructor Dies

PRINCETON, N.J., April 18—(AP)—An instructor in physical education at Princeton since 1924, Clarence F. Foster, 67, died in Princeton, N.J., hospital after a long illness. A former major leaguer, he played for the Chicago White Sox pennant-winning team in 1901.

No Beer Spilled

PORT HOPE, April 18 — (CP).—A 10-ton truck loaded with 96 full kegs of beer ran out of control while descending steep Walton Street here last week, failed to make the turn at the bottom and tore the entire corner off a garage. The driver, Frank Earnest of Toronto, was extricated from the cab in a dazed condition but unhurt. The 100-pound kegs of beer were everywhere.

CANADIENS WIN FINAL GAME AND STANLEY CUP—Chicago Black Hawks are shown in a vain effort to score at the final game of the Stanley Cup series in Montreal, won by Montreal Canadiens, 5-4, after overtime. The cup goes to the Canadiens, their first Stanley Cup victory since 1931. They won the final series by four straight games.

Oshawa Takes Second Game In Junior Series

TORONTO, April 18. — (CP)—Oshawa Generals fought their way to a 5-2 win over a scrappy band of Trail Smoke Eaters here last night to take a 2-0 lead in the best-in-seven Memorial Cup junior hockey finals, but had to extend themselves to do it.

Smoke Eaters, who absorbed a dismal 9-2 defeat from Generals in the first game Saturday night, displayed a reversal of form and held their own with the Oshawans much of the game. Obviously recovered from their nervousness of the first game, Smoke Eaters displayed some of the speed and form that hurdled them over all opposition in the west, but it still wasn' quite enough to catch the high-flying Generals.

They gave the favorites a scare in the first period, though, as Eddie Miller opened up with a blast into the Oshawa net at the 1.30 mark, and kept step with the bigger Oshawa squad for the first half of the session.

A Clever Goal.

Oshawa evened it up when Ken Smith swooped in to faint Bev Bentley out of position and found the corner. They added two more in the second, one by burly Bill Ezinicki on a combination play with Ted Lindsay and Bill Baker, and another as Floyd Curry raced in fast to slap Ken Smith's rebound home.

Smoke Eaters had their smooth passing combination working to perfection and opened up with a display of speed that brought them in on the Oshawa goal time and again, only to be out-guessed by canny Harvey Bennett.

The lighter Trailmen tired faster than Generals, and as the third period wore on the Oshawans were boring their way through the enemy defences on sheer power.

Half-way through the third period as Oshawa ganged the Trail citadel, Gus Mortson fired a shot from the blueline that sifted through a maze of players and caromed off Lindsay's stick into the net. A minute later Mortson twisted through for a fancy solo effort to wind up the Oshawa scoring.

As Trail threw aside all caution they rushed the Oshawa goal time and again, but Roy Kelly, Mark Marcquess and Lorne De Paolis missed golden chances as they shot wide or over-skated the puck at the goalmouth. De Paolis finally clicked on a rush with Eddie Miller. From there on it was a see-saw battle with play shifting from end to end of the rink until penalties to Ezinicki and Butler near the end of the game broke up the picture-passing.

The line-ups:

Trail		Oshawa
Bentley	Goal	Bennett
De-Paolis	Defence	Dawes
Toffolo	Defence	Mortson
J. McLeod	Centre	Barker
Turik	Wing	Chenier
E. Miller	Wing	Ezinicki

Trail subs: H. McLeod, Marcquess, Kelly, Ross, Butler, Magliani.

Oshawa subs: Batten, Shewchuk, Lindsay, Smith, Curry, Bauer.

Officials: Pean Bennett, Montreal; Dan Cox, Port Arthur.

Summary:

First Period:

1—Trail, E. Miller (J. McLeod) . 1.30
2—Oshawa, Smith 15:32
Penalties: Bauer, Barker.

Second

3—Oshawa, Ezinicki (Lindsay, Barker) 13:11
4—Oshawa, Curry (Smith) ... 16:20
Penalties: Mortson, Dawes.

Third Period

5—Oshawa, Lindsay (Mortson, Dawes) 10:31
6—Oshawa, Mortson 12:32
7—Trail, De Paolis, (E. Miller) 15:55
Penalties: Ezinicki, Butler.

Rochester Red Wings Fear Hurling Will Be Weak Spot In Lineup

By A. C. WEBER
Rochester Times-Union

TERRE HAUTE, Ind., April 18.—(AP).—In direct contrast to a year ago Rochester Red Wings fear the lack of pitching will keep them from going places in the International League race.

This is a new Red Wing club, from the head man in the front office down to the kid who picks up the bats. In the swivel chair, replacing Oliver French, is Guy Airey as business manager, and running the club on the field is Ken Penner, replacing Pepper Martin, who has become a player again with the St. Louis Cardinals, owners and operators of the Rochester franchise.

Penner, coached for Pepper at Sacramento during the Cards' good years there, and managed the coast league club last season. His crying need at Rochester is pitching, with only Bill Trotter of last year's staff a starter of known qualifications.

Gone from last year's club are Ira Hutchinson, the leading tosser, and Blix Donnelly, who authored a no-hitter and won 17 games.

That leaves only Trotter, the man who lost 16 games and won 12, with an average of less than three earned runs a game, to head the mound staff.

At first the Wings have veteran Jack Sturdy, Steve Mizerak, a hold-over, and Rookie Whitey Seltz, are trying for second base, with Hershel Held, another hold-over, at third. Shortstop will be played, at least temporarily, by Al (Red) Schoendienst, the league's leading hitter and most valuable player last year. Red is 1-A in the draft and expects to be called in May.

Only one hold-over is in the outfield, Joe Overman, while Tom Asturby, up from Allentown, and Rookies Lou King and Otis Davis are fighting for the other positions.

Del Rice, a good young catcher, will be behind the plate.

Hewitt Heads Hall Of Fame

KINGSTON, April 18 — W. A. Hewitt, O.H.A. secretary and C.A.H.A. registrar-treasurer, has been appointed chairman and secretary of the board of governors to select players and officials to be honored in the hockey hall of fame in Kingston. The appointment was made at the first meeting of the governors held in Montreal last week.

First Nominations

The first official nominations for places in the hockey shrine were made by C.A.H.A. which recommended Capt. James T. Sutherland and Claude C. Robinson, founder of the C.A.H.A. The board of governors, composed of hockey authorities from coast to coast, has authority to select the honor roll of hockey and also devise the system for voting.

W. Northey of Montreal, the man who persuaded Sir Montague Allan to present his now famous hockey trophy suggested that a canvass of prominent old-time players be made so that the honor roll would include players of the past as well as present and also candidates from all parts of Canada.

No player has been officially appointed for the honor, but Howie Morenz seems almost sure to be the first one, according to the number of suggestions that include his name.

Claude Robinson formerly of Winnipeg and now of Stevenson, B.C., presented the first minutes of the C.A.H.A. to W. A. Hewitt as a souvenir for the Hall of Fame museum.

Boxing Bouts End Quickly

REGINA, April 16 (CP)— A 20-second technical knockout by Lieut. Bill Haynes of Los Angeles and Edmonton over Pte. Alf Fraser of Regina in the welterweight novice class, last night headlined the Western Canada Army boxing semi-finals here.

Two of the two-minute three round bouts ended quickly with L.-Bdr. Frank Dilanowsky of Winnipeg scoring a technical knockout over Tr. S. Downs of Belleville, Ont., in 62 seconds of their featherweight novice scrap while Pte. Bill Evans defeated Pte. Don McRae of Regina in one minute 19 seconds in the middleweight novice.

Other results included:

Lightweight open—Pte. "Inky" Ingenthorn, 135, of Linacre, Sask. (M.D. 12) defeated Pte. Wilf Desjardin, 135, of Colbalt, Ont. (M.D. 10).

St. Jerome's Lose

KITCHENER, April 18—(CP)—Montreal Y.M.H.A. defeated St. Jerome's College of Kitchener 29-24 last night in the first game of a best-of-three series for the Canadian junior basketball championship.

Second game will be played tonight with a third, if necessary, tomorrow night.

TORONTO, April 18 (CP)—The tempest over the strange case of the battered referee has subsided, for the present at least, and hockey players are still free to hang one on the unsuspecting jaw of an official any time they feel like it, with relative impunity.

The Quebec Amateur Hockey Association pressed the C.A.H.A. to take action and order automatic suspension for one year of any player taking the referee as the object of his caveman affections but the Dominion body would have none of it. The matter has been left in the hands of the various branches to deal with as they see fit, and chances are that's the last that ever will be heard of it.

The Quebec body earlier intimated it might adopt some such measure if the C.A.H.A. rejected it, so there may be action from that quarter. But probably the others will let things ride. After all, with players as scarce as they are now you wouldn't want to cut down the talent too drastically, would you?

The three-year suspension of Paul Mahara of Trail Smoke Eaters creates an interesting contrast though. Undoubtedly he was guilty of poor sportsmanship by falsifying his baptismal papers and jeopardizing chances of his team. But how good a sport is a man who takes out his spite on the referee?

Nostalgia Department:

Vancouver sport fans are lamenting the departure of Recreation Park, now being demolished. Long the centre of Vancouver's sporting life, the Park has seen some stirring lacrosse, baseball and soccer games in its 30-odd years of existence. Newsy Lalonde, great star with the old Montreal Canadiens, first hit the headlines as a lacrosse player there. And Mickey Ion, one of the greatest hockey referees of all time, also started as a boxla expert in the park, shifting to ice officiating in the winter under Frank Patrick's tutelage.

Tuesday themes:

Peterborough has joined the centres that are laying plans for the future of sport. A drive is planned to provide the city with a modern auditorium and sports centres for the winter months . . . Vancouver suburbanites are on the bandwagon too, and sports centres are planned in Kitsilano, Kerrisdale, Grandview, South Vancouver and the West End . . . Herb (Winnipeg Tribune) Manning suggests organization of Junior hockey teams into lacrosse squads after close of the puck season to revive activity in the old Indian game . . . Cucumber Bill Durnan calmly read "Paris Underground" between periods of that stirring wind-up Stanley Cup game against Chicago last week . . . Dick Irvin thinks Canadiens won the cup the night Toronto beat them in the semi-final opener. That knocked the over-confidence out of them, says Dick.

A NEW ROLE—Pfc. Bryan "Bitsy" Grant, of Atlanta, Georgia, former headliner of the tennis courts, is cast in a new role. With the U.S. 5th Air Force special service branch, he takes over the mike as sports commentator broadcasting to troops in New Guinea.

Army Engineers Enter Finals

VANCOUVER, April 18—(CP)—Edmonton United States Army Engineers will represent Western Canada in the Dominion senior men's basketball finals starting April 24 against Merritton, Ont., basketball team at Merritton, Edward Bowering of Vancouver, secretary-treasurer of the Canadian Basketball Association, announced here last night.

Patricia Bay R.C.A.F. Gremlins won the Western Canada finals when they defeated Edmonton for the second time Saturday to take the best-of-three. The air force team will retain its Western Canada supremacy, but will be unable to travel east to compete in the Dominion finals because of R.C.A.F. travel regulations.

Vancouver Combines, equally eligible with the Edmonton team to represent Western Canada following the Gremlin's default, decided yesterday to withdraw their challenge and allow Edmonton to contest the Dominion championship.

Shore Fined $100 On Gas Ration Count

TORONTO, April 16.— (CP).—Eddie Shore, coach and manager of the Buffalo team in the American Hockey League, Monday was fined $100 and costs or two months on two charges of violating oil control regulations.

The former National Hockey League star pleaded guilty to illegally obtaining graded gasoline and of having in his possession a gasoline ration book other than that issued to him.

He had been arrested Saturday night by Royal Canadian Mounted Police and freed on $500 bail pending his court appearance Monday afternoon.

O.H.A. Threatens To Suspend St. Catharines Saints Team

TORONTO, April 18.—(CP).—St. Catharines Saints are threatened with suspension from the Ontario Hockey Association following the final 1943-44 meeting here of the general executive. The runners-up to Hamilton Majors for the Association series Senior "A" title last winter are alleged to have failed to complete their play-off financial report.

The executive's official statement gave the St. Catharines Hockey Association, operator of the club, until May 1 to pay $224.80 which it claimed was owing as the O.H.A.'s share of the proceeds from final games played in Garden City Arena. Suspension will follow default of payment.

The Association upheld the suspension of Robert Robertson of Stratford for an alleged attack on Harry Psutke of Kitchener in an Ontario Minor Hockey Association game at Stratford March 13.

Permission was given North Bay, N.O.H.A. Junior "B" title-holders to arrange a series of games with Barrie Colts for the all-Ontario championship. Colts were defeated in the O.H.A. final by Toronto De La Salle Oaklands, who were unable to accept the challenge of the northern club.

Decision on an application by J. H. Stafford, Toronto industrialist, to operate a club in the Senior "A" series next season, was deferred until the Association's fall meeting.

The meeting was informed that R. A. Huges of Haileybury, won the O.H.A. scholarship at Queen's University for 1944.

Capt. James T. Sutherland of Kingston and P. J. Mulqueen were awarded life membership in the Association, with Capt. Sutherland receiving also the past president's gold medal.

O.H.A. executive members in attendance included President F. W. Moore, Port Colborne; Vice-Presidents George Panter, Gravenhurst, and J. J. McFayden, Galt; Secretary W. A. Hewitt, Toronto; and Treasurer George S. Dudley, Midland.

House Of Commons Deals With Many War Problems

By D'ARCY O'DONNELL
Canadian Press Staff Writer

OTTAWA, April 18 —(CP)—War transport estimates were marked for discussion today in the Commons which in debate yesterday moved from point to point on the map while dealing with international and national problems.

The immigration of Chinese, the post-war feeding of peoples in European countries, the providing of aid to Frenchmen still fighting alongside the Allies and measures dealing with home-front post-war problems were all topics of discussion.

Prime Minister Mackenzie King announced that Canada has prepared a draft treaty with China to supersede the Chinese immigration act of 1923.

Chinese Treaty

The act limited the entry of Chinese into Canada to members of the diplomatic corps and their staffs, to children born in Canada of Chinese race or descent who left Canada for educational or other purposes, to qualified merchants, and to students coming to Canada to attend university or college.

Mr. King said the draft of the new treaty "provides for the admission to either country or renewable permits for temporary residence of nationals of the other country belonging to approved categories (merchants, doctors, ministers of the gospel, etc.)."

The Chinese government's reply to the proposals was awaited.

The post-war feeding of Europe came up for brief discussion before the House gave first reading to a bill providing $10,000,000 as interim expenses for the United Nations Relief and Rehabilitation Administration to which Canada is a party.

The bill was dealtwith after first reading had been given to measures providing for establishment of a department of reconstruction and a department for veterans' affairs.

Third reading was given bills repealing the Water Meters Inspection Act and providing for the refunding of Canadian National Railways obligations, matured, maturing and callable. First reading was given a bill to provide for the salary of an additional pulsne judge of the Exchequer Court of Canada.

Earlier, Mr. King tabled an agreement under which mutual aid will be granted the French Committee of National Liberation. He also tabled an agreement between Canada and China on the relinquishment of extra-territorial rights in China.

The House was in a co-operative mood throughout most of the discussions, but Mr. King and Gordon Graydon crossed verbal swords during the evening when the Progressive Conservative House leader expressed "concern" about the possibility of additional ministers being added to the administration in addition to the present cabinet of 20 and seven parliamentary assistants.

Graydon-King Tilt.

Mr. King said the House would "change considerably" after the next general election and it was well to have younger men learning from the inside as parliamentary assistants to the present ministers.

Mr. King said he was "disappointed" to find Mr. Graydon making statements which appeared "belittling" to the ministry and those associated with it.

Mr. Graydon said he was "disappointed" at the prime minister's attitude as he had the right to criticize the cabinet structure whenever he wished and would continue to do so. He had made no suggestion of abolishing departments, but said he believed some could be combined. The matter seemed to be a "touchy" one with the prime minister.

Mr. King said he had noticed Mr. Graydon criticised the government, but resented it when the government took exception. He had observed Mr. Graydon's tactics in referring to a "sore spot" and the like which resulted in headlines in the press.

J. H. Blackmore, Social Credit House Leader, entered into discussions on the bill providing for the creation of a department of reconstruction. He said he wanted to know where the government planned to raise the money for reconstruction projects and where it planned to market the products from an expanded peace-time industry.

"We have reached a point in this country where it is extremely dangerous to add a single dollar to the debt or a single dollar to taxation," said Mr. Blackmore.

Mr. King said that money being raised today was for purposes of destruction and it should be much easier for a government to raise money necessary for reconstruction.

By reconstruction he said he meant the re-establishment in civil life and re-employment on demobilization of the men and women of the armed services and of persons released from war industries.

He also meant the reorganization of industry in order to provide maximum production and full employment during and following the switch from wartime to peacetime production.

The new minister would be selected from among present cabinet ministers, but he did not indicate who would be appointed to the post.

Mr. Graydon said that if "rumors" reaching him were correct Munitions Minister Howe would be the new minister.

Mr. Howe has frequently been mentioned in political circles as a likely choice because his wartime work has been largely concerned with construction and other projects. However, Air Minister Power and Navy Minister Macdonald probably would be available for the post.

The duties of the new minister would be consultative rather than administrative. He would co-ordinate not only the work between Dominion government departments, but also among Dominion, provincial and municipal authorities.

Mr. King said the problem of reconstruction would involve the re-employment of nearly 2,000,000 Canadians now in the armed forces, the Merchant Navy or war industry. Employment must be productive and contribute to a rising standard of living.

British Seek

This is the geography of the complex fighting front:

At the south end of Arakan, on the Buram side of the Indian border, British and Japanese forces already are practically stalemated, with the Allied controlling most of the Maungdaw-Buthedaung hard road, which is essential for any rainy season operations.

The primary goals of the Japanese invasion of India are Imphal, 250 miles north of the Arakan Hills, and Komia, 60 miles north of Imphal, capture of which would give the enemy a base for incursions against the Allied supply lines to northern Burma.

Both towns are still strongly held by the Allies, although the Japanese have cut the road between them and fighting is fluctuating with the outcome yet to be determined. The Allied supply line in the balance is the Bengal-Assam railway through Dimapur, 35 miles northwest of Kohima. Up this road to Ledo, 160 miles northeast of Dimapur, go rail and highway-borne supplies to Chineses and American forces advancing down the Hukawng valley toward Myitkina in northern Burma.

Ledo is to this attack what Myitkyina is to the Japanese defence of northern Burma—the base of operations. Myitkyine has been cut off from southern Burma by Allied airborne landings in the Katha area, 100 miles south of Myitkyina and 170 miles north of Mandalay.

A Japanese break-through to the Bengal-Assam railway to Ledo would cut the Chinese-American forces off from their main supply sources, leaving the two isolated advance forces to fight it out. But even in that case the Allies still would have the advantage of air strength, and the Allies could fall back for partial supply on the Brahmaputra River route if the railway were lost.

strong, and the water was very cold, with sniper's bullets still whissing past."

Pte. Keeler spent several weeks in No. 1 and No. 14 Canadian General Hospitals before returning to England. The doctors and nurses surely know how to care for the wounded, and everything possible was done to make the wounded comfortable. "I appreciated my meals in the hospital, and it was a rare treat after living on bully beef, hard tack, and rice," he said.

His mother, Mrs. E. Johnson, is thrilled to have her son home again, after an absence of over four years. Except for a walking cast on his right leg, she says, he is just as he left, only his hair is a bit darker and not quite so curly.

Pte. Keeler was hospitalized for two weeks with Malaria fever in Sicily. A little later, all soldiers were given two needle shots against typhus, which takes a heavy toll among the soldiers, especially when stricken without adequate shelter.

Divide Boxes

After being wounded and confined to hospital, he failed to receive any Christmas parcels this year, but he left word at the Hospital for his parcels to be divided among the boys who needed treats most. Just before he left England, he received 300 cigarettes from the Trent River War Workers and said they were a rare treat.

In describing the climate of Italy, Pte. Keeler said in the north it was cold with some snow but the south was hotter, with mud knee deep. He enjoyed all the fresh fruits and nuts, but he said everything they cooked tasted flat, it lacked salt. They never had fresh eggs nor butter, just margarine.

On the voyage across two of the casualties died, and were accorded full military funerals.

Pte. Keeler enlisted with the First Canadian Division, and served in the 8th Army with the Hastings and Prince Edward Regiment, enlisting at Picton on February 6, 1940. He trained at Quebec City and for 3 weeks at Camp Borden, before going overseas.

BATTLE RAGES—Since the Seventh Century, B.C., the Crimea again occupies the spotlight as Red Forces push the Nazis into a pocket at Sevastopol and the Black Sea becomes the only means of escape. This close-up illustrates how the German and Romanian armies were quickly trapped into semi-helplessness. Sweeping down in two drives from the north (1) the Reds quickly reached Dzhankoi (2) and cut the communications link. Meanwhile amphibious forces took over Kerch (3) and moved rapidly toward Feodoysiya, heading for Simferopol. Reports say evacuation is being attempted by boat. At one time some 150,000 Nazi troops were declared to be in the Crimea, but some may have managed to get to the Romanian coast in the past few weeks.

Arsenal Loses 62 Farm Men

LINDSAY, April 18—(ENS)—H. C. Brown, of the local branch of the Employment and Selective Service, and his staff are busier than they have been for some time past. "There is an increased demand for help of all kinds right now," said Mr. Brown "and I know that I will not be able to fill the demand."

Orders have been issued locally to some 62 farmers and farmer's sons, working at the Dominion Arsenal, to vacate their jobs and return to their farms, where they are badly needed in preparation for seeding and other Spring work.

On the heels of the order for men to vacate the Arsenal jobs, comes an order from the Arsenal heads of departments for a half a hundred men, or more, which taking the vacancies made by farmers leaving, leaves a hundred or more men wanted at the plant.

"Business has been good in the lumbering industry in Haliburton County" remarked Mr. Brown and now men are required for the Cooperage works and other plants. The Wood Turning and Handle Co. at Fenelon Falls also want workers, said Mr. Brown.

(Lord Halifax said he believed it desirable and necessary that in all fields nothing be left undone to bring peoples of the British Commonwealth into closer unity of thought and action.)

Mr. Bracken said Canada recognizes with pride the partnership and duties of partnership involved in the free association of Commonwealth countries for common purposes. "It is not only our duty but out interest to be loyal to that free asociation," he added.

He believed a plan for continuous consultation in matters of common interest "should be worked out by us all." It has not been suggested and it could never be considered that there should be such rigidity to any plan as would subtract from sovereign rights.

Mr. Bracken said Lord Halifax had not requested or even suggested that Canada fall in line with a common policy for the Commonwealth in all matters of external relations.

"Very definitely he recognized our completely autonomous position, he asked us to seek to agree with other members of the Commonwealth, and invited our full co-operation at the table of British Nations in the determination of those features of Commonwealth policy in which all of us are concerned."

(Prime Minister MacKenzie King told the House of Commons in February that Canada would not support suggestions of Lord Halifax that balance of power among great nations be sought after the war. "What we must strive for," Mr. King said, "is close co--operation among these great states themselves and all other like-minded countries.")

Mr. Bracken said he felt Canada should not refuse to sit and act at the "table of British Nations." Should the Dominion fail to function as a member of the British family, she merely will "lapse again into the trough of isolationism," and the "folly of isolationism is the great lesson that we and others must learn from the tragedy of these times."

Red Cross Raises $113 With Euchres

BENSFORT, April 18.—(ENS.—The community Red Cross held their last euchre for the winter recently. Ten tables were occupied for ten games. Prizes were awarded to: 1st, Mrs. William Morrison; 2nd Mrs. Everett Wood; 3rd, Mrs. Lawrence Finnie; 1st, James Gainor; 2nd, Willis Patton; 3rd, H. C. Howson. Mrs. Everett Wood donated 4 lb. of honey, for which $7.20 was made by selling tickets. Willis Patton held the lucky ticket. A quart of maple syrup was auctioned for 75 cents to Mrs. J. Drummond.

The total proceeds for the series of euchres held in the hall amounted to $113.28. Boxes were filled regularly and sent to the boys overseas.

"And," the 21-year-old naval officer adds with a grin, "you'd be surprised how many people actually believe me."

You can keep the youthful elasticity of your skin

Compare face with shoulder skin. You'll find shoulders look 5 or more years younger. That's because shoulder skin retains its elasticity—while facial skin pores are clogged with make-up, unable to breathe for hours at a time. And when pores can't breathe skin starts to age prematurely. But Palmolive can help retain youthful elasticity in your skin.

Look younger in 14 days! Each time you wash, (use a face cloth) massage warm, rich, vitalizing Palmolive lather thoroughly into your skin for one full minute. Now a quick rinse and pat dry. Palmolive's 60-second Beauty Massage has been scientifically tested by 2,301 women and 36 doctors. Their reports prove conclusively that . . . in just 14 days, it brings lovelier complexions.

BUDGET YOUR SPENDING FOR VICTORY

This new budget plan will help you—Send for free copy and join the Budgeteers!

I WILL budget my spending for victory!" Everyone of us who makes that resolution—and then lives up to it—is doing an important job on the home front. For it's up to us—the ones left behind—to keep the home front strong while we back our fighters with our dollars.

Plan before you spend

How much you must now do with every pay cheque! You have contributions to make, war savings to provide for, higher taxes to pay—and all your regular expenses besides. No wonder so many families now budget their spending.

You can get the most out of every pay cheque if you plan how you are going to use it before you spend it. To help you do this we will gladly send you the Budget Calendar. This is a new kind of budget method that we developed as a service to Household Finance customers. Now that war makes budgeting a "must" for almost every family, we are sending the Calendar to everyone who asks for a copy.

Makes budgeting easy

Here is a method that makes budgeting easy and simple. It doesn't give you a fixed spending pattern—a chart showing that you should spend so much for this and so much for that. The Calendar shows you how to take the expenses you now have and work out the best way to use your income to meet them. Isn't that a really sensible and practical way to go about budgeting? And what's more, this method cuts way down on the bookkeeping!

Helps for Budgeteers

We earnestly invite everyone who uses the Budget Calendar to join the Budgeteers. Budgeteers receive a new booklet or letter from time to time to encourage them in their efforts. They are always welcome to write for individual help and suggestions. Special recognition is given to Budgeteers who complete a full year of budgeting.

For many years families have been bringing money problems to Household Finance, Canada's largest and oldest Small Loans Company. Our long experience has shown us how much budgeting can help families to stretch their dollars. We hope more and more families will budget their spending for victory. Write today for the Budget Calendar without obligation. We will not annoy you with loan advertising of any kind.

TODAY Canadians, Americans and Englishmen are working in closer and closer accord. On five different continents . . . across the seven seas . . . our joint operations extend.

But the greater our success as comrades-in-arms, the greater our need to become partners in peace. The war has taught us that our complete strength lies in the full measure of co-operation which the British Commonwealth and the United States have achieved together. And, on the continuance of this co-operation, we base our hopes for a just and lasting peace.

We Canadians know the British and the Yanks so well . . . like them both so much . . . that we are the "best friend" of each.

Truly, Canada's Peace Tower symbolizes a common meeting-ground for mutual understanding . . . for an enduring peace.

Main Street Topics

DROWNS IN CREEK

Jimmie Rogers, 3½-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Fred Rogers, Tweed, was drowned in Black Creek, which runs through village, Monday. He fell in while playing near the bank.

SEVENTH DONATION.

A 7th donation, the highest number yet made by a woman at the local Blood Clinic, was contributed Monday by Mrs. Madge Richardson. Mrs. Richardson has made all her donations here in Peterborough.

THE POLICE DANCE.

Tickets are now on sale for the dance to be held by the Peterborough police department in the Brock Street Rink on the night of April 28. At the dance the draw for the prizes will be held.

GOES TO FARM.

James Hutchinson, the 17-year-old youth who pleaded guilty a week ago to a vagrancy charge and has been in custody since that time was allowed to go by Magistrate O. A. Langley, K.C., this morning after the police had informed the court that a district farmer was prepared to give the boy a job and the latter was ready to go to work.

MADE DIRECTORS.

Two personnel managers of Peterborough plants were elected directors to represent Class 10 under the Workmen's Compensation Act at the convention of the Industrial Accident Prevention Association held in Toronto Monday night. They are H. A. Cranfield of the C.G.E. and H. T. Cranford of the Western Clock Company.

FEWER DONORS MONDAY.

Blood donors at the clinic Monday numbered 63, but quite a few outsides points, including Westwood, Keene, Omemee, Curve Lake, Lakehurst, Havelock Trent River and Lakefield were represented in the list. Twenty contributors were from the C.G.E.; and other factories that sent men were the Peterborough Canoe, Nashua Paper Co., Whitaker's, Westclox and Canada Packers. Howard Blewett of the C.G.E. made his 9th donation, and Percy Moore of Loblaw's his 8th.

CREATING A DISTURBANCE.

Harold Blackwood, 20, and Gerald Blackwood, 21, two brothers who pleaded guilty Monday to creating a disturbance on George Street, were fined $5 and $1.75 each by Magistrate O. A. Langley, K.C., in police court this morning after Inspector Reid had stated that the youths had been in company with two girls and that there had been loud and bad language on the street. He said the two were warned once, and after they had repeated the offence in the next block were placed under arrest.

PLEADS GUILTY.

Bruce Howard, Chamberlain Street, pleaded guilty in police court this morning to a charge of beating his wife, and at the request of the Crown was remanded until tomorrow for sentence. Crown Attorney V. J. McElderry, K.C., announced that he would present some evidence then.

OVER THE TOP

Lions Club members asked by the Citizens' Co-ordinating committee to supply 300 wire clothes hangers for the Corvette "Peterborough" met this minor objective at the meeting on Monday night when they stacked more than 300 of the hangers as they entered the Kawartha Club. The members who failed to bring these items were fined.

DECORATE FOR LOAN

Peterborough's merchants are being asked by J. H. Jamison and his committee to put in display windows for the Sixth Victory Loan which opens on Monday. The co-operation of every merchant in the city is being sought and cards are available at the Victory Loan office 287 George street. All federal buildings have also be instructed by the government to decorate and the publice relations committee hopes that other buildings will follow.

MISSIONARY VISITS

Rev. Alan D. Greene, who for 25 years has been superintendent of the Church of England British Columbia Coast Mission, will speak on the work of this group Wednesday at 8 p.m. at All Saints Church. Mr. Greene, who carries on his work from a 60-foot Mission ship plying up and down the coast and bringing medical and spiritual aid to thousands of isolated families, will illustrate his talk wtih moving pictures.

LIARS' CLUB

Three members of the Lions Club qualified for the tall tale fraternity membership on Monday night when a story telling contest was held and the three were awarded Ceramic ash trays as tokens of their ability. Entertainment at the meeting was provided by Carson Boyd at the Training Centre on his accordion, Victor Coleman, well known tenor singer sang "Killarney and Jeanie with the Light Brown Hair," and Harold Howay, put his trained dog through a bewildering array of tricks.

A CALL OF SPRING.

Railway sectionmen were taking off to the country this morning for another day's work in the routine maintenance-of-way And trailing after them were the envious wishes of factory and store-bound workers imagining the delights of a full tide Spring day, blue skies, sparkling sunshine, cool breezes blowing across the fields, bluebirds flashing their fresh azure in flights along fences, song sparrows jubilant, brooks splashing playfully, and the willows nudging tender leafage into new life. Possibly the railway men have the withered grass of last year to burn, and to sit in some sunny spot during their dinner hour. At any rate it seemed a day of Spring's compensation for the chill days of winter along the rail patrol.

WOUNDED IN ITALY FIGHT—Pte. Anthony Schiarizza has been wounded in Italy according to word received by his parents, Mr. and Mrs. F. P. Schiarizza, 582 Bethune Street. He is serving with the Special Service Force there.

Bus Terminal Application Wins Approval

The application of Dolmuir Syndicate to the federal authorities for permission to erect a bus terminal building and offices on the east side of George street between Sherbrooke and Dalhousie streets was endorsed by the City Council Monday night.

When assured of supply of the necessary materials the company would begin construction within seven or eight weeks, a representative of the company informed the Council in an outline of the project with which will be associated the operation of a new bus company, to be known as the Silver Line Transit Company, operating initially between Toronto and Peterborough by way of No. 7-A Highway, and eventually continuing from Peterborough by way of Perth and Carleton Place.

While supporting the company on its terminal plans, the Council suspended action until its next meeting on a proposal to recommend to the Ontario Municipal Board the syndicate's application for bus operating rights on No. 7-A Highway between Peterborough and Toronto by way of Port Perry.

"We have already endorsed the application of the De Nure Coach Lines to the Ontario Municipal Board for a franchise to operate between Port Perry and Peterborough," said Alderman Bradburn. "This new company states in the resolution that it would include the intervening villages between Port Perry and Peterborough, and if we support that we would be in opposition to the resolution we have already sent to the Ontario Municipal Board in behalf of the De Nure buses."

"If De Nures get a franchise, then this company could not pick up between Port Perry and Peterborough," Mayor Hamilton commented.

Wants To Make Enquiries

"I'll oppose this application tonight," said Alderman Bradburn, "because I think this matter should have been brought before the Council earlier than tonight so we could make some enquiries about it, and get all the information we need. I want to make some enquiries before I vote for it."

Alderman Sands said he resented the secrecy that seemed to be pervading the new bus question. "We're practically told that certain details are none of our business; that they will come up later. If the project can't be discussed with the Council, we are being asked to buy a pig in a poke, although we are not actually buying anything. We are elected by the people, and as such we feel we are competent to judge what is best for the city."

The first motion by Aldermen Dutton and Swanston supporting the company's application to Ottawa for the terminal building permit was adopted, but the other, by Aldermen Glover and Swanston, for the syndicate's bus franchise was left in abeyance for at least two weeks.

The proposed resolution to the Ontario Municipal Board included a clause authorizing Mayor Hamilton to appear before the board to support the operating application and present the advantages and benefits which the Silver Line buses would create for Peterborough.

"I am in favor of a modern bus route for Peterborough, but I want to know more about what the service will actually be," Alderman Bradburn stated.

Application Made

The Toronto representative of the syndicate said that its application to the Ontario Municipal Board for operating license was made three or four months ago, and Mayor Hamilton recalled that the chairman of the board, on one of its visits to consider the North Monaghan annexation petitions, had mentioned to him then something about the bus company's application.

"We don't want to take anything away from anybody," the company's representative said. "These other lines around here will be feeders to the main lines. With the financial backing we have, we will bring a lot of tourist business into Peterborough from the United States."

The company's plans for the present are confined to the erection of the proposed terminal on George street, and the beginning of transportation operations between Peterborough and Toronto. The extension of this service easterly to Ottawa will be a later development, together with the construction of a large garage building on the west side of Water street, south of Sherbrooke street.

"Senator McGuire of Toronto and E. R. Wilson of Peterborough are two of the men interested in this company," the Council was told. "In fact, the application to the Federal Government for permission to erect a terminal in Peterborough has already been made by Senator McGuire, and we naturally feel that the support of Peterborough's City Council would be a help to our petition."

BROTHERS SERVING—LAC. Mclean Herriott and Tpr. Donald Herriott, sons of Mr. and Mrs. William Herriott, Plainville, are serving in the R.C.A.F. and the Army. The airman, 18, enlisted in Toronto in July, 1943, and after being posted to Mountain View, where he was a service policeman, he went overseas in December. Before joining the Air Force, he worked on his father's farm. His brother, Tpr. Donald Herriott, 28, enlisted in Kingston October, 1942. He received his certificate as an electrician at Hamilton and is now at Camp Borden. His wife resides in Port Hope. Tpr. Herriott was employed at the Cobourg Flour Mills when he joined the Army.

City Hall Plans Sent Back To Committee

"In other words," remarked Alderman Bradburn at Monday night's Council meeting, "our meeting the other night might be considered a complete washout," as members suggested reconsideration of several of the proposals for new city hall plans.

The report of the committee of the whole comprised four clauses relating to the civic centre which is to be built. They were: inclusion of the police department and court; provision of an auditorium seating 1,200 persons; omission of a banquet hall, and finally the rental clause to tenant public bodies.

"I don't think we should begin committing ourselves on some of those ideas," said Alderman Sands. "There is no great hurry about the details yet."

The council struck out the clause to eliminate a banquet hall and sent it back for reconsideration.

Alderman Glover said he was wondering whether an auditorium was really a desirable addition to the city hall. It would entail the employment of a considerable staff and would make the building generally a resort that would be in continual use.

Should the council confine the plans to the requirements of a city hall, as that term is now and generally understood, or should it elaborate the project to embrace other accommodation conceived in the phrase "community centre."

Alderman Swanston introduced the idea of providing a war memorial room in Peterborough city hall of the future. It could be a home for any flags which this city might receive as mementoes of the war and its walls could become the repository of the names of Peterborough men who sacrificed their lives in the war. The room would serve more satisfactorily as a war memorial, Alderman Swanston suggested, than even the memorial to the men who gave their lives in the war of 1914-18.

Police Salary Increases Up To Council

Whether members of the police department get any salary increases this year depends upon a recommendation from the city council it was intimated at a meeting of the board of police commissioners Monday afternoon.

The fire department has made an application for salary increases and it was the understanding of the police commission that the council was favorable to the suggested raise and also that a similar increase should be granted the police.

"There is nothing official to that effect before us," pointed out Judge S. L. Smoke at Monday's meeting. If they want to recommend police salary increases we are prepared to deal with the recommendations but so far we have received none."

Acting Sergeant

The appointment of Officer John Naples as acting sergeant was reported to the commission by Acting Chief Constable John Thompson and was approved.

Sgt. Gordon T. Puffer who had been suspended without pay at the last meeting of the board on a complaint from Chief Constable Newhall was reinstated as of yesterday and was granted leave of absence until May 1 on account of illness.

However Judge Smoke, speaking for the commission, informed Sgt. Puffer that his status would henceforth be that of sergeant on the same footing as other sergeants on the force and that he must relinquish his duties as justice of the peace during the hours in which he would be on police duty. He was told that he would no longer take informations or witness affadavits, etc. during his hours on duty.

The commission decided to recommend to the Attorney-General that James Fleming, police court stenographer, be made a justice of the peace so that he might take informations as a matter of convenience to the police department.

Take In Taxi Zone

At the request of the management of Anson House, it was decided to include that building in the centre zone for taxi fee purposes. It was pointed out that the inmates of Anson House were old and most of them feeble so that it was difficult for them to walk from the street to the home. The taxi fare to Anson street was 25 cents but there was an additional charge of 25 cents if the taxi made the trip up the driveway to Anson House.

By including the building in the 25 cents zone that double charge will be done away.

The request of the Peterborough Sea Cadets to hold a parade on Friday, May 19, when their unit will be inspected on the market square by Lieut.-Commander Hugh Plaxton of Kingston was granted. The city trust commission will be asked to build a cupboard at the police station for the storage of spare parts and accessories for the police radio.

The clerk was instructed to secure tenders for the supplying of the required summer clothing for the police department and the commission will hold a special meeting on Wednesday of next week to award the contract.

"I don't just like singling out any particular act," remarked Judge Smoke. "In my opinion the police are there to enforce all laws."

Lindsay Soldier Returns Home Aboard Nelson

LINDSAY, April 18 (ENS) — A two-year-old son he had never seen and a happy wife greeted Sgt.-Major Ray Gemmell, R.C.A., of Melbourne street, Lindsay, when he arrived home from England late Saturday night. While knowing that her husband was being invalided to Canada, Mrs. Gemmell had no information that he had even sailed before his surprise arrival.

Only 26 years of age, Sgt.-Major Gemmell returned a real army veteran as he first enlisted with the 45th Infantry Regiment at Lindsay when only 16 years of age and has been connected with the army ever since. In 1937 he was promoted to Sergeant with the 45th Field Battery and when that unit went active on September 3rd, 1939, he enlisted the same day.

Following training at Lindsay and Petawawa he was promoted to the rank of Sgt.-Major in June, 1941, when the four batteries, the 45th, 12th, 97th and 100th were regimented into the 7th Army Field Regiment. In November, 1941, he went overseas and has had extensive training ever since.

Want to Fight

Sgt.-Major Gemmell served under another Lindsay officer, Capt. Grant Ferguson and states that his unit is considered to be one of the crack units in England and is "aching for action." He speaks with highest praise of the English people and says that the main impression of England is that it is one gigantic fortress. Every hamlet and village has its quota of service men and there is hardly a minute of the day that airplanes are not heard overhead.

A son of Mrs. Margaret Gemmell and the late Herbert J. Gemmell, the young Sgt.-Major was born in Almonte, Ontario, moving to Appleton and from there to Lindsay. He attended school here but took his greatest interest in military training. After several months of confinement in an English hospital he was carried by stretcher to the hospital ship, "Lady Nelson." "The thought of coming home did me more good than all the treatments," he states, "and I became a walking case after my first day on ship. My only worry now is that they will allow me to stay in the service in whatever capacity I can serve best."

There are three other brothers also in active service, Keith with the Hastings and Prince Edward Regiment in Italy, Basil with the 2nd LAA Regiment in Italy and Patrick with the R.C.N.

End Of Footbridge Used As A Dump

"Some people think that's a dump at the west end of the footbridge across the river, and it is about time we started on cleaning it up," Alderman Curtis reported to the council Monday night.

The council intended to fill with ashes a hollow at the foot of London street, but it has become a pile of rubbish and is steadily becoming worse, the parks chairman said. Ashes plus tin cans, seats out of automobiles and all sorts of junk, have become a nuisance.

Alderman Curtis proposed first that the dump aspect be levelled off, and that City Engineer Parsons bring in a report at the next meeting, estimating the cost of properly completing the fill at once and thereby restoring the neatness of neighborhood and the value of the property on Waterford and London streets.

Alderman Mark seconded the Curtis motion.

Bowling League Gives Aid For War Victims

True sportsmen no matter what type of sports they participate in, are always sympathetic towards those who have had real hard luck in any shape of form, this having been demonstrated on many occasions by local and district sports who have come to the assistance of those stricken by enemy air raid attacks over Britain, through the Peterborough and District British War Victims Fund.

The indoor bowling season is drawing towards its close, and in previous years many of the clubs through their members demonstrated that they could in the midst of their own pleasure, still be thoughtful enough to think of these unfortunate people, by contributing in a co-operative way towards giving them financial aid, which would assist in giving them a sporting chance of making a come back to their former status in life.

This is one of the finer things engendered through their sports activities, and makes one of the finest conclusions to their season that it is possible to have, for apart from all the good they do, they disband for another season with a feeling of satisfaction that can be obtained in no other way.

The Firfst of this Season

Leading the way in this respect for the present bowling season, the C.G.E. Genelco Men's Shop Bowling League is to-day credited with a gift of $10.00 per H. Vass, their treasurer, repeating a similar action on their part of last year to help the victims of Nazi attacks in Britain have a more sporting chance to get on their feet again, which also gives a further boost to the splendid total of $6,864.97 previously given by the employees of these two large industrial plants.

A splendid personal donation of $10.00 is also listed to-day from J. H. Carter at Indian River, whose kindness of heart for others in trouble has been expressed in a similar manner on former occasions while from Joel and Peter, young sons of Mr. and Mrs. Irving Moldaver also comes a repeat gift of $2.50 given in loving memory of their grandfather, Philip Black, a family loyalty which does honor to his name.

Office Girls Approach $100

There is a loyalty to the things that count displayed very much by the office girls at the Robt. Neill Ltd. Shoe Store, for they have constantly kept the needs of others less fortunate than themselves to the fore, and steadily supported the fund over a long period of time.

The 19th donation for $5.00 is listed today, leaving but a further single gift of a like nature to give them a total credit that has reached the three figure mark, which for a staff of seven girls is quite a notable achievement. A penny box collection made at the Royal Bank is also credited in to-day's receipts.

Ward Admitted Fire Shot Police Allege

"I am the man who done it," Charles Ward, 39, of 629 George street told the police ten minutes after a report had been received that a man had been shot on George street on the night of March 24, Officer John Stevenson swore in police court this morning in the preliminary inquiry of a charge against Ward of having shot a shotgun at W. J. Boulton with intent to murder him.

Ward was committed for trial after the Crown had completed its case.

Constable Stevenson testified that he had been on duty in the police station and was alone when Ward walked into the place at 11.50 o'clock, ten minutes after the report of the shooting had been received.

"He asked me if I had received a telephone message a few minutes before about a man having been shot on George street, and when I replied 'Yes, I did,' he said "I am the man who done it," the witness swore.

Officer Stevenson said that he had then taken Ward into the guard room and detained him there. Nothing further was said. To Mr. Carley the witness said that he had never seen Ward before and had had no idea what he was going to say when he spoke.

Found Shotgun

Sergt. W. E. Wigg told of having had a conversation with Ward at the police station. Afterwards witness said he went to Ward's home at 629 George street and found a 12-gauge shotgun hanging from a nail in the wall of the kitchen.

Sergt. Wigg identified a shotgun produced in court as the weapon he had found at Ward's.

The witness said that at the west end of the lane south of Boulton's house, a quantity of wadding and a fired shotgun shell had been found. He said that from the point where the shot had apparently been fired to the place where Boulton was lying in the laneway was 50 feet.

Sergt. Wigg identified a spent cartridge and wadding produced in court as the articles found in the lane after the shooting. He also identified three cartridges as having been found by him on a table in the kitchen of Ward's home. The spent cartridge and one of the others found inside the house would fit the shotgun, the witness stated.

Given the usual warning Ward told the court that he had no statement to make and Mr. Carley stated that he did not propose to call any evidence.

"There is no need for any argument," said Magistrate Langley, and then committed Ward for trial.

Pupils Skyrocket War Stamp Sales

With the passing of the Easter holidays the school children of the city and county are entering upon the last stage of their campaign to pay for a Hurricane bomber by the sale of War Saving Stamps.

Their undertaking is the sale of 104,000 stamps, representing $26,000.

Here are some campaign comments. Be sure to listen in at 7.15 o'clock each evening to the school broadcast over CHEX.

Too bad we haven't more supporters like the Canadian Legion. They are doing a fine job in the sale of War Savings Stamps, drawing for four of five certificates each week.

Alex Polak, a 12 years old Czech lad won first place in in an All Ontario public speaking contest held recently during the Ontario Educational convention in Toronto. His subject was "Why I Should Buy War Savings Stamps and Certificates." This boy could not speak a word of English when he arrived in Canada five years ago. Let us all ask ourselves that question, why we should buy War Savings Stamps and Certificates, and the answer would be "to hasten victory."

Young Russians Show Rare Courage

Written For The Canadian Press
By IVAN BONDARENKO

LENINGRAD, April 18.—(CP).—Youth is well represented among men of the Leningrad divisions which took the offensive some weeks ago and are now driving the enemy even farther from this great Russian city.

I have seen thousands of young warriors during recent travels over front-line roads in a small bullet-riddled lorry. I also have heard numerous stories of their courage and valor.

For instance, the commander of a platoon was killed within an hour of the start of the offensive. A 20-year-old sergeant, Dmitri Razumov, shouted in a voice hoarse with excitement, "I'm in command" and led the Red army to the attack. Danger made him bold and responsibility for the lives of his comrades made him cautious and keen.

He sent part of the platoon to the right to outflank the German fortifications and with the rest made a dash towards the enemy positons. The men broke into the trenches simultaneously from two sides. Razumov was the first to reach a concrete pillbox and hurled a grenade into its door. Then he leaped inside. When Red army men rushed inside a few moments later seven German bodies lay in a pool of blood with Razumov standing over them and reeling from the strain.

Baptism of Fire.

It was a baptism of fire for Sgt. Razumov, who only a short time previously had been a student of botany.

Another young soldier, Ivan Skurygin, an electrician by trade, sacrficed his life for his country. His company encountered four German pillboxes. Three were smashed by artillery fire but the fourth barred the way. Every time the company rose to attack its lines were raked with machine gun fire. It was a key position and held up the advance of an entire regiment.

Realizing this, Skurygin crawled toward the pillbox, then rose and firing his Tommy-gun rushed toward the aperature. Hit by an enemy bullet, he dropped on the aperature and covered it with his body. At the cost of his life he stopped the enemy's fire and enabled his comrades to push on.

Nikolai Usishchev, a young officer, was in command of a tank chasing a group of Nazi Tommy-gunners behind the enemy's lines. A nearby explosion smashed a tread and the tank stopped. The German gunners began to circle the tank which was short of ammunition. The commander ordered his crew of four to take up positions outside the vehicle.

For several hours the Germans attempted to close. After small-arm ammunition was exhausted, the crew threw hand grenades. A crewman, A. Bogomolov, even drove off one German with a knife. Another German was repulsed wtih a flare pistol.

Finally, the defenders found themselves without fighting material of any kind. A silence ensued on the field. Then it was interrupted by reports of distant firing and finally Red army men appeared from behind a hill. The Germans fled.

More Adequate Clothing Allowance Is Sought For Discharged Men

Recognition of the far-reaching effect of politics on the day to day life of the members of the community has been one of the main reasons for the setting up of political action committees in labour unions declared Ellis Blair, District Representative of the United Electrical, Radio and Machine Workers of America, yesterday.

Our committee, in Peterborough, like political action committees in other centres, is composed of union members irrespective of individual political affiliation. The support of any political party—federally, provincially or in the muncipal field is outside the scope and function of this committee. We are instead, concerned with the close and extensive study of all legislation so that we may constructively and objectively present our suggestions for improvement and advancement of the welfare of our working population both now and after the war.

"We availed ourselves of the opportunity to discuss both present and anticipated legislation with our local members of parliament, Gordon K. Fraser and Harold Scott, during the Easter recess of the Federal House. Our meeting with these legislative representatives was not in the nature of any submission of and exacting program but instead was a frank discussion and expression of studied opinions on subjects which had to do with both present and future security and well-being of the workers in our community."

Post-war Problems

"For instance, it was pointed out at the meeting, that in order to alleviate the uncertainty accompanying changes in production and cancellation of contracts in plants in which the workers play such a decisive role in war production, the workers should be taken into the confidence of the government and plant management. In discussing post-war problems, the committee pointed out that both workers and returning service men and women should be given some guarantees of economic security particularly during the reconversion period when industry will be changing from war production to that of peace time goods. Unemployment, relief and insecurity is not a very promising outlook and steps must be taken to avoid it.

"The committee urged support of a higher clothing allowance for service men upon their honourable discharge or demobilization as well as a graduated rehabilitation pay based on length of service in the forces. The present clothing allowance of $65 is considered entirely inadequate for the return of the soldier to civilian life and occupation. Our veterans should have full and free hospitalization in veterans hospitals and the return of their job in civilian life if they desire it. We should take steps to make loans at low interests available to our veterans for reestablishment on farms, small business and for the building of homes."

"The housing problem as it affects our civilian working population was discussed and we have urged that our government undertake a full building program to provide low rental homes as well as making loans, at low interest, available for individuals to build their own homes. This was considered particularly important in view of the improvision, during this emergency period, of wartime houses of a non-permanent nature and which are likely to disappear at the end of the war."

Savings Plans Will Beat Inflation Threat

WINDSOR, Ont., April 18 (CP)—Finance Minister Ilsley, urging "strong support" for the forthcoming Victory Loan, said in a luncheon address here today that Canada's war expenditures now are at their highest point, with a "continuing need for money on a scale that will certainly equal, and may exceed, last year's."

That, said Mr. Ilsley, was the need for support of the Loan—"the obvious requirement of the money to meet the costs of the war."

The second "urgent" reason was to help keep down the cost of living, a reason never before "so important."

"We are winning in the struggle here at home to keep the cost of living under control, but it is a long, uphill fight and we need to use every weapon at our disposal," said Mr. Ilsley.

"Costs of production continue to push up against the price ceiling. We must persevere in holding these costs in check. Spending too, is still excessive and is tending to raise prices here and there as consumers compete with one another for the restricted supply of goods.

"Only by saving—regular, persistent saving on a substantial scale—by millions of Canadians, can this excessive spending be kept in check. We must face the fact that there are not enough supplies to meet all our demands unless all of us practice real self-denial."

Mr. Ilsley said the third reason for buying bonds was to provide for the future.

"We hear a great deal these days about post-war planning now and what the government should be doing about this and that. I am pressed on many sides to talk about it—to emphasize in speeches such as this. I do not accede to these requests, as I feel that a disproportionate emphasis is being given nowadays to vague principles and prophecies on this subject.

Can Solve Problems

"I feel confident that we Canadians can handle our post-war problems just as well as we have been handling our wartime economic problems—as long as we keep our heads and preserve some unity of national purpose. We have learned much from our war experience—and we have regained our own confidence, which is of vital importance.

"The detailed preparations for meeting the immediate problems of transition to peace must go forward—and somehow even the busiest of us must find some time to give to them.

"Some of these measures are ready. In the speech from the throne the government indicated several of the proposals on which it is working. Already some projects in my field of responsibility have been presented to parliament and more will follow shortly.

"But I do not want to divert attentoin from the main task—which is to prosecute the war to the full extent of our ability, so that victory will be won as speedily as possible."

Discussing the post-war market for Victory Bonds, Mr. Ilsley said it would be "of the greatest importance that we maintain, indeed assure, a ready and stable market for all these millions of bonds that we have sold." He added:—

"We now have the monetary and financial machinery and we have developed the methods for accomplishing this and we will therefore be able to deal with any situation which may develop in a way which will keep faith with the millions of small investors who are supporting the savings program in this national emergency.

"If there are any who fear that bond prices will fall as they did after the last war, let me say that this could happen only if we were to permit interest rates to rise.

"Can there possibly be any justification for allowing interest rates to rise after the war Higher rates would only be justified if when the war shortages are over, expenditures on capital development and consumer outlays should become so large as to place a real strain on our productive capacity.

"Everyone knows that there will be no such strain and that the problem of governments will be to make use of the enormous productive capacity that has been developed during the war and thereby prevent unemployment."

Mr. Ilsley said the amount of money the government will need for war purposes this year again will be large.

"I cannot in advance of the budget tell your accurately what our needs will be, but I am sure that we shall need to borrow, for all war purposes, as much this year as we did last year," he added.

"Indeed, we may need more unless the war situation improves more rapidly than now appears likely."

SUPPLIES FOR BENGAL

NEW DELHI — (CP) — From Nov. 5 to Dec. 31, a total of more than 170,000 tons of supplies was distributed in Bengal by military authorities. During that period the total mileage involved in this work was over a quarter of a million.

Mrs. H. B. Puffer Named As Clerk

HAVELOCK, April 18 (ENS) — A special meeting of the Havelock Council was held on Monday at 9.30 a.m. owing to the death of the village clerk, H. B. Puffer.

The Council was presided over by Reeve Seeney, with all Councillors present. Reeve Seeney expressed the regret of Council in the loss by death of the Clerk and offered the Councils deepest sympathy to his wife and daughter. On a motion by Councillors Leeson and Sanderson, Mrs. Puffer was appointed Clerk-Treasurer and tax-collector at the usual salary. By-Law No. 529, appointing Mrs. Puffer to the vacancy and Mrs. Dorothy McMillan as deputy-Clerk and Treasurer at a retaining fee of $10, was adopted on motion by Councillors Martin and Sanderson.

By-Law No. 530 authorizing the deputy-treasurer signing checks in the absence of the treasurer or Reeve, carried.

WELCOME this man when he calls

● One day soon he will be calling on you, and calling at the home of every other Canadian.

He is the Victory Loan canvasser.

What does he offer?

Well, first of all he is offering you a share in Victory—Your share.

He is offering you the FIFTH Freedom—The Freedom of Conscience that comes from the knowledge of having done your utmost.

He is offering you a means whereby minutes, hours, days, may be cut from the total length of the war. Minutes, hours, days, in which thousands of Allied fighting men would have lost their lives.

Lastly, he is offering you your rightful share in CANADA UNLIMITED. The Canada of the future, stronger, richer, happier, building to a new high in prosperity and finer living.

These are the things that the Victory Loan canvasser is selling. You can make his job an easy one. See him at once, hear his story fully. Remember, he has many calls to make. BUY AS MANY BONDS AS YOU CAN.

M.O.H. Outlines New System Public Health

Incidentally to an outline of public health services in federal, provincial and municipal channels and responsibilities, Dr. R. A. Kelly, M.O.H., sketched to the Rotary Club Monday the framework of the Drew Government's plans for Ontario.

The province is to be divided into seventy-one health units, corresponding to county boundaries on the whole, with any divergencies from those lines depending on populations.

A major division of Ontario will be into fourteen districts, averaging in area five health units to which will radiate central supervision and special services including travelling chest clinics, dental and mental health clinic, industrial hygiene clinics and so on.

"When these plans come into effect, I do not know," Dr. Kelly said, "but we do know that seven counties in western Ontario have already applied. One serious obstacle to such a broad program is the present lack of trained personnel. We know that vaccination has wiped out small pox and typhoid is a thing of the past due to the safety of our drinking water, sewage disposal and other improvements. There is still much to be done, but I feel sure that such a program as that which has been announced will lead to making Peterborough healthier and happier, and Ontario a healthier province."

Makes Divisions

Dr. Kelly, introduced by Alderman Dutton, chairman of the Board of Health, classified health services in the categories of federal, provincial and municipal jurisdictions. Some of those in the federal group were cited as, the division of food and drugs for the inspection of purity; narcotic drugs; patent or proprietary medicine; nutrition; and in the provincial field—vital statistics, sanitation especially with regard to food, milk, water and so on; industrial hygiene; mental illness; prevention of tuberculosis and care of tubercular patients; venereal disease and so on.

Gordon Matthews, presiding, introduced as luncheon guest, Sergeant Muriel Robertson of the Canadian Women's Army Corps, who appealed to Rotarians for their support in present campaign to recruit 300 women for the C.W.A.C. by June 15. This is the local quota in the national effort to obtain 5,000 C.W.A.C. recruits within the next two months.

Sgt. Robertson is a daughter of Rev. Canon W. P. Robertson and Mrs. Robertson of this city.

Use Propaganda

LONDON, April 18—(CP). — The Daily Sketch in a featured article on its editorial page, said today that "anti-British Empire propaganda" in the United States is "worth several divisions to the Japanese" and "might ultimately tip the scales in India if the Allies' military position in the Orient should ever be gravely in jeopardy."

Fijis Versus Japs

WASHINGTON, April 18—(AP).—Fiji Islanders, equipped with modern arms, including automatics weapons, are helping the Allies exterminate Japanese in the South Pacific. The War Department reported today that in one continuing action the fierce warriors, led by New Zealand officers, penetrated deep into enemy territory in the Bougainville area and returned after killing 179 Japanese while losing only one killed and three wounded.

Soldier Is Most Realistic Guy Especially Going Into Battle

BY DICK SANDBURN
War Correspondent, The Southam Newspapers

EN ROUTE BACK TO BRITAIN, April 18 — When a soldier's going into battle there's only one thing he think about—how to kill the enemy wtihout getting killed himself.

Sure, other times he thinks about a lot of other things. He thinks about whether he's going to have a job after the war—"post war rehabilitation" is the fancy name for it—and whether it will be a good job and he'll be able to get married and have a family.

But a soldier's a realistic guy, and the very nature of his day to day ask makes him think most of all about the problems of the immediate future, for that may be all the future he has.

Victory Bonds buy the things than can make a soldier's future longer than just "immediate."

Together with other Canadian war correspondents, I've seen thousands of soldiers in action in Sicily and Italy. We don't pretend to be experts on what goes on in a soldier's mind all the time, but we're close enough to them to have a good idea of the enormous importance of the immediate future.

Returning to Britain

This is being written in Canada, on a train carrying me on the first leg of the long hop back to Britain. As the train speeds along through pine forest and drifted snow, several things that it's nice to know crowd my mind. Most of them are thoughts, I believe, of the ordinary Canadian soldier. Others are personal.

It's nice to know that the rifle or Bren gun you hold in your hands just before zero hour is a good one, the best in the world, and if you're unlucky enough to lose it there are plenty more to replace it.

It's nice to know that when the artillery barrage is at its paralyzing peak, our guns won't have to cease fire because there's a shortage of shells.

It's nice to know that, back along those shell-torn roads, somewhere, big Canadian trucks creaking under loads of Canadian shells, are growling ahead in the darkness, and Canadian friends will soon unload them right beside your Canadian gun.

It's nice to look up and see a couple of squadrons of fighter bombers streaking ahead to kick hell out of that Jerry gun position that's been pestering you for days.

It's nice to know that those planes have plenty more bombs and cannon shells back at the airfield, not to mention plenty more aircraft and people who can fly them to best advantage—a lot of them trained in Canada at Canadian expense.

Had Their Mince Pie

It's nice to know that you're going to eat before long, no matter where you are. Last Christmas, even right up in the most forward slit trenches in Italy, the boys munched their Canadian-made mince pie.

It's nice to know, when you've been out in the mud and the slime and the screaming horror for a week, that there's a rest waiting for you a few miles back of the line.

It's nice to know that, back there you're going to sleep in real beds, lie in bed in the morning as long as you like, have hot water for a bath movies to see, music to listen to, good meals to eat, extra cigarettes to smoke, maybe even a bottle of beer.

It's nice to know that your buddy who caught a piece of shrapnel last night, has already been rushed back to an excellent Canadian hospital, where he's being cared for by the very best Canadian doctors and nurses, who have all the drugs and equipment and professional skill good Canadian money can provide.

It's nice to know that your kid brother Jim, who just finished his training in Canada and is probably on his way overseas now, will be kept safe on his journey across those dark Atlantic waters by plenty of stout Canadian naval vessels armed to the teeth.

It's nice to know that when Jim makes his personal invasion of Europe he'll have all the good equipment you had when you scrambled ashore on that Sicilian beach. You'll probably write and tell Jim a few of the tricks you've learned about how to make that equipment give even better service.

Best Planes Devised

It's nice to know that Orv and Bill, whom you like to remember as the boys you used to party with at home, and not as brand new RCAF aircrew officers, will soon do their first "ops" in the best kites man has yet devised, with the finest equipment in the world to help them on their hazardous way and bring them safely back to that dark and misty airport somewhere in England.

Yes, it's nice to know all these things. Only a war correspondent who gets paid for writing would ever dare to try to put these thoughts on paper. But I believe a lot of Canadian servicemen just sort of feel them instinctively, and it helps.

You'll forgive them if they don't talk "patriotically" about the Victory Loan. After all, Canadian soldiers in Italy did buy more than a million dollars worth last November quietly.

It's nice to know that, too.

It's nice to know that the folks at home will oversubscribe the $1,200,000,000 loan this time. Yes, the boys overseas know that.

Mustard is surest remedy

FOR BRONCHITIS LUMBAGO AND ARTHRITIS.....

Says Mrs. J. B. Melbourne

"I WOULDN'T allow any merchant to sell me an ounce of anything but pure mustard," says Mrs. Melbourne, of St. Vital, Manitoba, "for I have had chronic Bronchitis for twelve years and have used mustard with the greatest success in helping to break up these yearly attacks."

"I have used the one-to-three poultice on my hip to relieve the pain of an arthritic condition there," says Mrs. Melbourne, "and I also depend on mustard poultices for help in relieving Lumbago. I never leave a poultice on longer than twenty minutes."

Thousands Depend on Mustard

The strongest proof of the value of mustard in treating so many common ailments is the fact that thousands of people like Mrs. Melbourne depend on it year after year and recommend its use to friends and relatives.

Always keep mustard handy in your house in case of emergency to relieve Chills or Colds, or when you feel depressed by Grippe or other Winter infections. If symptoms are serious call your doctor.

Insist on Pure Mustard

Be sure that you ask for famous Keen's D.S.F. Mustard, made entirely from highest quality mustard seed, and packed to preserve its uniform quality and full medicinal strength. Sold by grocers and druggists everywhere.

Sadie A. Melrose Appointed To Ontario Parole Board

TORONTO, April 18—Only woman member of the Ontario Board of Parole, Miss Sadie A. Melrose, now of Toronto but formerly of Guelph, has just taken up her duties in that capacity. Her background qualifies her well for her new position as she was secretary to the superintendent at the Guelph Reformatory for ten years before being transferred to the parole office at Queen's Park eleven years ago.

Each month the Parole Board meets at one of the various institutions. Miss Melrose will work chiefly with the girls and women at the Mercer Reformatory. Before becoming secretary at the Reformatory she was a private secretary. She took a prominent part in the work of the Y.W.C.A. in Guelph and is a charter member of the Business Women's Club there. Her education was received at the Collegiate Institute in Guelph and she is the daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. Adam Melrose of Guelph and Peterborough.

Attending her first meeting as a member of the board early this month as the only woman with the five male members of the board, Miss Melrose said that there was no resentment on the part of the men. She was told that the girls at the Mercer, where the meeting was held, seemed to feel more at ease in her presence and speak more freely. Judge J. P. Balharrie of Ottawa also attended this meeting as a first time member of the board.

LADY IN BLUE—The Canuck with the Cairn is LA. Irene 'Rene' Blott, R.C.A.F., motor transport driver from Leader, Sask., who has served almost a year and a half at headquarters of the Canadian bomber group in Britain. Her friend is "Skipper."

Colorful Display Promised At YWCA Pageant

War conditions have not greatly affected the Y.W.C.A. Gym Review this year, for, inspite of the lack of elaborate costumes, the routines and dances are just as smart and enchanting as ever before, and will surpass the colorful scenes of previous years. The basic costume will be the white gym tunic, which will be complimented with accessories to create atmosphere for several of the dances.

One of the loveliest of the dances, Chalff's "Pearl of Andalusia" will be presented by the senior students, in long, swaying gowns and lovely heirloom shawls. The seniors will also wear long gowns for a beautiful waltz routine.

One of the sprightliest of the junior dances will be the popular Mexican hat dance, and the girls will wear brilliant straw hats and sashes with their white gym tunics, to create that "south of the border" effect. The sailor's hornpipe will be danced by the juniors, in long white trousers, and jaunty sailor's caps.

Particular stress will be laid on exercises, featuring smart precise routines. The cadets will present their semaphore signalling routine, and also intricate reed work. The seniors have several smart presentation, including exercises with wands, precision club swinging, strenuous Danish fundamentals, streamline exercises in an effective circle pattern, relaxation exercises, and leg routines.

Intermissions will feature a round of activity with rope and mat work, archery, badminton and flying rings.

The babies, of course, have two special numbers to delight the audience. The first is done with dumbbells, to the music of well-known nursery rhymes. Miss C. Littlefield, physical director of the Y.W., arranged and perfected this exercise, with the idea in mind of teaching the children rhythm, without making them learn routines. They connect the action with the music, and therefore learn their parts without having to memorize each separate exercise.

The other number is the "Canary, Kitten and Bluebird" dance, a rhythmic dance which tells a story, greatly enjoyed by the children. The kiddies wear costumes in this dance. The canaries have yellow breasts and pert, yellow tails; the kittens have silky ears and long tails, and the bluebirds have lovely blue breasts and high crests.

A great deal of time and effort was necessary in the preparation of this review, both in planning routines, and in rehearsing. Miss Littlefield has worked untiringly to perfect the presentation, although many difficulties have arisen. The holidays naturally upset rehearsals, and the necessity of advancing the date one week will deplete the numbers of business girls able to take part, since they had arranged their time for the first date.

However, the review, taking in every phase of gym work, and showing the accomplishments of the children, through to the senior groups, will be of great interest. The dances are dainty; the routines smart; the tumbling and rope work is breathtaking; and the babies, as always, are adorable, and will surely stop the show.

McGill-Hushin Vows Pledged

LINDSAY, April 18.—(ENS).— A wedding of local interest took place at St. Andrew's Presbyterian church when Gweneth Irene, eldest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. D Hushin, of Lindsay, became the bride of Harold Edsel McGill, son of Mr. and Mrs. Alvin McGill, of Lindsay. Rev. D. McQueen officiated. Robert Cutt was at the organ and Bruce Davidson was soloist.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a street-length dress of heavenly blue crepe with matching accessories and carried a bouquet of calla-lilies. She was assisted by Mrs. C. Johnson, who wore dusty-pink with brown accessories and bouquet of yellow roses. Mr. O. Johnson was groomsman. The ushers were Merle Trewin of Ottawa and Lloyd Woods of Kingston.

Following the reception, which was held at Kawartha Lodge, the home of the bride's parents, the young couple left on a wedding trip to American points.

Range Pals Elect Miss Margaret Bell

The fourth annual meeting and election of officers of the Range Pals was held recently at the home of Misses Audrey and Norma Timlin. Mr. F. Timlin presided for the election of officers which resulted as follows: President, Miss Margaret Bell; vice-president, Miss Audrey Timlin; secretary-treasurer, Miss Betty Sayer; press correspondent, Mr. J. May. The president thanked everyone who had helped to make the club's efforts successful in the past year. The secretary-treasurer gave the results of the year's work as follows: three quilts and one comforter donated to the Red Cross; one quilt quilted for the pupils of the Rifle Range School; one bundle of clothing to the Red Shield; and one bundle to the Red Cross. Expenses included a donation of $87.05 to the British War Victims' Fund, and $16.66 spent on cigarettes and gifts for members of the club on active service.

Two letters were read, from LAC Lowes, R.C.A.F., and Spr. Elwood Hendren. Miss Bell was congratulated on her re-election as president, and the evening was spent in games and refreshments. The next meeting will be held April 21 at the home of Mr. and Mrs. William Price.

Helen Morley Weds Gnr. W. J. Reid

Ferns and snap-dragons formed a lovely setting in St. George's Anglican Church recently, for the marriage of Helen Isabel Morley, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. J. Morley, 10 Lundy's Lane, and Gnr. William James Reid, son of Mrs. M. Reid, 524 Douglas avenue, and the late Archie Reid. Rev. E. C. Moore officiated. Norman Hurrle was at the organ, and during the signing of the register Mrs. E. W. Cooper sang "Because."

Given in marriage by her father, the bride was charming in a floor-length gown of white triple sheer, made with a full skirt, gathered waistline, and long full sleeves. The bodice was full, and buttoned down the back. Her finger-tip veil of white net fell from a Queen Anne head-dress, and she carried American Beauty roses. Her only jewelery was a string of pearls.

Miss Pearl Morley, sister of the bride, was bridesmaid, in blue triple sheer, made on the same style as the bride's, but buttoned down the front, with a small Peter Pan collar. She wore a matching Queen Anne head-dress, and carried pink roses.

Bdr. Randall Toms was best man, and the ushers were Mr. E. W. Cooper and Mr. Hugh Collins.

At the reception, held at the bride's home, the bride's mother received, in a gown of brown crepe, beige accessories, and a corsage of yellow roses. Also receiving was the groom's mother, in navy blue and white, with navy accessories, and a corsage of Talisman roses.

For a short wedding trip, the bride donned a blue wool dress, beige and brown coat, beige hat and brown accessories. On their return, they will live in Peterborough.

This Week's Best Wartime Recipe

Contributed By Mary Moore Readers

DEAR MARY MOORE: I make the following recipe up for my family in place of cake because they have such good flavor and need only 1-3 cup sugar. I get 12 muffins and they are good for 1 dinner for my family of 6 and I have them for two days for the lunches I pack. I sometimes serve a little whipped cream on them when I have no fruit for dessert.

Mrs. Pell's Orange Muffins

One-quarter cup good shortening or butter if you can spare it, 1-3 cup sugar, 1 egg, 1½ cups cake flour, 2 teaspoons baking powder, ¼ cup evaporated milk or milk or cream, ¼ cup orange juice, grated rind of 1 orange. Cream the butter and sugar, add egg and beat well; add milk, orange juice and grated orange rind, then flour and baking powder sifted together. Bake in well- buttered muffin tins 20 minutes in oven of 375 deg. Fahr. (moderately hot). This batter is very good because it may be mixed ahead of time, and kept in the refrigerator and baked whenever you are ready—but don't try to keep it overnight.

It also makes a nice sheet cake. For parties I have served it baked in a sheet pan, cut into squares, topped with a little whipped cream then a spoonful of chocolate sauce flavored with mint. The children call it "super".

That last treatment sounds like a dish they served at the Marigold—the famous Southern restaurant in Niagara Falls.

I served the muffins with chocolate ice cream. To put it mildly they were a success.

THANKS.

DINNERS OF THE WEEK

By MARY MOORE

SUNDAY

Creole Pork Chops (see note)
Casserole Mixed Carrot and Turnip Strips
Riced Potatoes
Celery Curls Radishes
Chocolate Chiffon Pie (note)
Coffee

NOTES: The pork chops creole look so professional on the serving platter you will like it. Have the butcher cut the chops at least an inch thick—preferably 1½ inches. Salt and pepper them. Place in pan and on each chop place a one-fourth inch slice of a large onion and, if you can find one, a slice from a green pepper. Inside the onion or pepper ring place 1 teaspoon washed rice—that is on each chop. Add one 10-ounce can of tomato soup or 10 ounces tomato juice. Cover and bake at 350 deg. Fahr. for 1½ hours—basting frequently and adding extra hot water as needed. Fried apple rings are nice with these.

Chocolate Chiffon Pie

¾ cup sugar, 4 egg yolks well beaten, 1-3 cup milk, 2 ounces (squares) unsweetened chocolate or ½ cup good quality cocoa, ½ tablespoon gelatin, 1 teaspoon vanilla, ¼ teaspon salt, 4 egg whites beaten frothy, 1 bake pie shell. Beat 6 tablespoons sugar into yolks. Cook in double boiler, stirring until creamy. Bring milk to boiling point and shave in chocolate. Blend well. Soak gelatin in 1 tablespoon cold water 5 minutes. Dissolve in milk-chocolate mixture. Mix well and chill. Beat whites with remaining sugar until stiff. Fold into chilled chocolate mix. Turn in baked shell and chill.

MONDAY (Familiar Guests)

Hamburgers de Luxe (note)
Boiled Potatoes with Parsley Cream Sauce Spinach
Tossed Green Salad
Baked Apples Crackers and Cheese
Coffee

NOTE: You'll adopt these forever once you try them: 1 pound ground steak, 2 eggs unbeaten, 1 tablespoon flour, ½ grated small onion, 1 teaspoon salt, pepper, ¼ cup catsup, sauteed onions (or mushrooms), bacon. Mix meat with the eggs, flour and seasonings; beat for about 3 minutes. Form into thin cakes; spread a layer of onions (or mushrooms) between 2 cakes and press the edges together; place a strip of bacon around edge and fasten with toothpick. These are designed to fry in deep hot fat, but may be pan fried or baked.

TUESDAY

Curried Eggs on Toast Triangles
Chopped Beets and Green
Fluffy Boiled Rice
Fruit Cup: Grapefruit, Oranges, Canned Cherries
Cookies Coffee

WEDNESDAY

Irish Stew with Dumplings

DOROTHY DIX

WAR STRENGTHENS MARRIAGE

Some Ties Will Be Broken But More Tottering Relationships Are Bound to Be Resuscitated.

IF WIVES were ever too trusting and easily deceived by their husbands, they have swung to the opposite extreme and are overly suspicious and filled with dire forebodings these days when the war has parted so many couples. Apparently almost every temporary war widow has turned into a Doubting Thomasina who pictures her husband as having scrapped his marriage vows when he went into the army, and turned into a Don Juan, or as having been kidnapped by a U.S.O. hostess, or a canteen worker, or some pretty girl who considers it her patriotic duty to flirt with other women's husbands.

And the husband's past record and present performances seem to have no effect in allaying these fears. He may have been so tightly tied to his wife's apron strings that he never wandered from his own fireplace. He may never have looked at any other woman than his own Maria. He may spend all of his time in camp writing her letters telling her how he loves her and how lonesome he is without her, and how he is looking forward to returning to her. It doesn't keep her from being green-eyed and from weeping into her pillow at night wondering if he has fallen in love with some girl who is younger and slimmer than she is. And what will she and her poor children do? Boo-hoo, boo-hoo.

Now the lot of the average wife whose routine of life has been smashed into smithereens by the war is hard enough at best. Only too often her home is broken up and she has to go to live with relatives who don't want her and the kids, or she has to crowd in with strangers and put up with their peculiarities. She has less money to live on and living costs more. And, worst of all, she is parted from the man she loves and on whose strength she leaned. And she is lonesome and bored and she can't go around and amuse herself without getting talked about.

Wife Should Not Borrow Trouble

Heaven knows she has trouble enough without going out of her way to borrow any more. That is what makes it so tragical for her to torture herself with needless jealousy. Yet thousands upon thousands of these poor souls add to their sorrow by morbidly brooding over the possibility that their husbands may not be faithful to them, and seeing themselves as forlorn, deserted wives.

And in vain you try to comfort them. Their reply is. "It has happened to other women and it may happen to me." Nor does it cheer them up to tell them that it also happens to most wives to get their husbands back from the war safe and sound and without any amorous complications. For the number of philandering husbands is comparatively small, and the danger from predatory females is far less on the battle front than it is in any office at home.

Without doubt the war will estrange some couples and wreck some marriages, but it will save many more and give new strength to many a tottering domestic relationship. Many a husband and wife will realize for the first time how necessary they are to each other's happiness when they are parted, and pray God that they may once more see the face that they thought they were tired of.

So I urge these wives to put away their foolish fears about their husband's loyalty, and believe in them. Love without faith is not worth having.

THE TEA HOUR GOSSIP . . . .

Something very new are the suits called the gadabouts, that will be seen in the after Easter parade. This new number consists of a cardigan suit, sylph-slim and trimly tailored. The short topper looks wonderful worn over the suit of grey silvertone, with the dutch bonnet made of the same material. This makes such a smart spring outfit for the girl in her late teens.

The flip little young-timers are now in prints. A very smart dress, print with white background, and navy flowers woven in. The dress has short sleeves, low neck in front, and has large patch pockets on either side. With this the large flat beret is worn well back on the head. This is in navy blue, and navy blue long gloves are worn with it. Another one has the navy background with white flowers. A white tricorn hat and white gloves complete this very stunning costume.

Something new and quite out of the ordinary is the camisole jacket in black and white checked gingham, worn with a black rayon shantung skirt. To complete this ensemble wear a large white sailor hat with wide black flange on edge of brim and black ribbon ends hanging down at side from underneath the brim. A pair of black three-quarter length gloves, black earrings and bracelet complete a very striking costume.

Over your bright prints wear one of the new three-quarter length bright coats with hat in the same shade. One of these beautiful costumes is carried out in rose and purple—a print dress in the rose shades with purple hat and coat. With this be sure to wear white gloves.

Another very striking print is in lime and purple. Wear a large picture hat of the green shade, with a spray of purple lilacs hanging off the back, and lime green gloves. The dress is made with full skirt and the waist is made to form a short Eton coat effect. This dress worn under either a purple or green short coat would be something very charming and most unusual.

By GENEVIEVE KEMBLE

For Wednesday, April 19

WHILE IT is likely to be a distinctly lively and enterprising day, all the excitment and commotion will not be entirely constructive. There is a menace of sudden danger or unforeseen development of a quite unpredictable nature. Shun unwise or ill-considered channels or journeys and take care against accident or carlessness, with the physical well-being and that of the household. There are also entrangements or separations in emotional or affectional affiliations. Handle delicate situations with finesse and compromise.

If It Is Your Birthday

Those whose birthday it is may expect a particularly lively and exciting year, with much transpiring of a surprising and unpredictable nature. It would be well to suppress the emotions or impulses, refraining from all sudden and tempestuous moves. Safeguard the physical safety and that of the family, also preserve tact and finesse in domestic, social and love affairs. With prudence and turning the energies into constructive channels, there might be surprising turns of luck and good fortune through aggressive activities.

A child born on this day may have much energy, constructive ability and skill, with ingenuity and enterprise, although it may be subject to emotional or impulsive outburst or a strange urge to recklessness.

Today's Victory Garden

By DEAN HALLIDAY

VEGETABLE GARDENS

As the commander of a Victory garden make sure you have adequate supplies of ammunition on hand—the seeds for 1944 plantings.

Gardeners have been urged to order seeds early to avoid the spring rush. While there will be an ample supply of seeds available, service from seed houses may be slow due to the tremendous demands. It, therefore, will have to be a case of "first come, first served."

Victory gardeners are also cautioned against sowing seeds too thickly, and thereby wasting them. An illustration in the accompanying Garden-Graph shows what is meant by over-crowding and wasting seeds.

When ordering seeds one should take into account the fact that the very small seeds, such as lettuce and carrots, can be spaced four to five seeds per inch, as illustrated. The medium size seeds, such as radishes and beets, can be spaced two seeds to the inch, while large seeds, such as beans and peas, are usually planted about two inches apart.

In ordering seeds, remember that about one-half ounce of radish seeds will plant a 100-foot row, while an ounce of beet seeds will be required for a 100-foot row and a pound of bean seeds for the same length row.

SO GOOD-you'll want them to go Farther!

• Because they're so unusually delicious and convenient . . . because restrictions make less of them available these days . . . you'll want every package of Jell-O and Jell-O Pudding to go farther.

So you'll welcome these clever ideas for your family's favorite desserts! Use them when you're so fortunate as to get Jell-O or Jell-O Pudding—and look for additional recipes on the packages.

JELL-O PUDDING "BUTTERFLIES"

1 package JELL-O Pudding, any flavor
2 cups milk
8 or 10 medium-sized cup-cakes

Prepare Jell-O Pudding with milk, as directed on package. Cool. Cut a slice from top of each cup-cake and scoop out centres. (Use scooped-out centres for trifle.) Fill cup-cakes with Jell-O Pudding. Halve slices removed from tops and insert diagonally in filling, to represent butterfly wings. Eight to ten servings.

JELL-O CHEESE-APPLE SALAD

1 package Lemon JELL-O
2 cups hot water
2 tablespoons lemon juice
1 teaspoon salt
1 red apple, cut in ¼-inch dice
1 teaspoon sugar
3 ounces white cream cheese
Nutmeats, if available

Dissolve Jell-O in water. Add 1 tablespoon lemon juice, and salt. Combine apple, sugar, an additional dash of salt, and remaining 1 tablespoon lemon juice. Chill. When Jell-O mixture is slightly thickened, fold apples into half of it. Turn into wet mould. Chill until firm. Beat remaining Jell-O to consistency of whipped cream; fold in cheese and nuts. Pour over first layer. Chill until firm. Unmould on lettuce. Serve with dressing. Eight servings.

JELL-O and JELL-O Puddings

If your grocer is temporarily out of Jell-O or Jell-O Puddings, please don't blame him. He's doing the best he can, to make his limited supplies go 'round.

WHY IS PERFECTION COCOA THE BEST VALUE?

● PERFECTION COCOA is made only from the best Cocoa Beans that can be secured.

● It is carefully processed with the skill of a century's experience in making fine cocoa.

● Its extremely high 22% Cocoa Butter content makes it exceptionally nourishing and gives it a superior, true chocolate flavour.

● Its fineness of texture assures a smooth, creamy beverage, and makes it ideal for baking, too.

For the utmost in quality, food value, and chocolate flavour, ask your grocer for PERFECTION COCOA. Regardless of price, there is none better. Yet PERFECTION COCOA costs less!

Why Pay More?

Brother, Should You Spend a Dime?

A dime is small change! (10¢) But when a lot of dimes march out of your pocket they soon become dollars that start to fight other dollars, for the new neckties, dresses or furniture left for us to buy. This battle of the dollars is called INFLATION because it starts prices rising! And the higher prices go...the less your dollar is worth! For instance, during the last war, people had to pay (23¢ lb.) for sugar that you get for (8¢ lb.) today. A voile night dress was ($6.95) compared to the ($1.98) you pay now. Your dollar buys more goods, is worth more than the dollar of 1914-18. Price ceilings and other anti-inflationary measures have helped keep it's value high. And remember! Every time you use your money wisely to pay off a debt or to increase your savings when you refuse to hoard goods or patronize black markets...it makes your dollars worth MORE!

Make This Pledge Today!

I promise to give my support to keeping the cost of living down. I will buy only what I need. I will observe the ceiling whether buying or selling goods or services. I will pay off old debts, save for the future, invest in Victory Bonds and War Savings Certificates. And I will support taxes which help lower the cost of living.

Keep Your Dollar Value High!

SCOTT'S SCRAP BOOK — By J. R. Scott

With The Armed Forces

The editor of this column will welcome extracts from letters from boys serving or any other information concerning them.
By JEAN STENTON

Men back from the lines for a rest are given good care, writes Ted Moore of the Pincess Pats, who has been stationed in Italy for many months. He recently had a 7-day leave which he spent in an 8th Army rest camp.

"We had a great time. It is called a rest camp, but there is little resting done as everyone is having a good time. It is awfully quiet at the present time and I am still having a good rest after my leave. At present we are in comfortable place that is warm and dry and more important, there is a fire. We have tea morning, afternoon and night, so it seems almost like England again."

Although it has been given little publicity, there are a large number of English girls serving in towns in southern Italy, Pte. Moore writes. They are at canteen counters and in officers messes, and the soldier feels life must be rather dull for them, since they have the same thing every day.

"For the last week I have been working at breaking down the morale and poisoning the personnel of the unit — cook's helper. In this job, I have an opportunity to relax and enjoy the meals, and I am getting rather big for my clothes.

"The boys are getting a big laugh out of the changes which are predicted for after the war. Some won't even have to work for a living from some of the accounts. It must be getting near election time on that side of the world."

The weather has improved and the men are able to get lots of sunshine; fresh fruits are available to add variety to the meals, and newspapers are plentiful. As far as is possible in a war zone, the men are enjoying themselves, Pte. Moore relates. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. A. V. Moore, 43 Frank street.

A.B. DOUGLAS M. STARK

One of four in the services, Able Seaman Douglas M. Stark is serving on an aircraft carrier. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Stark, R.R. 7 Peterborough and worked at the Kingan Hardware before enlisting on June 15, 1943. A brother, LAC James Stark is with the Eastern Air Command and two sisters, LAW Norma Stark at Uplands and AW 1 Madeline Stark, Montreal, are with the R.C.A.F., W.D.

Dodges Bombs

Overseas nearly four years, Sgt. Edwin J. Waterman, attached to the Dental Corps overseas, has had several opportunities of being in air raid areas since he left Canada.

Fire raids in particular, held particular terror for those under attack. In one of them he was being driven in a dental truck and while the bombs missed, they got a bad shaking up. At another city, which underwent a heavy attack, the bodies of bomb victims were literally picked up in pieces, he wrote.

He too remarked on the prevalence of flutterers dropped by Nazi planes to disrupt the radio location apparatus. It is supposted to interfere with the listening device so that plane can not be traced so easily.

A former Examiner carrier boy, Sgt. Waterman is the son of Mrs. S. J. Waterman, 215 Princess street and he attended Collegiate. A broer, Pte. Earl Waterman is with the R.C.A.S.C. in Montreal.

Pleasanter Places

Tired of sleeping on cement floors and with bullets whizzing around him, Tpr. Arthur Williams, serving with an Armoured Corps in Italy, will not be sorry to return to Canada. He is the son of Mrs. E. Williams, 219½ Hunter street and Spr. E. Williams, overseas who has been in the Army for four years. A brother, Pete Williams who enlisted at 17, is also in England. Tpr. Williams enlisted in November, 1942 and had been employed at the Peterborough Lumber and the Brinton Carpet Companies.

Total ar Effort

The Eldridge family of Toronto has a record of which to be proud, with five sons in the army overseas, a sixth in the Royal Canadian Navy and a seventh with the Army Service Corps in Canada.

Robert Eldridge, the father, served with the 109th battalion in the first Great War and was in Great Britain with the Royal Canadian Engineers in this war until honorably discharged about a year ago.

His sons overseas now are: Pte. John, with the 48th Highlanders in Italy; L.Cpl. Leonard, wounded in Sicily with the R. C. E. and now in England; Pte. Ralph, in Italy with the Medical Corps; L.-Cpl Harold, with an Armored Unit in Britain, and L.-Cpl. Angus, also in Britain with an Armoured reinforcement unit.

Pte. Archie is stationed at Simcoe, Ont., with the R. C. A. S. C. and ordinary seaman Robert is with the R. C. N.

STOKER 2 PAUL LAZURE

Still training in Canada, Stoker 2 Paul Lazure is stationed at H. M. C. S. Cornwallis. He is the son of Mrs. Mary Lazure, 594 Downie street. Stoker Lazure attended St. Peter's School and the Vocational school before he was employed at the DeLaval. He is 18 years old.

Wins Promotion

Cpl. Alfred William Pooley of Peterborough, who has been on active service for more than four years, has been appointed to the rank of supervisor with the Canadian Legion War Services overseas. He is the son of Mrs. Pooley and the late Ambrose Pooley of Peterborough. This appointment carries the same rank, with pay allowances and pension rights as a captain.

The new Supervisor enlisted in February 1940 with the Hastings and Prince Edward Regiment and went overseas in July of that year. He was transferred to the Canadian Legion War Services in November of 1940 and he expresses regret that he was not with his original unit when it stormed the beaches of Sicily. A few weeks ago Supervisor Pooley married an English nurse, Miss Paula Chester.

Dedicated To Canadians

Although it is not the custom of this paper to publish poems, the following sent from England by Pte. Emerald Post, has been accepted. It was written by an English girl, honoring the Canadians for the part they are playing in this war.

"Three thousand miles away they lived,
But they have come from o'er the sea,
Canadian boys from every trade to fight for you and me.
There is little we can do for them;
But we should help them all we can,
To make their life more happy
And to fight for the rights of man.
One of the Dominions miles away
With her back against the wall,
But like so many free-loving men
Have rallied to the call.
First in at Dieppe and then the call
To Italy they went,
The Italian front so bleak and cold
Beneath that canvas tent.
But what of those who stay at home;
In England — their mother land
Impatience grows within their midst
To create a promised land.
Traning, training is all they do
Just waiting for the day,
When hand in hand with nations' free
They'll march into the fray.
So open wide your hearts to them
For homesick they must be
And like true Britons show your worth
For they fight for you and me.

BELONGED TO V. C.

NOTTINGHAM, England — (CP) — The scroll in the silver casket presented to the late Capt. Albert Ball, V.C., when the freedom of Nottingham, his native city, was conferred on him in 1917, has been stolen — "probably by some hero worshipper," Sir Albert Ball, Capt. Ball's father, said.

A Long Letter

KITCHENER, April 18 — (CP).—Pte. George Adamson, a member of the Canadian Army overseas, wasn't fooling when he told his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Donald Adamson of Kitchener, that some day he planned to write them a long letter. Last week, they received a 65-page letter started Feb. 4 and completed March 20.

BARCLAY ON BRIDGE

DON'T BET ON A CHANCE

TAKING risks is part of bridge, but doing it when you can avoid it, or when you can give yourself an extra chance instead of just one, is unsound. Suppose the trump suit holds the possibility of a loser, if you lose a finesse in it or fail to drop some outstanding honor. It is unwise to make your entire contract depend on that chance if you can get rid of a loser somewhere else in the hand, so that you can afford to lose the trump trick if necessary.

North: ♠ 6 2 ♥ J 10 8 7 ♦ A 9 6 4 ♣ A 7 5
West: ♠ Q 5 3 ♥ 6 3 2 ♦ J 10 3 ♣ K Q J 10
East: ♠ 9 8 ♥ A 5 4 ♦ K Q 8 7 ♣ 9 8 4 2
South: ♠ A K J 10 7 4 ♥ K Q 9 ♦ 5 2 ♣ 6 3

(Dealer: East. Neither side vulnerable.)

East	South	West	North
Pass	1 ♠	Pass	2 ♥
Pass	3 ♠	Pass	3 NT
Pass	4 ♠

After West led the club K, South noted the apparent certainty of losing a trick in each side suit, so decided that the contract depended on prevention of a trump loser. He decided that the best chance to prevent it was by means of a finesse, instead of playing to drop it. So he won the club lead in the dummy, led to the spade A to guard against a singleton Q, went to dummy again with the diamond A and then finessed the spade J. West won with the Q, whereupon three fast tricks beat the contract—one in clubs, one in diamonds and one in hearts.

South could have improved his chances by trying for a diamond discard on a heart, instead of staking all on the trump play. After winning with the A, he could have led to the spade A, then gone to work on hearts. After East won and made the best return of a diamond to the A, his soundest play would have been the spade K, heart Q, heart J and then the heart 10, throwing his losing diamond on it. West could have scored his spade Q then, but that would have ended his side's trick taking.

What is South's best play for 6-Spades on this deal, after West leads a trump, and what is the best defense against it?

Channel Island People Pray For Invasion

LONDON, April 17 — (CP) — Though thousands in the occupied countries are awaiting the second front, none have a greater cause for anxiety that those British subjects in the Channel Islands, overrun by the Nazis since the fall of France.

"Any moment now," they whisper among themselves. "As soon as the weather is right. Then they'll be coming."

The story of how the Islanders are living under Nazi-occupation was told by a 38-year-old native of Guernsey, John Hubert, a prosperous tomato-grower before the war, who escaped from the Nazis a few weeks ago.

He, along with three other men and three women, one of them 65 years of age, crossed the channel in a boat, but how he did so will remain a secret till after the war. They were chased by E-boats and a Nazi fighter but managed to reach the English coast.

More than 2,000 Channel-Islanders were deported to Germany soon after the occupation, about 18 months ago. Half of them are in an internment camp near Munich.

They include about 1,000 men and women and 200 children and range in age from babies born in the camp to elderly men. They cook their own food in a central cookhouse but eat in their own rooms. Rations include potatoes daily, meat on Wednesdays and Sundays, peas, cabbage, turnips, carrots and sauerkraut twice a week and bread and margarine once a week.

But they are better off than those who remain on the islands. Rations are even shorter there. The black market is the main source of supply for those people—at a black market price. Even higher than those charge in Britain's black market trade. Eggs at a dollar a piece, whisky $50 a bottle and tea $40 a quarter.

Unless you buy these goods from illegal sources, it is impossible to get them. The black market traders are supplied by French fishermen mostly, who bring it or smuggle it in from the mainland. They prefer being paid in English notes or silver as it fetches a high price in France, three times its value in reichmarks or francs.

Cigarets are rationed to 20 cigarets and a quarter ounce of tobacco per fortnight.

FOR AFRICAN EDUCATION

FREETOWN, Sierra Leone — (CP) — A free grant of £23,000 ($102,120) has been made under the Colonial Development and Welfare Act for the development of women's education in Sierra Leone. Part of the scheme is for the training of African girls as teachers.

Warning To Sweden

STOCKHOLM, April 18 — (AP)—The newspaper Svenska Dagbladet, commenting on the seizure by Swedish customs officials of 25,000 German war maps of central Sweden, declared editorially today that recent Swedish army reinforcements "appear to be all the more necessary." Twenty-eight package of maps en route from a German map firm to the Nazi military command at Oslo were intercepted at Halsingborg on Saturday.

Cemetery Site Dedicated For Canadians Near Ortona

By DOUGLAS HOW—Canadian Press War Correspondent

WITH THE CANADIANS IN ITALY, April 18 (CP Cable). —The men who fought for the valley of the Moro River and won and lived dedicated yesterday a place of last rest for those who fought and won and died.

They stood on soil sleeping in the April sun, soil still marked with the furrowed scars of those December days when the Canadians met the Germans and threw him back from the Moro, from the heights beyond and from Ortona and its rubbled homes.

You could see the Adriatic coast town of Ortona from where they stood and heard their leader, Maj.-Gen. Chris Vokes, declare: "Our purpose is to set apart this piece of land from all common and profane uses, to erect a memorial to our glorious dead." You could see the Adriatic, the Moro valley and you could look north to where the guns grumbled in distant irreverence and where other Canadians held front-line positions against the Germans that is still their enemy.

By the time an army band opened with "O Canada," scores of men had thickened the square. They came in over dusty winding roads from ordnance, artillery, infantry in the line, but their red patches and sombre, tanned patches made them one.

2 Chaplains Attend.

They saw Gen. Vokes, a husky, forceful, battle-dressed figure, commander of the Canadian 1st Division, pull aside Union Jacks to unveil a temporary wooden replica of the marble cross that will dominate the cemetery to which hundreds of Canadian bodies will be brought from the roadsides, the fields and the slopes where they were buried in the swift passage of war.

Two chaplains gave a prayer of dedication after eulogizing the faith and devotion of the dead who will lie here. There came then a moment of silence, broken only by the guns on the slopes beyond.

There followed "the last post," the lament, "the land of the leal" by merged pipe bands of the Seaforth Highlanders of Vancouver and the 48th Highlanders of Toronto under Pipe-Major E. Esson of Vancouver, "Reveille" and the National Anthem.

No bodies yet lie in the Tract 382 feet square, picked by Gen. Vokes himself. The work that will take the Royal Canadian Engineers eight to ten weeks is only begun. Engineers and Italians under Lieut. A. R. Belanger of Haileybury, Ont., worked for two days and night to erect a wooden cross with a Crusader's sword in bas-relief on front and rear. Their work has been interrupted more than once by German shells which still fall spasmodically in the Ortona area.

Holds 16 Plots

The complete cemetery will consist of 16 plots, gravel pathways flowers and shrubs and a surrounding fence. To it will come the dead of the Moro valley battle and possibly all the Canadians who died or will die in Italy. The only other official Canadian cemetery is at Agira in Sicily.

Two thousand men can be buried in the land, that now is marred and rutted. As a shrine, the little Roman Catholic church of San Donato, holed and blackened in some of the fiercest fighting of the Italian campaign, will become a part of the memorial after its restoration by the Engineers.

In the background at the dedication ceremony a few clusters of humble and shabby Italian peasants stood and watched. For them Ortona's mayor, Renato Pompillio, had sent Gen. Vokes a message, saying: "it is a great honor—to gather together—the remains of the glorious Canadian soldiers who fell for the liberation of Italian soil from German oppression. This land —will be freely donated and the heroic dead will be jealously guarded by the Ortonese and looked upon with admiration by future generations."

Australian Talks Plainly To U.S.

LONDON, April 18—(CP-Cable) — Need for Britain and the United States to speak their minds freely to each other in efforts to frame the post-war world was stressed today by Stanley M. Bruce, Australian High Commissioner to the United Kingdom.

"If advantage is to be taken of the opportunity to restore economic health, the lead must come from you Americans and we, the British, who between us play so important a part in International trade and commerce," he told the American Chamber of Commerce.

Mr. Bruce added: "We think you should reduce tariffs so as to allow a greater flow of foreign goods to your country to meet the obligations of other countries to you.

"You Americans think there should be a diminution of imperial preference allowing greater flow of foreign goods to our territories. Let's face the issue, remembering concessions from both sides must be worth while and giving cannot be one-sided."

86 Shot

LONDON, April 18—(CP Cable)— The Germans shot 86 men, women and children of the tiny village of Ascq, near Lillie, in northern France in revenge for the derailing by French Patriots of a German train, the French National Committee in London was informed yesterday.

DRIVES BULLDOZER—Just a bulldozer driver, but he won the Military Medal in Italy. He is Spr. M. C. McNaughton, M.M., of Morden, Man., Royal Canadian Engineers. McNaughton won his Military Medal in the River More crossing, and was clearing wreckage in the street of Ortona with his bulldozer while his countrymen were still engaged in house-to-house conflict with the enemy.

Woman Lifer To Buy Bond

KINGSTON, April 18 (CP)—Penitentiary officials here were startled when a woman, serving a term of life imprisonment, bought a bond in Canada's third Victory Loan. She bought bonds again in the fourth and fifth drives and now plans to purchase her fourth when the sixth campaign opens April 24.

She explained: "My future may not be too bright but....I feel I have a responsibility to my country. I want to see the war won just as much and as quickly as you do.... The only thing I can do is buy bonds."

Many prisoners have been buying bonds regularly, officials report.

Ribbentrop Buys American Wine Stock

NEW YORK, April 18—(AP)— The Moscow radio said today it had been "reported" that German foreign minister Joachim Von Ribbentrop had bought shares of a Wine Company in St. Louis.

The broadcast, directed to Germany and reported by United States government monitors, declared.

"Ribbentrop, who was a traveller in wines before he donned the diplomat's tail coat, appears to be drawn back to his old career now that his new one threatens to be cut short.

"It has been reported he has used some of the $3,500,000 of his foreign holdings to buy shares of a Wine Company in St. Louis."

Memorial Service Held For Soldier

APSLEY, April 18.—(ENS).— A memorial service for the late Corporal Cecil Bullied, who was killed in action in Italy in December, 1943, was held in Grace United church, Lasswade, on Sunday.

The interior of the church was decorated with wreaths and potted flowers. The Veterans marched to the church in a body and a Veteran guard of honor stood before the flower banked altar. Service was conducted by C. G. Robb of Peterborough.

A duet was sung by Ruby and Jewel Reynolds and a selection by the choir.

The Scripture reading was Timothy, 2 verses, 2-13. Mr. Robb described him as a good soldier of Jesus Christ, a Chrisian soldier dying in defence of freedom.

The guard of honor was made up of Mr. Rayment, Mr. Chapman, Mr W. Yeomans and Mr. Ronald Woodbeck.

Despite the muddy condition of the roads the church was well filled. Friends from Toronto, Frankford, Coe Hill, Glen Alda, Clysdale and Apsley attended.

Prosperity and Exports

From the days of the fur trade, Canada's prosperity has been linked to exports.

Furs . . . fish . . . lumber . . . wheat . . . our surpluses of these, sold abroad, have been the means of a fuller life at home.

In time, other sources were opened up: Manufactures, minerals, pulp and paper, became exportable. Prosperity kept pace.

To-day, war has swelled our exports to new proportions; employment and national income are at record levels.

When the war ends, our prosperity will be measured by our success in diverting to peaceful ends this vast export flow created by war.

In the servicing of export trade, The Dominion Bank, one of the Chartered Banks of Canada, will be prepared to assume its full share of this important function after the war.

Allied Fliers Mine Danube River

All Enemy Traffic Halted By Daring Sortie

By NOLAND NORGAARD
Associated Press Staff Writer

NAPLES, April 19—(AP)—The great Danube waterway—the Germans' primary heavy shipping route in southeastern Europe—has been strewn with mines by Allied bombers for 300 miles from Budapest to Bucharest, halting all enemy traffic, it was announced today.

Part of the river was converted into a mass of flames and a death trap for river traffic when an R.C.A.F. mine-laying Liberator shot up and exploded a tanker that spread blazing oil and gasoline among at least 30 other craft. The plane was piloted by Flt. Lt. J. H. C. Lewis of Winnipeg. Most of his crew were Canadians.

Enemy Say Traffic Halted

The incident occurred in the course of mine-laying operations in recent nights by R.A.F. Wellingtons and Liberators. Enemy broadcasts indicated traffic had been halted on the river.

The first night, Allied air crews were instructed only to drop parachuted mines into the river—a difficult low-altitude operation, particularly because of nearby mountains and bridges across the river.

"Our gunners, however, were fed up with not firing, so I told them they could shot at boats whose lights we saw," Lewis related.

"That sounded like such a good idea that the next night we loaded up with incendiary bullets and were told to shoot up any craft we saw. Our gunners opened up while we were flynig very low and suddenly there was an explosion which tossed the plane 100 feet higher in the air and shook us up badly.

"We'd blown up a good-sized oil tanker and it scattered burning oil all over the water, setting fire to other vessels."

Turkey Sends Britain Reply

By FRANK O'BRIEN
Associated Press Staff Writer

ANKARA, April 18.—(Delayed)—(AP).—Turkey's reply to the Anglo-American request for the Turks to materially reduce their trade in strategic materials with Germany was delivered to the Allied embassies Monday and was understood to be on the conciliatory side.

It is believed the Turkish answer was similar in content to the declaration by Foreign Minister Numan Menemencioglu last Friday, a few hours after receipts of U. S. Secretary of State Hull's request that "we will, in the general direction of our foreign policy, aid the Allies to the limit of our material possibilities."

The tenor of his press conference at that time was taken to indicate that Turkey wil seek to compromise with the Allies on the question of Turkish-German trade.

Battle For Warsaw Ghetto Killed 1,000 Nazi Troopers

LONDON, April 19—(CP-Reuters). — An account of the grim battle of the Warsaw Ghetto, which began one year ago today, has just reached London, telling how the Germans slew thousands of Jews while themselves losing more than 1,000 killed and wounded and suffering huge material losses.

up finals....The Port Arthur team.

Received from the Jewish underground labor movement in Poland, the report tells how Jews, supplied by arms smuggled from the Polish underground army, rose from the Catacombs and transformed the Ghetto into an armed camp.

Earlier in 1943 the Germans had begun the transfer of Jewish munitions workers still surviving in the Warsaw Ghetto to labor and concentration camps. The Jewish fighters' organization drilled several thousand men and prepared to hit back.

Arms were smuggled into the Ghetto by the Polish underground army and a secret munitions production plant was organized in the Ghetto itself by Engineer Michael Klepfisz, later killed in the battle.

During the bitter fighting—which continued for days—more than 2,000 Polish and Jewish political prisoners were liberated from the notorious Pawiak prison. The battle was christened "Ghettograd" and during it more than 100,000 living quarters were destroyed. In the subsequent German bombardment of Warsaw another 75,000 living quarters were destroyed.

In addition to losing more than 1,000 dead and wounded the Germans suffered heavy losses in factories burned out by the Jews. Ghetto fighters included boys of 13, many of whom were killed in the fighting.

2,000 Escape.

At Treblinkaj the Jews killed all the Germans and Ukrainian guards fired buildings, destroyed communications and organized the escape of 2,000 Jews into the woods.

Strike Stalls Halibut Fleet

VANCOUVER, April 19 (CP)—A dispute over prices is holding the entire Pacific Coast halibut fleet of more than 600 vessels in seven major fishing ports along the west coast of Canada, the United States and Alaska, and threatens the annual catch of up to 53,000,000 pounds.

The tie-up which went into effect April 15, developed from a protest of boat owners and fishermen against United States Office of Price Administration's order reducing price of halibut from 2½ to 4½ cents a pound on catches delivered to Prince Rupert, B.C., and Alaskan ports.

Fishermen asked for a 3½ cent increase for Seattle deliveries to cover cost of the extra haul south. The O.P.A., however, reduced the price at northern ports and left the Seattle price unchanged.

Canadian fishermen are co-operating fully with the American fishing fleet in the tieup.

Fresh halibut, normally on the market at this time of year, will not be available until the dispute is settled.

Ports affected by the tieup are Vancouver and Prince Rupert in British Columbia, Seattle, Wash., Astoria, Ore., and Ketchikan, Petersburg and Juneau, all in Alaska.

Neutral Eire Hit By Shipping Order

LONDON, April 19 (CP)—Britain adopted new security measures today to isolate neutral Eire as a potential Axis spy post, suspending shipping between Cork and Britain and curtailing rail traffic between Northern and Southern Ireland.

Both measures, obviously linked with Allied preparations for the forthcoming invasion of western Europe, dealt a fresh blow to Eire's already hard-hit economy. Suspension of Cork's shipments bottled up one of Erie's main outlets for livestock and agricultural produce.

The war office declined to divulge the extent of reduction in rail service between Eire and Northern Ireland.

Crimean Port Garrison Still Resists

Ring Draws Tighter On Doomed German Defenders

By EDDY GILMORE
Associated Press Staff Yriter.

MOSCOW, April 19 — (AP). — A Soviet communique said to-day that Axis troops were "resisting desperately" as crack Russian Marines pushed through the valleys south-east of Sevastopol, apparently on the verge of joining up with the main body of the 46th Ukraine Army for a combined assault on the big Crimean port.

"The Germans are heaping as many obstacles as they can in the way of our troops and are blowing up bridges across the mountain streams" declared the communique. It added that Nazi machine-gunners were firing on their Romanian allies if they showed the least sign of retreat or surrender.

Gen. Andre I. Yeremenko's Marines yesterday captured the coast town of Balaklava, scene of the historic "Charge of the Light Brigade," and to-day one arm was advancing along the Balaklava-Sevastopol highway, less than seven miles from the port proper, while another moved toward the city along the Sevastopol-Yalta road, threatening the base from the south and south-east.

The Marines were in sight of Sevastopol as they fought through tremendous barricades built around cut down and mined trees thrown across the highway south-east of the city, one front dispatch said to-day.

Barges Riddled.

The Russians spanned the Tchornaay River, the dispatch said, but were meeting stiff opposition as they scaled the historic Fedukin Heights where the Germans were firing from eveny crag and numerous concealed strong points.

The correspondent said "tremendous losses" were suffered by the enemy as the Black Sea warships, bombers and even submarines blasted their self-propelled barges trying to escape west of Balaklava.

He added that the Russians now held all airdromes in the Crimea.

Front dispatches said the Black Sea Air Force was pounding Se-

8,500 Tons of Explosives Dropped in Past 24 Hours

By AUSTIN BEALMEAR—Associated Press Staff Writer

LONDON, April 19—(AP)—The R.A.F. and R.C.A.F. hurled 4,480 tons of explosives, the greatest weight ever dropped in a single operation, on French rail targets last night, the Air Ministry announced today while U. S. heavy bombers were attacking Germany for the second time in 24 hours. Sending out at least 5,000 planes in that 24-hour period, the Allies blasted a new road toward D-day by raining a total of about 8,500 tons of bombs on continental objectives.

More than 1,000 R.A.F. and Canadian bombers, the heaviest night force ever dispatched against occupied territory, launched the 4,480-ton load last night. Among other targets, Rouen was badly hit and the Cathedral there was damaged, the Vichy radio said. Another French city of 15,000 was declared to be in flames.

Swarms Of Fighters.

The raid was sandwiched between yesterday's U.S. heavy attack on Berlin and Luftwaffe targets, and today's assault on western Germany by American heavy bombers. Nearly 2,000 bombers and fighters participated in each of the American operations. In addition both Britain and the United States sent out lighter forces, with American mediums hitting northern France and R.A.F. Mosquitoes returning to Berlin.

Although virtually all crews reported little fighter opposition today, one group of bombers was attacked by 50 or 60 ME-109's. The fliers said some bombers were lost but several German planes were downed by both bomber gunners and fighter pilots.

The United States' 8th Air Force's objectives today included fighter plane factories and aircraft parking fields in western Germany — at Kassel, Eschwege, Paderborn, Gutersloh and Werl. Fighters accompanied the bombers.

The mighty force of four-engined planes which blasted key rail communications in France's invasion belt was the biggest ever dispatched by the R.A.F. against enemy-occupied territory, Germany excluded. It surpassed the previous record of 900 bombers on the night of April 10.

Tergnier, one of the five railway junctions hit by the R.A.F. little more than a week ago, is less than 100 miles inland from the French Channel coast and is a little more than 100 miles northeast of Paris.

100 Monkeys Go On Spree At Animal Farm Irate Keeper Pelted With Eggs And Apples

DELAWARE TOWNSHIP, N.J., April 19 — (AP) — Warren E. Buck has learned how much fun there is in a barrel of monkeys.

Someone left several barrels of them—100 by actual count—out of their cages at Buck's animal farm.

Hearing a commotion in the building, he stuck his head in the door and was bopped with an apple. A monkey standing in the apple barrel wound up for another pitch and Buck retired.

Things were completely out of hand when the animal farmer returned with reinforcements.

One of the monkeys had squirmed through the bars on the zebra's cage and was staging his own rodeo, thumping the zebra on the back and squealing the monkey equivalent of 'giddap."

A couple of others had discovered a wild boar in a crate and were tickling its nose with their tails while the boar grunted, groaned and kicked.

Several others had become trapped in the pipes of a pair of pot-bellied stove used to heat the building in the winter.

As Buck and his helpers re-entered, an old monkey with a philosophical look stood just inside the door, juggling two eggs meditatively. Buck covered his eyes and charged.

The old-timer held his fire, but another barrage came from the apple barrel, now manned by three of the Simians. They fired till the last apple, then took to the rafters.

Armed with poles and nets, Buck's helpers began the round-up. They found the last monkey in one of the stoves, where he had fallen asleep.

4 Children Perish In Fire Parents Now Stand Trial

COCHRANE, April 19—(CP).—Mr. Justice E. R. E. Chevrier today denied a request of Defence Counsel Gregory Evans to instruct the jury that there was not sufficient evidence to support charges of manslaughter against Mr. and Mrs. Walter Gillis of Schumacher.

The defence appeal came at the conclusion of Crown evidence in the charges, laid after the four children of the couple died of suffocation at a fire last March 10 in their home at Schumacher in the Timmins district.

Mr. Evans asked the court to declare that there was insufficient evidence to support charge against either of the accused and argued that the jury be instructed to return a verdict of acquittal. He said the parents could not reasonably be expected to anticipate that the children would connect an electric heater which would result in the fire and their deaths. He contended both parents had intended returning home but the mother had been prevented from doing so by illness and the father had not been awakened as he apparently desired from a sleep at the home of a friend.

Crown Counsel C. P. Hope argued that common law placed the responsibility on the father to care for the children while Ontario statutes also placed this responsibility on the mother. He contended

Raiders Jarred Germans' Nerves

By DANIEL DE LUCE
Associated Press War Correspondent

ON THE ANZIO BEACHHEAD, April 18 —(Delayed)—(AP)—Crack United States - Canadian infantry raiders with war paint on their faces and bazookas in their arms broke into two fortified German positions east of the Mussolini canal at dawn today, capturing eight prisoners and leaving nine enemy dead.

Jangling German nerves again in an uneasy sector of the reclaimed swamplands surrounding Littoria, the North Americans' "reconnaissance in force" was supported by more than 1,000 rounds of artillery fire.

The raiders, commanded by Capt. Walter Wilson, Prince Albert, Sask., had no casualties as they reached the canal embankment which marks the edge of no-man's-lands. One soldier, however, was wounded by a shell which landed in a back area.

I watched from a forward observation post as batteries of American 105's laid down a chain of explosions for more than a mile along a lateral enemy road known as "Bedbug Alley."

Canada Spends $100 Million Week

MONTREAL, April 19 — (CP) — Canada will spend over the next year roughly $100,000,000 a week to do her share as a member of the United Nations, Graham F. Towers, General chairman of the National War Finance Committee, told The Candian Club here today.

Of that amount, direct outlays for the fighting forces amount to $59,000,000 a week, he said in an address prepared for delivery before a special luncheon meeting of the club.

"Our Navy has now reached a strength which is equivalent to the British Navy of pre-war days," he added. "Carrying Canadian troops, food, munitions and war materials overseas are 100,000 men in our fighting Navy and Merchant Marine.

"The cost of maintaining this sea strength is about $8,000,000 a week."

"Our Army is the most powerful unit and the best equipped for its size of any in existence today. But since this heavily mechanized force has been deliberately designed for shock operations, demands for equipment and replacements are extremely heavy.

"It is costing our people $30,000,000 a week to maintain this unit."

"Our Air Force now is the fourth strongest in the world. We will have 44 R. C. A. F. squadrons in service this year—as well as providing roughly one-quarter of the flying strength of the R.A.F.

"This requires a cash outlay of $21,000,000 a week."

Tank Offensive Scores Gains Against Invaders

By THOBURN WIANT
Associated Press Staff Writer

KANDY, Ceylon, April 19 (AP) — Allied forces have lashed out with tanks in their offensive against the Japanese invaders of northeast India, scoring further advances and taking r small Japanese defensive positions northeast of the Plain of Imphal, Allied headquarters announced today.

The communique said that "bitter fighting continues for a hill feature, the possession of which now has been in dispute two days," West of Bishenpur and south of the track to Silchar, the alternative land route southwest of Imphal to the Bengal-Assam railway, Allied feeder line.

No change was announced in the Kohima area, 60 miles north of Imphal, where the Allies are fighting to secure the 35-mile main road to Diampur on the Bengal-Assam railroad.

The Japanese are paying heavily for their thrust into India, their known dead in the last six weeks far exceeding 4,000, without counting the large numbers doubtless killed by artillery fire, strafing and bombing, it was disclosed.

Both infantry and tanks joined in the offensive northeast of the Plain of Imphal where the Allied forces for several days have been successfully beating back one of the three original invasion spearheads which the Japanese thrust over the Indo-Burmese border.

South of Imphal and east of Palel the Japanese launched two attacks on the night of April 17-18 against an Allied position and were repulsed handily, the communique said.

Japanese aviation joined in the fighting in this area and R.A.F. Spitfires destroyed one and damaged four others out of a small formation which dropped only a few bombs.

Hit Supply Lines

Virtually every type of plane of the U.S. air force, the R.A.F. and the Indian air force ojined in widespread operations over the Burma area during the last two days. Communications serving the Japanese in the Imphal-Dimapur and Mogaung-Myitkyina areas in the north were strafed and bombed. Air commando fighter-bombers, en route to the support of Chindits, air-borne forces blocking the railroad to Mawlu, southwest of Mogaung, dropped

Paris Shattered By Huge Raid

LONDON, April 19.—(CP-Reuters)—The German-controlled Vichy radio said to-day that last night's Allied raid on Paris was one of the most violent the French capital ever experienced.

One suburb is being completely evacuated, it said, owing to a large number of delayed action bombs and many fires are still raging.

So far 400 dead have been identified and 550 persons have been seriously injured, the radio station said.

Philippe Henriot, Vichy propaganda minister, in a broadcast over the Vichy radio said "Rouen cathedral was seriously damaged in last night's widespread Allied raids on France. The town to-day looks like a desert of ruins."

Henriot said a suburban district of Paris with 15,000 inhabitants was completely devastated and huge fires were still raging.

Germans Warned To Be On Their Toes

LONDON, April 19.— (CP-Reuters).—A warning to the German armies in the west to "be on their toes" was broadcast last night by the special radio station of the German anti-invasion forces on the Atlantic coast.

The warning said, "1918 must under no circumstances be repeated. You must be on your toes in the weeks to come. When the zero hour strikes, you must fight as you have never fought before.

"Courage and endurance are the slogans which your commanders give you. Every German soldier must fight like a devil in the battles ahead."

Hirohito Must Be Handled Carefully

Spiritual Head Of Japanese Not Responsible For Action Of War Party

BY DEWITT MACKENZIE
Associated Press War Analyst

You may call Herr Adolh Shicklegruber (alias Hitler) out of his name or cheer the suggestion that he be hanged higher than old Maman, but the British and American governments consider public assaults on Japan's Emperor Hirohito as particularly impolitic.

We are reminded of this by a London dispatch saying the British Broadcasting Corporation is careful in its handling of remarks about the Emperor. Our own office of war information follows a similar line.

There's an interesting and important policy. Why should there be differentiation between the rules of our two arch enemies? The barbarities perpetrated by the Japanese fighting forces certainly rival the atrocities of the Germans.

The answer appears to be that the Nipponese dynasty may be useful to the Allies in the post-war reconstruction. Hitler's "dynasty" has been condemned in destruction, and he himself may have to pay for his bloody crimes with his life. It's true too that the Japanese militaristic clique also must be wiped out. Some of the prime war-mongers, like Premier General Tojo, may join Hitler on the gallows.

The Mikado, however, is in a special category. He is the spiritual head of his State, and in the eyes of his people is literally a divine being. They worship him as a God.

It's also a fact that, so far as temporal affairs of government are concerned, he's a figure-head. The militaristic outfit is in control, and any words which he speaks are put into his mouth by Tojo.

Since Hirohito not only is held in religious veneration by his people, but is the focal point of their patriotism, it's easy to see how he could be of vast assistance in remaking his country after the war. It's equally clear that the easiest way to breed hatred of the western world in the hearts of the Japanese would be to attack their Emperor.

Labor Fights Strike Laws

Action Taken To Nullify New Legislation

LONDON, April 19 (CP)—Labor critics of the government's new regulation virtually outlawing strikes unless union-sponsored began a move toward parliamentary invalidation of the measure today as a strike of some 3,000 bus drivers and conductors tied up trolley and bus lines in eastern and central London.

Debate on what is known in parliamentary procedure as a "prayer to annul" the anti-strike regulation, which went into effect immediately, was scheduled in the House of Commons tomorrow at the request of nine Labor members headed by Aneurin Bevan.

Thus it became a parliamentary battle of Bevan versus Bevin since the measure was drafted at the request of Labor Minister Ernest Bevin, also a Labor party member, who is expected to defend it.

Mr. Bevan's argument against the regulation was understood to be based on fear that the order would put all trade unionists completely in the hands of other officials.

Under its wartime powers the government put the order into effect without legislation. It remains effective unless voided by parliament within 28 days.

The bus strike was called in protest against a new summer schedule.

Nazis To Decide Rome's Fate

De Valera's Plea Addressed To Wrong Belligerent

LONDON, April 19 — (AP) — Replying to a plea from Eamon De Valera that Rome be spared, President Roosevelt has told the Eire Prime Minister that the city's fate rests with Germany, while the Germans again have sought unilaterally to declare Rome an open city.

President Roosevelt's message, dated April 3, was made public in Dublin today.

"If German forces were not entrenched in Rome no question would arise concerning the city's preservation," the President said. He asserted the Allies, often at considerable sacrifice," have tried scrupulously to spare religious and cultural monuments.

The German reply was broadcast by D.N.B., Nazi News Agency, shortly before Allied headquarters in Naples announced heavy enemy traffic was noted moving into Rome from the northeast. The Germans suggested Premier De Valera induce the United Nations to contribute toward preservation of Rome by refraining from what D.N.B. called "senseless" air attacks.

A Berlin broadcast recorded by the Ministry of Information last night said Mr. De Valera had sent a note to Berlin March 20 urging that the belligerents find a way, through intermediaries, by which the Holy city could be saved.

Germans Show Nervousness As Invasion Deadline Nears

By ALAN RANDAL—Canadian Press Staff Writer

LONDON, April 19—(CP Cable)—While Germany appeared apprehensively involved in the guessing game of the century, the Allies today stood pat on the answer—the date of and the place for D-day. With the Russians pressing on the Eastern front the Nazis have been forced to draw cards between two "bumpers." They have evidence of the strength of the Russian holdings but the Allies in the west, meanwhile, are not tipping their hand in any way. Nothing from official British sources eased the German worries—nothing except the poker-faced silence in the wake of new security measures and Allied warnings to the people of France that "the time is getting short."

The French were told they should prepare against the time of liberation by storing food, at a time when the Germans were guessing the invasion might be as early as next week.

A Berlin spokesman, apparently intensifying the "fishing-for-information" campaign, said the invasion largely depended on the weather, at the same time suggesting "that the next week's weather is favorable for gigantic operations."

Cancel Safe-Conduct.

Swedish sources, through which Berlin opinion usually filters to the outside world, took the new British security restrictions on diplomatc communications to mean the invasion was due at any moment. There the restrictions on diplomats was linked with cancellation of Swedish safe-conduct of airplanes at Britain's request.

The German military spokesman said "many signs indicate that Anglo-American preparations have reached such an advanced stage that invasion cannot be far away."

This island now is a great arsenal and fortress whence invasion forces are preparing to lunge against Europe, but the United Nations are going no farther than Prime Minister Churchill's remark in the House of Commons yesterday when asked if he could arrange an inspection of German and British tanks for comparative purposes.

The Prime Minister said: "After this year's campaign has reached a suitable phase it may be possible to parade not only the two tanks mentioned, but all tanks used in the forthcoming battles and specimens of those which are captured from the enemy."

The constant Allied pounding of vital communications points in Europe and particularly the defences along the English Channel—the aerial offensive was resumed yesterday after a brief lull—was seen cover of crumbling farmyard walls. Then the infantry crawled out of ditches and culverts which they had occupied at night and poured bazooka and machine-gun fire into two enemy houses flanking a cross roads.

German flak wagons—half tracks mounting four 20-mm guns each—fought back from the cover of other houses. They later brought self-propelled guns, tanks, mortars and even 175-mm artillery into action.

Lieut. Howard MacIntosh, Winnipeg, who set up a command post in a gully 50 yards from the objectives, reported the hottest moment was an hour and a half before the attack started when the raiders were surprised to meet a German demolition party in no-man's-land and were further surprised when two farm buildings suddenly exploded behind their backs.

German gunners, who already have the exact range on almost every yard of the Mussolini canal in the east sector, unsuccessfully tried to pin down the raiders during the withdrawal.

"Here come the crunchies and they ain't breakfast food," warned Sgt. Louis Michielini, Cliffside Park, N.J., as heavy Nazi explosives began bracketing our sand-bagged but open-roofed operations post.

In their bivouac the raiders washed off their black and green theatrical greasepaint, turned over three machine-guns and an assortment of pistols, binoculars and eight prisoners to a rear echelon. By nine o'clock they had milked Sphranel Sally and Anzio Annie, their two cows and were using the milk to wash down stacks of buckwheat cakes smothered in syrup and fresh butter.

Large Hospital Hit In London

LONDON, April 19.—(CP).—Rescue workers dug through the wreckage of one of London's largest hospitals to-day in a search for casualties after the building had been blasted and set on fire by a direct hit during a German air raid on the capital early this morning.

Nearly 2,000 patients were in the hospital and it was feared a number of them were buried under the debris. A ward housing male patients was destroyed.

The raid—the first on London in four nights and the third attack this month—began about 1 a.m., and lasted for an hour.

Anti-aircraft batteries hurled up a heavy barrage but it failed to turn away the raiders and varicolored flares, incendiaries and high explosives rained down on the city. At least 13 enemy planes were reported shot down, suggesting a raiding strength of substantial strength

Firemen and air raid workers quickly extinguished the fire at the hospital and rescue squads worked through the night hours seeking victims.

Some of the extricated patients were injured badly.

All told five wards were damaged seriously by fire in addition to two wrecked by the blast. Several nearby cottages also were damaged by the explosion.

A high explosive also fell in a tenement district, killing 10 persons.

A fairly large number of casualties occurred in other scattered sections of London, including the residential areas. Three women and a man were killed at one point when a crashing raider demolished a house.

Bombs also were dropped at several places in the home counties and in east and southeast England.

The report said that as late as the end of June, 1943, a 13-year-old boy arrived at the headquarters of the Jewish organization outside Warsaw with a note from the city dated June 10, showing that some sign of life still remained in the Catacombs beneath the Ghetto.

It added that the underground movement now has penetrated beyond the barbed wire of concentration camps and said: "Many of the fighters could have escaped from the Ghettos. They did not do so because of their determination to fight and die in arms against Fascism."

German Losses Heavy On Anzio Front

NAPLES, April 19.—(AP).—Allied troops yesterday repulsed four raids against one position on the Anzio beachhead, inflicting heavy losses on the enemy, Headquarters announced to-day.

Allied patrols and artillery were active along the entire Italian front, a communique said, with artillery destroying an ammunition dump.

Front dispatches said Allied gunners broke up two attacks southwest of Carroceto, 21 miles south of Rome, after the Germans launched diversionary thrusts in the western sector of the beachhead and after heavy enemy traffic was observed moving toward Cisterna and also into Rome from the northeast

The traffic flowing into Cisterna, important hub astride the Appian way and railway feeding Axis forces on the main front, came from Artena and Velletri north of the beachhead. Significance of the movement, first observed Sunday night, was not immediately determined.

Using tank support, the Germans attacked the Canadians in the Crecchio area, about seven miles southwest of the Adriatic port of Ortona, in one of a series of jabs at the Allied lines in Italy during the past 36 hours. In bitter night fighting the Canadians repelled the Germans, inflicting casualties.

A French-Canadian patrol sent against a strong German position in the Canadian sector yesterday inflicted casualties in a fight lasting more than two hours and suf-that it was a matter for the jury to decide whether the negligence of the parents was such as to justify a conviction. Mr. Justice Chevrier agreed.

It was learned at the adjournment of the morning sitting of the court that defence witnesses would take the stand this afternoon.

Final Crown witness was Pte. Albert Gagne of the Canadian Army, 30-year-old veteran of the overseas service who returned home on furlough in January. On the stand for more than an hour, Gagne said that he hadn't really been sober in a period of six weeks and he related in detail the story of a succession of drinking parties in the week preceding the fire

He said he first met Mrs. Gillis about February 1. Later he met her March 6 and drank beer with her in 2 Timmins beverage rooms He met her again March 7 and Gillis joined them, three getting a case of beer and going to the Gillis home. After the beer was finished, Gillis went to work and Gagne slept on a chesterfield. The party was resumed March 8, with another case of beer and some wine, a third man joining the party. On March 9 more beer was purchased and two women joined the party.

Gagne said that he and Mrs. Gillis left the party in the afternoon of March 9, Mrs. Gillis saying they would return a little later. They went to a private house party where seven or eight people were drinking home-made wine. The wine made Mrs. Gillis sick and she lay down. Gagne thought she stayed at the house all night.

Friday, March 10, he and Mrs. Gillis went to a house called "Joe's Place," the witness continued. There they drank wine and when the hotels opened in the evening they visited two hotels to drink beer. Both were somewhat sick but they were able to walk from one place to another.

Gagne said Mrs. Gillis was neither "drunk nor sober" and he thought he had been drinking more than she had. They were in the second hotel when police arrived to tell them of the fire.

He tried to take Mrs. Gillis home Thurday evening as she was too sick to go herself, said Gagne, but he was too drunk to do so.

Christians Indifferent

KEENE, April 19.—(ENS).—The topic of the sermon was based on the words of Isaiah, 25:9. "Never did mankind need to realize this truth more than it does to-day" said the Rev. Geo. Murray. "It is because of our indifference to the voice of God through His word and in the annals of history that we find ourselves much akin to the picture in Isaiah, 24. One of the causes of these tragic days through which our civilization is going, is that we have lost, to a large extent, regard for the fourth commandment. We have taken the law in our own hands and called license, liberty, lawlessness is a form of paganism which brings its own rewards.

Inflation Wave Staggers Greece

LISBON, April 19 — (AP) — A pair of shoes in Greece to-day costs 30,000,000 drachmas, a German newspaper in discussing the runaway inflation in that unhappy country.

In the early 30's the drachma was worth a little more than one cent in Canadian exchange. In other words, 600 drachmas then was the equivalent price for a $6 pair of shoes. Some idea of the present stage of inflation in Greece can be obtained by imagining a Canadian who formerly paid $6 for shoes being required to pay $200,000.

Other current prices in Greece mentioned by the German newspaper include:

A loaf of bread 760,000 drachmas, razor blade 50,000, a shirt 8,000,000, two pounds of potatoes 300,000.

Moves Closer

CALCUTTA, April 19 — (AP). — The United States eastern air command, under Maj.-Gen. George E. Stratemeyer, and United States Army Air Force headquarters have been transferred from New Delhi to Calcutta, approximately 800 miles closer to the Burma fighting fronts, it was announced yesterday.

Salesmen Ready To Begin Loan Canvass

COBOURG, April 19 (ENS)—The Sixth Victory Loan campaign to raise $1,600,000 in the County of Northumberland starts on Monday, April 24, for a three weeks' drive, when all loyal citizens will be expected to subscribe for their full share of bonds.

After several weeks of preparation by the National War Finance Committee for the County, the organization is now well prepared for the task. Challenged by the set back during the Fifth Victory Loan campaign last Fall when the county fell some $90,000 short of its quota at that time, the teams of salesmen are determined and confident the objective will be over-reached during the forthcoming drive.

With the county divided into 14 districts for the campaign, following is a list of the canvassing districts, together with the objective and salesman for each one.

Cobourg, $400,000—L. A. Anderson, D. F. Bolster, V. W. Climo, W. P. Skitch, Harold Usher.

Hamilton Twp., $140,000 — M. F. Ames, F. Bray, A. V. Hoskin.

South Monaghan Twp., $40,000—J. E. Lewis.

Haldimand Twp., $95,000—A. Ferguson, W. Gillespie, B. Rutherford.

Alnwick Twp., $35,000—H. Mouncey.

Percy Twp., $110,000—W. G. Allen, J. L. Doherty, P. S. Ewing, L. E. Kelley, M. E. Smith.

Cramahe Twp., $70,000—A. A. Kemp, C. H. Quinn.

Colborne, $70,000—A. D. Hall, Clayton Smith.

Brighton Twp., $70,000—H. Bedal, C. V. Goodfellow.

Brighton Village, $145,000—G. S. Langdon, S. Netley.

Murray Twp., $80,000—K. Crews, S. F. Crozier, L. Sanborn.

Campbellford, $175,000—J. C. Anderson, J. P. Archer, A. J. Armour, F. C. Bonnycastle.

Seymour Twp., $125,000—J. C. Anderson, J. P. Archer, A. J. Armour, F. C. Bonnycastle, H. Rutherford.

Through the payroll savings committee it is expected that well over $100,000 of bonds will be subscribed for by the industrial employees of the County. Here are some of the objectives set for various plants.

Edwards & Edwards Ltd., $16,000; Douglas-Pectin Ltd., $3,500; Cobourg Matting & Carpet Co., $8,600; Consolidated Piece Dyers, $3,900; H. W. Cooey Machine & Arms, $9,000; Campbellford Cloth, $15,000; Cooey Metal Products, $9,000; Breithaupt Leather, $6,700; Dominion Wheel and Foundries, $4,300.

Many special events have been planned in the county through the Public Relations Committee under Dr. A. R. Richards, chairman. Branches of the Women's Institute in the county have undertaken to sponsor special Victory Loan meetings at which films will be shown and speakers will be heard.

In Campbellford and Cobourg the drive will get off to a rousing start when hundreds of school children will take part in opening ceremonies. In Brighton on April 27, a banquet will take place at which Staff Sgt. Norman Harvie, recently returned from Italy, will be the guest speaker. The industrial plants of Cobourg are sponsoring a special evening at the Opera House Friday, April 21 for their employees in support of the drive.

Nellie Broke Into a Gallop...

Years ago Grandma was torn between two loves every morning — her before-breakfast ride, and that waiting dish of malty-rich, nut-sweet Grape-Nuts. Nellie, her horse, knew this of course, so she always broke into a gallop when they headed for home.

Your family will gallop downstairs every morning for a taste-tempting bowlful of that same grand flavor in golden, toasty-brown Grape-Nuts Flakes!

And they'll gallop off to work nourished by carbohydrates and proteins, useful quantities of iron and phosphorus and other food essentials! Get Grape-Nuts Flakes for tomorrow.

Red Cross Cares For Prisoners

CAMPBELLFORD, April 19 (ENS)—Some highlights of the work that has been done by the Canadian Red Cross was given to members at their weekly meeting Tuesday afternoon when it was pointed out that Canadian and British prisoners of war in Europe and in the Far East have received 7,000,000 food parcels from them.

Last year women in the Red Cross branches all over the province made 5,676,061 articles including supplies, comforts for the armed forces and women's auxiliaries and civilian clothing.

As a reminder of the important part prisoner of war parcels were playing in the work of the Red Cross, members were told there were 1,500 soldiers from Ontario alone who were in prison camps. Ontario workrooms had made all of the dressings required in 28 outpost hospitals and last year the Jam Committee shipped 107 tons of jam overseas for use in military hospitals, nurseries and hostels. Ranking in importance among the shipments made to prisoners of war were the items sent by the Junior Red Cross and these included 125,000 pencils, 100,000 note books, 100,000 sheets of lined paper and 10,000 erasers. In addition to this were other shipments containing musical instruments and dental equipment.

Awaiting volunteer sewers at the local rooms are night gowns for women and children, which are already cut and ready to be made. Attention was called to the continued need for pieces of cotton and wool material suitable for quilts.

Public Utilities Reports Operating Profit

COBOURG, April 19.—(ENS). — Cobourg Public Utilities had a net operating profit in both the water and electric departments last year, the auditors' report reveals. The net operating profit in the water department was an increase over the year before, the total for 1943 being $1,782.53 as compared with $1,590.11 in 1942. The net operating profit in the electric department for 1943 was $1,441.99 and in 1942 the amount was $1,836.61. Comparative figures for last year and the year preceding are as follows:

Electric Dept.—Active assets in 1942, $34,922.69 and in 1943, $42,499.41; current liabilities in 1942 $10,768.49 and in 1943 $10,623.39; net working capital for the comparative years, $24,154.20, $31,876.10. Increase in net working capital is $7,721.90.

Accounts receivable of $3,599.31 shows a decrease of $232.50 over the year before, made up of consumers' accounts of $3,426.10 and sales accounts of $172.91. The auditors referred to delinquent accounts and urged steps to collect them. However, in comparison with past years the amount is very small, being $116.22 of which $21.22 are old delinquent accounts.

The income for the comparative years was $94,968.99 and $93,951.37. Controllable expenses include operating expenses of $4,968 in 1942 and $5,184 in 1943; maintenance, $6,119.93, $6,279.04; administration and general expenses $7,256.73, $9,400.43; total controllable expenses $19,804.32, $21,257.07.

Uncontrollable expenses: power purchased $66,044.60, $63,991.56; debenture payments bring the total uncontrollable expenses up to $73,328.06 in 1942 as compared with $71,272.33 in 1943. Total expenses for the two periods are $93,132.38 and $92,509.40, making a net operating profit for the two comparative periods of $1,836.61 and $1,441.97.

Water Department—active assets in 1942 amounted to $19,653 and in 1943 $23,633.01; current liabilities, $721.61, $755.76; net working capital, $18,931.77, $22,877.25; increase in working capital $3,945.48. Accounts receivable totalled $1,381.19, a decrease of $205.76 as compared with 1942. Bad debts amounted to $84 plus $44.60 outstanding for a year or more. The total delinquent accounts for both water and electric departments amounted to $244.91. The income for the comparative years amounted to $42,206.05, $40,160.07.

Controllable expenses— operating expenses $14,336.9, $12,380.41; maintenance expenses $3,012.04, $2,288.86; administration and general expenses—$4,759.88, $5,205.45; total controllable expenses $22,108.86, $19,874.72.

H. Scotchmer To Talk To Hog Producers

CAMPBELLFORD, April 19. — (ENS).—The new system of combining the cheque for subsidy on the grading slip of hog producers will be explained for the benefit of farmers at a meeting in the Co-Op building Friday afternoon. The meeting has been arranged by the discuss the garding of hogs to give in co-operation with the Northumberland Hog Producers' Association.

Speaker of the occasion will be H. D. Scotchmer of the Dominion Department of Agriculture and he will discuss the grading of higs to give the farmer a clearer understanding that would enable him to obtain the best possible price gotten only by those who are familiar with what is required. According to R. C. Banbury, the $4 premium being offered for Grade A pig dressing from 150 to 170 pounds is considerable and an item that can add much to the year's profits.

Censoring Diplomatic Pouches

The announcement that henceforth Britain will censor the contents of the diplomatic pouches of all government representatives within her boundaries except those of the Dominions, the U.S. and Russia, is without precedent. Only the most imperative need for secrecy could justify such a move. It has always been the custom to pretend — sometimes in the face of the clearest evidence to the contrary — that foreign diplomats are above suspicion, and of unimpeachable discretion. Britain now casts aside such pretence, and sets above suspicion only those countries which are as deeply involved in the war as she is herself.

Obviously something of the utmost importance is brewing. It needs no master mind to guess that it is an invasion of Europe. Britain has taken this extraordinary precaution in order to prevent any leakage of information. Without any thought of betraying a trust a letter enclosed in a diplomatic pouch might say too much about some aspect of British life, and an enemy agent would be put on a valuable scent. The letter might go to Sweden, or it might go to one of the republics of South America; it might go to Eire. But under the new regulation no chance will be taken.

The official British announcement of this action said that it was necessary because of "the unprecedented circumstances created by military operations impending in the present year". Some ingenious analysts have shown their customary firm grip on what is obvious by asserting that this statement definitely proves that the invasion is planned to take place some time in 1944. Not only does the new regulation provide for censorship of the contents of diplomatic pouches, but it also confines to Britain all official couriers, diplomats and representatives, and all members of their official and domestic staffs.

It is worth noticing that Britain could have put this regulation into effect without telling the whole world about it. The publicity which has been given to the matter is doubtless a shrewd move in the war of nerves. Mr. Churchill promised many surprise moves, feints and rehearsals, and this may be classed as a surprise move. It tells Germany nothing which was not known to her before, and it is doubtful if it will keep information from her which would do her any particular good. Still, it will perhaps rattle the German leaders and keep them guessing, and that is always worth doing.

Anniversary For "The Industry"

The movies celebrate their fiftieth birthday this year. Hammerstein's Olympia Music Hall first showed moving pictures in New York half a century ago and the long journey was begun toward the present picture-palace, with its highly technical entertainment, its colour and its sound. In all seriousness great numbers of people in the entertainment world refer to the moving-pictures as 'The Industry'; and, at the end of fifty years it is primarily an industry, and one of the most lucrative industries in the world.

It has the defects of industrialized entertainment. The movies have achieved great technical proficiency, and continue to make remarkable advances in technique, but they have not had a corresponding artistic growth. There has never been a great writer who has devoted his talent to writing movie-scripts; there has never been an actor of unquestioned greatness who has been content to work exclusively for the movies. It is not hard to explain why this is so: the movies demand a great deal of collaboration, and great writers do not collaborate; the movies also are able to build up an actor or actress of mediocre talent so that he surpasses, in the eyes of the audience, the player of genius, and players of genius will not work under such conditions. And so the movies continue to lean on novels and plays for their story material, and they recruit their principal players for sex-appeal or charm rather than for acting ability. The result is often excellent entertainment, but it never touches greatness. It is significant that when an artist of the first-rank makes a film—as when Shaw filmed his own Pygmalion, and when Lunt and Fontanne filmed The Guardsman—the routine of the studios is upset.

The movies are the only form in which drama reaches millions of people all over the world. In the past fifty years the movies have grown from the status of a toy to the most powerful means for spreading information, entertainment and propaganda that there is in the world. If the movies are still intellectually dependent on other arts we must not be too much surprised, for the movies came to birth at a time in the world's history when commercialism and technical efficiency are more highly esteemed than they have ever been before. The achievement of the past fifty years is astounding, and if we hope that The Industry's head catches up with the rest of its body in the next fifty years, we imply no derogation of what has already been done.

Perspective On "Big Bill"

The curse of journalism is that it must always be done in a tearing hurry, in order that what is written may be ready for today's paper, or, at least, for tomorrow's. Thus the journalist's perspective on events is often pulled awry by his excitement and his haste, and he exaggerates what is ephemeral and passes over what is of permanent importance. Naturally the conscientious journalist struggles against this trend of his trade, but he is not always successful.

Consider, for instance, the fuss which was made about Big Bill Thompson during the time that he was mayor of Chicago; Big Bill never amounted to much, but he was given columns of publicity and was the subject of scores of angry editorials. When he died recently fugitive recollections of him were drawn again to the surface of the mind, briefly examined, and allowed to sink into forgetfulness once more.

It was Big Bill's violence of language which attracted attention to him. He was the man who threatened to bust the late King George V in the snoot if he ever dared to set foot in Chicago. Indeed the snoot — sometimes also called the snout—of the British sovereign was as much an obsession with Big Bill as the head of King Charles was with poor demented Mr. Dick. And when Big Bill died it was this snoot-fixation which most of the newspapers remembered.

It is interesting, however, to read what appeared about Big Bill in the Manchester Guardian:

"The death is announced in Chicago of Mr. William Hale ('Big Bill') Thompson, three times mayor of Chicago, at the age of 75.

"Thompson was born at Boston, but spent his youthful years on ranches in the West. His father having left him a fortune, he entered politics, and in 1915 was elected for his first term as mayor. Under his administration many abuses occurred, and the city became the headquarters of gangsters and bootleggers. A 'reform movement' drove him from office after he had served a double term, but he was again returned four years later. His rule for the year until he was defeated in 1931 was marked by a startling increase in the city's short-term loans, and the municipality had been brought to the verge of bankruptcy when the banks imposed a financial dictatorship. One feature of Thompson's political life was his anti-British campaigns, which included condemnation of history books in schools on the grounds that they were 'tainted' with British influence".

Dispassionate, measured and fair, this is possibly the perfect obituary notice; what a saving of newsprint if we had been able to see Big Bill in this perspective while he lived.

NOTE AND COMMENT

Whatever became of those fellows who said that air-power alone would win the war?

Walking, we are assured, is good for the health. But only if it you don't get run down.

"Women Claim Equality With Men" says a headline. Since when have they become so modest in their demands?

The Chicago Daily News, in an editorial, speaks of "a few colonial nations like Australia and Canada". The writer's outlook and information, if we may say so, are worse than colonial—they are provincial.

Some captured Italian and German guns have arrived in Ottawa, and the Journal hopes that they will not be used to litter public parks and driveways, as they were during the last war. Let us hope that we have learned that wholesale distribution of outworn machinery is neither decorative nor inspiring.

A morning paper shows us a picture of a group of Doukhobors "stripping". We had always pictured this qaint custom as something in the Minsky convention—a maddening display of pearly flesh and provocative posture. But the picture shows only a group of beefy and ill-favoured rustics in their winter underwear. Another shattered illusion!

A Traveller In Italy

By
SAMUEL MARCHBANKS

THE association between England and Italy has been close for almost a century and a half, and the excitement and argument which the present campaign in Italy has aroused in Great Britain has sprung, at least in part, from the fact that thousands of British travellers know Italy well. Both Germany and England have felt the call toward the south, and the literature of both countries during the nineteenth century is full of yearning toward Italian warmth and beauty. Now, when Italy is in the thick of war, it is interesting to take up the memoirs and guide-books of some of those dead travellers, and retrace their steps. It is exactly a hundred years since Charles Dickens and his family went travelling in Italy, and as Dickens was by no means a conventional traveller, it is worth our while to see what he thought about the country which appealed so strongly to Keats, Shelley, Byron, the Brownings, Goethe and a score of poets and men of letters.

DICKENS was one of the greatest of Englishmen, and he was never completely at his ease when he was not breathing English air. When he travelled in America he was bad-tempered, easily offended, captious and rude. It is true that the United States in his day was anything but a paradise, but he did not seem to feel this obligations as a visitor to overlook, and excuse, and compliment. Dickens visited the U.S., and also Canada, of which he formed a very low opinion—in 1843, and he returned home and wrote "Martin Chuzzlewit," one of his best books, but so bitterly sarcastic in its American passages that many American libraries will not house it even now. In 1844, weary from his great exertions and pressed for money, Dickens decided to live abroad for a while in order to restore his health and coddle his purse. And so he took a villa in Genoa, and travelled by carriage from Paris to take possession of it.

IT would be worth having one of those Time Machines which are so common in the comic strips, if only to see the Dickens family emerging from the gate of the Hotel Meurice in Paris and bowling down the Rue de Rivoli on the first stage of its journey. Travelling in those days was uncomfortable but romantic. The Dickens household had a private carriage, with accommodation for four inside, and four more outside, and which was drawn by four horses under the guidance of a postillion. Inside we may assume that poor Mrs. Dickens took her seat, and doubtless that sister who even then was displacing her in her husband's affections. How many Dickens children were crowded inside we cannot tell; doubtless as many were within as could be stowed there, and the remainder were on the top. And on the top, also, sitting beside the courier, was Charles Dickens himself, the inimitable Boz, his black hair already graying, his handsome face drawn and lined, but his hat set jauntily on his head, and his hands gleaming with the rings which he loved to wear.

DICKENS was a great observer. But no man is ever an impartial observer, and he sees only what his particular cast of mind, and his education, and his natural inclination makes it possible for him to see. When Dickens was in a foreign country he saw only what was grotesque, repugnant or ridiculous; true, as a writer he forced himself to remark upon the beauties of the countryside, and he had those spasms of admiration for great works of art which were obligatory for travellers in his day, and which are obligatory still for many people. But the smallness of French soldiers and the bigness of French postillions, the peculiar sheen on an Italian lawyer's red nose, the confusion of carriage traffic in the great cities, the poor appearance of Italian vineyards, the savage whiskers worn by foreigners of all sorts and everywhere—everywhere the manifestations of the Roman Catholic faith —these were the things which really held Dickens' attention and made his journey a vexation to him. Like many other people, Dickens was all for religion when it was his own, and all contempt and jokes when it belonged to somebody else; the man who set a whole nation blubbering over the grave of Little Nell grudged the Italian peasant his holy image and his boxes of relics.

IT is interesting to compare Dickens as a traveller with Mark Twain. Just as Dickens was an Englishman—and a great and bigoted one—so Mark Twain was an American—and a great and bigoted one. "The Innocents Abroad" is comparable with Dickens' "Pictures From Italy"; both are written by men who should never, for their peace of mind, have stirred from their own homes. Both were convinced that all foreigners were either fools or swindlers; both were convinced that nothing worth looking at existed outside their own countries; both were men of great humour which went sour as soon as it crossed a body of water.

AS fine a passage of unconscious humour as any to be found in English literature is that in which Dickens bids farewell to Italy. In his relief at escaping, and returning to his dear England, he attempts to do the generous thing by the great southern land, but for every compliment which he pays it he gives it a box on the ear. It simply is not in him to be truly civil or generous toward the Italian people or their country. How gleefully he must have mounted to the top of the travelling-carriage for the journey back to France, and thence to England! This time his purse was well filled, his tired eye had brightened; Genoa had served its purpose, and he was going home again! The perpetual whip-cracking and shouting of the postillion must have been music to his ears! And the postillion's gigantic boots, which had been such a source of irritation to him on the southward journey, must have seemed the very sandals of Mercury as the horses gave their first great pull, and the carriage headed north.

Home-Town Paper

While no doubt Canadian publishers of weekly newspapers are doing their full duty by the boys from their districts serving overseas, the suggestion is made by the manager of the Beaver Club in London that more Canadian weekly newspapers on the reading racks of the Club would add to the pleasure and morale of the Canadian soldiers congregating there. The boys are all eager to get the news of their home town. This recalls the experience of the Scotch boy in London on leave during the first Great War. Entering a bookstall he enquired "Ha' ye the Ecclefechan Gazette?" When the clerk replied "No," the boy said contemptuously, "Weel, just give me one of your local papers." — Renfrew Mercury.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

SUGGESTION FOR LAUNCHING

Sir,—Having read in Friday's Toronto Daily Star, where the committee of the Malta Tag Day gave the honour to a seaman to take part in the ceremony, also to a mother and father of a boy who had lost his life in Malta, they placed a wreath on the City Hall Cenotaph. I thought what a good suggestion that would be for the committee who are looking after the christening or launching of the corvette Peterborough! Perhaps there are some people who do not know that there have been four boys from Peterborough in the R.C.N. who have given their lives to make this Canada of ours a better place to live in. Thanking you.—I remain,

PARK AS POST-WAR PROJECT

Sir,—After hearing and reading a great deal of controversy about the proposed Provincial Park in the northern part of Peterborough county, I would appreciate it, if I may, Sir, put forth my views, not only as a member of our armed forces, but as a private citizen of Ontario.

First we shall deal with the merits of a Provincial Park as regards the prosperity that a city or town may enjoy which is fortunate enough to be situated on the main thoroughfare leading to such a park.

I think you will agree with me that the town of Huntsville, which is situated on the western approach of Algonquin Park, enjoys a prosperity from the tourist traffic, which might well be the envy of most any town or small city in Ontario.

North Bay is another city which derives a handsome revenue from the Nimrods and sportsmen who have to pass through, to get to that Paradise known as the Temagami Reserve.

The above mentioned are only two places out of many which in no small way share the revenue which these parks produce.

Now I think we should consider the farmer and small land-owner who has some property in such a park.

It is an established fact that he is the one who will, in all likelihood, derive the most benefit from such a place. He should be able to sell all the produce he can grow, as well as make extra money from guiding, cabin building etc.

There is a very important angle about the establishment of a Park in the proposed area. It will necessitate the building of modern roads and bridges, whcih might well in itself cause a small "boom" among the settlers.

It is obvious to anyone who has been through this section of country that a re-forestation plan should be put into effect at the earliest possible date. This would tend to make a very beautiful park and at the same time provide employment for the settler as well as many of our returned soldiers, who will, no doubt be very happy to spend some time in the great outdoors giving their tired nerves a rest, and at the same time doing some real honest to goodness post war construction for Peterborough County and for the good of Canada as a whole

I am of the opinion that with such a Park coming into existence soon, and with the help of the County Council and the Provincial Government, that upon the cessation of hostilities, Peterborough County will have their post war problem partially ironed out.

Last but not least, I think you will agree with me, that there is no more awe inspiring sight than to be afforded the opportunity to see deer, bear, beaver and even the lowly porcupine in their natural habitat. It is something that will gladden the heart of every red-blooded sportsman. I have counted as many as thirteen deer in a very short space of time in Algonquin Park, as well as a number of other animals. Why should we not be able to see them here in this county?

In conclusion I might add that the establishment of such an undertaking is going to cause some small inconveniences to some hunters and settlers for a short time, but nothing worthwhile is accomplished without some inconvenience.

Just think what fishing to going to be enjoyed there, and what hunting will be done near the outskirts of such a Park, not only by a few, but by a large percentage of the people of Southern Ontario.

Thanking you, Mr. Editor,

S. E. TRIPP, R.C.N.V.R.

Lonsdale Of The Lowthers

(NEW YORK TIMES)

OBITUARIES of Hugh Cecil Lowther, fifth Earl of Lonsdale, are like a peep into an extinct world. Ever since the thirteenth century Lowthers have been great folks in Westmoreland and Cumberland. This earl must have enjoyed all his long life; his lives, we might say, so various was his experience. Austrian archdukes, Italian princes, cowpunchers, costers, prizefighters, racing touts were his familiars. In his devotion to exercise in the open air he was a thorough Englishman, and his countrymen liked him.

He came to Wyoming in '74. The Livestock Association had just been formed. Rich young men from the Eastern colleges were longing to be cowpunchers and buying ranches. A few years later Marquess of Beaufort, from whom Lonsdale won a fat wager by a hundred-mile walk, was a man about this town, a great friend of the elder Sothern. Lonsdale has been called an "eighteenth-century man." The first earl filled that bill chronologically. Enormously wealthy, he was a prime corruptionist, and his nine puppets in the House of Commons were called "Sir James' Ninepins." The third earl, friend of Rogers and Wordsworth, won the Derby, collected porcelain and gave great sums for the maintenance of Italian opera.

This last earl died poor. For years he had been unable to live in Lowther Castle. He saw the prime and the decline of the English aristocracy. The fall began about 1880. To the agricultural depression succeeded in the new century the Lloyd George budgets. Death duties, income taxes, two wars have pretty well cleaned out the great landowners. As a class they deserve well of England. They improved agriculture. They amassed pictures and rare books. They sat in Parliament. They belonged to Governments. Their political importance is gone. They must struggle to live like the rest of us, but in their day they stood on the top of the world and on the whole weren't half bad fellows.

The Future Of Basic English

(MANCHESTER GUARDIAN)

WE shall soon be hearing a very great deal more about the functions, future, or defects of Basic English now that the Committee of Ministers appointed last September has reported in favour of official encouragement for it "as an auxiliary international and administrative language." The proposed methods of encouragement are clearly outlined in last week's statement by the Prime Minister (who had expressed his own interest in the Basic scheme to a Harvard audience when he received an honourary degree at that university), and it was also made quite clear that the 850 words of the Basic English vocabulary could not possibly be expected to present themselves as a working substitute for literary English. What the committee, whose members are all men of attainments and scholarship who would never dream of an organized assault on standard English, has done is to recommend specific machinery for the diffusion of Basic English among foreigners. But the effort is not, of course, one that could be described [illegible] [illegible] home who wish to communicate with them will have to acquire it too. It will be no use drawing on a vocabulary of several thousand words when writing to someone whose maximum is 850, including sixteen verbs. As an auxiliary international language the Government means to give Basic English as good a start as it can get. But only custom, convenience, and usage can decide it fate in the long run.

The South's Record

The recent record of the South in world affairs is inspiring. Lend-lease would have been beaten in Congress but for Southern votes. When the first year of the first draft expired, four months before Pearl Harbor, it was Southern members of Congress who insured its extension. When, by one vote, Congress decided not to send all the soldiers home it was the South that turned the scale. Representatives of 12 Southern states cast 102 votes in favour of extending the draft and only six votes against it. [illegible]—New York Herald Tribune.

A Bible Message

And after five days Ananias the high priest descended with the elders, and with a certain orator named Tertullus, who informed the governor against Paul....

Then Paul, after that the governor had beckoned unto him to speak, answered, Forasmuch as I know that thou hast been of many years a judge unto this nation, I do the more cheerfully answer for myself, that thou mayest understand, that there are yet but twelve days since I went up to Jerusalem for to worship....

But this I confess unto thee, that after the way which they call heresy, so worship I the God of my fathers, believing all things which are written in the law and in the prophets: and have hope toward God, which they themselves also allow, that there shall be a resurrection of the dead, both of the just and unjust. (Acts 24: 1, 10, 11, 14, 15.)

For if the dead rise not, then is not Christ raised.... If in this life only we have hope in Christ, we are of all men most miserable.

But now is Christ risen from the dead, and become the first fruits of them that slept. (I Cor. 15: 16, 19, 20.)

Unconsidered Trifles

A man was being tried for misappropriating a pig, and a conscientious witness, to whom the accused was said to have confided, was being examined.

"Can you repeat the exact words in which the prisoner confessed to taking the pig?" asked counsel.

"He said, sir, he took the pig.'

The judge tried to simplify the question, "Did the prisoner say, 'He took the pig,' or 'I took the pig'?"

"Oh, Your Honor, he said he took it. Your Honour's name wasn't even mentioned."

"Game of billiards, gents?" inquired the landlord.

"I don't know," said the billiard champion. "I don't like these balls. How do you tell the red from the white?"

"Oh, that's easy," stated the landlord. "You get to know 'em by the shape."

Ready and Able?

Mr. Gordon Graydon is quoted as saying that "the Progressive Conservatives, led by John Bracken, have reached a point in their development where they are ready and able to assume the responsibilities of government in either war or peace." But are "the Progressive Conservatives led by John Bracken ready and able to assume the responsibilities of government" as snared by the opposition? "Led by John Bracken" they are not. Mr. Bracken stays outside parliament, refuses to assume the responsibility that is rightly his, has so refused for a year and a quarter. Ready and able? He has shown that he is not ready. The electors have no means of knowing whether he is able. They only know that he is entirely without federal parliamentary experience; that his only experience has been in a province with the population of Greater Toronto and two-thirds the budget of municipal Toronto.—Toronto Star.

Trend of Taxes

It is significant that the people of the United States are beginning to challenge both the wisdom and the desirability of recent taxation trends in that country—trends which have thus far imposed a tax burden upon the people which is far less oppressive than what we have to shoulder in Canada. The state legislatures of Alabama, Arkansas, Delaware, Illinois, Indiana, Iowa, Maine, Massachusetts, Michigan, Mississippi, Pennsylvania, Rhode Island, Wisconsin and Wyoming have gone so far as to memorialize Congress asking for a constitutional convention to prevent the United States Government from going beyond a certain limit in the taxation of income.

Revision both of the principles of taxation and of the methods of administration are long overdue. The sense of irritation and frustration which is already apparent is of secondary importance compared with the disruptive effect which present illogical taxation principles are having upon our national economy in the days that lie ahead.—Halifax Chronicle.

Levy $100 Fine For Operating Pin-Ball Game

As an aftermath of a March 17th raid by Ontario Provincial Police anti-gambling squad, seven proprietors of downtown establishments faced charges in police court Tuesday afternoon of having conducted common gaming houses by the illegal operation of pin-ball machines.

In the only case that was completed at the afternoon hearing, Henry Jay, former proprietor of the Corner Cigar Store at 234 Charlotte street entered a plea of guilty and was fined $100 without costs by Magistrate O. A. Langley, K.C., with the alternative of two months imprisonment.

Spiro Zakos, proprietor of Plaza Billiards, Walter McIlmoyle, Charlotte Street; E. P. Shung, proprietor of the Hollywood Cafe; Louis Yeotes, proprietor of Louis Billiards; Mrs. E. Lebarr, Charlotte street; and George Dormer, proprietor of the Sugar Bowl all entered pleas of guilty to similar charges but penalties in those cases were deferred until Tuesday of next week.

T. J. Carley, K.C. defended all the accused and Crown Attorney V. J. McElderry, K.C. prosecuted. He had the assistance of Staff Inspector E. T. Doyle of the Ontario Provincial Police.

Mrs. Alice Jay had been jointly charged with her husband but entered a plea of not guilty and the case against her was dismissed when Crown Attorney McElderry announced that no evidence would be offered.

A charge against Jay operating a punch board was also dismissed when no evidence was offered by the crown.

A battery of brightly-colored pin-ball machines ranged along the west wall of the court-room added atmosphere to the hearing.

Wins Nine Games

Provincial Constable J. E. Downs, Toronto, was called to give evidence in the Jay case after the accused had pleaded guilty. The witness stated that on the morning of March 15 he had played the electrically-operated pin-ball machine in Jay's store and after playing 23 games had won nine free games.

"I said to Mrs. Alice Jay", said the officer, "will I turn off the nine free games and she said 'Yes'. Then she paid me 45 cents."

To Mr. Carley, Constable Downs stated that he had been in Jay's store on the previous evening for a short time and neither then or during the time he was in the store the next morning had he seen anyone else play the machine.

"The circumstances do not warrant a heavy penalty" argued Mr. Carley. "The only law-breaking was induced by the officer himself. There is no evidence of any one else playing this machine."

Remarking that the appeal court in a recent case had raised fines of $25 to $100 and fines of $50 to $200, Magistrate Langley said that he felt bound by the decision of the higher court. "They are setting the pace," he remarked. His Worship then announced that Jay would be fined $100 without costs.

Mr. Carley objected. "I can't see that you are bound to follow that decision", he declared. "The facts in that case may have been altogether different."

"My information", said Crown Attorney McElderry "is that the circumstances in that case were practically the same as in this one."

Asks for Confiscation

When Mr. McElderry asked for a court order confiscating the pin-ball machine seized in the Jay store there was a long legal battle that finally wound up in Magistrate Langley adjourning the case for a week.

Provincial Constable J. E. Downs told of seizing the machine in Jay's store on the afternoon of March 17 on a warrant issued by Magistrate H. S. McCready of Toronto, deputy commissioner of the Ontario Provincial Police.

To Mr. Carley Downs stated that he had been told by Henry Jay that the machine was the property of Max Rishor of Peterborough and that he had reason to believe that that statement was likely correct.

Mr. Carley called Henry Jay to the witness box and the accused stated that the pin-ball machine was owned by Max Rishor. Describing its operation Jay stated the machine was played for amusement purposes and that the player by getting the necessary scores could win free games which mean that he could play the machine a certain number of times without putting in any nickels. "The player who gets the highest score is the champ", he said.

Says He Never Paid

"I have never paid out any money for free games on this machine," the witness stated.

"How were the spoils divided?" asked Mr. McElderry in beginning his cross-examination of the witness.

"I object to the use of the word 'spoils'", said Mr. Carley.

"Then I'll ask how were the profits divided", said the Crown Attorney.

Jay said that he and Rishor divided the money in the machine on a 50-50 basis.

"Is there a gadget on that machine that will keep track of the free games won?"

"Not that I am aware of."

Jay said that if his wife had paid out for free games she must have done it out of her own pocket.

"I have never paid out anything on that machine," he added, stating that it had been in his store for about two months.

Mr. Carley, in his argument, submitted that the magistrate had no jurisdiction to deal with the application. He further argued that provincial constables did not come within the class of municipal officers set forth in the section. Furthermore he said that a decision in a recent case had held that where the ownership of the machine was vested in another party, it could not be construed that confiscation of the machine in such case could be part of the sentence imposed on an offender.

Crown Attorney McElderry argued that the magistrate had the necessary jurisdiction. He suggested that as His Worship would undoubtedly reserve judgment in any case that he might be permitted to later submit some cases dealing with the points raised.

Magistrate Langley then announced that there would be a week's adjournment.

Play Many Games

The only other case in which evidence was taken Tuesday was in connection with two charges against George Dormer, one involving the illegal operation of a pin-ball machine and the other of operating punch boards.

Provincial Constable J. E. Downs testified that he played the pin-ball game in the Dormer store on the night of March 14. He had played 28 games, he said, had won eight free games and had been paid 40 cents by Mrs. Dormer.

Provincial Constable Arthur Collins who had been with Downs on the occasion in question said that he himself had played 40 games and had won only two free games. He had played them off, he said, and had not asked for money for them.

Both officers said to Mr. Carley that they considered pin-ball machines games of chance and not games of skill. Downs said that the machines might sometimes be played for amusement, but he did not think that was the general practice.

Collins declined to admit to Mr. Carley that he had gone into the store for the purpose of gambling. "I was there to see whether or not there was a breach of the code", he said.

"Why did you not cash in the two free games instead of playing them off?"

"I have found that it is not good practice to ask for money for a couple of games. It might make them suspicious and they would refuse to pay".

Corp. Gordon Tomlinson, Toronto, member of the Ontario Provincial Police produced five punch boards that he said he had seized in the Dormer store on March 17. He also produced the prizes that he said had been offered in connection with the boards.

The imposing of a penalty in these two cases was deferred for a week. Judgment was also reserved on an application for the confiscation of the machine found in the Dormer store.

In the charge against Spiro Zakos, his wife had been jointly charged with him but on her plea of not guilty the charge against her was dismissed when the crown offered no evidence.

A charge against the accused of operating punch boards was also dismissed with no evidence offered.

Trucker Drags Occupants To Safety Through Window As Flames Envelop Car

BRONTE, April 19 — A Toronto women and her two daughters narrowly escaped death in flames in a motor car on the Merton Bridge over 12-Mile Creek this afternoon after the auto was struck by a tractor-trailer, jamming the doors. The victims, recovering from burns tonight in their Toronto home, were Mrs. Percy I. Pasternak of 1194 Avenue Rd.; Harriet, 8, and Nancy, 6.

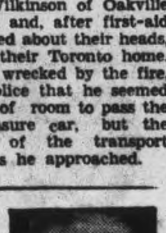
According to details given Provincial Constable A. R. Smith of Burlington, who was assisted in the investigation by Provincial Constable Allie Jackson of Oakville, the Pasternak car had been jacked up on the bridge after a blowout. While Mr. Pasternak was away having the tire repaired, the transport in charge of Walter Rudkin of 547 Lauder Ave., Toronto swung upon the bridge and crashed into the motor car.

The impact burst the passenger car's gasoline tank and hurled the vehicle against the guard rail of the bridge, jamming the doors. The car caught fire almost immediately. Rudkin raced back from the transport, picked up the jack handle and broke the windows of the car, hauling out Mrs. Pasternak and the children.

Dr. W. M. Wilkinson of Oakville was summoned and, after first-aid the three, burned about their heads, were taken to their Toronto home.

The car was wrecked by the fire. Rudkin told police that he seemed to have plenty of room to pass the jacked-up pleasure car, but the steering-gear of the transport jammed just as he approached.

A Help to Those Who Are Past Middle Age



When men and women get past middle age their energy and activity, in many instances, begin to decline, and their general vitality is on the wane.

Little ailments and sicknesses seem harder to shake off than formerly, and, here and there, evidences of a breakdown begin to appear.

Now is the time those wishing to help maintain their health and vigour should take a course of Milburn's Health and Nerve Pills.

They help tone up and invigorate the patient by their tonic action on the system.

Price 50c a box, 65 pills, at all drug counters.

Amend Credit Act

QUEBEC, April 19.—(CP).— The Legislative Assembly, by a vote of 34-10, yesterday gave final reading to a government bill amending the Quebec Farm Credit Act. The law was adopted after an Opposition amendment disapproving the measure because of the three per cent. rate of interest on loans was turned down by the same vote. The government bill to put at the disposal of the farm credit bureau, for loans to farmers of this province, an additional sum of $2,000,000" was adopted after resolutions relating to the measure were adopted in committee of the whole.

Stresses "Mirror True Process"

At this time when the supply of "Film" for civilian use is rather drastically curtailed, it naturally behooves us to be as careful as possible with those rolls which we are fortunate to obtain—in other words, to make every "shot" count. For the same reason it is also doubly important that only the most reliable methods of "Photo Finishing" be employed to eliminate all possible chance of waste. The "Mirror True Process" of Photo Finishing has for some time been recognized as "tops" in this field, and prints finished by this well-known method are conspicuous for contrast and wealth of detail. So may we again remind you that all film left at your Tamblyn Drug Store for finishing, comes back to you completed by this time-tested and trustworthy process—thus ensuring you the best possible results at all times. Following this, may we suggest that rather than risk disappointment, you entrust your "Films" to the care of your nearest Tamblyn Store for finishing by "Mirror True Process."

Wrestling Fans Attack Referee Maxwell

Strangler Bob Wagner turned Tuesday night's Tunney wrestling rodeo at the Brock Street Arena into a riot. The Portland, Ore., bad man staged such a violent exhibition in his main bout battle with Montreal's favorite son, Yvon Robert, that he eventually disqualified himself, caused the fans to attack Referee Bert Maxwell and he himself had to leave the ring under police escort.

It was a stormy windup to a bout that was not wrestling but certainly was not dull.

Robert, generally recognized as one of the cleverest wrestlers in the game today, had little opportunity to show his science. On the contrary he was too busy trying to defend himself against the mad attacks of the Pacific Coast rough-house artist to be able to demonstrate his mastery of holds.

Wagner lost little time in going beserk. Apparently he is allergic to French-Canadians. At all events he went after Monsieur Robert from the opening bell with every gun firing and the Montrealer must have thought he had been dropped into a cage with a wildcat.

Wagner punched and gouged, pulled Robert's abundant locks and followed the old football maxim "when in doubt kick." The result was that the French-Canadian star had to abandon wrestling lore in self defence and meet the Portland battler at his own style. There was action galore, with the ire of the crowd mounting with every mean Wagner move and there were plenty of that kind. Robert doled out a receipt for some of the rough stuff he was handed but the Strangler did most of the illegal attacking.

Wagner Takes First

He made it pay dividends, too, for he took the first fall in 17 minutes with a series of body slams after he had kicked Robert into submission. The crowd did not like any part of that fall and Wagner got the Bronx cheer as he strutted to the dressing-room.

When the Pacific Coast one-man riot squad tried a sneak attack on Robert before the official opening of the second round he aroused the fans to greater anger. Incidentally he also aroused Monsieur Robert for the Montrealer sailed into Wagner with the fastest two-fisted attack that has been seen here, cuffing him with lefts and rights until the Portlander was out on his feet and then tossing him with a couple of violent body slams before dropping on him for the fall.

Wagner was fit to be tied. Instead of leaving the ring he dared the French-Canadian to come back and finish the bout without the customary intermission. Robert accepted the challenge and the battle went right on. And, neighbors, we do mean battle. Wagner sailed in with very bit of skullduggery he knew and the Montrealer had a tough time holding him off. The climax came when the Pacific Coast grappler hung Robert by his heels from the corner of the ring and then tried to kick his head loose from his neck. Referee Maxwell twice tried to intervene and twice Wagner tossed him for a ten-yard gain. That was too much for the third man in the ring and he proceeded to disqualify Wagner and award the fall and the match to Robert.

The Storm Breaks

Then the storm broke. The fans left their seats and swarmed around the ring where Wagner was defying all comers. When Referee Maxwell climbed through the ropes and started for the dressing-room a section of the crowd milled around him and long before he reached the door he was trying to dodge punches and swinging a few himself as the angered fans threatened to surround him. Phil Lawson led a one-man rescue squad into the midst of the brawl and got a stranglehold on one of the most aggressive attackers and Maxwell eventually reached a safety zone.

Meanwhile Wagner was holding the ring. When he finally decided to face the storm, Sergt. W. E. Wigg and Phil Lawson ran interference for the Pacific Coast bad man and he reached the dressing-room untouched. The crowd followed on his heels to the arena door but no punches were landed. It was a wild ending to a riotous struggle.

This Was Different

The semi-final was something else again. Tom Zaharias walked out on his bout with Earl McCready and Wilbur Toar Morgan substituted for the Gabby Greek. The result was a clever and fast exhibition of the better side of wrestling. The veteran McCready may have had a little edge on the former Marine but Morgan's speed stood him in good stead and got him out of some bad jams. The nearest approach to a fall came near the end of the half hour when the Moose got a chance to clamp his pet rocking-chair hold on Morgan and started to trundle him around the ring. It looked like the finish but the Marine's feet tangled in the ropes and McCready had to relinquish the hold. The thirty-minute bell found both men still going strong and they drew a big hand for their clever demonstration of de luxe wrestling.

Jan Gotch, always in there punching, met a bird of his own feather in the opening bout in Tony Leoni, an Italian-American newcomer who proved just as willing as the Pole to exchange a rabbit punches, dropkicks and hair-pulling. Occasionally the battlers threw in some wrestling too but most of the time they were bringing punches up from the floor. The mill lasted 21 minutes before they battlers decided to finish it up outside the ring and finally got themselves counted out for an automatic draw. Leoni chased his Polish opponent through the ropes, followed him out and they battled it among the ring-side customers until the bell tolled for both of them.

Referee Maxwell had one of the busiest nights of the season while Fred Scates did the announcing, looked after the timing and managed to keep in the good graces of the crowd.

By FRED D. CRAIG

The annual meeting of the Peterborough City Softball League has been called for next Monday when it is expected that officers will be elected and plans made for the season's activities. While it is a bit early to size up the team setup for the coming campaign the outlook is for a good league and plenty of competition. One new entry may be under the banner of the United Electrical Union and the C.G.E. Switchgear team is expected to be back with a stronger team than last season. The Military Training Centre has lost a number of the stars of the 1943 club but the Soldiers are counted upon to provide plenty of opposition for all and sundry and fresh drafts may bring further playing strength before the time comes to start the season. The members of the 4th Battery team who won the league honors last season will be in action again but according to present reports Jim Ellis, Eddie Starr and Company will play under the name of Flame, returning to the same sponsorship as the club had two years ago when it also won the City League honors. The Flames will have practically the same lineup as won for them last season. Centrefielder Joe Stewart's sensational fielding will be missed but the club is lucky in the fact that it will again have the services of Joe Blewett who starred in centre field for them in 1942 and whose long distance hitting was a big factor in their capture of the championship on that occasion.

The five pin bowlers of the city are going to do their bit for the British War Victims' Fund tomorrow, Thursday night at the Duffus Alleys when the City Five Pin League will sponsor a benefit doubles tourney, the proceeds of which will be turned over to the fund to help British families who have been victims of the blits. While sponsored by the City League the tourney will be an open affair and bowlers from the Industrial and Mercantile Leagues will be welcomed. The only condition in regard to the competition is that the makeup of the doubles cannot be determined in advance; in other words the players will draw for partners, following the plan adopted last season which worked out very satisfactorily. The use of the alleys has been donated and good prizes will be offered. It is expected that the city's bowlers will respond readily to this invitation to have a good evening's sport and at the same time to help a worth while cause. It is hoped that there will be a record enrolment for this tournament.

He's Back Again

Old King Baseball, with a lot of stars missing from his crown and plenty of patches scattered over his regal robes took over the centre of the sporting stage Tuesday as the two major leagues staged their openings for the season. Outstanding feature of first day activities, perhaps, was the ascendancy shown by the pitchers over the hitters. The New York Yanks and the St. Louis Cards, last season's pennant winners, opened up the 1944 campaign with neat wins. The Yanks behind five-hit pitching by Hank Borowy shut out the Boston Red Sox 3 to 0 to spoil the Boston opening and little Max Lanier turned in about the choicest pitching job of the day when he held the Pirates to two hits and the champion Cards won the engagement 2 to 0. Bill Voiselle, New York Giant rookie pitcher held Boston to six hits to give Mel Ott's club an opening day victory while at Cincinnati old Bucky Walters came up with a three-hitter, only to be beaten 3 to 0 as Hank Wyse blanked the Reds on five hits. Dizzy Trout and Jack Kramer had a nice duel at Detroit, each allowing six hits and the Brownies won 2 to 1 while the Philadelphia A's grabbed off the only extra inning game by triumphing over the Senators 3 to 2 in 12 innings.

The encouraging attendance of teams at the annual meeting of the Church Softball League Monday night when officers were elected for the season will be gratifying to everybody who appreciates the value of providing organized sport for Peterborough's youngsters. With eleven clubs already entered in two sections of the league, six in the bantam and five in the juvenile and with good prospects of St. Paul's, Knox and Trinity also entering teams prospects are bright for a good loop with plenty of competition and the list of officers elected is a guarantee that the affairs of the league will be well looked after. The outlook must be a lot brighter to a bunch of boys who have been thinking there would be no organized softball for them this season.

Aces Have The Bulge

According to Bill Westwick of the Ottawa Journal the Quebec Aces "appear to have the bulge" in the Allan Cup finals. He sizes it up like this: "Another edition of the Port Arthur Bearcats will be back in the East this week in search of the Allan Cup. The Bearcats will be minus the old firm of Laprade and Laprade (unlimited). There'll be some new faces, and they'll hardly be installed as favorites to beat the eastern champions, but those with even a short memory won't be travelling too far out on any limbs. Hockey times and teams have changed considerably in the past couple of years, though there is more than a passing resemblance between Aces of this year and those of a few seasons back. The Bearcats were sold a trifle short two seasons back when they stacked up against a powerful Air Force squad. They weren't regarded as having much of a chance on that occasion. The Bearcats took a roundabout and exacting method of eliminating New Westminster, but it only serves to reflect flatteringly on the tenacious and determined style of play usually associated with Port Arthur clubs in the past. Yet unless Aces have cooled out considerable in the last few weeks they appear to have the bulge. Observers who have had opportunity to watch both teams in action are still most impressed with the Quebec League champions. New Westminster were said to be on the week side defensively. Without benefit of a chance at comparison with the western finalists, it still isn't stretching the imagination to class the Aces as pretty sound in this respect."

Kingston proposes to use the Hockey Hall of Fame project as a tourist attraction. Bill Walshe, Kingston sports scribe says: "Kingston will take a greater part in the tourist trade of Canada in the near future as a playground for sportsmen as well as a historical headquarters. While Kingston's part in the history of the Dominion has been advertised Frontenac County's natural resources as a haven for fish and game and scenic beauty has been neglected. At a travel conference in Toronto last week-end, Kingston's claims were presented by Stuart Crawford and Ken Meneriet. Federal, as well as provincial, tourist officials were advised that Kingston district had not been properly commercialized although most convenient for visitors from across the border. Elaborate post-war plans were discussed for the tourist trade, which is one of Canada's main sources of business, and Kingston should benefit as a result of the efforts of the two Kingston delegates. The Hockey Hall of Fame was discussed as another attration for Kingston. Stuart Crawford distributed literature on the hockey shrine and advised Ontario tourist officials that the hockey hall was a national enterprise."

Britons And Yankees Enjoy Poking Fun At Each Other At Luncheon

BY CHARLES BRUCE
Canadian Press Staff Writer

LONDON, April 19 — (CP) — Whatever you may have heard, Britons are pretty fast men with a laugh. When the London County Council held a luncheon in honor of American troops on United States Forces day (March 30) risibilities seemed as near the surface as they are in Calgary or Peoria.

Dr. Somerville Hastings, chairman of the council, raised the first general chuckle accidently by starting to introduce Sir James Grigg, War Secretary, as "Sir Edward." That's a Grigg of another family.

Sir James kept it up. He had a time for himself with reference to the fact that British-American relations "weren't always like this," and to that "very unfortunate affair which started at Lexington in 1774." In what was perhaps a veiled aside at the congressmen who toured Britain and went back with warnings of British post-war plans not favorable to the United States, he said: "I don't think it can be contended that the British outsmarted you in those days."

"You will remember that we hired a lot of Germans—Hessians I believe they were called then—to do our unpleasant work for us—and I don't believe tricks of that sort ever pay," he went on. "Lord North, who, even if he lost America did make some very good remarks, was reviewing some of these just before they sailed across the Atlantic. At the end of the review he said: 'I don't know what effect these troops will have on the enemy, but by God they frighten me.' " It didn't bother Sir James any that this remark is generally attributed to the Duke of Wellington. He added: "Anyhow, whatever our German hirelings did to us, they did not frighten you."

There was another bad mess in 1812. Sir James mentioned the burning of Washington— but not the prior destruction of York by the Yanks — and said he hoped "none of you have any desire to burn London in revenge—to some extent the German has done it instead and so you will have to be content with burning it up individually." He concluded on a serious note, the fact that Gen. Eisenhower "has set his heart and mind on making of our two Armies one Army."

Lt.-Gen. John Lee, United States Deputy-Commanded in the European theatre, also got a good hand when he quoted an Englishman, viewing the Americans here, as saying: "I am beginning to understand what the American Indian went through." But for the most part his speech was a gracious acknowledgment of mutual aid or reverse lend-lease as practised by Britain in providing supplies and quarters for American troops. He quoted Gen. Eisenhower as saying association with Britons had made him what he is, and remarked that to the American the United States is "God's country," and Britain "God's other country."

The average Londoner's undemonstrativeness came in for a passing reference from Lord Kindersley, the banker who in physical stature resembles Chicago's Col. Robert McCormick, but doesn't think like him. He said that whenever American troops are seen "there is a cheer in our hearts."

Americana: Signs like "Latest American Amusements" have popped up over penny arcades and the shooting galleries, where you slip a copper in the slot and try to wheedle a box of matches into the jaws of a toy derrick. Haven't seen a successful client yet. It looks odd to see these next door to such establishments as the Nell Gwynn Tavern. Actually only the signs are new; the places have been there for years.

But through the nature of their auxiliary services and supply organizations the American troops appear to be something of a self-contained entity, a slice of the United States in Britain — based here, but not exactly assimilating. Of course there is one level—the romantic—that is little affected by these externals.

Church League Names Executive

The Peterborough Church Softball Executive met at the Y.M.C.A. on Monday evening to plan interchurch softball for the coming year.

Churches represented were:

In Bantam Section—St. John's, George Street, St. Andrew's, St. James, All Saints, Park Street.

In Juvenile Section—St. James, Murray Street, St. John's, Mark Street, George Street.

Other probable entrants are St. Paul's, Knox and Trinity.

New regulations adopted were:—

1. A senior man from each church to be present at each game to be responsible for the conduct of their team.
2. Registration fee of $1.00 per team.
3. Each team to supply an umpire for the game.
4. Home team to provide bases.

New Executive:—Honorary president, L. Agnew; president, T. Chambers; vice-president, G. Palmer; secretary, A. Olmstead; assistant secretary, C. Bedford; treasurer, R. Kingdon; assistant treasurer, J. Kelly.

Plan Shows

TORONTO, April 19—(CP)—The first of four service entertainment units drawn entirely from army personnel now is rehearsing here in preparation for its first appearance May 1 before troops in Kingston, Ont., the Army Public Relations branch of Military District No. 2 announced yesterday. The unit, which will perform under the title of "About Faces of '44," has a complement of 26, including 10 members of the Canadian Women's Army Corps. The announcement said three subsequent units would go into training immediately for tours of army posts in Canada and overseas, including appearance at some Royal Canadian Navy and R.C.A.F. stations.

TELL YOUR STUDENT-PALS THEY, TOO, CAN BUY A BIKE

BICYCLES are rationed and reserved for those people who need them and students need them! Students are qualified to receive a permit to buy a bicycle if they ride a minimum of 15 miles per week to and from school, on newspaper routes, parcel delivery, errands, etc.

So tell your student-pals that many of them can qualify to buy a bicycle by going to their nearest C.C.M. dealer and filling out a Bicycle Purchase Application Form.

While your student-pals may have to wait a little while to get delivery of their new C.C.M., still it is a fact that larger quantities of bicycle materials are being made available to provide bicycles for essential users—the sooner the forms are completed the sooner they will get their C.C.M.'s.

Voluntary Bicycle Rationing, now in its second year, is being operated by the bicycle manufacturers and dealers in conjunction with the Wartime Prices and Trade Board. It has, and is serving a most useful wartime purpose in providing the available bicycles to those who need them most—farmers, police, collectors, messengers, war and civilian workers, teachers, the clergy, students and other riders who really need bicycles.

Read the accompanying panel listing those riders under A, B, C and D, who are eligible to buy bicycles.

When you buy a bicycle buy a C.C.M. and be sure of long years of enjoyable, trouble-free cycling—see your nearest C.C.M. dealer.

PEACE-TIME MAKERS OF BICYCLES, JOYCYCLES, BIKE-WAGONS, CYCLETS, JOY-RIDERS, JOY-TRIKES

A A user in the course of whose daily duties the bicycle is needed to enable him to earn his livelihood (such as delivery messenger, messenger, watchman services, police patrol, collector, employee of public utilities).

B A war worker, who requires a bicycle for transportation purposes to and from place of employment, minimum 15 miles weekly.

C A civilian worker, who requires a bicycle for transportation to and from place of employment, minimum 15 miles weekly.

D A school teacher or student, who requires this form of transportation to and from school or college, minimum 15 miles weekly.

A clergyman, professional man or farmer who requires the use of a bicycle as a means of transportation for the carrying out of his work.

Gerard Cote Favored In Marathon

BOSTON, April 19 (AP)—Gerard Cote, the stocky defender from Ste. Hyacinthe, Que., assumed the favorite's role last night as a surprising wartime field of 80 entrants prepared to toe the mark today at noon for the 48th annual Boston A.A. Patriot's Day marathon.

Three late entries Tuesday swelled the list to 80, a figure which includes several from various branches of the armed services, and Stanley Jeffrey, an R.A.F. corporal from Derby, England, to give the affair an international flavor.

Cote, who captured the laurel wreath last year and in 1940, will be seeking to accomplish a feat which only the veteran Clarence Demar has been able to perform—the winning of two marathons in a row over the gruelling 26 miles and 385-yard course from Hopkinton to Boston.

Demar, for the first time in years, is not an entrant.

Ranked closely behind Cote in the role of contenders are Fred McGlone the railroad brakeman, who carries the colors of Boston's Norfolk Y.M.A.; Ellison (Tarzan) Brown, the unpredictable Westerly, R.I., Indian, who twice has won the event; Johnny Kelley, "often a bridesmaid," who did manage to win the 1935 running, and Don Heinicke, the Baltimore chemist, who has been up there or thereabouts in the past few Patriot's Day macadam classics.

Clayton Farrar, the New London coast guardsman, who swept the three Boston prep races for the event; Pte. Edward Cook, United States Marine Corps, and Lloyd Evans, Montreal aircraft worker, are others who are being looked upon suspiciously as possible upsetters of the dope bucket.

Continue Famed Meet

ALBANY, N.Y., April 19—(AP)—The famed Hambletonian meeting will return Aug. 8, 9 and 10 to Good Time Park at Goshen, according to dates for harness racing meetings announced yesterday by the State Harness Racing Commission. A Commission spokesman said all licenses to operate were granted "subject to conditions regulating the conduct of the war."

WINNIPEG, Aug. 19—(CP)—No. 1 Repair Depot last night took a one-point lead over No. 7 Bombing and Gunnery School of Paulson, Man. in the first of their two-game total-point series for the Manitoba senior men's basketball championship. The repair depot won 26-25.

Here and There in Sport

Ring champions of civil life starred again last night at the Military District No. 2 boxing championships, held at the Fort York Armouries in Toronto.

Trp. Len Wadsworth of Timmins, the present Canadian middleweight champion, scored a second-round knockout over Tpr. Pat Fortune from the Brampton Camp. Fortune swung lustily but was no match for the ring-wide Wadsworth.

L.-Cpl. Norman (Baby) Yack, former Canadian bantamweight champion, lost a split decision to Pte. Patsy Brandino of Hamilton. Brandino fought cagily and was superior in the infighting.

Other winners included Pte. E. Damboise of Sudbury, who outpointed Pte. H. M. Harris in the novice welterweight class; Pte. H. Mathe of Montreal, who knocked out Trp. C. Gilbert of Brampton in the open featherweight final and Pte. A. Boguski of Lethbridge, Alta., who outpointed Tpr. C. Wichman of Newmarket in the welterweight class. In the open heavyweight final there was no opponent for Pte. V. Escoe of Toronto.

Harry Mitchell of Toronto will replace Ed Devitt of Kitchener as an official in the final game at Kitchener tonight of the best-of-three series between Montreal Y.M.H.A. and St. Jerome's College of Kitchener for the Canadian junior basketball title. St. Jerome's won 30-27 last night to deadlock the series at one game each, and Montreal's complaint about officiating led to announcement of the change by Laurie Irwin, vice-president fo the C.A.B.A. at Toronto.

The International Baseball League launches its 61st consecutvie season tomorrow, with President Frank Shaughnessy declaring "if any league finishes this year, it will be the International League."

The opening games pit Buffalo at Baltimore, Montreal at Newark, Rochester at Syracuse and Toronto at Jersey City.

"Don't forget," said Shaughnessy, "we were the only minor league to carry on right through World War 1, and we are confident of doing it again."

Quebec Aces and Port Arthur Shipbuilders stood ready today for tonight's opening clash in their best-of-five final series for the Allan Cup and Dominion senior hockey honors.

Second game of the series will be played here Friday night, with remaining dates yet to be announced.

Yesterday's Stars

By The Associated Press

Max Lanier, Cardinals—Boosted Cards' bid for third straight flag by hurling two-hit opening day shutout against Pittsburgh. Both safeties were singles.

Bill Voiselle, Giants—Became first rookie to hurl and win opener for Giants in Polo Grounds by shackling Braves.

Bill Nicholson, Cubs—Opened defence of R.B.I. crown by batting in two runs in Chicago's 3-0 victory over Cincinnati.

Vernon Stephens, Browns—Clouted homer in ninth that proved to be winning run for Pitcher Jack Kramer when Detroit rallied in ninth.

Johnny Lindell, Yankees—Became first major league to hit home run in 1944 by second inning wallop against Boston.

Three Shutouts Feature Opening Games

By JACK HAND
Associated Press Sport Writer

Northern spring training got a "yes" vote from the pitching profession today as the hurlers looked over opening day Major League box scores and settled down to enjoy a happy state of affairs that finds them far ahead of the hitters.

While the sluggers played basketball in high school gyms or swung away at soft stuff in cages under artificial lights, the throwers unlimbered their salary whips with such regularity that no fewer than three were able to pitch shutouts in yesterday's inaugurals. Four runs was high for a winning team and of the 88 hits allowed 69 were singles.

There wasn't a bad pitching job in the lot but the work of Max Lanier for the Cardinals was the standout. The veteran lefthander got the Red Birds off on the right foot with a two-hit whitewashing of Pittsburgh while his mates had to scramble for a 2-0 victory over Rookie Preacher Roe. Lanier allowed a single to Roe in the third and ditto to Gustine in the next frame. Only 4,030 came out to see the National League champs in their home bow.

Bucky Walters put in an early claim for hard luck honors when he gave three hits but was beaten by Hank Wyse of Chicago, 3-0. The Reds, inspired by the largest turnout in either league, 30,154, got five hits but couldn't put them together for a score.

Mel Ott's gamble on Bill Voiselle, who lost 21 last year for Jersey City, turned out to be a happy choice as the youngster from South Carolina became the first rookie to win a Giant opener by besting Boston 2-1 before 13,470.

Brooklyn's season started off on the dreary side as Hal Gregg, a youngster on whom Leo Durocher is counting heavily, failed to hold the Phillies in check while Dick Barrett was toying with the Dodgers, 4-1.

The Yankees trimmed Boston 3-0 on Hank Borowy's five-hitter. It was the eighth in a row for Hank who has not been beaten in the American League since last Aug. 10 in St. Louis.

Washington had a little bit of everything to spice the day for a 27,000 crowd. It started with Vice-President Henry Wallace throwing out the first ball, warmed up as the Senators held a one-run lead in the early going, hit the fever point in a pop bottle shower as the A's tied in the ninth and cooled off when Philadelphia took a 3-2 decision in the 12th.

St. Louis Browns edged Detroit 2-1 with 28,094 in the stands.

Gerald Cote, 26-year-old St. Hyacinthe, Que., runner, won the 44th Boston marathon four years ago today in the record time of two hours, 28 minutes, 28 3/5 seconds. This was 23 1/5 seconds lower than the previous record. Joe Smith of Medford, Mass., lowered Cote's mark to 2:26:51.2 in 1942. Cote won the race again in 1943.

TORONTO, April 19 — (CP). — While giving credit to the Canadian Amateur Hockey Association for keeping hockey alive and active through all sorts of difficulties, Jack (Cornwall Standard-Freeholder) Park criticizes the body's attempt to hamstring young players wishing to take good-paying spots in the United States or Britain.

Park thinks the C.A.H.A. should devote more money and attention to the minor groups and build up a good reserve of playing talent for future years. Then, he contends, we wouldn't have to worry about players going to other fields and leaving Canadian teams depleted so they couldn't carry on. The C.A.H.A. could spend twice as much money on the midgets and juveniles and still have plenty of mazoola, he adds.

As far as trying to keep hockey players from going where the long-green is longest and greenest, Park thinks that is a waste of time. The boys will go whether or no, and even if the leagues they play in are outlawed the extra money they get will allow them to "forget a lot of woe."

Concluding, he suggests the C.A.H.A. unlimber its big bankroll and spend some to provide good coaching for youngsters in all parts of the land.

After the bottle:

Recent attacks of "throw-itis" by fans at hockey games put H. Cole of the Guelph (Ont.) Mercury in reflective mood. He recalled one game in Montreal. Years ago when Alfie Skinner of Toronto riled the Habitues of Millionaires' Row no end. Finally some misguided fan slung a gin bottle at Alfie's head. Skinner took one look at the bottle skidding over the ice, saw it was a full one, and took after it, pursued by other players, also intrigued by the bottle, mysteriously unbroken. But Skinner reached it first, and without pausing headed for his dressing-room, where he safely cached it, Cole related.

The fan howled lustily for return of his bottle, but didn't get it.

At the banquet winding up the N.H.L. season after Canadiens disposed of Chicago, William Foran spoke to the players and earnestly urged them to keep hockey free of stigma in the future as in the past. If the game was besmirched the trustees might have to withdraw the Stanley Cup, he warned....The way that base is building up to skyscraper proportions, the Cup will soon have to retire from active life anyway.... Flying Officer Anthony Golab, better known as Tony when with the Ottawa Rough Riders football squad, is dabbling in soccer down in Italy. Several weeks ago, you'll recall, Tony was posted as missing during combat over Italy, but parachuted to safety and made his way back to his base after being wounded in the arms and legs.

PHILADELPHIA, April 19—(AP) That opening-day baseball turnout, averaging more than 1,000 a game above last year, may be the clinching argument in favor of letting all 11 football clubs operate next fall... A Rookie A Day

Don Savage, Yankees' third baseman: A year ago the Yanks came up with Billy Johnson, an unknown who turned out to be a pretty good third baseman. The armed forces took Johnson, so Ed Barrow reached over to Newark and picked up Savage, who trailed Johnson right through the minors until 1942, when a diabetic condition that makes him draft proof kept him out of action. Don hit only .258 for the Bears last summer but showed power with 16 homers and 69 runs batted in.

Stage Doubles Tourney For War Victims Fund

The Men's City Five-Pin League will conduct a doubles tourney tomorrow night at Duffus Alleys, the proceeds to go to the British War Victims Fund. A similar tourney was held last year.

It has been decided to invite bowlers from the industrial leagues and mercantile league to compete with the city league trundlers for the prizes which will be offered for the top three pairs. As the alleys have kindly been turned over to the tourney at no cost by Senator J. J. Duffus, the more contestants competing the larger the amount for the B.W.V.F.

Partners will be chosen by draw system, assuring everyone a good chance to get in on one of the three prizes offered. Last year the tournament was won by Bill Howes and Frank Maloney with Bill Lewis and Fred Scates running second.

President Harold Freeman is looking forward to a record turnout of bowlers, from all the leagues. And the money goes to a worthy cause.

The tournament will get underway at 7:30 o'clock sharp tomorrow (Thursday) night at Duffus' Alleys.

Bantam Wins

LONDON, Ont., April 19—(CP)—Jerry Blanchard of Montreal, former Canadian bantamweight contender, defeated Jimmy Lowe, the No. 1 Training Command champion, in the feature bout of a boxing show at the Crumlin Air Observers School last night. Blanchard represented the R.C.A.F. at Trenton. Hub Smith, Trenton, lost to Cpl. Corky Corchis of Camp Ipperwash in an overweight bantam match.

Race Followers Honor Late Earl

PENRITH, Cumberland, England, April 19 — (CP).—The fifth Earl of Lonsdale was buried here yesterday and the funeral scene was in keeping with the life of "Britain's greatest sportsman."

The gaudily-dressed racing fraternity, long familiar with the 87-year-old Earl who died last Thursday, filled this village near his ancestral home, Lowther Castle, in the Lake Country.

Villagers looked down their noses at the check suits, scarletwaistcoats and feathered hats of the strange visitors, but that didn't matter.

"This was how the old Lord knew us and this is how he would like to see us," one mourner explained.

Idol of costermongers, patron saint of horse lovers, dog breeders and pigeon fanciers, the "Jully Earl" was one of Britain's greatest authorities on bloodstock.

Trail Confident

TORONTO, April 19—(CP)—Two down in the best-of-seven series for the Memorial Cup and Dominion junior hockey championship, Trail Smoke Eaters were confident today they could overcome the disadvantage and best Oshawa Generals in the third game here tonight. Bolstering this confidence was the fact that though they lost 9-2 in the first game last Saturday night, when the Coast youngsters seemed bewildered and awed by the big playing surface here and the huge crowd of more than 14,000, they nevertheless fought Oshawa almost on even terms Monday night to lose 5-2.

Welsh Soldier Dies In Jungle

OGMORE VALE, Glamorgan. Wales, April 19 — (CP). — Three years ago, 18-year-old Cyril Jones left the mining valley for the Army.

Now the valley is mourning Cyril Jones, who at the age of 21 had risen to Lieutenant-Colonel and met death in the jungles of Burma with Wingate's expedition. Only with the news of his death did the valley receive word of his extraordinary rapid promotion.

Cyril Jones left his faith for the valley, in a letter just received by his fiancee, Sybil James, playmate of his childhood days. He said:

"If anything should happen to me, remember that I always loved things that were right and true and faithful. Forget about me mostly, but think of me sometimes as one who loved England and the better parts of man.

"And remember that one's life must always be an example of courage in danger, of devotion in belief and duty, and of help in distress."

in Berlin as a precursor of imminent invasion.

The German spokesman, referring to the possibility of an invasion surprise, went so far as even to concede "the Anglo-Americans might be able to win the first round."

The London broadcast to the French was forthright. It asks the French people to memorise all instructions as radio sets might be taken away from them at any moment.

Food a Problem

The broadcast added: "During the liberation of France, and even after the liberation, the supplying of foodstuffs will be difficult. It is very probable that the liberation of the country will take time. The distribution of food to the civilian population during fighting can only be effected on a very small scale by the Allied authorities. Wherever possible, it is imperative that each family store food in the greatest quantities possible. At least until the day of liberation comes civilians must live on what they have stored."

Almost at the same time Pierre Laval was telling a meeting of French Mayors: "For months I have worried about a possible landing. Perhaps this day is impending now."

The Berlin correspondent of the German-controlled French News Agency said he was told by a high German military official: "The German high command takes the Allied measures on the Atlantic coast so seriously that invasion operations now are regarded here as about to begin."

Other indications of German apprehension came from Stockholm, where many stories appeared under Berlin datelines quoting German high command spokesmen for military circles as saying that "invasion from the west is imminent."

vastopol's harbor night and day and sweeping the sea lanes to Romania.

In the Western Ukraine, meanwhile, the Germans were reported to have thrown large numbers of tanks and infantry into a fresh assault east of Stanislawow seeking to hold back the Red Army's advance on the big Polish communications hub of Lwow. The Soviet communique said the Nazis suffered heavy losses in 16 unsuccessful attacks.

The communique said many fires were started on Monday night in a mass raid by long-range Soviet bombers against the Romanian rail hub and seaport of Constant, an attack which dovetailed with Allied air blows against the Balkans from Italy.

Front dispatches said the Germans made every effort to halt the Russians west of Balaklava but that the Soviets stormed their positions and reached the main body of enemy troops trying to escape by sea. The Red Army now holds an arc around the land sides of Sevastopol, with the only sector remaining in enemy hands being a stretch of the Sevastopol-Yalta highway on the approaches to the city, and the Chersones Cape to the south-west.

The focal point of battle is the south-east of the city. Sevastopol seems to be more easily defended from the north and north-west where the 4th Ukrainian Army is drawn up within easy field gun range. Tanks and self-propelled guns manoeuvre more easily in Yeremenko's areas.

There were no indications that the Germans were escaping by sea in any appreciable numbers.

Loan Tokens Start Journey

OTTAWA, April 19 — (CP). — Formal recognition of pledges by the provinces to support Canada's Sixth Victory Loan campaign will be made on Saturday in a ceremony on Parliament Hill.

Prime Minister Mackenzie King, members of the Cabinet and Maj. Triquet, V.C., of Cabano, Que., recently returned from Italy will take part in the ceremony from which copies of the insignia of the campaign will be started on their way to the provinces.

The program has been set for noon Saturday to enable the insignia, made of silver and mounted on wooden bases, to reach all the provinces before the $1,300,000,000 campaign starts on April 24.

Short addresses will be delivered by the Prime Minister, Finance Minister Ilsley, and Justice Minister St. Laurent, and then George Y. Spinney, honorary chairman of the National War Finance Committee, acting on behalf of 150,000 campaign workers will receive the insignia from Maj. Triquet. They will be turned over to members of the Armed Forces for couriers who will immediately start them on their way to the provinces.

Government offices will close at noon on Saturday to enable civil servants to attend the ceremony.

Realization Of War Crisis Needed To Put War Loan Over

LONDON, ONT., April 19 — "A sense of crisis" must pervade the people of Canada during the next three weeks' campaign for the Sixth Victory Loan, Finance Minister Ilsley said last night in a keynote speech to 500 war finance workers in Hotel London.

Mr. Ilsley recalled the feeling of jubilation which marked the Fourth Loan a year ago, when Gen. Montgomery was chasing the beaten remnants of Marshal Rommel's forces across North Africa. He spoke of the beginnings of overoptimism and complacency which began to seep across the border from the United States during the loan campaign last fall.

"Now," he said, "it seems to me the people of Canada have a more serious and sober view. They are aware of the tremendous test that Canada faces in the days ahead. the immediate days ahead, when the Canadian Army, largest in numbers of our forces. will enter the field of battle."

Mr. Ilsley acknowledged that in the fifth year of war there might be developing some war weariness among the people. "But I feel," he added, "that they have a just and accurate appraisal of the situation."

"Let us feel, then, the sense of crisis," he said. "It would be the greatest shame if at this moment we were to relax in the slightest degree."

Tonight's address was the sixth speech today in Mr. Ilsley's three-day tour of Western Ontario.

ST. THOMAS, April 19 — Canada owes a great deal to the banks during this war, said Finance Minister Ilsley here last night in an address to war finance workers preparing for the Sixth Victory Loan. Mr. Ilsley was tendered a luncheon at the Grand Central Hotel, after which he spoke to a public mass meeting in the Legion Hall.

"It is not often now that public men go out of their way to praise the banks," said Mr. Ilsley. "In fact, sometimes the contrary is true." Not only had the banks and their agents given assistance in raising money for Victory Loans and war savings generally, but they had taken on additional responsibilities in ration banking and as agents for the Foreign Exchange Control Board, "all in the face of a manpower situation which has caused enormous difficulties."

On Three-Day Tour

Mr. Ilsley, who is making a three-day tour of Western Ontario in advance of the opening of the Sixth Loan campaign next Monday, also paid tribute to the transportation systems and to industries and farmers generally for the production increases they had to undertake.

Mr. Ilsley said 150,000 workers, mostly voluntary, would be participating in the Sixth Victory Loan. The workers must realize, he added, how important it is for the nation to have a sound and successful financing of the war. That was the basis of the war effort. If the financing were unsuccessul, the war effort could not succeed.

Provincial W.M.S. Meets At Hamilton

HAMILTON, April 19 — (CP) — The 30th annual meeting of the Ontario Provincial Women's Missionary Society of the Presbyterian Church in Canada, opened here to-day by Very Rev. William Barclay, was preceded by preliminary conferences on all branches of the work.

Mrs. Donald Munro, Hamilton, president of the Hamilton Society, welcomed officers and delegates from all parts of the province.

Mrs. Munro recalled that it was five years ago since the Provincial organization had met in this city, and referred with appreciation to the special contact in having the Provincial President, Mrs. Victor A. Smith, Hamilton, residing here during recent months Mrs. Smith also gave a brief opening message

Presbyterials reporting to-day included Algoma, Barrie, Brockville, Bruce and Owen Sound, Chatham, Glengarry, Guelph and Hamilton.

No Freezing Order

OTTAWA, April 19 — (CP). — The Prices Board is not going to extend present rentals regulations by freezing all leases, Donald Gordon, Board chairman, said in a statement last night.

He said the Board's decision and the Government's agreement to that effect have already been "clearly announced," and that the tenants faced with eviction May 1 represent only a small proportion of all tenants, making the problem one for local rather than national authorities.

Comedy Makes Hit At Springbrook Social

BONARLAW, April 19—(ENS)—A sparkling three-act play, "Aunt Tillie Goes to Town", was presented by the Burnbrae Presbyterian Young People's Society under the auspices of the local Red Cross branch. Receipts totalled over $80, of which more than $50 net.

The play, which was packed with humor and unexpected developments, kept the interest of the large audience at a high pitch. Much credit must go to Mrs. Donald McKay, wife of the Burnbrae minister, whose coaching was reflected in the work of the performers.

The star of the evening was Ken Milne, who as Mervin Tucker had a heavy role. The cast was as follows: Mrs. Bill Craighead, Mrs. Don Walker, Ken Milne, John Coggins, Mrs. Ken Milne, Don. Walker, Miss Marjorie Wallace, Miss Enid Hay, Mrs. Ernest Thain, Charles Carter, Miss Clara Thain, Bill Craighead.

George Thompson, ex-reeve of Rawdon, acted as chairman for the evening. Enjoyable music between acts was provided by Mel. Gibson and Gordon Bateman with accordion and guitar.

Bad weather and poor visibility curtailed all major air operations yesterday, but Allied fighter-bombers and fighters flew nearly 1,000 sorties, striking at German planes aground in Northern Italy and hitting at Nazi communications as well as patrolling the battlefront.

Pilots who raked Nazi communications said German fighters appeared in some strength for the first time in many days.

Victory is in your hand too!

THIS IS A YEAR OF DESTINY . . . a time to search one's heart . . . to ask oneself "Am I doing all I can to help bring victory this year? . . . Am I holding nothing back when thousands are giving all?" Victory in Europe is within our grasp—but it can only be seized by an all-out effort. Your hand signing for Victory Bonds is backing our men in their assault on Hitler's European fortress.

Stretch your hand across the Atlantic and strike a blow for victory! Every drop of ink used in signing for Victory Bonds is a direct hit at the enemy . . . weakening his resistance—helping shorten the war and therefore to save Canadian lives.

We can do it!—we must do it! Yes, we have done a good job so far, but the end is not yet. We must now throw in everything we've got towards the final blow. Let's do our share by buying every Victory Bond we can—and then one more! Your reward will be the deep sense of satisfaction that comes from the knowledge you have played your full part in hastening peace in Europe this year.

ALLIES INCREASE AID TO YUGOSLAVIA—Yugoslavia Partisans, now aided by Allied fliers and growing numbers of Allied troops, are reporting success in the area indicated in the white area, where they have been hacking away at rail lines and Nazi supply routes between Zagreb and Split. The road from Zagreb to Sisak is reported cut and heavy fighting is under way at the junction point of Knin and near Bihac. Split has been heavily hit from the air and various Commando thrusts and air attacks on Hvar, Vis, Brac and other islands along the coast have given rise to rumors of more powerful blows by Allies troops to come. The Split-Zagreb railroad, shown on the map, is one of the most important communication lines to the Dalmatian coast.

MAY DOOM TREES

Some of the trees on Simcoe street in the vicinity of the fire hall are being mentioned for the axe to provide radial room for the larger apparatus. Eight of them were pointed for felling at the council meeting Monday night, but that destruction of summer shade held up immediate action. The suggestion that the firemen need more facility for turning the ladder truck as it comes from the hall was left to the fire and light committee.

GRASS FIRES

Two grass fires, the first big ones this spring, absorbed the attention of firemen Tuesday afternoon. The first which started at 2:45 p.m., was on Burnham's Point; and the second, at 5 o'clock, was on Holloway Drive in the Wartime Housing area. At 11:15 a.m. Tuesday chimney sparks that set fire to the roof at 173 Stewart street, residence of H. Freeman, resulted in damage assessed at about $15. Other alarms received by the department, all originating in chimney troubles, were at 474 Driscoll Terrace and 224 Lake street Tuesday afternoon; and at 112 Hunter street east, home of H. Allen, at 9:54 this morning.

Alertness Keynote Of Quinte Conference

BELLEVILLE, April 19 (ENS)—A full branch executive of the Bay of Quinte Conference was held in Holloway Street Church, Belleville, from Monday till today. The general theme of the sessions was "Advance."

The first session opened with the branch president, Mrs. W. C. Haggerty, Cherry Valley, presiding. Reports presented included the candidate department by Mrs. R. M. Seymour; the press by Mrs. A. Nill, and the Mission Band by Mrs. Allen McCann. The special feature of the evening session was an address by Mrs. G. E. Forbes, editor of the Missionary Monthly. Mrs. Forbes' subject was "The Church Women on the Alert."

Tuesday the branch executive merged with the Belleville Presbyterial in its annual meeting and resumed the branch sessions this morning.

Attend Convention

KEENE, April 19 (ENS)—A number of the Y.P.U. of Keene United church attended the Presbytery Y.P.U convention held at Mark Street United church, April 15 and 16. They reported interested meetings, especially the closing one last Sunday evening, when the Rev. George Tuttle gave a challenging message to the young people in the text—"I have chosen you, that you should go and bring forth fruit."

Farm Auctions To Help Purchase Bonds

A special appeal to farmers of the county in the coming 6th Victory Loan will be made in the form of a series of farm auctions to be held in Lakefield, Peterborough, Norwood and Keene starting Tuesday of next week. They are sponsored by the Peterborough War Finance Committee and made possible by the generosity of many local merchants and industries who have contributed articles which will go under the auctioneer's hammer, as well as by the donated services of a great deal of popular entertainment talent.

Each item in the list of valuable articles to be auctioned off will go to the highest bidder in war bonds, and Gordon Hancock, R. R. No. 2 Peterborough, well-known auctioneer, will conduct the bidding. The programs will begin with an hour's entertainment, after which the auction will be put on, and following this there will be an old-fashioned square dance, with Stan. Jackson of the Cockshutt Plow Co. and Clarence Campion of Silverwoods' doing the calling off.

The first of the four farm auctions is scheduled for the Memorial Hall, Lakefield, Tuesday, April 25, promptly at 8:30 p.m. For this auction, it is hoped to draw in residents from the area including Lakehurst, Selywn, Buckhorn, Young's Point, Burleigh Falls, McCracken's Landing, Hall's Glen, and Warsaw. If children come, it is requested that they be accompanied by their parents.

City Plays Part

The following Saturday, April 29, the auctioning and program of entertainment will be brought off in the city, and the time and place are 7 p.m. at the Co.-op. Hall. Communities which this farm auction will take in include Fowler's Corners, Ennismore, Bridgenorth, Nassau, Douro, Indian River, Wallace Point, Fraserville and Springville.

The third and fourth auctions will be at Norwood May 1 and Keene May 2, in each case to be held in the town hall. Norwood's auction will take in the area that includes Dummer, Asphodel, Havelock and Trent River; Keene's that of Stewart Hall, Lang, Villiers, Birdsall and Westwood.

This is strictly a farmers' auction and both entertainment and the articles to be auctioned off have been selected with this dominant thought in mind. Featuring the entertainment will be Graydon Sheldon's Variety Band, one of the most popular of old-time music orchestras; and Karl Monk, conductor of the Early Risers Program and the Home Folks Hour over CHEX, will act as master of ceremonies. Many requests have been received at the radio station to have Mr. Monk and the Sheldon band tour the countryside; and at these auctions all-request programs will be played.

Will Entertain

Mr. Sheldon, who played with Russ Creighton's orchestra and George Wade's Cornhuskers before organizing his own band, is also an accomplished imitator who can imitate practically any sound, and included in his repertoire are the skurl of bagpipes, the sound of a rusty pump and a train coming round the bend. Other performers who will appear on the programs are Andre Dalton, a member of the police force and a returned soldier of this war, who is known as a cowboy singer with a comic touch; Shirley Garner, youthful acrobatic tap-dancer; Noreen Love, vocalist; and West Brandon, pianist.

Following is the list of articles that have so far been given by various firms to be put up for auction in the interests of the Victory Loan. Twelve halters, B. F. Akerman; 12 clocks, Western Clock Co.; iron horse, Outboard Marine; No. 4 Junior Separator, DeLaval; 4 tons Ful-O-Pep Feed, the Quaker Oats; 4 tons fertilizer, Canada Packers; 4 hay forks, Kingan Hardware; 4 hammers, Chown Hardware; brooder stove, Peterborough Co-Op; 6'9" x 9' carpet, Brinton Carpet Co.; 4 smoker stands, Canadian Department Stores; 4 gallons Scarfe's barn and implement paint, 4 gallon fly spray, Standard Farm Supply; 12 4-lb. cans of Ovaltine, A Wander Ltd.; 4 annual subscriptions, Peterborough Examiner; 4 pairs rubber boots, Neill's shoe store; 4 blocks salt, Dewart Bros; 4 4-gallon cans of SAE-30 oil, Peterborough Fuel and Transport; can of grease and gun, Case Machinery; 50 lbs. binder twine, International Machinery; pair of driving lines, Massey Harris; 100 chicks each from the Bray Chick Hatchery and Braund Chick Hatchery; two cases each of canned peas from National Grocers and York Trading Co.; and batteries from Lillico Motors, Canadian Tire Corporation, J. J. Duffus and Hood and Cummings.

Rice Lake Hotel Is Sold To H. Williams

GORE'S LANDING, April 19 — (ENS)—Sale of the Rice Lake Hotel, which has been in the hands of three generations of the Harris family, was announced today. The purchaser is H. W. Williams of Toronto.

The original hotel building was put up by Alfred Harris, grandfather of Fred Harris who sold the hotel, and the present building has been in operation since 1898.

Mr. Williams, who plans to open the hotel late in May, previously ran a restaurant in East York and has been in the business in Toronto for 18 years. He was a chef at the Royal York for a time, at the Waldorf Astoria, New York City, and the Alexandra Hotel, Winnipeg.

Cranfield, employment manager of the Canadian General Electric, were all elected to fill positions on the executive of the Industrial Accident Prevention Association at its annual two-day safety convention held in Toronto Monday and Tuesday. Mr. Overend is chairman of the Woodworkers' Accident Prevention Association; Mr. Cranford was made chairman of the Metal Trades Safety Association; and Mr. Cranfield became vice-chairman of the Metal Trades Safety Association, Class 10.

May Christening Planned For Corvette

The christening of the corvette "Peterborough" will take place at the port of Cobourg about the middle of May, according to information received by the council, as an announcement of the approaching completion of the pocket ship of war that will bear the city's name.

The commanding officer of the "Peterborough" was in the city over the week-end with his first assistant, Lieutenant William Osler, R.C.N.V.R., of Victoria, B.C.

The christening of ships is usually a feature of their launching, but this ceremony was reserved for an occasion next month as a means of giving citizens of Peterborough a more general introduction to their ship.

The new corvette with its crew will sail from Kingston to Cobourg where Peterborough's sponsorship will be recognized by a ceremony to which the citizens will be invited, although they have to motor to the lake shore town.

The date of christening has not yet been definitely set. The council Monday night assumed responsibility for the program at Cobourg.

Practical Work To Be Taught

LINDSAY, April 19 (ENS)—Home economics and manual training will be taught in every elementary and secondary school in the province after the war predicted Frank S. Rutherford, director of Vocational Education for Ontario, addressing a meeting of the Lindsay Rotary Club. Members of the Board of Education and inspectors were guests at the meeting.

Mr. Rutherford stated that education must necessarily follow the progress of industry and that during the last few years technical and vocational training had become of increased importance. General shopwork and home economics had already been introduced into fifty secondary schools in the Province, he said, and teachers were receiving special training to conduct these classes.

He explained to the Board of Education the aid provided for this new educational scheme by the Department of Education which included fifty per cent of the cost of new buildings up to $20,000 and half the cost of equipment up to $6,000. Maintenance grant was also paid, he said, to provide supplies and grants were made up to $200 for added expenses so as to make certain that every school was well provided for. The speaker commented upon the present Department of Education and stated that undoubtedly scholarships would be arranged for boys and girls who showed remarkable ability in any vocational line.

The speaker was introduced by Inspector R. F. Downey and a vote of appreciation was moved by Inspector Colin Lees.

Frank Dowsett To Address Loan Salesmen

The Payroll Savings and General Sales dinner meeting of the Sixth Victory Loan is to be held in the Genelco Cafeteria on Friday evening with D G. H. Melton the chairman, presiding.

Frank Dowsett advertising adviser of some of Canada's most important industries is to be the speaker and the Royal Canadian Naval School of Music, H.M.C.S. "York" band will be in attendance.

Mr. Dowsett is known as one of the country's finest public speakers. A year ago he gave a speech before the Victory Loan rally for Victory Loan officials which brought scores of requests for copies, and brought out the fact that the speech, like many of Dowsett's finest had been entirely extemporaneous.

Service Clubs throughout Canada have kept him busy making speeches for years.

He served in the Imperial Army overseas from 1914 to 1919 and came to Canada in 1926. He has been advertising manager of one of the country's largest rubber companies and was in charge of publicity for Toronto Board of Trade.

In previous loans, as in the present, he has done outstanding work for the Payroll Saving section of the Victory Loan.

Would Retain Farmers In Food Plants

Continued employment in industries allied with agriculture of some men listed as farmers was proposed in a resolution at a meeting of the directors of Peterborough Federation of Agriculture last night recommending an extension of authority of local managers of Selective Service.

The motion by Gordon Hancock, seconded by Wolseley Northey of Harvey township, concluded a discussion of government direction of men experienced in farm work to return to agriculture for the season now getting under way.

Directors felt that their own industry and allied factories, as well as the nation's food production program, would be substantially assisted by leaving some of these men, if not actually all of them, in their present factory occupations, particularly in the meat packing and canning plants and feed mills. Some of these men are not farm owners and would not be returning to work their own lands, but would be available as farm helpers for the season. Their present transfer from processing plants, it was said, would be a serious handicap to those industries with the prospective result of ultimately reacting against agricultural production.

Federation opinion was to the effect that providing labor for operating farms would not solve the country's agricultural problem unless adequate man power is also supplied to the allied processing plants. The resolution is being forwarded to V. S. Milburn, Toronto, secretary of the Federation of Agriculture.

Hog Producers

As a result of a recent organizational meeting in the interests of country swine producers, officers and directors were elected last night by the adoption of the report of a nominating committee, as follows:

President, Milton Clark of Smith; vice-president, Vernon Stanley-Jones; secretary-treasurer, Reg. Hunter.

Directors by township representation:

Dummer—Gordon Hamblin and Gordon Payne.

Douro—Herbert Abbott and Robert Leahy.

Belmont—Chris Steenburgh.

Asphodel—John McColl and Vernon Stanley-Jones.

Smith—Elmer Milburn and Milton Clark.

Otonabee—Stephen Elmhurst and W. W. Dawson.

North Monaghan—Reeve M. H. Johnston and Willard Waterman.

Ennismore—Joseph Cavanagh and Reeve James Gifford.

Harvey—Percy Hunt and W. Northey.

A report of the beef cattle producers' convention in Toronto April 5, attended by Col. F. E. Birdsall, Fred Eason and Wolseley Northey, mentioned that twenty-six counties were represented. Colonel Birdsall suggested that he considered it more desirable to the interest of producers that convention representatives should be drawn entirely from the farmers engaged in that branch of agriculture, with the exclusion of some men who were chiefly cattle dealers.

Housecleaning Front Opened By City As Housewives Battle Dirt From Poor Coal

Community housecleaning has been begun by the Board of Works department. Streets are being swept and pavements flushed, reflecting abroad the campaign that is under way within doors after an unusually smoky winter for those who had to accept some proportion of second and third class coals with their fuel deliveries this week.

Some of the coal dealers themselves probably suspect certain households of evading the restriction of last winter requiring dilution of anthracite. The rest of folks, under the elastic and forbearing system in effect throughout the country, will probably agree that if the dealers let anyone escape the comparatively easy conditions of supply they should transfer the responsibility to some other supervisors who can at least deal with the public without any question of exception and partiality, no matter how the variance might come about.

Peterborough looks back on the winter with considerable satisfaction. The enterprise of the city council a year ago provided for an ample pile of wood in the municipal yard, and the dealers took care of the coal needs of their customers with general satisfaction. Anxiety last fall and at the outset of winter lifted as the weather followed a fairly mild November and December. The only lingering doubt and dissolving sour taste remains with the suspicion that the unsocial few who were determined to circumvent the coal authorities and the retailers managed somehow to go through the winter with a full supply of hard coal in their bins.

A Euchre Club Gives $15 For War Victims

Happiness is one of the contagious things that needs no antidote to counteract its effect, and the more it can spread over the face of the earth, the more of a boon to humanity it will prove to be.

When a club operates under a title that suggests such a beneficent thing, and then goes about seeing it put into action in the most practical way possible, there is every reason to believe that they were fully justified in choosing such a name to be known by.

The Happy Dozen Euchre Club has on a number of occasions spread this spirit of happiness across the seas to those stricken through enemy air raids over Britain, through the Peterborough and District British War Victims Fund, and now they have come forward with another gift for the same purpose amounting to $15, which is listed in to-day's acknowledgements on behalf of the fund. Their previous gift for the same purpose was included in the special donations to spread happiness overseas at the Christmas season.

Belmont School Assists

Another group who have also done their bit on former occasions is also listed to-day, a further gift of $5.00 coming from the pupils of section No. 2 Belmont, presided over by Mrs. Carman McMillan as teacher, they too spreading happiness to others in need which must surely bring its own reward in more ways than one in the days that are to come.

A personal gift is also recorded from "E. H." repeating many of a like character from the same source, with reminiscences of days now long beyond recall, spent amid some of the parts of Britain that bear a mute witness to the devastation that aerial warfare can inflict on an innocent civilian population.

St. George's Day This Sunday

This Sunday April 23 is St. George's Day, patron saint of England, and traditionally all Englishmen in the homeland wear a rose, if they can procure one. Unfortunately the cultivation of such or many other things of a like nature have had to give place to the more sterner necessities that war thrusts upon them.

If all Englishmen living in this secure part of the Globe would combine and each give the price of a rose, a sum of considerable proportions could be gathered together to honor the saint whose glorious legendary history has been such a source of inspiration for good all over the world, which could go a long way to help those in distress in the motherland.

Man Pleads Guilty To Assaulting Wife

Bruce Howard, of Chamberlain street, who pleaded guilty in police court Tuesday morning to a charge of assaulting his wife was allowed to go on suspended sentence for two years by Magistrate O. A. Langley, K.C., after the wife had requested that leniency should be exercised.

"The wife does not want her husband punished," Crown V. J. McElderry, K.C., stated when the case was called today, "but I think he should at least be placed on suspended sentence."

Magistrate Langley asked that some evidence should be offered and Mrs. Howard swore that her husband had struck her on the left side of her jaw and it was badly swollen as a result.

With the crown attorney concurring Magistrate Langley suspended sentence. Howard stated that he had been married for ten years and this was the first time that he had ever been in court.

PRESUMED DEAD—The R.C.A.F. casualty list today reported that Pilot Officer James Murdoch Clark, who was reported missing in September, 1943, on submarine patrol, is presumed to be dead. His wife, formerly Margaret Thompson, resides at 183 Aylmer Street, and he is the son of Mr. and Mrs. W. J. Clark, 374 McDonnel Street. PO. Clark enlisted May 19, 1941, and graduated at Uplands in March, 1942. He had been serving with the Coastal Command.

City Officials Want To Keep A.R.P. Firemen

Retention of the services of the auxiliary firemen continuing from the peak of A.R.P. apprehension and preparedness has been revived by the city officials, and if compensation and insurance indemnities can be satisfactorily arranged it is likely that the eighteen men will be requested to carry on.

Information will be obtained from the Workmen's Compensation Board as to the status of the auxiliaries in the event of accident, and as an anticipated alternative it was decided to obtain insurance rates for this group of men who, it is said, are keen to remain in the service of the city on a voluntary part time basis.

A month or so ago the council had decided to convey to the A.R.P. fire men that their co-operation would no longer be needed, and also that it was greatly appreciated, especially their suggestion that they might be kept indefintely attached to the regular fire fighting staff.

Change of Heart.

Alderman Sullivan indicated Monday night that official attitude had veered to the direction of retention. Chief Gimblett is also in favor of keeping the men on hand as auxiliaries. There are eighteen of them, and Alderman Sullivan suggested that most of them could serve one or two nights a week. No financial inducement has been made to them, they get along well with the permanent staff who take a special interest in extending the training of this group, and the presence of the men generally is quite a harmonious company.

"I thought recently that since the A.R.P. was being discontinued throughout the province we might as well fall in with that course," said Alderman Sullivan, chairman of the fire and light committee, but it seems that nobody reckoned with the enthusiasm of the A.R.P. group and their desire to remain in a connection of service and usefulness.

The council decided to inform themselves as to liability for injury to any of the auxiliary staff on duty, and if they are not covered by the Workmen's Compensation it is likely that the council will consider taking an insurance policy.

Nazis Figure Allies Will Gain Foothold

By ROBERT N. STURDEVANT
Associated Press Staff Writer.

STOCKHOLM, April 19 — (AP) —As the British Government virtually sealed off the United Kingdom from the rest of the world with new security regulations a fresh crop of invasion speculation popped up to-day in the Swedish press under Berlin datelines.

The dispatches all quoted a German high command spokesman or military circles and took the line that "invasion from the west is imminent."

"It will not be long before the storm will break," wrote the Dagens Nyheter correspondent in Berlin.

All reported a comparative lull in R.A.F. heavy bomber operations in recent weeks while the Americans were engaged in intense air activity and left the impression this fact might be significant as an invasion barometer.

"German military circles are convinced the attackers will succeed in gaining a foothold and establishing strong bridgeheads at various places on the Continent," one correspondent wrote. "The Germans are prepared for possible initial successes for the Allies, but have unlimited optimism concerning the final outcome."

One report spoke vaguely of "new German secret weapons" which their inventors expect to "blow the invasion troops from their bridgeheads."

Premier King Tangles With Bracken

OTTAWA, April 19—(CP).—Prime Minister Mackenzie King said in the Commons yesterday that the attitude of John Bracken, National Progressive Conservative leader, in failing to take a seat in the House of Commons "amounted to contempt of parliament and parliamentary institutions."

He quoted a statement by Mr. Bracken Monday night, when the Progressive Conservative leader said Mr. King had stated that Lord Halifax, British Ambassador to the United States, had asked Canada to make a commitment in respect to Empire relationships.

"At no time in any place have I made a statement that Lord Halifax asked us to make a commitment," said Mr. King.

Mr. Bracken should be in the House to substantiate statements he made, continued the Prime Minister. National affairs should be discussed finally between parties facing each other in the House. He said he hoped the condition would not be allowed to continue indefinitely under which affairs of the nation were discussed "in a way that may be taken as official and responsible by individuals who have no seat in any part of the country."

Mr. Graydon said the Prime Minister "has strained himself pretty far in trying to find an issue upon which he could again make some reference to the leader of the Progressive Conservative Party."

"The Prime Minister knows very well that the actual effect of the statement he made on a previous occasion was the effect which is conveyed by the statement which is made here by Mr. Bracken. He (the Prime Minister) is cavilling, as he often does in times of adversity and trouble, at certain words which are used. . . ."

Mr. Graydon said he was "amazed and appalled" that Mr. King should "pick on such an inconsequential thing as this" to make an attack on "a great Canadian."

R. B. Hanson (PC-York Sunbury), rising later, said that "if the prime minister has recovered his lost temper" he wished to know if the government should soon designate a day for discussion of a report on revision of house standing orders.

Was Not Angry

Mr. King said he must call attention to the official opposition "tactics" of creating the impression that from time to time he lost his temper. The opposition was "sensitive" when the government replied to criticism and suggested he lost his temper.

"That is part of their stock-in-trade, and pretty low order of stock at that," he continued.

"I am going to make it clear that when the press of the honorable gentlemen opposite quote in headlines these expressions about the prime minister losing his temper, when there is no possible ground for a statement of that kind. . . ."

Mr. Hanson: "That's good."

Mr. King: ". . . .except it be so to exaggerate as to make a situation ludicrous. While it may be all right to make these statements for the entertainment of the House. I do hope the public will not be misled by any manoeuvres of the kind."

He suggested the report might be discussed next Monday.

Mr. Hanson said he was afraid he could not be in the House that day.

Mr. King: "Tuesday then. And please now do not ever afterwards say that I have not tried to meet the wishes of the opposition."

UNRRA Pattern May Bring Universal Peace

BY DARCY O'DONNELL
Canadian Press Staff Writer

OTTAWA, April 19 — (CP) — Many members of the House of Commons look upon the United Nations Relief and Rehabilitation Administration as the pattern of an organization that may lay the foundation for a new world order and a lasting peace.

The concensus expressed qesterday in the House by members was that the U.N.R.R.A. agreement, signed as it was by 44 United Nations, might well serve as the basis of another agreement which would lead to establishment of universal peace through collaboration and co-operation.

The opinions were expressed while the house gave second reading and clause study to the bill that would ratify Canada's participation in U.N.R.R.A., set up to rehabilitate, feed, clothe and care for the peoples in countries which will be liberated from the enemy.

The reading was given the bill before Air Minister Power announced that Canada by the end of this month will have trained the 100,000th air crew member under the British Commonwealth Air Training Plan. The announcement came shortly before the house adjourned until Thursday. Wednesdays are devoted to sittings of House committees.

Answering inquiries about the closing of Air Training Schools announced recently, Maj. Power said the first news of reductions in the training being desired came in December. Last year about 39,000 aircrew had been produced and there would be about 41,000 in the present year to be added to the 100,000 already produced.

The necessary replacements and men for the manning of squadrons in 1944, for 1945 and perhaps for 1946 were in sight, he said.

Of the 28 schools in Canada being closed several were R.A.F. schools.

Maj. Power also announced that transport aircraft for the movement of troops in the defence of Canada would be available in 1944, a year earlier than had been expected.

Giving reasons for the closing of schools, Maj. Power said the Allies had obtained air superiority earlier than they had anticipated "with the result that the German air force is not so dangerous from the standpoint of casualties as had been expected and we have had fewer losses in combat than were planned for, particularly among pilots."

"Most of our training originally was devoted to pilots," he continued. "Now we find there is a surplus of pilots. . . ."

There was to be no slackening of the war effort, said Maj. Power.

"The R.A.F. say they want to bring their schools home and I cannot stop them from doing so nor can anyone else," he continued. "They have said they want to bring their schools home in order to bring their men closer to the front line so as to bring greater power to bear during the critical year of the war."

Brooke Claxton, parliamentary assistant to Prime Minister Mackenzie King, said the work of U.N.R.R.A. represents "the first step in the path from war to peace."

"It will provide relief for those nations that cannot help themselves. U.N.R.R.A. is designed to fill an urgent short-term need."

Ligouri Lacombe (CDN-Laval-Two Mountains) said he disagreed with the Government's policy of helping other nations because it had failed to take care of the people at home. Some other members felt that Parliament should have been consulted before Canada's signature was affixed to the U.N.R.R.A. agreement.

Arthur Roebuck (L.-Toronto Trinity) was among those who felt the U.N.R.R.A. agreement should have first been submitted to Parliament. He said he did not approve of the Government executive having power to sign agreements which bound the nation with outside nations without reference to Parliament

Not Binding.

"It is rather too bad an agreement of this kind should be completed and signed before a deliberative assembly such as this had time to study it," said Mr. Roebuck.

Mr Claxton said the policy Canada followed in dealing with agreements was similar to that followed in Britain. The U.N.R.R.A. could not bind any nation. It as an administrative organization. U.N.R.R.A. dealt with an emergency situation and probably would not continue more than three years after the end of hostilities.

M. J. Coldwell, C.C.F. Leader, said nations with diverse economic and social views were associated in U.N.R.A.A. and this meant protection against the "bludgeoning" of nations to accept policies they might not desire. All people should be treated alike under U.N.R.R.A. policies.

Canadians had been perhaps the most fortunately situated of all the people in the war, and had to make few sacrifices. Canadians had an obligation to those who had suffered.

U.N.R.R.A. should not be used in any way as a military tool.

CALGARY, April 19 (CP). —Proposed admission of 100 Japanese to relieve the labor shortage in Calgary packing plants was unanimously rejected by City Council last night. National Selective Service would pay transportation for the Japanese and take them away when the rush was over, said F. E. Harrison, western representative of the Federal Department of Labor, in a telegram to Mayor Andrew Davison.

Pilot Returns Believed Dead

AN ADVANCED ALLIED FIGHTER BASE IN ITALY, April 19. — (CP Cable.)—If ever anyone could claim to have come back from the dead, then that person is bantam-size Sqdn. Ldr. James Francis Edwards, D.F.C., D.F.M., of North Battleford, Sask., ace R.C.A.F. pilot of the Desert Air Force who commands a Spitfire squadron

An R.A.F. companion circling in a Spitfire high over the snowy mountains of Italy watched his 22-year-old leader's Spitfire going down and making a forced landing on a sloping plateau, with white fumes streaming over the plane's cockpit from the exhausts. A moment later he saw the landing plane explode and burst into flames. He saw nobody get out of the flaming wreckage.

The fighter pilot flew back to base and told his comrades that the squadron commanding officer had been killed.

But six days later Sqdn. Ldr. Edwards stepped out of a truck by a dispersal hut and strode perkily over towards a group of his companions.

"It was like a dream," he said. "The last thing I remember was coming down to make a landing. I saw a nice level stretch and thought maybe I could just make it. Then white glycol (radiator fluid) fumes kept streaming up at me and I don't remember anything after that."

The squadron leader had no idea how he got out of the burning plane. It is possible that the explosion threw him clear of the wreckage. He received a cut on the head requiring several stitches and a bruise over one eye.

"The first thing I heard when I came to was a lot of people talking," he said. "After a while someone said: "Don't worry, you're with friends."

Sqdn. Ldr. Edwards is rated a magnificent marksman. He shot down his last German fighter over the Anzio beachhead recently at extreme range of 500 yards, an exceptional feat of deflection shooting.

Women Needed On Many Farms

OTTAWA, April 19 — (CP) — Dr. Georges Bouchard, assistant Deputy Minister of Agriculture, said in an interview today he considers the return to rural life of women now in the services and in war industries a "problem of major importance."

"Women can develop a real and satisfying rural culture—which is already in the air— and make it a very essential part of rural life," he told The Canadian Press.

The trend of modern education away from the farm, toward the city and the grip of modern industrialization has led country people to be too easily fascinated by the way of life of the city, he said.

"The promised price floor under agricultural produce, signs pointing to lower post-war prices for farm implements, cars and other manufactured goods can lead us to expect increased material well-being for the farmer after the war."

Flt. Lt. Baker Meets Old Friends In Reich

NORWOOD, April 19 (ENS) — A letter was received on Saturday by Mr. and Mrs. Robert Baker from their son Flt.-Lt. Bruce Baker, a prisoner-of-war in Germany. It was postmarked January 8 and he spoke of just receiving their letters dated October 22 and September 29 also one from his brother, Gerald dated October 16.

He mentioned he had not seen his cousin M. Lewis, Port Hope yet but expected to get over to his camp soon. Flt. Lieut Bruce thanked his mother for sending the blanket as the winters are much the same as in Canada and hoped it would soon arrive.

He is with two old friends he states. F/Lts. George Smith of St. Catharines and Ted White of Midland.

Voluntary Nurses

HAMILON, April 19.—(CP).— A volunteer organization intended to cope with a current nursing shortage at municipal hospitals, the Volunteer Auxiliary Nursing Brigade, has been formed under a committee appointed by city hospital boards, it was learned yesterday. Enrolment in this new organization, patterned on one formed in Britain early in the war, is proceeding at Hamilton General Hospital.

Papers Contest Censor Rule In Australia

SYDNEY, Australia, April 19. — (CP).—Sydney newspapers, armed with a High Court injunction, resumed publication Tuesday after a one-day suspension caused by censorship authorities, and one printed a sharp plea for "your freedom to read, think and write."

The High Court yesterday prohibited censors from interfering with publication of six papers whose week-end editions were confiscated because they contained an article relating to "misunderstanding abroad."

The confiscated papers were the Sydney Daily Telegraph, the Sydney Morning Herald, the Sydney Sun, the Sydney Mirror, the Melbourne Herald and the Adelaide News.

High Court judges commented during a preliminary hearing Tuesday that the stories suppressed contained nothing prejudicial to the public safety or the defence of he commonwealth, or of value to the enemy. The suit to test the legality of the censor's action will be heard Friday.

The Daily Telegraph devoted 4½ pages Tuesday to a chronological story of events leading up to the dispute, which became so heated crowds of students gathered in the streets yesterday shouting "Gestapo!" and in Sydney University's Union Hall chanted "Freedom of the press lies smouldering in the grave."

Three young men were taken to a police station but released after questioning.

The censored statement of R. G. Henderson, chairman of the Australian Newspaper Proprietors' Association, was reprinted in its original form. Information Minister Arthur Calwell charged Mr. Henderson with inaccuracy and untruthfulness when the latter replied to a statement by the Minister which suggested that Australian newspapers and journalists were responsible for "misunderstandings abroad."

(While these "misunderstandings" have not been specified in Sydney dispatches, it was believed the reference was to the surprise expressed in the United States over the announcement that 90,000 men would be trimmed from the Australian army. A later Australian explanation said all but 20,000 of the men were routine discharges from the army and added the cut was necessary because af the problem involved in needing Allied troops in Australia.)

The leading article in the Daily Telegraph said Mr. Calwell "challenges your freedom to read, think and write." This article was in the banned editions.

The paper said the censor cut most of the matter in Mr. Henderson's reply to the Information Minister, including vital dates and facts in rebuttal to the Minister's points, but permitted Mr. Calwell's statement to run in full.

Long Range Plan

WASHINGTON, April 19—(AP).—In a red and gilt room musty with half a century of State Department history 10 Americans and 11 Britons sat down yesterday around a mahogany table and started work toward shaping the economic world of tomorrow. Their immediate objective is a study of international oil resources of common interest to their two countries, especially those in the Middle East where the United States proposes oil production on a huge scale in a British political and economic sphere.

Repulse Raid On Anzio Front

By LYNN HEINZERLING
Associated Press Staff Writer

NAPLES, April 19—(AP)—Allied troops fought their way back yesterday into an outpost on the western flank of the Anzio beachhead and threw back a strong German raid north of Cassino after fierce hand-to-hand fighting, headquarters announced today.

The Allies suffered some casualties in repulsing the raid on one of their forward positions in the Terelle area, about four miles northwest of Cassino. Some of the German artillery harassing Allied troops in Cassino is located behind Terelle and the opposing armies watch each other warily in that rugged mountain sector.

It was disclosed, meanwhile, that some Allied patrols had made deep penetrations west of the Sangro river in the central sector of the front without contacting Germans.

The Germans sent raiding parties against Canadian troops on the 8th Army front near the Adriatic and captured six prisoners Sunday night. Canadian patrols in a daylight raid seized four enemy prisoners.

Truk Airdrome Made Unusable

ALLIED HEADQUARTERS IN SOUTHWEST PACIFIC, April 19 — (AP)—One more airdrome in the defence ring around Truk in the Caroline Islands was useless to the Japanese today.

It was the airstrip on Satawan Island in the Nomoi Atoll, about 160 statute miles southwest of the once-fearsome Truk fortress. Satawan's airdrome was neutralized by a 34-ton bombing Sunday and the force of four-engined bombers encountered neither aerial opposition nor anti-aircraft fire. Bivouac areas also were hit.

Satawan was bombed just once before, by two aircraft on April 10.

Allied airmen continued the pressure on the Japanese along the bomb-pocked north coast of New Guinea and gave Rabaul, the enemy's fast-crumbling base at the northeastern tip of New Britain, a 125-ton pounding.

Patrol bombers strafed the Aitape sector of the New Guinea coast, destroying supply dumps and buildings.

More than 150 Solomons-based bombers hit Rabaul, concentrating on airdrome runways, gun positions, supply dumps and buildings.

Far to the west, other bombers hit the airdrome and supply areas at Faan in the Kai Islands, between Timor and New Guinea.

Japanese positions in the eastern Marshall Islands were hit by American planes Sunday night, the United States Navy announced at Pearl Harbor.

Re-elect Miss L. Hurley As President of C.W. League

Miss Lillian Hurley was re-elected president of St. Peter's sub-division of the Catholic Women's League, at the annual meeting and election of officers of the League, in the Knights of Columbus rooms.

Other members of the new executive are as follows: First vice-president, Miss T. McNamara; second vice-president, Mrs. D. Emery; third vice-president, Mrs. P. J. Lynch; recording secretary, Miss Agnes Grant; corresponding secretary, Miss J. Lynch; treasurer, Mrs. E. Riley.

The recording secretary, Miss A. Grant, gave a record of the league's contributions to local and national projects, including war work, with Mrs. P. J. Burke as convener, and the Navy League, with Mrs. George Lynch as convener. The largest single item of this work was the mailing of 130 Christmas boxes to St. Peter's parish boys overseas, in addition to cigarettes.

Continuing her report, Miss Grant said that regular bi-weekly visits were made to patients in the Training Centre hospital, and treats were furnished. Twenty-five homes entertained soldiers at Christmas, and Sunday workers to make and serve sandwiches at the Centre, were sent when they were needed. A book was donated to the Training Camp Library, and a magazine subscription arranged. Contributions were made to the British War Victims' Fund; the Milk for Britain Fund; to the Navy League Auxiliary, to cover a deficit incurred in the Christmas ditty bags; to the ditty bags for the sailors on the corvette Peterborough; and a ditty bag shower held at the schools in December.

Other Activities

Members of the League have been present at Red Cross Sewing groups, the Blood Donors' Clinic, Wartime Prices and Trade Board, Navy Auxiliary, Citizens' Co-ordinating Committee, and have knitted articles for the Navy League and the Red Cross. Activities during the year included a bingo held in May; a rummage sale in October; a bridge and euchre party in November, and a Christmas fair in December. The social convener, Mrs. E. A. Cauley, and convener of ways and means, Mrs. F. Hickey, reported on the excellent results of these enterprises.

The work in the field of education included contributions to the national scholarship fund, and prizes to the boy and girl coming second at the entrance to high school.

The program committee report showed several excellent programs during the year. These included addresses by His Excellency, Bishop John R. MacDonald, Rev. J. T. Finn, Rev. Dr. Grant, Rev. F. Marrocco, and Mr. Ralph, speaking about the Blue Cross hospitalization plan; and Mr. A. B. Burrows, speaking on Credit Unions.

Mrs. P. J. Lynch, as social convener, outlined the help given to needy persons and to the sick. Miss McNamara reported on work done at the Red Cross and, as membership convener, gave the total as 359 members.

A musical program was presented, and included duets by Misses Veronica Scollard and Anne Donoghue, and two solos by Mrs. L. Campanaro.

Missionary Tells Of Life In Egypt

Miss B. Green, a returned missionary from Egypt, was guest speaker at the April meeting of Trinity Women's Missionary Society, held in the church parlor. Miss Green told of her work, and related the story of one child who had come under the influence of Christian teaching. Mrs. H. A. Mitchell was guest soloist, and sang "Open the Gates of the Temple."

The president, Mrs. R. T. Rehill, was in the chair, and it was decided to have a Spring tea, Miss T. Mathers and Mrs. W. Fanjoy were named as co-conveners.

The Bible reading was given by Mrs. R. E. Brown, and Mrs. P. W. Frisk offered a prayer. Mrs. J. Pierce read a paper on temperance, and Miss Helen Bannister read a letter from a missionary, Miss Margaret Halliday.

Mrs. John Wood Guest Speaker

Guest speaker at the thankoffering meeting of Knox United Church was Mrs. John Wood, wife of Major J. Wood, of the Salvation Army. Mrs. Wood, introduced by Mrs. R. Laing, asked the group to consider the appearances of Christ after the resurrection, and enumerated them, telling the story of each. Mrs. J. Gerard moved the vote of thanks.

At this meeting, a joint meeting of the Women's Missionary Society and the Women's Association, the W.M.S. decided to have a paper collection, and to cater to a mother and daughter banquet. Items of business for the W.A. were in the hands of the executive.

Mrs. J. Londerville and her group took charge after the joint collection had been taken up and dedicated. "Christ is Risen" was the theme of the devotional led by Mrs. H. J. Mahoney. Mrs. J. Lancashire and Mrs. F. Thompson read the scripture and Mrs. N. Hughes sang "Holy Hour." Light refreshments were served.

Three Members To Report On New Slate

A committee, composed of Mr. R. Parsons, Mr. E. B. Fowler and Mrs. J. Vernor was appointed to consider the question of new officers for the Children's Aid Society, at the regular meeting of the society, held Tuesday afternoon. James Dutton presided.

In her report for the month of March, Miss R. Young, superintendent, stated that 366 visits had been made, and 122 office interviews had been conducted. Thirty-six families were referred to the society during March. One of the most frequent complaints received, Miss Young said, was that of children being left alone, in the daytime, and in some of these cases, the oldest child would be four years of age.

Another serious problem stressed in the report was the low standard of homemaking. This problem had been discussed previously, and an inquiry has been made about visiting homemaker services for Peterborough. Six adoptions were completed during the month; one child was discharged from wardship, and the wardship of three others was continued. A total of 29 visits were made in the foster home work.

The sewing committee report showed that work was continuing at its previous high level. Mrs. J. R. Marshall, Mrs. L. Yeotes, Mrs. G. W. Allison, Mrs. R Rose, Mrs. M. T. Breckenridge, and Mrs. F. Graystock gave time at the Shelter, repairing, re-modelling and making new clothing. Acknowledgment was made of donations of clothing from Mrs. M. T. Breckenridge, Mr. C. Lapp, Mrs. R. Davies, Mrs. R. Rose and Mrs. Keith Lech.

It was announced that Miss June Whan, a student from the School of Social Work, University of Toronto, would be with the society for two months. Mention was made of the step taken by Alderman A. Sands in bringing to the attention of the City Council, the need to enforce the section of the Children's Protection Act, dealing with children loitering on the street after 9 p.m., and the board expressed its appreciation for this forward step.

St. John's Group Holds Spring Tea

A delgihtful tea and sale of home cooking was held on Tuesday in St. John's parish hall, sponsored by the Women's Auxiliary of St. John's Church. The guests were received by Mrs. G. S. Cameron, president and Miss Margaret English, treasurer, and the tea room assistants were Mesdames R. Crocker, C. Mills, B. Wardle, H. Lemmings, J. Gamble, R. Ford, G. Groombridge, E. Knight.

The table arrangements were in charge of Mrs. G. S. Cameron and Mrs. C. Sootheran and Mrs. E. Graham was in charge of refreshments. Tea was poured by the two honorary presidents, Mrs. W. P. Robertson and Mrs. F. M. Delafosse, and the two vice-presidents, Mrs. W. Cruthers and Mrs. J. Cridland.

The home cooking sale was carried on by Mrs. H. Kelsey and Mrs. W. McWilliams. During the tea hour, two solo were sung by Mrs. G. H. Cutmore, accompanied by Miss Florence Gladman.

Kinettes Send $200 Gift To Milk Fund

A donation of $200.00 to Milk for Britain Headquarters in Toronto, to further the work of the Kinsmen Fund for British children, was made at the regular meeting of the Peterborough Kinettes, Tuesday evening. Also one of $17.75 was acknowledged from Mrs. H. Dulmage, on behalf of a weekly club of which she is a member.

The sewing convener, Mrs. A. Shallborn, reported that thirty more blocks were needed to complete the second afghan, and each member was asked to be responsible for three. In response to an appeal from the Kinsmen National War Services Committee, for playing cards for the men of the merchant marine, members were asked to leave playing cards at Scarfe and Company Store, 160 Hunter street.

The president, Mrs. M. Holt, read a letter recently received from Capt. R. T. F. Brain, asking that a weekly airmail news report be forwarded to him so that the men of a Peterborough overseas unit would be kept well informed of the happenings in Peterborough. The Kinettes unanimously agreed to take on this task, and Mrs. M. Holt, Mrs. N. E. Elliott and Mrs. J. A. MacDonald agreed to edit the letters.

Mrs. W. Langan, 290 Rubidge street, was hostess for this meeting, and Mrs. J. King, 277 Monaghan road, will be hostess for the next meeting.

OVERSEAS WEDDING—WO. Max Graham, R.C.A.F., son of Mrs. L. Graham, 228 Edinburgh Street, and the late G. E. Graham, was recently married in England. His bride is the former Edna Mary Cartwright, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. Cartwright, of York, England. WO. Graham enlisted in October, 1940, and, after a year's training in Brandon and Calgary, received his wings at Fingal. He went overseas in October, 1941. Before enlisting, he was employed in Ed Riley's Men's Shop.

Of Interest to Women

DOROTHY DIX . . . . .

MARRIAGE WOMAN'S AVOCATION

She Must Keep Husband Amused and Comfortable Without Expectation of Similar Returns.

DEAR MISS DIX—I am 23 and attractive. Have been married two and a half years and have a comfortable home, but my problem is this: Things are fine as long as I am gay and amusing to my husband and keeping our lives pleasant, but as soon as I get sick, or have the blues or go to a party he wanders off and enjoys himself without a thought for my comfort.

It certainly burns me up when I know that I am attractive to others and contribute more than my share in making our home agreeable, yet my husband pays more attention to others than he does to me. I am a college graduate and can earn my own living, so do not need a meal ticket. What I want is companionship and love that gives as well as takes.

Why do men think that wives should be perfect, while they continue to do as they please?

DISGRUNTLED WIFE.

Wives Must Be Appeasers

ANSWER—The reason wives have to be the appeasers is because keeping a marriage a going concern is more important to the wife than it is to the husband. A man has many interests outside of his domestic relationship. If his marriage doesn't come up to expectations he has his consolation in his career, his business, his ambitions, but a woman's interests centre around her home. To her marriage is not only her vocation, but her avocation, and if she is disappointed in it all the balance is cinders, ashes and dust to her.

Of course, in strict justice, it is just as much up to the husband to be a little ray of sunshine in the home as it is to the wife. Wives get just as much fed up with looking at a sloppy husband with a two days' beard on his face as husbands do in looking at wives in frowsy housecoats and with cold cream on their faces and their hair in curlers. And wives are just as much bored with husbands who make no effort to be fireside companions as husbands are with dumb wives.

But there is no logic or justice in marriage. It is just the way it is. A woman has to take it, or leave it, and the aggregate experience of the sex is that it pays to take it and make the best of it, and to do their little song and dance to keep husbands amused and entertained and comfortable, without expecting them to exert themselves in their behalf.

Of course every wife would like to have a husband who would remain a perpetual lover and who would pity her and baby her when she had the blues and hold her hand when she had a headache, but, in reality, there ain't so sich animal, or, if there is, it is a museum specimen. So if you have a husband who is a good provider and reasonably easy to get along with, I advise you to hold on to him. Husbands are going to be de luxe articles and hard to get after the war.

DEAR DOROTHY DIX—I would like to know if I am selfish in asking my husband to watch the baby once a week so I can go out to a movie or shopping without having to drag the youngster along. It would soothe my nerves after a week of constant baby-tending and washing and scrubbing and cleaning. My husband says that inasmuch as the three of us go out two or three times a week visiting, it is enough recreation for me. Please decide for us which of us is right.

MRS. G. K.

Wife Deserves One Night Out Alone

ANSWER—You are. A man who works outside of his home in a crowd with others, and who is continually seeing and hearing something different can have no conception of how dull and monotonous is the work of a woman who is alone practically all the time, with no one to talk to except the baby.

She is denied even the poor amusement of going to market when she has to take the baby along and keep one eye on him, while she watches her points at the meat counter and haggles over the spinach and the lettuce, and beats off the little hands that are trying to grab the pretty green stuff. And as for visiting with a baby, that belongs in the category of awful experiences instead of pleasures.

If your husband could have any idea of how much more agreeable and easy to get along with you would be if you had one day off a week to go to the movies and for shopping alone, he would speed you on your way and take his turn watching the kid.

DEAR MISS DIX—We are four young girls, still in high school. Recently we met four soldiers and fell in love with them. After going out with them a few times we decided to get married. Our mothers and fathers work in war plants. Every week-end when our husbands have leave we tell our parents we are going to spend the week-end in the country. Instead we meet our husbands and go to a near-by city and rent an apartment.

We are afraid that our parents will find out about this and want to have our marriages annulled. Our husbands expect to be sent overseas very shortly. Should we leave home and go with them, or stay at home and keep our marriages a secret?

FOUR WORRIED GIRLS.

ANSWER—Tell your parents at once about your marriages and have them announced at once. It is the only way you can save yourself from disgrace in case your soldiers just fade out of the picture when they move on to the battle line.

Don't think you can keep the story of your week-ends with these boys secret. Scandal always leaks out. Your case is another illustration of the tragedies that are taking place everywhere when mothers leave their young daughters to their own devices.

FLYING "WIDS" TO INSTRUCT WIRELESS AIR GUNNERS—Seven potential signals officers—the first in the R.C.A.F. Women's Division—have just finished a wireless course in which each girl logged 12 hours' flying time in addition to gruelling ground courses. Now they are at Trenton for an officers' training course. Like any other pioneers, they encountered long hours of hard work lightened by odd adventures and amusing situations. But they have acquired a rich fund of signals knowledge to fit them for their new jobs—instructing wireless operator air gunners who will carry the war to Germany. Decked out in flying togs and shouldering their own parachutes, six of the girls are shown swinging jauntily across Stevenson Field, Winnipeg, after their last training flight. Left to Right, they are: Nell Ross, Vancouver; Mary Gordon, Toronto; Louise LeClair, North Rustico, P.E.I.; Betty Dowler, Pidgeon Lake, Alta.; Dorothy Winter, Regina; and Patricia Annand, Truro, N.S. THE TEA HOUR GOSSIP . . . .

Today we are going to have a few recipes for serving meals that one would call unusual, yet they are tasty and inexpensive. The foods you serve need never be tasteless and uninteresting, instead your family can enjoy good meals, with plenty of variety.

Ham Shank and Beans

One ham shank, water, 2 cups navy beans, 1 onion, ¼ cup molasses, 2 teaspoons dry mustard. Cover shank with water. Bring to a boil, then reduce the heat and simmer 2½ hours or until ham drops from the bone. Meantime, soak beans in enough warm water to cover for 2½ hours. Drain. Cover with ham broth and sliced onion. Mix mustard and molasses with a little ham broth and add beans with enough additional ham broth to cover beans. Simmer slowly or bake covered until the last quarter hour in a low oven 325 degrees for 1 hour. If desired pour ¼ cup chili sauce over beans before baking.

Hopping John

Cut pork into strips. Simmer peas, water and pork together until peas are soft, about 1½ hours cook rice and drain, rinse in cold water and drain again, and combine with pork, ketchup, and seasoning to taste. Heat slowly about 20 minutes.

Kidney Stew

Two beef kidneys, 2 tablespoons shortening flour, 1 onion, 2 cups cooked tomatoes, 2 cups diced carrots, 2 teaspoons salt, 1 teaspoon Worcestershire sauce, 1 cup diced potatoes.

Soak kidneys ½ hour in salted cold water. Drain. Pour boiling water over them. Cut in ½ inch slices across kidney. Melt fat in frying pan, dredge kidney slices in flour and brown with the sliced onion in hot fat. Add tomatoes, carrots, and seasoning. Simmer together 1½ hours, then add potatoes and continue cooking ½ hour. Serve on heated platter with border of toast triangles.

ENQUIRY COLUMN

By MARY MOORE

QUESTION: Have you a recipe for a yeast bun called Butterhorns that I may have? The kind I have in mind is rather large, flat, bun, rolled snail-fashion, lightly iced and sprinkled with nuts. The only recipe I can find is not very clear as to method, and I do not want to lose a batch of dough if I misinterpret. I am enclosing this recipe which I would appreciate your looking over in case you should consider it a good one. It says put the butter in with the potatoes, but further on says spread butter on the dough. Then it says fold in thirds and cut into inch strips, but I presume you would have to roll out like making puff pastry. I am not very familiar with yeast doughs and can't quite make out what is intended.

I enjoy your columns very much and appreciate your advice and help. (Mrs.) L. B. McC.

BUTTERHORNS (Recipe to be adjusted)

One cup mashed potatoes (hot), ¼ cup sugar, ¼ teaspoon salt, 4 eggs, 2 Fleischman's yeast cakes, 2 cups lukewarm water, ½ cup butter, flour to make a soft dough. Add butter to hot potatoes, which have been mashed and put through sieve. Add sugar and salt. Add 1 cup water and 2 cups flour. Beat eggs and add with yeast previously dissolved in last cup of water, to mixture. Let rise until quite light then add enough flour to make a soft dough Let rise until double.

Lay out on a board, place butter on it and fold in thirds. Cut in strips about an inch thick. Allow to rise on bread board until quite light. Roll shape of snails, put in pans and let rise again for about ½ to 3/4 hour. Bake in quick oven 20 minutes.

ANSWER: I would suggest that you put 1-3 cup butter with the potatoes, and reserve the remainder for brushing the dough. When you come to the point where the recipe says "lay out (dough) on board" pat it out or roll it to about ¼ inch thickness, then brush it with soft or melted butter. Roll up like jelly roll then with very sharp knife cut into slices about 3-4 inch thick. Place on well greased pans, and let rise until double in bulk in warm place, covered. Bake at 400 to 425 deg. Fahr. for about 30 minutes. Frost and sprinkle with nuts while still a little warm.

QUESTION: I would like to have a recipe for a raisin pudding which is like upsidedown cake, the raisins being in the bottom of pudding in a sort of thick syrup. Also a lemon chiffon pie which is just made of eggs. I have the one made with gelatine.

I have never tasted this pie and perhaps I am mistaken, but a lady who is a very good cook said she makes it. She cooks the yolks and other ingredients then adds the well beaten whites, put it in shell and browns it.

I have been reading your page for years and have heaps of your recipes. Mrs. M. J. C.

◆ ◆ ◆

ANSWER: I think the two recipes I am giving you fit your descriptions.

Hasty Raisin Pudding

Mix 1 cup brown sugar, 1 cup raisins (or other fruit) 1 tablespoon butter and 3 cups boiling water. Boil together in shallow baking pan for 10 minutes. Make a stiff batter of ½ cup granulated sugar, 1 tablespoon butter, ½ cup milk, 2 teaspoon baking powder, and 1 cup flour. Drop by spoonfuls into boiling fruit mixture. Bake at 375 deg. Fahr. for about 20 minutes. These amounts serve 6.

Lemon Fluff Pie

Three egg yolks, ¼ cup lemon juice, 1 teaspoon grated lemon rind, 3 egg whites, ½ cup sugar, ⅛ teaspoon salt, baked pastry shell. Beat egg yolks. Add lemon juice and grated rind. Cook slowly and fold in egg whites, beaten stiff with the sugar and salt. Pour into baked pastry shell and bake at 325 deg. Fahr. for 30 minutes.

By GENEVIEVE KEMBLE

For Thursday, April 20

The astral operations for this day portend difficulties, treacheries and intrigues, which seem rather to affect private relations rather than business or finances. There may be some advantages in the latter, in which persons of standing and influence are prominent. Cultivate this but keep alert to all manner of entangling alliances or duplicities, particularly where under-cover or secrecy play a part. This might refer to diplomatic, political or fraternal propositions. Fortify against all schemes and lures, business and private.

If It Is Your Birthday

Those whose birthday it is may be called upon to meet delays, disappointments, possible loss or bereavements during the year, bearing such with fortitude, patience and amiability, rather than strife, bitter words or vindictive indulgences. There is also danger of betrayal, duplicity and intrigue. It would be well to make friends with those in authority, who might be valuable in helping to clear up difficult or unhappy situations. With care there might be financial benefits, of lasting expansion.

A child born on this day may be subject to treacheries, intrigues and revearsals in life, although its friendships and finances may be fairly satisfactory.

LEG AMPUTATED

OSHAWA, April 19 — (CP) — Joseph Bilons, 11, was in hospital here to-day after his right leg was amputated when he was run over by a train in the Canadian Pacific Railway yards. Police said the boy, on his way home from School, was crawling under the train with a bag of charcoal when the train started.

HP RATION-GRAM

Kidney Ragouts

We think this "KIDNEY RAGOUT" is new and will help relieve the monotony of war-time menus.

Wash and halve 8 lamb kidneys. Then remove thick white tissues. Cut into quarters; cover with boiling water and let stand for 5 minutes. Drain; dredge with 4 tablespoons of flour and fry in 4 tablespoons melted fat with ½ cup of minced onion until brown. Add 2½ cups of tomato juice, 2 teaspoons salt, 2 tablespoons H.P. Sauce and simmer for 10 minutes. Serve piping hot on buttered toast.

Get a bottle of H.P. Sauce today and try this ration-time recipe. Incidentally, just try serving H.P. with meat, fish, stew, salads, fowl or sandwiches and taste the difference.

JOE SAYS

"Maybe titles don't go for much in this country. But there's one that most of us should have and that's R.C.B.D.—When you've got them letters tacked to your name, you've got something. And you've got it because you've given something! You've given some soldier another chance for life. You've put him back in the line again. You've sent him home to his folks—ALIVE!"

"Yes, an R.C.B.D. counts for something in this war. Ask any man in the service. He'll tell you, 'R.C.B.D.' is Red Cross Blood Donor. Maybe you'd like to have those letters after your name."

All such advertisements may continue to be published in the usual fashion and without approval.

Today's Victory Garden

By DEAN HALLIDAY

STRAWBERRIES

IF YOU ARE planning to include fruit in your Victory garden this year then by all means plant a patch of strawberries. They give larger and quicker harvests for a small cost than any other garden fruit crop. While strawberries can be planted either in the spring or fall, the very best time is early in the spring. Choose a cloudy day to set out strawberry plants, or do it late in the afternoon. Keep the roots moist, being careful not to expose them to the sun or drying winds.

Before planting remove all dead leaves, small offsets and shorten the roots back to about four inces. This also makes for easier planting.

Proper depth of planting strawberries is important, and right and wrong ways are illustrated in the accompanying Garden-Graph. The crown or centre of the plant where the tiny leaves begin developing, should be just level with the surface of the soil. When set too deeply rot may develop and kill off the plant. If planted too high the roots frequently dry out.

Plant strawberries firmly, thus keeping the moisture in the soil in close contact wtih the growing roots.

Nazi Propaganda Gluts Fashion Market

NEW YORK, April 17 (AP)—Paris fashions (German style) flooding into the New York market in elaborate French magazines are confounding the city's style experts, most of whom brand the publications as "propaganda," it was disclosed today.

The so-called Parisian styles are lavish, ornate—and in violation of U.S. war-time material restrictions. Most widely distributed of the magazines, which apparently were shipped in from Switzerland or Argentina, is Plaire, printed in brilliant colors on paper of a quality impossible to obtain here.

In Plaire, hats are ponderous, replete with frills and ribbons. A creation which the magazine credits to the designer, Patou, soars to astronomical heights above the head. Another is an over-stuffed turban. Dresses are marked by the profusion of flounces and pleats.

A member of the executive committee of the New York Dress Institute, Maurice Rentner, said "there is not the slightest resemblance between the styles of the Paris couture listed in Plaire and the creative work of the same houses before the war."

Sara Pennoyer, chief of advertising and promotion of a large department store here, scornfully termed the styles "ersatz." Miss Pennoyer said she and other members of the industry had turned over copies of the publications to the F.B.I.

Scout Auxiliary Plans Parents' Night

Plans for a parents' night, to be held Monday evening, May 8 in the parish hall, were discussed at the regular meeting of St. Luke's Scout and Cub Auxiliary, held Tuesday evening at the home of the president, Mrs. W. King. A cushion, donated by Mrs. H. Lush, will be used as a door prize, and the draws on the crocheted wool afghan and the Maltese table runners will also be made. The members decided that they would display some of the afghans which they have been making for the minesweepers.

Ten dollars will be sent to the "Chins Up" Fund, as a further donation from the Auxiliary. Mrs. C. Hamilton, 337 Rogers street, will be hostess for the next meeting, to be held Thursday, April 27. Refreshments were served, and Mrs. A. McIlvena moved the vote of thanks.

Mrs. F. McCarthy C.W.L. President

Annual reports were given at the regular meeting of the Sacred Heart sub-division of the Catholic Women's League, held recently in the club rooms. The treasurer reported that a total of $597.85 had been raised during the year, of which $300 was spent for supplies for boys in armed services; $284 spent nationally and locally; and $20 donated to the Red Cross.

In addition to the cash donation to the Red Cross, reports given showed that 2 gowns, and two quilts had also been donated. Three hundred pounds of clothing were packed and sent to the merchant marine. Members of the league assisted at the Blood Donors' Clinic and served at the Training Centre.

Mrs. F. Lynch, Diocesan president, addressed the meeting, and spoke of league activities and war work, and of the results accomplished. Rev. J. J. O'Brien was also present, and spoke on "Education," urging the members to start a study club. The meeting closed with a prayer for boys overseas.

Officers for the new year are as follows: President, Mrs. F. McCarthy; vice-presidents, Mrs. F. Daley, Mrs. J. Cairns and Mrs. A. Bartley; recording secretary, Mrs. H. Butcher; corresponding secretary, Mrs. G. Hurtubise; treasurer, Mrs. T. Gagnon; councillors, Mrs. L. Rivard, Mrs. M. Sheehan, Mrs. T. McGarrity, Mrs. J. Walsh, Mrs. S. Cadaghan, and Mrs. F. Collins.

Bonarlaw News

St. Mark's W.A. held their meeting at the home of Mrs. Jennie Wellman recently. Mrs. A. V. Brown was named as the delegate to the convention at Kingston April 20 and the study book was read. The next meeting will be held at the home of Mrs. George Eastwood.

Pilot Officer R. Kew and sister, Miss Megan Kew returned to Toronto on Sunday, having spent the past few days with their sister, Mrs. Ralph Wellman.

Mrs. Sarah McKeown of Mount Pleasant, is visiting frends in this community.

The Maple Cheese and Butter Co. began operating on Monday. Mr. Thomas Hogle of Roslin, is the maker this year.

Lieut. John A. Bell of Toronto spent the week-end with his father, Mr. Donald Bell.

Bowling Club Ends Season With Banquet

The closing banquet of St. Andrew's Bowling Club was held Tuesday evening at the church. After supper, Mrs. D. R. Morrow, president, spoke of the success of the past year, and welcomed new members and some who, through illness and other causes, had not been able to attend recent meetings. These included Mr. and Mrs. W. F. Skitch, Mrs. B. F. McNeely, Mrs. H. Davis, Mr. and Mrs. H. Cheels, Mrs. J. Finney and Mrs. W. Wright.

Dr. E. W. Young complimented the officers on their fine work during the year. The secretary-treasurer, Miss Hazel Batten, reported a balance of $62.26 on hand, with accounts totalling $9.12, to be paid. The members decided to give $15 to the Young People's Union for the purchase of Christmas gifts for members of the congregation now in the armed forces, $25 to the Board of Managers, $5 to the Woman's Association, and $5 to the janitor of the church. Mrs. H. Watson, vice-president, and Mrs. T. H. Skinner moved that these accounts be paid.

A letter of thanks will be sent to the George Street and Knox Bowling Clubs in appreciation for the loan of their mats and bowls for the recent tuornament. Mrs. B. F. McNeely expressed her regret at not being able to attend the games.

The secretary-treasurer read a list of awards and the points of the various teams. They are as follows: D. R. Morrow's team 270; G. Tremaine's team, 246; Mrs. A. Weir's team, 234; Mrs. H. G. Cheel's team, 218; Mrs. H. Watson's team, 198; Mrs. W. F. Skitch's team. 177; Mrs. C. H. Althouse, 175; and C Gardiner's team, 161. The average attendance at games was six teams.

Mrs. E. W. Young presented the attendance award to Mrs. H. G. Cheel's team, the other members being Mrs. D. R. Morrow, Mrs. J. Finney and Miss H. Batten. Mr. Morrow's team was awarded the first prize for play The other members were Miss K. Ross, Miss L. Foote, and Mrs. H. Seaborn. Mr. Tremaine's team received the second prize, the remainder of the team being Mrs. R. G. Allen Mrs. J. Lush and Mrs. B. F. McNeely.

Gifts were also presented to the president, Mrs. Morrow, and the secretary-treasurer, Miss H. Batten, by Mrs. H. Watson on behalf of the members. Mr. C. Gardiner gave an account of the early history of the club, which was formed in 1934 by Mr. D. R. Morrow, and has maintained a fine record for sportsmanship ever since. Mr. F. Skitch moved the vote of thanks to the women who had assisted in serving the supper. They were Mesdames C. H. Althouse, H. Watson, A. Weir, A. McWilliams, R. G. Allen.

Home and School Association News

MAY'S

An informative talk on "Art" and the methods of painting pictures, was given by Miss Gertrude Cox at the regular meeting of May's Home and School Association. Miss Cox explained her points, and illustrated them with several of her own works. She emphasized that training, and an understanding of the idea the artist wished to express, were both necessary to have a good picture.

Many of her paintings were of familiar scenes in Jackson Park, and around the Normal School, and several were of Port Hope landscapes painted while she attended an art school there. There was also one scene of Burleigh Falls. Miss M. Brown introduced the speaker, and the vote of thanks was moved by Miss H. Savigny and seconded by Mrs. W. Carter.

Mrs. G. Robinson, president, was in the chair. Mrs. J. Taylor gave a report of the March meeting of the local Council of Women and Mr. W. Potter was at the piano. Refreshments were served by the committee, in the absence, through illness of Mrs. R. Leach.

Mount Julian

Easter holiday visitors in this district were Mr. and Mrs. Wilfred Farrant and little son Billy of Brampton with Mr. and Mrs. William Church.

Mr. and Mrs. Braden Northey and little daughter, Dianne, of Orillia with Mr. and Mrs. Wellie Dunford.

Miss Shirley Connley of Peterborough with Mr. and Mrs. Warne Northey.

Mr. and Mrs. Alvin Booth, and Pte. George Booth of Toronto with their parents here.

Miss Margaret Smith of Lakefield with Mr. and Mrs. Eph Bronson and Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Bains at their cottage at Little Cedar Lake.

Miss Ethel Northey spent the week with friends in Peterborough.

PLAN ALONG WITH HIM

FIGURING out how to beat a declarer often requires your making the same plan for his play that he does himself, and figuring out just what is the main obstacle you would fear if you were in his place. After doing that, it is up to you to toss that very obstacle in his path. Sometimes no other method of calculation will give you the winning defensive formula.

Certainly that looked like a conservative enough contract. It was made at some tables of a duplicate and was set at others. Let's take an example of each, at tables where West decided it looked like a cross-ruff of the minor suits and therefore picked a trump lead. Both of those declarers decided to try to discard their losing diamonds on clubs.

Winning the first lead in the dummy with the spade Q, these declarers scored the club K and A, and ruffed the third club with the spade 2. In one case West over-ruffed this with the spade 6 and led back a diamond to the A. There the declarer led next to the spade J, eliminating the last hostile trumps, then ran clubs, discarding all of his losing diamonds.

At the other table where this method was tried, West refused to over-ruff the spade 2 on the third club trick, realizing South wanted him to, and discarded a heart instead. That made it impossible for South to reach dummy after the opposing trumps were out, so he lost three diamond tricks and was set two.

Claims Britain Would Absorb U.S.A. In Empire

READING, Pa., April 19 (AP)—Col. Robert McCormick, publisher of the Chicago Tribune, declared today that "some of our millionaires" favor a plan, claimed by the speaker to have been advanced by Prime Minister Churchill, for the United States to "Re-enter the British Empire as lower class subjects of the British Crown."

In an address, during which he charged that 'Communists and their abettors not only dominate the Democratic party but are actively trying to control the Republican national convention as the New Deal did in 1940," Col. McCormick said:

"It is suggested that we combine our government with that of the British Empire.

"My friend Winston Churchill suggested to the Republican conference at Mackinac, with the approval of President Conant of Harvard and apparently of President Roosevelt, that we repeal our Declaration of Independence and re-enter the British Empire as lower class subjects of the British Crown.

"Some of our millionaires favor this plan so that they may buy for themselves the titles that they can now only purchase for their sisters and daughters."

In an address prepared for delivery at a conference of the 179th District of Rotary International, Col. McCormick charged that Communists "dominate our government" because "four hundred odd thousand of them have held the balance of power in New York State" and "New York State has the largest vote in the Electoral College."

Institute Completes Red Cross Layette

MILLBROOK, April 19—(ENS)—Mrs. T. G. Harkness entertained the Women's Institute for its April meeting at her home, Union street, on Saturday afternoon, Mrs. Delbert Olan presiding.

The layette, which has been under way for some time, received further contributions, and the whole will be given to the Red Cross at its next gathering, Mrs. J. W. Hilton offering the gift. The treasurer reported $3.25 from the St. Patrick's Day euchre held at the home of Mrs. E. C. Richards, $2 from piano rent, the Legislative grant of $3, and donation of $2 from Mrs. Olan, with a bank balance of $21.72; in the Red Cross fund $7.30 including Saturday's collection.

A letter from the superintendent of Nicholls Hospital, Peterborough, asking permission to address the May gathering in order to interest girls as student nurses, led to the decision to try and contact girls of a suitable age and have their promise to attend it. The communications also included a letter of thanks from the "Daughters of Cavan" L.O.B.A., No. 1066, for use of dishes, when the Lodge catered for a dance.

Guest Speaker

The branch decided to suggest "Household Accounting" as its choice for the yearly short course, when the district annual convenes on June 6, at Elizabethville. The provincial secretary, Miss Mary Clarke, B.A., will be guest speaker.

Insurance on the piano, in the Town Hall, now due, was ordered paid, and it was decided to try and locate one of the long tables belonging to the Institute which has been borrowed from the hall and not returned. The attendance being small, the election of officers, scheduled for Saturday's meeting, was left over until May 13, when the gathering will be in the evening, at 8 o'clock, at Mrs. Edmund Ball's home.

A BIT of Mother Earth on the outskirts of nowhere . . . a lone campfire . . . the howl of a wolf . . . the scream of a mountain lion . . . a free man who treads where no man trod before.

In such a setting has been the origin of some of Canada's greatest gold and mineral producing mines. Turning his back on the commonplace ways of earning a living, the prospector risks his capital, pioneers new regions and a mine is born. This is free enterprise.

"What else WOULD I DO?"

Of course, I'm buying Victory Bonds—double what I bought last year. And that doesn't make me any hero, either . . . I saw enough of the last war to know what my boy will be going through some day soon, and anything I can possibly do looks mighty small alongside that.

In fact, I don't figure it's a sacrifice at all. Sure, I'm doing without a lot of things I used to think were necessary. But I've got more money put away in Victory Bonds than I ever saved before. There will be lots of time to buy the things Mother and I are doing without, once we lick Hitler, and Bill's back home again—if he comes back!

Until then, I'm putting Victory first. What else would I do?

WITH THE BOY SCOUTS

Scout Craft Show

The market hall will be open for the acceptance of articles for the Scout Craft show Monday, April 24. Anyone having articles they wish to exhibit should have them in by Monday night. See your scouter or cub leaders for tags.

Officers and older scouts are requested to come to the market hall to help get chairs and benches into shape on Saturday next, April 22. Please be on hand about 2:30 p.m.

Attention all officers: Have you practiced up for the display end on the show? We are aware that some are leaving things for the last minute and others do not realize that the show starts next week. Invitations and entrance cards will be issued to the officers concerned this week.

Executive Meeting

Members of the executive of the local association are reminded that the regular monthly meeting is on schedule for this Wednesday, April 19.

All Saints'

Many activities took place during the past two weeks including a troop hike on Good Friday at which 22 boys and two leaders participated. Games and useful instruction were received with Bud Aulbrook passing his second class cooking. Three new names have been added to the world wide brotherhood of scouting as Gerald Excell, Ted Williams, and Gary Charlebois were accepted into the troop and scouting at an investiture ceremony held recently.

A number of boys attended the Y.M.C.A. pool on Wednesday, April 12, where, under the examination of Gord Minty, seven were successful in passing their first class swimming. They were David Dibben, Hugh Dibben, Bill Rowbottom, Don Smith, Frank Wright, Art Miller and Norm Johns.

Many of the boys thinking that their holiday from school meant holiday from scouts, were missing from the parade on Thursday, the attendance being small. Patrol instruction was given and the game "Bomb the Garrison" played. During the evening Don Buchan passed Kim's game. A court of honor was held afterwards. Three former members of the troop were in town this week: PO. Stan Brook, PO. Dick Watkins and AC. 1 Jack McDonald.

Park Hill Community

Through the medium of the Mascot, the official paper of the 9th Peterborough group we are glad to report the following progress. The meetings are going along in good style and Good Friday found 12 scouts and two leaders out hiking going out east over the canal to a spot named Hypocrite Hill where patrol was allotted a space for their own quarters. Games and some practice toward test work was given.

Two new cubs added their names to the world roll of scouting. Ron Sarginson and Bob Merritt were made full fledged tenderpads at a recent meeting as they were invested into the jungle at the council rock. Jack Robertson was also accepted into the pack as a new chum. Many tests have been passed during the past three weeks.

Cubs—Laws: L. Hughy, H. Robertson, D. Clarke, Dale Goodfellow, B. Dobson; Promise: L. Hughy, H. Robertson, D. Clark, D. Goodfellow; Salute and Grand Howl: D. Goodfellow; Union Jack, and Knots: A. McIlraith; Somersault: A. McIlraith, J. Robertson, B. Jackson, D. Fredericks, D. Reynolds, G. Willis, K. Woodgate, B. Merritt; Ball Throwing: J. Robertson, J. Orde, L. Robbins, G. Cullen, K. Cullen, G. Willis, K. Woodgate, R. Sarginson, D. Reynolds, R. Wilson; Skipping: R. Wilson; Book balancing, A. McIlraith G. Cullen, D. Fredericks, J. Robertson, B. Kelly, D. Reynolds, B. Jackson, F. Fredericks, Time: A. McIlraith, G. Willis.

Scouts—Laws, signs and salute: Ray Malowney, Bill Clarke, Dick Schram, Paul Peel; Union Jack, scout staff, whipping rope and knots: Ray Malowney, Dick Schram, Bill Clarke.

First Class—Swimming: Leslie McDougall, Keith Goodfellow, Ralph Goodfellow, David Humphreys, Jack Parker, Art Sanders. These boys also passed the training of a tenderfoot as did Keith Gordon, Emerson McDougall, William McInroy.

Swimmers badge: Jack Parker, Arthur Sanders, David Humpheys, Keith and Ralph Goodfellow.

A recent visitor to the group meetings was Scouter Conibar of London, Ontario.

St. John's

A mixed program of games and instruction was the order of the evening with the inspection being on observation. Akela attended the pack meeting with several parts of his uniform out of order. Odd laces in his boots, odd garter tabs, belt on upside-down, one stocking on the wrong way. One rather sad note struck the pack as it was learned that Raksha is leaving Peterborough to take a post in another city.

Tests passed during the evening were Union Jack by Doug. Laird and Roderick Delaney; Savings, John Biddle, Bobb, Craw; Folding Clothes and Cleaning Boots, Harold Vallos. Every member of the pack is requested to attend the meeting next Friday.

Chins Up Tea

The semi-monthly chins up tea will be held in the home of Mrs. Leslie Groombridge, 253 Murray street on Wednesday, April 9. All mothers of cubs and scouts are cordially invited to attend and bring their friends along. A business meeting will also be held.

A visitor to the pack and troop was Sgt. Bruce Forsythe of the R.C.A.F. now home on leave. He recently received his wings as air gunner.

FRENCH CHIEF—Gen. Emile Marie Bethouart, who has been appointed French chief-of-staff, Algiers.

School Mystery Solved When Pupils Confess

DICKINSON, N.D., April 19—(AP).—The case of the leaping lignite at lonely Wild Plum Rural School in southern Stark county is solved.

It didn't leap. It was thrown.

And the reported mysterious fires and puffs of smoke didn't flame of their own accord or as a result of the use of some chemical. They were caused by simple wooden sticks, "farmers matches", in the hands of a group of youngsters hoaxing their near-sighted teachers.

The mysterious hooded man didn't exist except in the pupils' imagination and the threatening and sometimes obscene notes tacked to the door of the little one-room schoolhouse were crudely penciled by two girl students, age 12 and 15.

Thus ended today the mystery of the "verhexed" (bewitched) school, closed earlier this month when pupils refused to go to the schoolhouse where, they told parents and officials alike, coal jumped out of the coal bucket and hopped about the room and fire flamed from textbooks, wall maps, window curtains, examination papers and fixtures.

The denouement came late last night after four pupils of the school confessed. State Fire Marshal Charles Schwartz and Special Assistant Attorney-General W. J. Austin said that they and several other students had engineered the hoax upon their teacher and their parents.

Claims Nazis, Allies Have Same Service

LONDON, April 19 — (CP) — RHYS Davies, Labor asked in the House of Commons today whether Sir James Grigg, War Secretary, was aware the German and Allied troops had joined in the same Easter worship on the Garigliano front in Italy, where Allied services were reported broadcast to the Nazi lines.

Sir James said he had no information on the incident and reminded that this sector was under American control.

Asked whether he would make inquiries, the War Secretary replied: "I will certainly see if I can get any information, but I am bound to say there are lots of rather more urgent messages passing."

Nazi Attack In Poland Beaten Back

Sevastopol Heights Captured By Red Shock Units

LONDON, April 20—(AP)—Large-scale German tank and infantry attacks have been beaten back in the southeast corner of pre-war Poland after fierce see-saw fighting, Moscow announced today in a communique which also told of the capture by Russian shock troops of Fedyukhiny heights, formidable barrier guarding the approaches to besieged Sevastopol.

The Nazis, apparently in an effort to save their big communications centre of Lwow, launched the heavy counter-blows east of Stanislawow, 70 miles southeast of the base, and "some populated places changed hands" before the assault were repulsed, the communique said.

The Soviet bulletin said a large force of German bombers and fighters appeared during the battle, supporting an earlier Moscow news dispatch which described the Nazi offensive as apparently strong, well co-ordinated and systematic.

While the German attacks seemed primarily designed to save Lwow, 45 miles west of the nearest Russian forces, the offensive also could be an attempt to keep the Red Army from driving through the Czechoslovak frontier passes they reached April 8.

Lwow itself was heavily bombed by the Russians Tuesday night, the communique said, with many hits observed on trains loaded with troops and equipment.

Besides taking Fedyukhiny heights, about five miles from the centre of Sevastopol and overlooking the Chornaya River valley famed for a great battle in the Crimean War of 1854, the Russians also outflanked the hill of Sakharnya Galovka, covering the entry to the Inkerman valley, the communique said.

Except for these advances, however, the battle for Sevastopol appeared yesterday to be developing into a siege, the bulletin reporting that the enemy, "pressed back to the sea, was putting up stubborn resistance."

The Germans counter-attacked in the area of the Sevastopol-Simferopol highway, but were thrown back to their initial positions and many prisoners were taken, the Russians said.

The communique added that Russian warships and planes continued

CANADIANS COMMAND FLAT TOPS—Newly added to the fast-growing fleet of escort carriers of the Royal Navy, this carrier is one of two commanded by Canadian officers and largely manned by personnel of the Royal Canadian Navy. A development of this war, the escort carriers have already proved their worth in the ceaseless war against U-boats in the Atlantic and for fleet reconnaissance. A Grumman Avenger circles the carrier before landing, while a sister ship can be seen in the background.

Canadians Man Carriers For Royal Navy

(Special to Examiner)

OTTAWA, April 20 — Canadian naval presonnel have now manned two escort aircraft carriers of the Royal Navy, it was announced today by Hon. Angus L. Macdonald, Minister of National Defence for Naval Services.

Manning of the carriers had been forecast in two previous statements by the Minister. It has been pointed out that the carriers are Canadian-manned so far as seamen personnel is concerned; flying personnel is of the Royal Navy's Fleet Air Arm. The ships are under operational direction of the British Admiralty.

Manning of the carriers introduces a new set of facts figures and formulae to Canada's Navy. To date it has been a navy of small ships, manned largely by inexperienced young men, reared far from the sea, who have brought many new ideas to old problems. Naval officials suggest it is perhaps this quality which has enabled the much larger aircraft carriers to be taken over without fuss and with very little bother. The carrier is actually a hull built around a complete flying field in miniature. It has runways and hangars, repair shops; high-test gasoline stowage; a complete meteorological station; and the latest in ranging and detection devices. In addition, there are hundreds of electrically powered machines ranging from freight elevators large enough to lift a several ton aircraft between flight deck and hangar deck, down to the small half horsepower motors powering precision drills and valve grinders.

Runway Is Clear

Nearly 500 feet long from stem to stern, the flight deck, clean and flat as a billiard table, stretches from end to end. The elevators which take aircraft to and from the hangar deck immediately below it, are flush and form a part of the runway when in position.

Smokestacks are carried out, below the flight deck, to one side and at no point rise above it. The superstructure with its navigating bridge, mast and aerials, has been crowded over to the starboard side, completely clear of the runway and over-hanging the side of the ship.

Below, the hangar deck runs the full width of the ship and almost the entire length. It houses rows of aircraft, wings folded against their sides.

Below this again, are the machine shop for aircraft and for ship repair, fitted wtih lathes, grinders, drills, milling machines, shapers

Finns Say No

STOCKHOLM, April 20 — (AP).—The newspaper Dagens Nyheter said today that the Finnish government's negative reply to the latest Russian armistice proposals had been delivered to Moscow through Stockholm.

The note, the paper said, reviewed all the steps which have been taken thus far in the negotiations and reiterated that Finland still is anxious to find a way to peace.

Censor Promises Startling News

ADELAIDE, ANSTRALIA, April 20 — (CP) — Information Minister Arthur Calwell, replying to opposition party leaders' demands that he be removed from a parliamentary censorship inquiry committee, said today revelations which will place the opposition party on the defensive will be made when the committee reports its findings.

He said the committee's report will deal with principles of censorship laid down when a coalition of united Australian and country parties headed by former Prime Minister Robert Menzies, was in power. These parties now are in opposition.

Mr. Calwell asserted that attempts by Mr. Menzies, the country party leader, A. W. Fadden, and others to indict him as chief defendant on the question of the administration's publicity censorship policy are "too stupid for words."

Mr. Menzies and Mr. Fadden had other reasons for suggesting his dismissal from the committee than the current dispute over censorship involving six Australian daily newspapers, Mr. Calwell said.

He stated that all allegations that he had "at any time or in any way interfered with the work of publicity censorship are viciously false."

LONDON—Russia was understood today to have tendered peace terms to tired Romania who must act quickly or face the full weight of the Red Army.

14,000 Workers Locked Out At Ford Plant

WINDSOR, April 20 — (CP) — The Ford Motor Company of Canada Limited early this afternoon terminated in writing its collective bargaining agreement with Local 200 U.A.W.-C.I.O.

The Company action followed by stoppage by day-shift employees of a little more than an hour a mass work stoppage by day-shift employees of the Company.

The men quit work at 11 a.m. in what a Union spokesman described as a "half holiday" to discuss a dispute with the Company over grievance precedure.

However at noon the Company notified the Union that all gates to the giant war plant are being locked, putting an estimated 14,000 men out of work.

The work stoppage, now described by Union officials as a lockout, spilled thousands of workers into the narrow streets around the plant at an unusual hour. Beer taverns and lunch counters in the area did a rush-hour business.

The Company's action in terminating an agreement with the Union is expected to provide an additional subject for discussion at a mass meeting of Union members called for two p.m. to discuss the grievance dispute.

Fred Ainsborough, Labor Department conciliator who has been at Sarnia, is on his way here to investigate the dispute.

The men left their work in accordance with an order issued last night by union stewards and com-

Sabang Base Fired In Surprise Raid

East Indies Port Badly Battered By Bombs, Shells

By THOBURN WIANT
Associated Press War Correspondent

Southeast Asia Headquarters, Kandy, Ceylon, April 20 —(AP)—A powerful Allied fleet of aircraft carriers, battleships, cruisers, destroyers and submarines at dawn yesterday struck the first air-sea blow againt Japanese-held Netherlands East Indies since the fall of the islands in March, 1942.

The attack was made just four days after Admiral Lord Louis Mountbatten, Southeast Asia commander, had shifted his operational headquarters to Ceylon from New Delhi.

Allied bombers and fighters took off from the carriers somewhere in the Indian Ocean and carried out a surprise raid on Sabang and Lhonga airfields in Northern Sumatra.

(The Admiralty announced in London that Sabang also was bombarded by the warships.)

A communique said heavy bombers also struck the targets. (Presumably these came from land bases and co-ordinated their attack with that of the sea-borne expedition. As far as is known heavy bombers have never been flown from carriers.

Sabang is a little island just off the northeastern tip of Sumatra less than 1,000 miles from Admiral Mountbatten's Ceylon headquarters and has an important harbor which the Japanese have been using for sea operations towards the west. Lhonga is a few miles away on the mainland tip.

With the expedition directed by Admiral Sir James Somerville, commender-in-chief of the British eastern fleet, the aircraft scored numerour direct hits with heavy bombs or the dock yard, power station, wharf, barracks, hangars, workshops and radio station at Sabang, on the northern tip of Sumatra, leaving large fires blazing in the area.

Fire 2 Destroyers

The aircraft also scored hits on two Japanese merchant ships, each of 4,000 to 5,000 tons, while two enemy destroyer escort vessels were shot up and set afire. Twenty-two Japanese planes, including six large transports, were destroyed aground at Sabang.

Several Japanese planes also were destroyed on the Lhonga airfield.

One Allied plane was forced to land at sea but the pilot was dramatically saved by a submarine which rescued him under shore battery fire. All other planes returned to the carriers.

Critical Housing Situation Plagues Canadian Cities

By The Canadian Press

A critical housing situation in Canada's major cities with more than 1,000 families in both Montreal and Toronto facing eviction on May 1 without a home to move into was disclosed in a survey by The Canadian Press today.

A similar acute condition was evident at Ottawa, with between 600 and 700 forced to move May 1; at Quebec, where an estimated 500 families were on notice; at Halifax, 150; Vancouver, 200, and at Victoria, 165.

In other large centres such as Winnipeg, London, Ont., and Windsort, Ont., the situation was equally serious but no figures were available on just how many would have to move May 1 without suitable accommodation being arranged.

Smaller centres throughout the Dominion generally reported a negligible number of families in this category, while in a good many cities no housing problem exists and in others it was mitigated by the fact May 1 was not a general moving day.

Representations have been made to the Federal Government by municipal authorities at Toronto, Montreal and Quebec for aid in solving the housing crisis.

Toronto city officias decided yesterday to make a further appeal to Ottawa after a statement issued by Prices Board Chairman Donald Gordon Tuesday night saiad the Board would not extend present rental regulations by freezing all leases, as requested by Toronto authorities.

Says Problem Local.

Mr. Gordon said the Board's decision and the Government's agreement to that effect already have been "clearly announced," and that tenants faced with eviction May 1 represent only a small proportion of all tenants, making the problem one for local rather than national authorities.

"Freezing of all leases would simply transfer the problem from one group of individuals to another group," Mr. Gordon said.

Various expedients are being discussed as solutions to the difficulty. Toronto is thinking of building temporary quarters in unusued schools and converting large buildings into apartment houses while Quebec city has asked Federal officials for permission to use the Hospice St. Charles as a shelter. A former orphanage, it recently was closed after being used as an R.C.A.F. training centre.

In Toronto nearly 1,200 families have notified City Hall they are facing eviction; Mayor F. J. Conboy and Con. R. H. Saunders were instructed by Board of Control yesterday to visit Ottawa again; the city will ask for Federal funds to provide a low-rental hosing pro-

10,000 Soviets Hid In Odessa

By HENRY C. CASSIDY
Associated Press Staff Writer

ODESSA, April 20 (AP)—Walking the streets of sunny Odessa today are 10,000 Soviet Partisans who lived for months in the city's catacombs—dank, tortuous underground caverns from which they emerged only at night to create a regin of terror for the Nazis and speed the fall of the big port of the conquering Red Army.

Their week-by-week fight, which saved much of Odessa from destruction, was related to Allied correspondents yesterday by two of the Partisan leaders in a pleasant bedroom of a house above the cave which was their headquarters during the Nazi occupation.

A dark-haired chemical engineer with staring blue eyes, Anatoly Loschenko, 46, chief of staff of the guerillas, said their activity increased to such an extent as the Red Army drew near that frightened enemy sentries virtually abandoned the streets in the darkness.

"At night we were masters of the city," he said.

"Fifty per cent of our army was armed," said Dmitry Gaushin, 48, the commander, who was known as Volgin. "If all were armed we could have taken the city ourselves.

The leaders said that when the Partisans heard the sounds of Red Army artillery early in April they came out of the catacombs and engaged the enemy in battle, occupying entire areas of Odessa, preventing the demolition of 30 docking places, removing mines from water and sewage pipes.

Loschenko said the guerillas collected money, gathered foodstuffs and set up permanent headquarters in the limestone catacombs, once used as smugglers' nests. Their equipment, he added, included a radio and printing press which turned

Allies Slice Through Jap Positions

Japanese Attackers Caught Between Two Fires

SOUTHEAST ASIA HEADQUARTERS, KANDY, CEYLON, April 20—(AP)—Allied troops advancing southeast from Dimapur on the Bengal-Assam railway have sliced through Japanese roadblocks and positions ringing the beseiged Kohima garrison in the battle against enemy infiltration of eastern India, it was announced today.

Allied headquarters said the relieving column was joining in the offensive to clear the Japanese from positions threatening the 35-mile road between Kohima and Dimapur.

To the south, further successes were announced in the battle for the Imphal plain as British Infantry and tanks pushed outward from their Imphal positions into the jungles and hills.

The enemy was pushed back in the sector northeast of Imphal and repulsed in haid-to-hand fighting when he made two attacks southwest of Imphal.

In north Burma, Chinese troops extended their long string of victories by capturing Warazup, 25 miles by road from Kamaing in the Mogaung valley. The 22nd Chinese division occupied the ruined village after hard fighting.

To the east the Chinese 38th Division scored another substantial success by encircling the remnants of a division and inflicting heavy casualties on the trapped enemy.

British relief forces were reported training heavy mountain guns against the rear of the Japanese positions ringing Kohima after establishing contact with the besieged garrison.

Dispatches from Calcutta last night said preparations were almost complete for a final assault to relieve the garrison of British and Indian troops, and clear the enemy from that section of India 30 miles from the Burma border.

Few Transports Leaving Crimea

BY EDDY GILMORE
Associated Press Staff Writer

MOSCOW, April 20 — (AP) — The towers of Sevastopol sparkled like a golden prize in full sight of advancing Soviet soldiers today, and Germans and Romanians were summoning their last strength for escape attempts, Soviet press dispatches reported.

Red Star correspondents said "only a small portion of the enemy is getting away on ships" and that many of these were being sunk on the way to Romania.

Intense minelaying outside Sevastopol, along the sea lanes to Romania and even in Romanian ports was underway, the correspondents added.

The Germans were managing to land a few air transports on rugged Chersones Cape, southwest of Sevastopol, the "last scrap of Crimean earth" in enemy hands, for evacuation attempts.

Correspondents with the Red Army in the environs of Sevastopol said the enemy's minefields grew thicker as the advance progressed the number of barricades greater, and the fire from mortars and machine-guns heavier.

Turks Intern Romanian Ships

ISTANBUL, April 20 (AP)—Two Romanian passenger ships — the Bessarabia and Transylvania — which have been anchored in the Bosphorous since the beginning of the Russian war, were interned by Turkish authorities today when it appeared the vessels were preparing to flee to Axis ports.

In Ankara it was explained the action was taken because the Turks were convinced the ships would be put to military use if allowed to leave.

Turkish guards were put aboard and essential motor parts were removed to immobilize them Both had been reported taking on foodstuffs when the government acted.

Excitement over the incident here was heightened by reports that a flare or bomb had been dropped by a plane of unknown nationality

Fighting Flares Anew In Cassino

NAPLES, April 20 — (AP) — Fighting in the rubble-strewn streets of Cassino flared up sharply yesterday as Allied machine-gunners raked the German-held Continental Hotel and Hotel Des Roses and the enemy replied with heavy mortar fire against the railway station occupied by the Allies.

The two hotels, in the southern part of the town, have been the most troublesome German positions in Cassino from the outset. The Allied machine-gun action indicated that positions of the contending forces have changed little in the recent quiet weeks.

There was little other activity in firing of propaganda leaflets into the battered town except for the the area by the Germans.

Curtain To Meet Roosevelt

Australia's Views On War To Be Told

SAN FRANCISCO, April 20. — (AP).—Australia's Prime Minister John Curtin and his party of 16 military and diplomatic aides were en route to-day to Washington for conferences with President Roosevelt.

Mr. Curtin left last night after a day's stopover and a press conference, at which he asserted that "whatever the military plan, Australia shall share in it."

The impact of the war Mr. Curtin said at his press conference caused the Australian and New Zealand governments to enter into a Pacific charter of permanent co-operation.

The agreement reached at January consultations provides for certain statements of common purpose, he said, including:

1. No final peace settlement with any Allied enemy until all hostilities are completed.

2. Japanese Pacific territories should be disposed of only with the agreement of New Zealand and Australia.

3. Disposal of Japanese Pacific holdings should be part of the general Pacific settlement.

4. The two governments proposed a post-war south and southwest Pacific zone of defence and establishment of an international air jurisdiction of the separate nations concerned.

Laval Fears Civil War Across France

Invasion Will Start Fierce Battles Between Loyalists And Followers Of Vichy

By DEWITT MacKENZIE
Associated Press War Analyst

Coincident with the Allied broadcast from London notifying the people of France that "the time is getting short" before the great invasion, Pierre Laval, chief of the French Vichy government, has issued a panicky warning to his countrymen not to co-operate with the invading armies.

This Quisling, who was one time premier of France before the war, is scared—and with good reason. That was made clear from his broadcast as recorded in North America. Said he: "Massed formations of Anglo-American parachutists will be dropped over France... They will seek the co-operation of French Partisans, and civil war will break out in France . . . For months I have worried about the possibility of a landing."

M. Laval isn't a nice person. The first time I looked him in the eye I immediately decided that if I ever got in a poker game with him I should tote a gun. However, he's crafty and he's smart. When he forecasts civil war in France he isn't thumping an empty tub.

There is a menacing division between the French Loyalists and those who have supported Laval's pro-Nazi regime. The Loyalist underground organization already has prepared a huge list of names of pro-Vichy Frenchmen who must stand trial on charges of being turncoats—and will be lucky to get trials at all.

No wonder Laval has worried for months. And if I know my Laval, he's been worrying one per cent for the other fellow and 99 per cent for himself. This man who has played the Nazi game knows that if bloody reprisals do start he will be one of the first the Loyalists will try to hunt down.

Vengeance to Rule

Who's going to restrain the forces of vengeance in the early days of the invasion? There are said to be hundreds of thousands in the underground army of the Loyalists. Many of them are armed despite the fierceness of the Nazi Gestapo punishment for possession of weapons.

The Loyalists are likely to start operating in the interior of France as soon as the invasion gets under way. They will strike where they can at both Germans and Hitlerite sympathizers. The main Allied forces won't be there to prevent civil strife, even if there are parachute troops as Laval expects.

That's the grim problem which General Eisenhower, as Allied commander in chief, will be up against. Obviously he can be sure of controlling only the territory in which he actually has troops. The German military will be too busy standing off the invasion to find much time to deal with warfare among Frenchmen.

It looks as though the only solution of this terrible threat lies in the possibility that the organization of the underground army is sufficiently good to respond to "remote control" by the Allies and by the French Committee of National Liberation, headed by General Charles de Gaulle, in Algiers.

Want Bases For Keeps

American Sub-Committee Suggests Change

WASHINGTON, April 20 — (AP) — Immediate steps to make permanent American possession of western hemisphere bases acquired from the British in the 50-destroyer deal was recommended today by a House Naval subcommittee.

The bases are now being used by the United States under a 99-year lease agreement.

The subcommittee, which made the recommendation in a formal report on an inspection of hemisphere defence installations, is headed by Rep. Edward Herbert (Dem.-La.)

Herbert reported that the Navy has spent more than $130,000,000 at the eight bases acquired from Britain in exchange for the delivery of 50 over-age destroyers, announced by President Roosevelt on Sept. 3, 1940. The subcommittee report stated:

"Having acquired the right to invest still further, we feel it would be a mistake for the United States to ever abandon the bases, even at the end of 99 years. Steps should be taken immediately by our government to have the bases changed to in perpetuity."

The President's announcement of the agreement with Great Britain said this country had acquired the use of certain bases in Newfoundland and in the Islands of Bermuda, the Bahamas, Jamaica, St. Lucia, Trinidad, and in British Guiana.

Armitage Couple Celebrate Silver Wedding

Mr. and Mrs. W. Armitage, 171 Rubidge street, celebrated their silver wedding anniversary Wednesday, and were at home to their friends during the evening. They received many beautiful gifts in silver, and several bouquets of flowers. A social evening was spent, and a buffet lunch served.

Those present included Mr. William Brooks, 81, of Stratford, Mrs. Armitage's father, who briefly spoke to the group, and Rev. J. H. Sutcliffe and Rev. E. J. Whan, who also briefly addressed the gathering. Rev. F. W. Craik offered the toast to Mr. and Mrs. Armitage. Mrs. W. Burden of Kitchener, Mrs. Armitage's sister was also present.

They received cable from their two sons in the armed forces, Pte. Kenneth Armitage, who is at present in hospital in Italy, and Pte. Raymond Armitage, stationed in England. Their eldest daughter, Mrs. E. Thompson of Toronto, who was unable to be present, sent a telegram and flowers.

Mr. and Mrs. R. Horn, Mrs. M. A. Rorabeck, Mr. and Mrs. R. Nevins and daughter were among the Norwood guests present, and Peterborough guests included Mr. and Mrs. B. Chambers, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Kitchen and Miss Madeleine Binsted.

Mr. and Mrs. Armitage, who came to Peterborough from Toronto about three and one half years ago, were married in Stratford. Mr. Armitage is employed with the Canadian General Electric Company.

Turkey Sends Britain Reply

By FRANK O'BRIEN

ANKARA, April 18.—(Delayed)—(AP).—Turkey's reply to the Anglo-American request for the Turks to materially reduce their trade in strategic materials with Germany was delivered to the Allied embassies Monday and was understood to be on the conciliatory side.

It is believed the Turkish answer was similar in content to the declaration by Foreign Minister Numan Menemencioglu last Friday, a few hours after receipts of U. S. Secretary of State Hull's request that "we will, in the general direction of our foreign policy, aid the Allies to the limit of our material possibilities."

The tenor of his press conference at that time was taken to indicate that Turkey wil seek to compromise with the Allies on the question of Turkish-German trade.

They are tucked away into corners and crannies wherever room can be found, for nearly 800 men have to eat sleep and have their being between the hangar and the keel, and there must be room for gigantic marine boilers and the engines which drive this floating airport through the water.

Protection is of vital concern. Aircraft carriers are accompanied by surface escort ships, and their own aircraft form protection against submarines, but they make excellent targets for dive bombers and torpedo bombers, particularly if they are caught before their fighter craft gets into the air. Against this hazard the light deck is rimmed with anti-aircraft guns. Quick-firing, deadly Oerlikons and the smooth-acting, multiple-shop Bofors than can raise a steel umbrella of "flak" heavy enough to worry the coolest pilot.

By GENEVIEVE KEMBLE

For Friday, April 21

Splendid possibilities to forge ahead to desired and ambitious objectives are forecast in this day's astrological map. This excellent opportunity should be aggressively attacked with all the forces, energies and accumulated resources at command, with well organized and executed plans and not by snap judgment or chances or with any show of emotional instability. There may be substantial help from high places, under this expansive impetus. There are indications of increased popularity and prestige, demonstrated in social or romantic pastimes, but be careful the emotions do not negative progress and prosperity.

Those whose birthday it is are faced by splendid changes for financial growth, with gratifying business openings, sustained by enhanced prestige and popularity. Those in high places may be helpful with social, domestic and romantic adventures flourishing. However, it would be well to work with well developed plans and ambitions and not carried away by runaway emotions or impulses. There may be much festivity in private affairs, but be judicious.

A child born on this day should have many factors for success and popularity, but it should have emotional stability inculcated in early years.

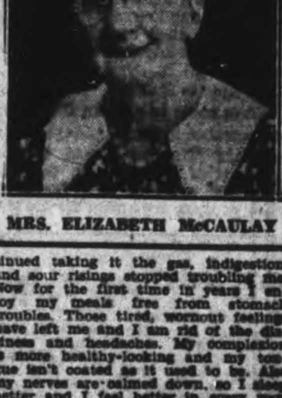
Free Of Stomach Troubles First Time In Years, This Woman Praises Syntona

Once More Enjoys Meals Without Gas, Bloat, Indigestion and Sour Acidity. Also Rid of Dizzy Feelings, Headache and Nervousness. Sleep Is Sound. Feels Better.



MRS. ELIZABETH McCAULAY

Mrs. Elizabeth McCaulay, 6 Wharncliffe Road South, London, Ontario, is glad to pass her experience along to others, for she knows what it has meant to her to get relief from stomach disorders that brought on years of suffering from indigestion, and distress after eating, nervousness, loss of sleep, and tired, rundown feeling.

"For many years I suffered from stomach troubles," said Mrs. McCaulay. "Indigestion and heartburn with awful gas and sour acid risings followed almost every meal. Hot, sour liquids would rise from my stomach, and there was a burning feeling in my chest. My tongue was constantly coated and my complexion was sallow. I would get bad dizzy feelings and throbbing headaches. The acids from my stomach must have gone all through my system, for I became very nervous and rundown. My sleep was restless and I always felt tired and fatigued.

"A friend recommended Syntona so highly that I began taking it and now I am only sorry that I didn't know of it long ago. From the very first bottle my stomach felt improved and my food began to digest better. As I continued taking it the gas, indigestion, and sour risings stopped troubling me. Now for the first time in years I enjoy my meals free from stomach troubles. Those tired, wornout feelings have left me and I am rid of the dizziness and headaches. My complexion is more healthy-looking and my tongue isn't coated as it used to be. Also my nerves are calmed down, so I sleep better and I feel better in every way. I am very glad to recommend Syntona to everyone who suffers as I did."

You can get full information about Syntona in Peterborough at Elliott's Drug Store.—(Advt.)

BusinessWomen Review Year's Activtiies

Annual reports indicating an active year, were presented by retiring officers of the Business and Professional Women's Club, at the supper meeting of the club, in the Green Room of the Y.W.C.A.

While this organization was not in peace time, a service club, reports showed that the members had directed their energies since the beginning of the war, towards various war charities, such as the Red Cross and Community Fund, Aid to Russia, Milk to Britain, British War Victims, Chinese Relief and Mrs. Winston Churchill Fund. They provided refreshments for the soldiers at the Recreation Centre and some of the members assist regularly at the Red Cross rooms. The receipts for the year were $308.42 and the expenditures slightly higher.

Many fine addresses were presented during the year. Discussions were led and carried on by the members themselves on topics of current interest such as, parts of the Beveridge Report; the Marsh report; the Atlantic Charter; re-habilitation of women after the war; value of nursery schools; domestic servant problems; full employment as a means of solving the social security problem.

A holiday at Inglestane Camp on Stoney Lake was provided for two girls and recently a fund has been established to help girls who are seeking a higher education.

The members discussed and endorsed a resolution passed by the Local Council of Women, Windsor, to the effect that "the Government of Ontario be requested to amend the Municipal Franchise Act at the present session of the Legislature, so as to extend the right to vote in the municipal elections to persons paying Dominion income tax, and to employed persons paying a poll tax in their municipality."

When there was a municipal income tax, persons paying this tax were eligible to vote in the municipal elections, whether or not they were assessed as tenants or owners of real property. About eight years ago the Province of Ontario withdrew the authority of municipalities to collect income tax, and instead made a grant to the municipalities out of the provincial income tax. Now the province no longer collects income tax, but gets a subsidy from the Dominion Government, with the result that many women, who live with relatives, and who are not assessed as tenants or owners of real property, have no municpal vote although they may be making large income tax payments, which do ultimately find their way back to the municipality in the form of subsidies.

Both Hurl Charges.

A union statement issued over the signature of Roy England, president of local 200, charged that the company had changed grievance procedure provided in a collective bargaining agreement in force for the last two and a half years in "continued defiance" of the National War Labor Board.

The company also issued a statement saying that the "crux of the current difficulties seems to be that stewards and committeemen in open violation of the procedure called for in the contract between union and company refuse to obtain permission of foremen before carrying on investigation of grievances during regular working hours.

"This has resulted in a situation which seriously interferes with the orderly progress of work in the plants."

The company statement quoted a telegram to M. M. McLean, chief executive officer of the National War Labor Board, saying that the Union Negotiating committee refused to implement arrangements made at a company-union conference Monday in connection with grievance procedure.

The company's 1,000-word statement reviewing the dispute said the suspension of the steward yesterday "for wilful violation of the established procedure is only one of many similar violations committed in recent days.

"The company is confronted daily with numerous instances where stewards walk off the job at will, without obtaining permission or even reporting to the foreman. Obviously, this is an impossible situation where war production depends on workers fitting in smoothly with the routine of work in their particular departments."

In its reference to the Monday meeting, the company statement said proposed interim procedure for handling grievances was presented to the Union Negotiating Committee. The procedure was amended to include suggestions of the Union Committee. "However, after consulting the steward body the Union Committee refused to implement the arrangements."

The telegram to Mr. McLean interpreted this action of the Union Committee as "thereby endeavoring to leave the way open for continuation of open defiance and breach of the existing contract by stewards and committeemen."

After telling their stories, the Partisans led the correspondents through a narrow tunnel in the Moldvanka workers quarter of Odessa to the catacombs, dimly lit by flaming bottles of gasoline and extending 100 feet below the ground. There were corridors six to 10 feet high and wide, gloomy rooms.

The actual battle for the city was brief, they declared, the Partisans killing at least 500 for a loss of 30 of their men.

4 Children Die; Neglect Case Goes To Jury

COCHRANE, April 20 — (CP) — The case of Mr. and Mrs. Walter Gillis of Schumacher, charged with manslaughter in the deaths of their four children last March 10, is expected to go to the jury late today. Mr. Justice E.R.E. Chevrier started his charge to the jury at the afternoon sitting after counsel for crown and defence summed up the evidence in the morning.

C. P. Hope, for the Crown, described the conduct of the parents as callous and wanton as he appealed for a conviction. He said they left their children to die like rats in a trap" without hope of help from those who should have been their protectors.

He said he would never understand how Gillis entered the house the night of the fire, stumbled over the bodies of three of the four children on the kitchen floor and did nothing about it except to leave the house and turn in a fire alarm.

Mrs. Gillis made no real effort to get home in the two days before the fire when the children were alone except for occasional visits from their, father, Crown counsel continued. She "was downtown for a good time and the children be darned."

Defence counsel Gregory Evans said he interpreted the conduct of Gillis, found on the verandah of his home by a neighbour and firemen, as that a person overcome with horror. While Mrs. Gillis may have been careless and foolish she never was "wickedly negligent." There was plenty of clothing in the home and the children — half clothed when found—undoubtedly had removed their own clothing.

Mr. Evans described Private Albert Gagne of the Canadian Army with whom both Mr. and Mrs. Gillis had been drinking frequently in the week before the fire as a "sponger and a boaster" but with an attraction for women.

The two addresses occupied three hours as both Mr. Hope and Mr. Evans reviewed evidence in the first two days of the trial which opened Tuesday.

Admiral Somerville has been itching for action such as the Sumatra raids for many months, but priorities in other theatres have confined what there was of his Fleet mainly to defensive operations.

The Sumatra raids indicated Admiral Somerville at last had sufficient strength at least for the powerful hit-run smashes.

Recently Air Chief Marshal Sir Richard Pierse, Admiral Mountbatten's Air Commander, told R.A.F. and R.C.A.F. men in a speech at Colombo that "the enemy is increasing his activity in the Indian Ocean and the Bay of Bengal. We soon will have plenty to do."

The statement was made soon after Prime Minister Churchill disclosed that powerful naval units had been placed at Admiral Somerville's disposal.

Prelude To Many.

Yesterday's attack was viewed here as only a prelude to further heavy blows to be directed against the enemy's Asiatic bases.

It followed close on the heels of Admiral Lord Louis Mountbatten's action in moving his southeast Asia command headquarters from New Delhi to Kandy, Ceylon—a move regarded as a preliminary to the launching of new offensives against the Japanese in that theatre.

The fleet action also recalled Prime Minister Churchill's recent declaration that the Far Eastern fleet now has reached mighty proportions, with the addition of powerful units including battleships and aircraft carriers.

The Admiralty announcement said the naval forces participating in the thrust suffered no damage, but gave no details of the attack.

"Further details will be published as soon as possible," the communique added.

said the garrison had held out against a numerically superior Japanese force which had been attacking night and day for the past week despite heavy losses.

(The Japanese declared more than a week ago that they had captured Kohima. Earlier this week Tokyo said Japanese forces, having completed mopping up in the area, were pushing on rapidly toward Dimapur and were within six miles of the town.)

The main British detachments from Dimapur, including one crack Scottish regiment, were said to have advanced to within 1,000 yards of positions held by the other Allied troops within the Japanese ring. The enemy thus faced fire from both directions.

While the pattern was being forged for a defensive victory at Kohima, tank-supported British and Indian troops near Imphal, 60 miles to the south, were said to be clambering steadily over the steep mountains in a drive that already has blasted Japanese invasion forces from three positions north-east of the town.

Probe Ruins In London For Victims

Lone Hun Raider Drops Load On Large Hospital

By SYDNEY GRUSON
Canadian Press Staff Writer

LONDON, April 20.—(CP Cable.)—Firemen and civil defence workers continued to probe grimly through the ruins to-day or victims of a lone Nazi raider which straddled a large hospital on the outskirts of London with five bombs Tuesday night.

The bombs killed less than a score of the more than 1,000 patients and staff—exactly how many will not be known until the last of the trapped victims is found.

Five members of the hospital staff were among the dead and a notice on the gate listed five patients so far definitely identified among the victims.

Silently and patiently a small group of people stood outside the hospital and awaited news while inside the gate twisted and torn bed frames stuck grotesquely from the ruins.

Caught in a vicious barrage almost directly above the hospital, the raider jettisoned its bombs in an effort to get out of the guns' range. The missiles, one an oil bomb, wrecked five wards and caused extensive blast damage to the remainder of the sprawling hospital.

When debris showered the Childrens' Ward, Sister Agnes Kavanagh and a couple of men shepherded the children, ranging in age from 20 months to seven years, under the beds and finally got them outside without a single injury, taking them through a hole blasted in the wall.

Sister Kavanagh and other nurses were described as the "real heroines" of the bombing and police said they "never saw women work so pluckily to get patients away, although some of them were injured themselves."

A surgeon was performing an emergency abdominal operation when the first bomb fell, wrecking and setting fire to a ward next to the operating theatre. The doctor had the operating table moved to a nearby sterilizing room and completed the operation by the flickering light of fires shining through

For First Time WMS Exceeds Its Allocation

HAMILTON, April 20.—(CP). — For the first time since 1930 the Provincial Women's Missionary Society of the Presbyterian Church in Canada has exceeded it allocation, it was reported yesterday at the 30th annual meeting of the group now in session here.

The report outlining the financial condition of the society during the past year was presented by Mrs. A. B. Maconald of Ailsa Craig, finance secretary. The conference will continue through to-day.

rM. MacDonald reported the allocation was $115,000 and donations exceeded it by $2,910. In the distribution of donations Hamilton, with $13,557, was second to Toronto, with $29,875, among the Presbyterials.

Mrs. Charles Robertson of Kemptville, secretary of Mission Bands, said this department was one of the most active last year. The Bands now total 310 with a membership of 5,762, she said.

Six new Young Women's Auxiliaries are formed and welfare services carried on, while the library department had increased activities, the conference was told.

Mrs. Morgan Elected.

Welcome and welfare work was felt to be a most important service at the present time when there is such a large shifting population, mostly among young people. Mrs. G. D. Johnston, Brantford, said welfare services have been carried on faithfully, but the welcome phase has been neglected. Visits made last years were 14,978

There were 367 new life members, and total life membership funds were $14,210, said Mrs. A. Caldwell, Cornwall.

Representatives to National Council executives were: The president, corresponding secretary and treasurer, Mrs. G. D. Johnston, Brantford; Mrs. C. H. McDougall, Strathroy; Mrs. Duncan Allan, Hamilton; Mrs. Charles Robertson, Kemptville, and the presidents of presbyterials in Barrie, Guelph, Hamilton, North Bay, Ottawa, Toronto and Sarnia

Committees appointed were: Finance, Mrs. C. H. McDougall, Strathroy; Mrs. H. W. Morgan, Peterborough; Mrs. W. J. Marks. Toronto; Mrs. Arthur Hamilton, Stratford; Mrs. J. McPhee, Temiskaming; Mrs. W. Fitzsimmons, Brockville; Business, Mrs. H. Maniprize, Guelph; Mrs. W. M. Fergus, Toronto; Mrs. C. E. Maitland, Barrie; Mrs. Hugh Jack, Huron; Mrs. William Shaw, Kingston and Mrs. Fred Gallie, Sarnia; Nominations, the provincial president and vice-presidents, recording and corresponding secretaries and presidents of North Bay Orangeville, Ottawa, Paris and Peterborough presbyterials.

Girls Lag In Drive For Victory Gardens

COBOURG, April 20 — (ENS). — Northumberland County Girls' Garden Clubs are making good progress at Grafton where the numbers are approaching the desired fifteen members and at Wooler, but little interest has been found in the Warkworth area, and unless 12 girls indicate their willingness to grow victory gardens in that area, it will be cancelled, states R. C. Banbury, agricultural representative for Northumberland county.

In the potato club work the Brighton club is coming along fairly well but interest from the Roseneath area is very small and it may be necessary to cancel this project. Three calf clubs are being planned for Campbellford, Wooler and Port Hope.

Car Strikes Cyclist On Port Hope Highway

COBOURG, April 20 (ENS) — Struck by a car driven by Harold Strong of Port Hope Wednesday night, Colin Smith of Canton was knocked off his wheel on the provincial highway between Port Hope and Cobourg. The cyclist and the autoist were both travelling west. After the collision, Smith was thrown some distance from his wheel, which was badly wrecked, and the car continued on its way for over a hundred feet, knocking off a telephone pole. Smith was taken to the hospital but later was able to leave. Provincial Constable R. Pollard investigated .

Nitro-Culture Found Good Crop Insurance

COBOURG, April 20 (ENS) —Use of nitro-culture for legumes has been practised by Ontario farmers for many years, states Ralph C. Banbury, Northumberland County agricultural representative. Mr. Banbury points out that where the crop has not been grown successfully in the past rotation of this land, it is excellent insurance and the culture can be secured from the local office of the Department of Agriculture. Where, however, a satisfactory crop has been grown in recent years, there will be sufficient of the bacteria in the soil to give the roots the desired ability of taking nitrogen directly from the air.

Elected President

COBOURG, April 20 (ENS) — Wilbur Pratt was elected president of Cobourg Cemetery Company at its meeting Wednesday night, succeeding the late J. E. Skidmore. The vacancy on the board, left through the death of Mr. Skidmore was filled by Arthur McIntosh. W. R. Whitelaw, oldest member of the board was appointed honorary president.

CWAC Recruits Sought At Campbellford

CAMPBELLFORD, April 20 (ENS) —The Mobile Recruiting Unit for the C.W.A.C. visited this town on Wednesday afternoon in an effort to attract recruits for needed replacements both overseas and in Canada.

The unit, which is visiting a number of towns in this district, was sent out from Peterborough by Sgt. Muriel K. Robertson, who has stated some three hundred recruits, preferably with some business or trade experience, are required. L.-Cpl. S. Prete and Pte. Pat Rooney visited the schools and business places in Campbellford and it is possible that several High School girls are planning to join the C.W.A.C. following their graduation in June. It is understood that the unit will pay a return visit in June when it will be accompanied by a pipe and brass band as the various towns are visited. Major C. Stuart, area recruiting officer, Peterborough, was also a member of the party but his work is confined mainly to contacting men called up under the N.R.M.A.

600 Students To Take Part At Dedication

CAMPBELLFORD April 20. — (ENS).— Six hundred school children and the Midland Regiment Band will take part in the dedication ceremony that will officially mark the opening of the Sixth Victory Loan here.

The ceremony will include the singing of patriotic songs and reach its climax with raising the Victory Loan insignia by Mayor Frank Long. It will begin at 11.45 a.m. on Monday morning as pupils from the Public, Separate and High schools march to the post office square for the dedication. They will be led by the band and High school cadets as they march from Ranney street across Market and down Front to the post office. Rev. J. P. Collins is scheduled to give a three minute address dedicating the Victory Loan for Campbellford and Seymour and following this the flag will be raised. The ceremony is designed to conclude at 12.15.

The objective for Campbellford is $175,000 and for Seymour $125,000 making a total of $300,000, the same as was asked for during the fifth loan when Campbellford fell slightly below its objective. The objective for county has been lowered by $100,000 to $1,600,000. To make a more thorough canvass of Seymour one salesman has been added to the list, which now includes H. Rutherford, as well as the four men who previously acted—J. C. Anderson, J. P. Archer, A. J. Armour, F. C. Bonnycastle.

Through the Payroll Savings committee it is expected that over $100,000 will be subscribed for by the industrial employees of the county and of this amount the share set aside for Campbellford Cloth Company employees is $15,000.

The R.C.A.F. Brass Band will give a concert Saturday evening in the main business section, when Lieut. Tom Mason of Military Training Centre No. 3, Peterborough, will be guest speaker.

Obituary

MRS. JOHN FORMAN

HASTINGS, April 20—(ENS)— After a short illness of three weeks, following an attack of pneumonia, Mrs. John Forman, a well-known resident of Percy township, now of Carmel, passed away at her home recently in her 78th year.

Born on what is known as the Edward Lynch farm in Percy township and was formerly Minnie Scott, daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. Tom Scott. She attended the Dutch Line school and spent the greater part of her life in that neighborhood where she married John Forman, who predeceased her 12 years ago. They lived on the home what is known as the Bright farm. They had two children, George, who passed away 21 years ago, and Mrs. John Grills, 14 years ago.

She leaves to mourn her loss, six grandchildren, Mrs. Jack Johnston of Hastings, Everett, John and Ernest of Stirling, Garnet and Evelyn at home, also eight great grandchildren.

Services were conducted by the Rev. C. W. Barrett of Brighton, a life-long friend at the Carmel United Church, on Sunday, April 16, of which she was a faithful Christian member, since their moving to Carmel thirty-one years ago.

Pall bearers were H. Pitcher, C. Johnston, L. Brooks, A. Brown, M. Hagerman and T. Bailey.

The many beautiful floral tributes were received: Pillow, from Hazel, Jack, Evelyn and Mr. Grills. Broken wheel from the four grandsons; spray from Mr. and Mrs. Norman Gummer and Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Gummer of Norham; spray from the great grandchildren; wreath from the Women's Association of the Carmel Church; spray from Mr. and Mrs. H. Pitcher, Frankford.

Interment was made in Trent Valley Cemetery, Hastings.

A Matter Of Censorship

Arbitrary censorship has caused two major disturbances during the past week. In Australia four newspapers have been ordered to suspend publication on charges of having defied censorship regulations; it is impossible to tell what the matter was which the Australian censors objected to, as any reference to it is forbidden, but the accused papers insist that nothing of a secret nature was involved. And in Burma five war correspondents who, among them, represent a large group of British papers, have announced that they will file no more dispatches until the censorship regulations are relaxed. They protest that they are not being allowed to send the truth from Burma.

This is disquieting, because such news as does come from Burma is not good. The British forces in India are reported to be over a million strong, and yet a Japanese army, far from home, is making excellent progress against our territory. Lord Louis Mountbatten has announced that matters are well in hand, and everyone hopes that they will prove so, but we cannot forget that announcements that matters were well in hand preceded the disgraceful debacle at Singapore. During the campaign which ended with the fall of Singapore, censorship was very strict, and correspondents were only allowed to send 'helpful and hopeful' news to their papers.

Nobody wants that to happen again. If we are losing ground in India, let us know about it. If there is something wrong with the forces (which does not seem likely) or if there is something wrong with the command (which seems very likely) we surely have a right to be informed. Dispatches touching on these matters would reveal nothing to the enemy; if our Indian forces are weak they know it already. But frank dispatches might cause embarrassment to gentlemen who insist on losing campaigns in their own way, and want no interference from politicians or nosey newspapermen.

In a democracy censors—if they exist at all—must be kept well under the public thumb. They must be kept in a condition of fitting humility. For nothing is so insufferable to free people as a censor who has exaggerated the importance of his job. Far better that a few petty secrets should be revealed than that a tyrant should be nourished. In the Burma dispute it looks as though the censors would have to climb down; we hope they climb down a long way. And in Australia, too, we shall be surprised if they are not given to understand, in a court of law, just how limited their powers are.

Wartime Strikes And Fascism

An interesting article on wartime strikes appeared in a recent issue of the Saturday Evening Post from the pen of Lieutenant Wells Lewis, the son of Sinclair Lewis, the celebrated novelist. Lieut. Lewis is now with the American forces in Italy, and he is disturbed by the thought of the influence which wartime strikes may have on his country after the war. As anything which affects the U.S. deeply must affect Canada also, we cannot overlook his argument.

The trades union movement is one of the most valuable democratic advances of the past century; so much is admitted by people of liberal inclination. But it is a fact that trades unions have more than once fallen into the hands of leaders who have not been real trades unionists at heart; they have, rather, been labour racketeers, and creators of labour empires. These unworthy leaders have debauched some branches of trades unionism, and have made particularly unscrupulous use of the strike as an instrument of coercion. They have not hesitated to call strikes in wartime, even though they knew that their action struck directly at the men in the armed forces who needed supplies in order to keep fighting.

Many men in the U.S. Army, says Lieut. Lewis, are disgusted with the unions of which they themselves were members. Will anything ever win them back to trades unionism again? Or will they return home full of bitterness, more anxious to regard themselves as 'veterans' than as a part of labour, and more interested in their veterans' associations than in their labour unions?

If they do cling together, they will form a powerful body. If they retain their present anger and disillusion with their unions they will oppose those unions politically. And their influence will not be democratic. For armies are not democratic; they are totalitarian, and the 'esprit de corps' which is so valuable in war very quickly turns sour and becomes a repressive, fascist philosophy when the war is over. It was so in Germany after the last war; Lieut. Lewis fears that something of the kind may happen in his country after this one.

Perhaps he is unduly alarmed. But certainly he is in a good place to hear what the men in the armed forces think. The fact that he is alarmed is enough to waken our serious interest in the matter.

The Polish Border Dispute

As many statemen have pointed out, it is futile to attempt to make final settlements of European borders and boundaries before the war is over; but is is also true that we must be well informed on some of the matters in dispute when the hour of settlement comes, or we shall not know what is going on at the peace conferences.

The Polish Border dispute is one in which all the United Nations must interest themselves. Poland was the first European country to defy Germany, and she suffered horribly in consequence. The Poles are still fighting with us vigorously, whether as regular forces outside Poland, or as irregulars within that country. We are all obliged morally to see that Poland gets a square deal after the war.

The dispute between Poland and Russia about a frontier is complex, and a great deal of highly-coloured propaganda is being used on both sides. Discussions of the boundary usually centre on the Curzon Line, and the territory to the east of it which may fairly be assigned to Poland. This is perhaps fortunate, for the Curzon Line is itself an arbitrary frontier; it first came into being when it was set by the Supreme Allied Council in 1919 as a temporary Russo-Polish demarcation line, and it got its present name after the Russo-Polish war of 1920, when Lord Curzon suggested that it be used as a basis for an armistice agreement. Curzon never suggested that the line become a permanent frontier; it is entirely arbitrary, and has no ethnological support whatever. Indeed, in the disputed territory east of the Line, the racial distribution is as follows:

Poles	4,794,000	39.9%
Jews	1,045,000	8.7%
Ukrainians and Ruthenians	4,139,000	34.5%
White Ruthenians	993,000	8.3%
Russians	120,000	1.0%
Lithuanians	76,000	0.6%
Germans	85,000	0.7%
Czechs	32,000	0.3%
Others and not given	728,000	6.0%
Total	12,012,000	100.0%

The history of Poland has been bitter and disappointing, and has begotten in the Poles a fierceness in putting forth their claims which somewhat alienates the representatives of more fortunate nations. But Premier Stalin has himself declared that much of the stability of postwar Europe will rest upon the establishment of a strong Poland. If he was sincere—and there is no good reason to doubt it—Poland will need at least a part of the territory which is in dispute. If she does not get it she will continue to hold a grudge against Russia, and a disgruntled Poland will certainly not make for a peaceful Europe. A little generosity shown by the larger and wealthier nation in the matter of settlement would sweeten the European atmosphere immeasureably.

NOTE AND COMMENT

If a man tells you that his dogs are tired he has probably been house-hunting.

"Pure Food Laws Include Cosmetics", says a headline. And very wise in this Spring season, when so much lipstick is inadvertently eaten.

A man in Ottawa claims that he hears radio programs over his gas meter. And as gas meters are notorious liars, we presume that he has no trouble getting short-wave stuff from Berlin.

Addressing a congregation at St. Patrick's Cathedral in New York a Catholic clergyman said: "We don't thank God enough for much that he has given us. Our prayers are too often the beggar's prayer, the prayer that asks for something". The reverend gentleman might also have mentioned the bossy prayer, which instructs God how he should end the war and arrange the peace.

Cedar Hill, April -th, 1944.

MY Dear Son: Speed the day when you, my eldest son, and your brother Peter and your sister Sara, return to Cedar Hill. This past week has been, in this depopulated household, almost intolerably lacking in the cheeriness and warmth that lies in the sounds of youth about a place. Your mother is hard put for something to do to replace the intimate caring for her cherished young to which she has been accustomed and I, your father, find it difficult to concentrate on the work I have in hand. I find myself listening for the sounds in the background that were a part of my life and a link with my own gone youth. I have been thinking that to grow old quickly, and barrenly, one has but to be deprived of association with his young. And we, your mother and I, do not wish to grow old. We wish to retain against your return a full measure of the youthful cameraderie that has been of le famille Grosselliers in the past. Without it we could not give you, our children, a welcome fitting the occasion of your return. And I beg of you, my fighting sons and daughter, end this war as quickly as you can, that this house may again resound with the happy, comforting, non-disturbing noises of your presence. This menage is sadly lacking, at the moment, the life and liveliness that is the soul of an existence within the four walls of a Cedar Hill.

AS this series on Canadian national affairs ends with this writing, it may be advisable to recapitulate. The first letters had a good deal of elementary information on the duties of citizenship. Later I attempted some informative talks on the various political doctrines and tried to evaluate their economic worth as applied to Canadian people. I described the methods employed by the leaders of the socialist movements to obtain the support of our people. I think I was successful in proving to you that the idea of socialism is a foreign and alien quantity not suited to the temperament of true Canadians. True enough these political and economic educators have an appeal that for some is real enough in that they promise a levelling out that would bring to some an unearned reward. Something for nothing always appeals to the gullible and credulous. The great Barnum boasted of a grand fortune on the premise that "a sucker is born every minute." But the salvation of mankind has lain since the beginning of time on the strength of the old adage having to do with: You can't fool all of the people all of the time. The followers of the socialistic creeds, having somewhat tentatively embraced that doctrine, are as quick to abandon as they are to accept. Having seen the untruths of what has been offered them they will return to the fold of the sound and understandable with a new faith and courage. With a resurgence of strength they, with us all, will continue to build in Canada, for Canadians, a political and economic edifice suited to a free people, born free and wishing to remain free.

IN a later letter I had something to say about the lack of understanding among our people of our democratic system, which perhaps is why the socialists have achieved a following. Were we, in this democracy and believers in its teachings, half as inclined to publicize its worth as are the socialists to rant their views on their particular creeds, these socialists would waste their theoretical talks on empty halls. I but exercise my right to criticize the government of our democracy when I write that they must recognize their duty lies in teaching its citizens a full knowledge of the system under which they live. These socialists, sponsors of an alien creed and, many of them, of alien blood and not readily assimilable, these people who choose to define our liberty of speech as a license to preach subversiveness, should not be allowed a monopoly in the teaching of political science. Is it necessary for me to suggest to you the fate in store for one who dared to preach the democratic principles as we understand them in the land of our ally, Russia? The Russia that claims for the individual the greatest freedom possible! And where every man is totally subservient to a master ever ready to punish and never to condone! (Forgive the unheralded digression, my boy, I could not resist the thought as it occurred to me.)

Later, in another letter, I wrote of that pitiful country Germany, and the sad mess that is their fascism. In what a sorry plight is the good German burgher today! All because of an apathy startingly similar to the attitude of many of our Canadian citizens. Hitler did not rise to power by the will of the apathetic majority—he soared to the leadership of a mighty nation on the wings of a determined minority. The same was true of Mussolini; his march on Rome—in a comfortable sleeping-car—was not in answer to the prayers of the multitude. He himself, with a very few followers, achieved his domineering power in utter disregard for the wishes of the majority. Again the situation is distinctly and alarmingly similar to ours in Canada.

WOULD that I had the power, my son, to awaken the people of my beloved land to a knowledge of the danger that lurks unrecognized in their midst. I would rouse them from the apathy that proved fatal in Germany and in Italy, and make them aware of the beast that seeks to devour all that is good in our freedom. I would warn them of their duties as citizens; I would ensure their presence at the polls, lest these polling places disappear. If I had the power I would rouse our government to a greater sense of their responsibility to the people who have elected them. I would see enacted a program of education that would include in its curriculum a citizens' school of political science; I would see to it that our young were as thoroughly taught the fine principles of our democracy, as are the German, the Italian, the Russian youth, imbued in their classes with the false doctrine of fascism or communism. I would succeed beyond the hopes of these foreign teachers for I would have the power and weight of truth behind the teaching of democracy as we Canadians understand its application. And, truth prevailing as it shall and will, I would have our Canada in the brave forefront of the nations of the world in the belief that a true system of government is that which gives its people, as their right, a maximum of liberty and a minimum of surveillance.

And so we end this series, my boy. I hope it has been of interest to you and that my pedantic style has not proved a burden. Goodnight and good fortune and in this your mother joins me.

YOUR FATHER.

STRIKING AT NAZI TOWER OF STRENGTH —By Rube Goldberg

Mr. Churchill On British Patience

(MANCHESTER GUARDIAN)

IN the House of Commons on Tuesday, Sir William Davison (C.—Kensington, S.) asked the Prime Minister whether, in view of the refusal by the Government of Eire to consider the American request, supported by Great Britain, that Axis consular and diplomatic representatives should be removed from Eire having regard to the serious danger to the Allies in connection with the forthcoming invasion of Europe of having a centre of espionage in the British Isles, he was satisfied that the steps recently taken to minimize this danger were adequate; and if not, what other measures the Government had in view.

The Prime Minister: The initiative in this matter was taken by the United States because of the danger to American armed forces from the presence of Axis missions in Dublin. His Majesty's Government were, however, of course consulted throughout by the United States Government and gave the American approach full support.

We have for some time past taken a number of measures to minimize the danger arising from the substantial dis-service to the Allied cause involved by the retention by Mr. De Valera's Government of the German Minister and the Japanese Consul with their staffs in Dublin. The time has now come when these measures must be strengthened, and the restrictions of travel to Ireland announced in the press yesterday are the first step in the policy designed to isolate Great Britain from Southern Ireland and also to isolate Southern Ireland from the outer world during the critical period which is now approaching.

I need scarcely say how painful it is to take such measures in view of the large numbers of Irishmen fighting so bravely in the armed forces and the many deeds of personal heroism with which they have kept alive the martial honour of the Irish race.

No one, I think, can reproach us with precipitancy. No nation in the world would have been so patient. (Cheers.)

Notable Discoveries Of Celtic Relics

(PROFESSOR D. ATKINSON in the MANCHESTER GUARDIAN)

A NOTABLE acquisition has been made by the National Museum of Wales consisting of about 90 bronze and iron relics of Celtic antiquity. They shed a more extensive light on Celtic life and art than that obtained from any previous deposit found in Wales.

The principal donor is Mr. Evan R. Hughes, of Holyhead. The objects were discovered in peat by the side of an Anglesey lake last year. They are estimated provisionally to date between B.C. 100 and 50 A.D., a period covering the most notable phase of pre-historic Celtic civilization in Britain. The collection includes weapons, iron tyres and parts of vehicles, gang chains for captives, currency bars, the central portion of a bronze trumpet, a wand of ash wood decorated with spiral bronze ribbon, the bronze mounts of a wooden casket, a sickle, and other metal objects. There are also bridle-bits in a striking variety of types and techniques. The objects are the sort of things which would be acquired by a wealthy family or a dynasty of chieftains.

Some of the objects found in Anglesey (the plaques, bridle bits, &c.) show in its finest stage that decoration, abstract, accomplished and inhuman, which is typical of Celtic art. Among them are objects imported from Ireland, including a great spearhead 2 feet long, others from the Belgic area of the Lower Thames Valley, and from that Southwestern region in which the art reached its highest development. Thus in the period of its prosperity a rich Anglesey family could readily obtain the best productions of a wide area. A welcome light is thus thrown on movements of trade in Iron Age Britain.

Other economic questions, too complicated for discussion here, are raised by the "currency bars." Grimmer, perhaps, is the social picture presented by the two gang-chains, each for five slaves, rare finds though similar objects from Kent may be seen in the Manchester Museum at the University. The embossed plaques of thin bronze with their asymmetrical triquetra designs are of unusual artistic interest, and it may be mentioned that the Shrewsbury Museum possesses a heavy wrought-iron die on which similar patterns were beaten up. The bridle bits, two and three-link snaffles, and vehicle mountings are finer examples of bronze work and by their shape and size reveal the use in Anglesey of those war chariots of whose use by the Britons we read in Caesar.

The condition of the objects suggests an answer to the natural question how such a collection came to be thrown into a lake at a point which had, as accumulated rubbish, animal bones, &c., show, long been the family refuse dump. The weapons are broken, there are cuts across some of the chariot mountings, the trumpet is sheared through, and, except for the ashen wand which shows that the peat would preserve wood, there is no woodwork remaining. The complete absence of transitional Celto-Roman objects marks a clear-cut end to the occupation at a date near to A.D. 50, and near that date history relates the destruction in A.D. 61 by Paulinus and his legions of the last remains of Druidism and its defenders on the shores of the Menai Straits. Here perhaps we have the "mopping up" that followed, the homestead wrecked, the family possessions burned, and the unconsumed remains flung into the lake. They made a solitude and called it peace.

An English Garden Evolves

In medieval England, the garden of the mistress of a castle was limited by walls, while the little plot of the cottage housewife was compassed within the few feet permitted by the huddling of buildings together. Of course, the farm lands of the lord and the area allotted to tenants were beyond protection and often were trampled down by the soldiers of quarrelsome barons in search of a fight. The problem of the gardener then, before the sixteenth century, was to grow as many purely useful herbs as possible within a small space. It was a utilitarian garden.

As the foreign herbals or translations of them began to drift into England, perhaps a knight and his lady, if they could read or someone in their service could, would be inspired to take a really good look at the plants pictured in the book. Many were in their own gardens; others, unknown to them, were grown beyond the seas. How they must have longed for more garden space wherein they might coddle a stranger-plant till it grew to like English soil.

But this dream of many a dweller of castle and cottage was not materialized until 1485, when Henry VII ascended the throne after the defeat of Richard III. He determined that never again would barons be allowed to become so powerful that a king could be overthrown. It was forbidden to fortify castles, and in time the castle moat was filled in, the grounds were no longer a thoroughfare for armed retainers, and the little gardens began to spread out. Many of the poorly built cottages of the tenants were torn down, and when rebuilt spread out comfortably beyond the cramped areas of the towns. With this feeling of safety and expansion, more attention was given to gardens and getting the most from farm land. Gardeners from France, from Italy, from Holland, were invited to England to consult about these bigger and better gardens. With all this renaissance of gardening, Englishmen who had never put pen to paper suddenly grew articulate. They translated foreign books on gardening or wrote about their own farms, orchards and gardens, and advised others how it all should be done. And the "others" clamored for those writings.—From "Green Enchantment," by Rosetta E. Clarkson.

Danger Lessened

These days parachute jumping is no more dangerous than jumping off a slow moving bus. Sprained ankles and wrists are down to a minimum, which is largely due to the fact that the parachutes are painstakingly packed. One flight-sergeant has been responsible for the packing of 38,000 parachutes and says he has never had one fail to open.—Fredericton Daily Gleaner.

A Bible Message

There was a certain rich man, which was clothed in purple and fine linen, and fared sumptuously every day: and there was a certain beggar named Lazarus, which was laid at his gate, full of sores, and desiring to be fed with the crumbs which fell from the rich man's table....

And it came to pass, that the beggar died, and was carried by the angels into Abraham's bosom: the rich man also died, and was buried; and in hell he lift up his eyes, being in torments, and seeth Abraham afar off, and Lazarus in his bosom. And he cried and said, Father Abraham, have mercy on me, and send Lazarus, that he map dip the tip of his finger in water, and cool my tongue; for I am tormented in this flame.

But Abraham said, Son, remember that thou in thy lifetime receivedst thy good things, and likewise Lazarus evil things: but now he is comforted, and thou art tormented. And beside all this, between us and you there is a great gulf fixed: so that they which would pass from hence to you cannot; neither can they pass to us, that would come from thence.

Then he said, I pray thee therefore, father, that thou wouldest send him to my father's house: for I have five brethren; that he may testify unto them, lest they also come into this place of torment.

Abraham saith unto him, They have Moses and the prophets; let them hear them. And he said, Nay, father Abraham: but if one went unto them from the dead, they will repent. And he said unto him, If they hear not Moses and the prophets, neither will they be persuaded, though one rose from the dead. (Luke 16: 19-31.)

Unconsidered Trifles

Tired after a difficult day, the politician handed the menu back to the Negro waiter and said: "Just bring me a good meal."

He put a generous tip on his plate, and a good meal, a very good meal, was served.

When it was over, the statesman gave a large tip as a good-bye gesture. The waiter leaned over his chair confidentially.

"Thank you, sah," he said, "an' if you done got any othah frien's what can't read, you jes, send 'em to me, sah."

The wife of an almost bankrupt businessman said at breakfast: "Will you mail this letter for me, dear? It's to the furrier countermanding my order for that $10,000 sable. You'll be sure to remember?"

The eyes of the harassed businessman lit up with joy. He seized a skipping rope that lay with some dolls and toys in the corner, and, going to his wife, said: "Here, tie my right hand to my left foot so I won't forget!"

Meat Prices

Dispatches tell us that Toronto packing houses are overloaded with Western beef, and that the price of cattle dropped there this week. Where's the floor? May we suggest to the powers-that-be it is quite within the realm of possibilities that, inside a year, there will be a serious food shortage on this continent, and we may wish that we had given more encouragement to beef and lamb producers than we have been during the past few weeks.—Lethbridge Herald.

Free Spending

Since the recent figures came out showing that the people of Ontario in one year spent over $93,000,000 on liquor, someone has figured that it represents about seven cents on each dollar of the people's earnings, or $200 a year on a salary of $3,000. That amount would buy a lot of insurance and old age annuities and keep a lot of people off relief or from the necessity of living with relatives who don't want them.—Port Arthur News-Chronicle.

Need Churchill

Mr. Churchill might have added that he will be 70 years old before this year of 1944—a year filled with great portents for the Allied cause—is over; and even so vigorous a person as he is not looking to new political preferment at that age. But let there be no mistake about this: Britain and the United States and the world need this man in the anxious times ahead. He personifies the valour and the strength and the faith which held back the Nazi tide in modern civilization's blackest hour. — Buffalo Courier-Express.

Jap Casualties Top 4,000 Mark

KANDY, Ceylon, April 20.—(CP). —The Japanese are paying heavily for their thrust into India, their known dead in the last weeks far exceeding 4,000 without counting the large numbers doubtless killed by artillery fire, strafing and bombing, it was disclosed Wednesday.

Latest reports from the front said the Allies had gone over to the offensive northeast of Imphal, Allied base on the plain of Manipur, and were making "satisfactory progress."

The Japanese lost at least 400 killed and much equipment in the battle of Nunshigum Hill north of Imphal, with some of their units being practicaly wiped out and one company reduced to 10 men. Six Japanese prisoners were taken. Allied casualties were comparatively light.

Bride-to-Be Given Miscellaneous Shower

NORWOOD, April 20.—(ENS).—A miscellaneous shower was given Monday evening by Mrs. Golden Andrews and Betty for Miss Grace Brown, a bride of the month. About twenty-five guests were present and the evening was spent in playing games.

The table was beautifully decorated with a pink umbrella with streamers hanging from it. The bride-to-be opened the gifts under a white bell and streamers of pink and white. A dainty lunch was served the guests.

Miss Brown was also presented with a cup and saucer by her Sunday School class of St. Andrew's Church. Mrs. H. Morgan spoke in appreciation of Miss Brown's work in the Sunday School.

Banana Prices Stay At 14 Cents

OTTAWA, April 20.—(CP).—The Prices Board announced Wednesday an order effective to-day, setting a retail price of 15 cents per pound on bananas sold in the west, Northern Ontario, Northern Quebec and the Maritime provinces. In Southern Ontario and Southern Quebec the retail price will remain at 14 cents per pound.

The Board said the order is designed to ensure more equitable distribution of the limited supplies of bananas reaching Canada, and that previously, because of shipping costs, available supplies were marketed only in the more central areas. The retail prices set by the order will take care of additional freight costs.

Under the order, the dividing line in Ontario and Quebec is the 47th parrallel, which runs north of Sudbury, Ont., and north of the city of Quebec.

Destroyer Stages Daring Night Raid

AN EASTERN CANADIAN PORT. April 20.—(CP).—For Lieut. Frank Willcox of Montreal, a "train busting" attack by the Royal Navy destroyer aboard which he was serving stacks up as one of the most exciting of his experiences in nearly four years in the navy.

His destroyer sneaked close enough to the Italian coast to blow up two railway trains with her 4.7-inch guns, and finished by sinking four trawlers trying to get supplies up the coast behind the enemy lines.

"It was just a case of going as close as we could get, lighting the night up with star shells, bombarding like hell and getting out of there as quickly as possible," Willcox said.

The destroyer was lead ship during the first attack on the Anzio beachhead, when her sister ship was sent to the bottom and her own bows blown off by torpedoes.

Rousing Bouts Feature Army Boxing

MONTREAL, April 20.—(CP). — Sgmn. Wally Hicks of Toronto, wasting little time in getting through with his evening's chores, scored a first-round technical K.O. over Gnr J. Smith of Petawawa, in the semi-finals of the Canadian army boxing championships, zone 2, tournament held here last night.

Hicks, rated as one of the best scrappers in the army, impressed the crowd of over 2,000 with his business-like left jab that played a silent tattoo on Smith's face.

Hicks started after his opponent with the bell and his jab and short hook soon drew blood from several cuts on Smith's battered face, causing officials to stop the slaughter.

Lieut. Joe Gagnon, former Dominion amateur bantamweight champion and British Empire Games finalist made successful comeback after a four-year retirement by scoring a clear-cut decision over Pte. Fernand Gagnon, of Asbestos, Que. The Montrealer proved that he hadn't forgotten his old ring tactics that won him one of the greatest followings in local amateur fight history.

A bad cut under the left eye forced Bdr. Johnny Waterfield, of London, Ont., to quit his championship campaigning and the 135-pound open class semi-final was awarded to Pte. G. B. McGlynn of Kingston. The two Ontario scrappers put up a good fight while it lasted, but a right hand punch split Waterfield's upper cheek in the last few seconds of the initial round and ended the fight.

Sgt. Don St. Louis, of Williamstown, Ont., found a stronger opponent in Pte. Jerry Poliseo than he anticipated and he was forced out of the tourney when the Montrealer opened a deep cut over his right eye and he was unable to continue after the second round..

The Ontario battler had been a favorite to finish on top of the welterweights in the eastern finals, which are scheduled for Camp Petawawa April 26 and 27.

Montreal placed six of the seven novices in the zone finals which are scheduled for tonight here, with three others in the open class. Military district 3 (Kingston) will have five representatives in the open finals while Petawawa and Military District 5 (Quebec) came through with three wins each.

Other winners last night included Pte. Charles Lapierre of Kirkland Lake, Gnr. Phil McQuade of Toronto, Sgmn. Ed. Landry and Pte. G. B. McGlynn, both of Kingston.

PHILADELPHIA, April 20—(AP)—Professional football had its counterpart to Tiny Maxwell, colorful college referee, in Jim Durfee of Columbus, O., whose officiating helped establish the National League and whose memory still is fresh in the minds of the circuit's best yarn-spinners . . Here are a couple of the tales that have been rehashed in the past few days:

Decision Reserved

It was during a game between those bitter Ohio rivals, Canton and Massilon, and the game was nearing its end when the visiting club moved down near the goal line . . . The spectators crowded around the field and when a visiting back flung a long pass across the field, the man who caught it disappeared into the throng as he stepped across the goal line . . . A moment later he came flying out again, minus the ball, his headgear and most of his jersey and when the ball finally was located it was well out on the field and in possession of a home player . . . Durfee, the referee, surveyed the scene and announced: "The decision will be rendered in my hotel tomorrow morning." And without waiting for the end of the game he left the field.

Protest Overruled

Another difficult decision that Durfee had to call came in a big league game when a little halfback faded to throw a pass and was grabbed by a huge lineman from the other side . . . The big fellow slung the little one over his shoulder and was carrying him toward his own goal when the passer calmly tossed the ball down to the ground. . . . It was ruled an incomplete pass but the Giants' Steve Owen protested to Durfee . . . "Why didn't you penalize them for intentionally grounding a pass, Jim?" Steve demanded . . . Why, Steve," Durfee replied blandly. 'I was looking that boy straight in the eye and I saw no sign of intent."

SPORTS—Day by Day

By FRED D. CRAIG

Showing no signs of faltering with the finish line in sight Westclox girls tightened their grip on first place in the Ladies' Five Pin League this week by smothering the Beavers in a three game-slam while the second-place Outboard Marines dropped one out of three games to the Commandos and slipped back another point. The Big Bens now lead the parade by seven points and that looks like an insurmountable margin at the present writing. If Isobel Bullock had not happened to have picked that night for one of her few low score games Westclockers might have set a new team total for the season for in spite of a 459 by the usually high-scoring Tommy the Big Bens piled up 3166 points, with Aggie Anderson leading the procession with 707, Audrey Livingston dropping thet pins to the tune of 686, Marg Hawthorne cashing in with 681 and Marg Selkirk contributing 653, G. Worton of Lucky Strikes had the best single score of the week, hitting 344. On the whole the bowling was good this week for there were two girls in the 700 class and eight more rolled 600 or better.

A great little bit of stuff is Sergt. Gerard Cote of St. Hyacinthe, Que., and the Canadian Army. For the second year in succession the stockily-built little Canuck long-distance runner won the Boston Marathon yesterday, his third triumph in the historic event. In the nearly 50 years existence of this classic long distance competition it had been won twice in succession only twice before Cote completed the feat yesterday. Interestingly enough one of the only other two men who have achieved successive triumphs in Boston Marathons was also a Canadian, Jimmy McCaffrey of Hamilton who was first home in 1901 and repeated the win the following year. Canadians have always been prominent in this banner long distance competition. Johnny Miles of Cape Breton won it a couple of times, although not in succession and Corkery and other Canadian have come home in front against classy fields. Just thirty years ago Jimmy Duffy of Hamilton was the winner. Cote's second victory in two years stamps the St. Hyacinthe marathoner as the outstanding long-distance runner on the American continent today. Incidentally Cote is as hard to beat on snowshoes as he is in the running game and he has cleaned up a series of snowshoe contests every winter.

Pitchers On Top

Pitchers continued to dominate the parade in the second day's program of the big leagues Wednesday. There were no shutouts but one American League flinger and two National League hurlers came up with impressive three-hitters. Incidentally all were more or less veterans. Steve Sundra was the American League three-blow performer. He held the Detroit Tigers to a trio of hits, and the St. Louis Brownies won the argument 3 to 1. Sundra would have had a shutout but he made one mistake. He fired a home run ball to big Rudy York who now has circuit clout No. 1 to his credit. The National League gunners who flashed three-hit performances were Elmer Riddle of the Cincinnati Reds who pitched great ball to beat the Chicago Cubs in a close one 2 to 1 and hard-luck Jim Tobin of Boston who only yielded three safe raps to the New York Giants, and yet was beaten 2 to 1. Tobin can blame that one on Mel Ott, the great little manager of the New York club, who drove a ball out of the park with a teammate on the sacks for the Giants pair of runs. Incidentally it was Ott's 464th homer of his big league career. Pound for pound there has been no greater distance hitter in the majors. He's not big but the Giant pilot can drive that ball a country mile.

Yesterday was not a good day for the world champion New York Yanks. After winning against the Boston Red Sox Tuesday the Yanks dropped both ends of a Patriot's Day doubleheader to the same club yesterday. You would probably have to go back a long way in the records to find the last occasion when the New Yorkers were beaten twice on the same day so early in the season. Joe McCarthy tried a pair of rookie pitchers and both of them failed in their first test. The Red Sox with Woods pitching the morning game won easily 6 to 1 and they came back in the second engagement with O'Neill on the hilltop and garned that one 5 to 2. Orval Grove, Chicago White Sox ace who should have a great year got away to a good start by polishing off a neat seven-hitter at the expense of the Cleveland Indians and winning 3 to 1. Al Smith was the losing pitcher. Last but not least Brooklyn Dodgers defeated the Phillies 5 to 4 in an overtime game with Chipman getting the credit for the win after Curt Davis had been the starting pitcher.

It's Wrecked Now

Oshawa Generals who almost ruined the Memorial Cup final series by swamping the Trail Smoke Eaters 9 to 2, completed their demolition work last night by taking their third straight win over the hapless Western Canada title-holders. This itme the rout was complete for Trail were buried under an avalanche of Oshawa goals until the final count showed the perennial Ontario champs in front 15 to 4. It was one of the most one-sided final games in the history of Memorial Cup competition; in fact it was so bad that even radio fans turned off the voice of Foster Hewitt and tuned in something else. Even a soap drama was better than the story of the complete demoralization of the Trail kids. The series will be wound up with a fourth game in Toronto Saturday night and they will hardly be able to give away tickets for that one. The mystery, to Eastern fans, is how the coast team ever managed to win the Western Canada title with the brand of hockey they have shown in Toronto. The answer probably is that in the first place junior hockey in the West has bogged down considerably and in the second Trail probably showed more class than they have been able to display in the final series.

* * * * * *

The Allan Cup finals, incidentally, do not look as if they are going to offer much better competition than the junior series. Quebec Aces, generally picked to take the senior honors, did not let down the experts last night when the first game of the final round was staged in Quebec and the Aces showed too much power and class for the Port Arthur Shipbuilders, winning without a great deal of trouble by 6 to 1, with Tremblay setting the pace by firing three goals for the winners. The Shipbuilders may do better in the remaining games. They have shown an ability in other series to come back after they were apparently beaten and that same drive may be demonstrated once again. However, few fans credit them with any real chance to win the series. The Aces who have stood out all season still look too formidable in every department for the boys from the head of the lakes. It is a best-of-five round and Quebec may clean it up in three straight, on the strength of the superiority they showed in the opening game of the round.

Is there an outfielder in the house?

Most of the major league managers may try to duck that question, but not so Manager Jimmy Wilson of the Chicago Cubs.

The Cubs, strangely, have not only "an" outfielder in the house, but six of 'em, and all boys who could or have played regularly.

There's plenty of power in that Cub outfield, too, judging by the batting averages of the group, old and new members.

Wilson's first line of defence probably will be Bill Nicholson, the biffing blond bomber, in right; Andy Pafko, batting champion in the Pacific Coast league last year, in centre, and Ival Goodman, veteran fly-chaser formerly with the Reds, in left.

The second team of gardeners includes Ed Sauer, batting champion in the Southern association; Dom Dallesandro, the 1939 Pacific Coast league batting king who has failed to hit in the majors, and Lou Novikoff, the slugging Russian who has missed most of the spring training program.

Nicholson is a tested gardener and a power hitter. He socked 29 home runs last year to top the National league and also finished the season with a .309 average.

Pafko, who may become one of the game's stars, pounded the ball for a .358 average with Los Angeles and then, in 13 games with the Cubs late last year, he hit for a mighty .379.

Goodman, who was sold to Chicago in November, 1942, for the waiver price, after eight years with the Reds, batted .320 for the Cubs in 80 games last year.

The Cubs thus would have a power-laden outfield with some heavy hitters ready to step in if the starter went into a slump.

Sauer, most valuable player in the Southern association last year, batted .368 for Nashville in 136 games and then hit for .273 for the Cubs in 14 contests.

Novikoff, the fence buster of the Pacific Coast league in 1939-40, batted only .279 for the Cubs last year, but he is a power hitter and was terrifice in the minors.

Dallesandro, the sixth member of the outfield corps, batted only .222 in 87 games with the Chicago entry last season.

Goodman, Nicholson and Novikoff are 1-A in the draft; Suer is 1-C and Pafko and Dallesandro are 4-F.

Here and There in Sport

By The Canadian Press

The third and deciding game for the Canadian junior basketball championship last night at Kitchener resulted in a 37-23 victory for St. Jerome's College against the Quebec regional contenders, Montreal Young Men's Hebrew Association. The easterners had captured the first encounter 29-24 but the collegians came through with a 30-27 win the previous night to tie up the series. Chief scorers for the new champions was Chuck Collins who found the mark for six field goals and six foul tosses for a total of 18 points.

The victory brought exultation for St. Jerome players and supporters who carried their coach, Father Jerome Arnold, around the gym floor, then performed a snake dance through Kitchener street. In celebration of the triump, a holiday for the whole student body was declared for today.

Canada placed first and fifth among the 35 finishers in yesterday's Boston Marathon when Gerard Cote of Ste. Hyacinthe, Que., outfought John Kelley of Massachusetts to win the grind for the third time and Lloyd Evans of Montreal plodded into fifth place. Kelley had copped the race in 1935 and this was his sixth time for second prize. Half of the starters finished.

War bonds to the value of $150,000 have been offered as prizes for the summer's 10 tournaments to be staged by the Professional Golfers Association starting with an invitation affair at Philadelphia June 8-11 for $17,500 in awards.

Giants, Browns Sitting In Top Spots

By JACK HAND
Associated Press Sports Writer

Don't look now but the New York Giants and the St. Louis Browns are hiding up on top of the major leagues where you'd never expect to see them.

The won-and-lost records operate with the devastating effect of a runaway elevator at this stage of the game but you can't blame Managers Mel Ott and Luke Sewell for having fun while it lasts.

As the clubs go into a slim six-game schedule today preceding Friday's second openers, excellent pitching efforts by Ewald Pyle and Bill Voiselle of the Giants and Steve Sundra and Jack Kramer of the Brownies make them the only unbeaten teams who have won two starts.

It took a boost from the boss in the form of Mel Ott's 464th major league home run to put over Pyle's bid for his first National League victory after a disappointing trial in the American. Ott's early clout after George Hausmann walked gave the New Yorkers their 2-1 edge on Boston although Jim Tobin qualified to join Bucky Walters in the "We-wuz-robbed" department by losing a three hitter.

Sundra gave the Browns their second in a row with a three-hit effort against Detroit. The Tigers, beaten 3-1 had only Rudy York's homer to thank for missing a shutout but it was York's 1,000th big league base hit.

New York Yankees ran into trouble when two promising rookies, Johnny Johnson and Walt Dubiel, were beaten as the American League champs dropped both ends of a doubleheader in Boston, 6-1 and 5-2. Emmett O'Neil outpitched Dubiel, a Newark graduate, before 13,650 in the afternoon after George (Pinky) Woods had beaten Johnson in the morning with 3,376 watching. Jim Tabor won the second game with a homer and celebrated with three hits.

Orval Grove got the Chicago White Sox off on the right foot with a 3-1 verdict over the Cleveland Indains in a delayed opening game that drew 5,705.

A base on balls to Gil English by Deacon Donahue, Phil rookie hurler from Utica, N.Y., proved his undoing as Paul Waner came through with a pinch hit single to score English and give the Brooklyn Dodgers a 5-4 verdict in the 10th.

Cincinnati got another top row pitching effort as Elmer Riddle turned in a three-bingle performance and won from Chicago, 2-1.

When Sonja Henie was asked how she learned to skate, her reply was simple and stimulating. "By getting up," she said, "every time I fell down" . . . Jackie Cooper, now in the American air force, will have a pretty penny piled up for him by the time he gets out of uniform. He acted in "Where Are Your Children?" for a small percentage of the profits . . . Like many new movie stars, Dick Haymes, the singer, developed trouble with his former manager. The latter is suing for $400,000. Haymes saw the ex-manager standing nearby recently and sent over a dollar bill with a note reading, "Balance, $399,999" . . . Judith Allen, having appeared occasionally in movies, just wrote a small book called "How to Get Into the Movies." Yes, but how do you stay in them?

In 1926 he and a pal made it to Hollywood in a rattletrap car, which broke down at the outskirts. Being broke, they hiked the rest of the way. Today he's the biggest money-making star. His name is Bing Crosby . . . Bela Lugosi is head of the Free Hungarian Movement on this continent . . . The Bob Hopes have an adopted daughter named Linda. He said good-night to her over the air recently and caused some comment, since his wife's name is Dolores . . . Irving Cummings, famed producer, has arranged a plan by which some unknown boy and girl between 18 and 25 will be chosen for movie careers. Stars will be the judges of photos and 200-word letters. The address is 200 South Beverly Drive, Beverly Hills, California. Rules confine the contest to the USA but maybe the omission of Canada from the announcement was an error.

A movie will be made about the life of Walt Whitman, "The Good Gray Poet" . . Canadian connections are part of the lives of most Hollywood workers. This became more than apparent when the players were assembled for the making of "The Shining Future" to aid the Victory Loan. Jack Carson was born in Carmen, Manitoba 31 years ago and Deanna Durbin was Edna Mae Durbon when she was born in Winnipeg in 1922. Alan Crosland, film editor, is related to Connie Smythe of the Maple Leaf Hockey Team, his mother's family being the Becks of Montreal. The wife of Harold (The Great Gildersleeve) Peary is a Gregoire of Montreal. Leroy Prinz, the director trained with the RCAF during the last war and Jack L. Warner, the producer, is a native of London, Ontario . . . Gracie Fields and Monty Woolley, so successful as a team in "Holy Matrimony," will make "Family Album" together.

Rita Hayworth, so outstanding in the fine Technicolor production, "Cover Girl," will have the lead in "Oklahoma!" . . . The Don Ameches are crazy about kids. They have four of their own and want to adopt twin girls . . . This is Hollywood: David Newell, who had a star buildup some years ago, is now a makeup man at a minor studio . . . England lost domination of the movie world to Hollywood when the last war occupied her earlier. She is moving to regain it and Television may help her to, since England is far in advance of the USA in the new medium . . . At a party to celebrate the 50th wedding anniversary of Gary Cooper's mother, a huge cake was sent. Mrs. Cooper refused to cut it but had it shipped to a canteen.

Canadian Wins Boston Marathon

BOSTON, April 20.—(CP).—Gerard Cote of Ste. Hyacinthe, Que., a wiry Canadian army sergeant, has the laurel wreath which waits annually at the end of the Boston A.A. Marathon's torturing trail, but today a share of his glory is owned by wee Johnny Kelley.

For Cote in winning the grind yesterday for the second successive year it was a triumph paralleling that of another great Canadian long-distance runner, J. J. McCaffrey, of Hamilton, Ont., who won the classic in 1901 and 1902. Along with Cote's victory in 1939 it made the French-Canadian a three-times winner.

Plucky Johnny Kelly of West Acton, Mass., emerged from the ruck of yesterday's race and threw aside the whispers that he was washed up to draw every last resource from his frail frame and convert what loomed as a Cote spread-eagling of the field into one of the classic marathon races of all time.

It was not until he reached the ominous hills of Newton—the soul-wracking slopes which tear out the hearts of marathoners—where so often in the past decade he has run his race and lost, that Kelley hauled off and made a fight of it. But he just didn't have enough left in his frail frame to meet the stronger Cote's last, grim challenge.

"It's tough to be so close that you can actually see the winner finishing," Kelley said later.

Cote was clocked in 2:31:50 2-5, almost five minutes slower than the record for the course.

Loyd Evans of Montreal was fifth.

Trail Smothered 15 to 4 In Third Game

TORONTO, April 20—(CP)—Trail Smoke Eaters practically bowed out of the Memorial Cup junior hockey finals here last night as they were trounced 15-4 by Oshawa Generals for their third straight loss in the best-of-seven final series. Generals can wrap the cup up here Saturday night in the fourth game.

Smoke Eaters kept the crowd of 7,138 on the edge of their seats in the first period as they fought Generals on nearly even terms, but in the second they collapsed. Oshawa laced in nine goals in the middle session and sent Trail's goalie Bev Bentley to the bench for a rest. Howard Wilson replaced him for the last few minutes of the period, but Bentley was back in for the third.

Oshawa outscored the Westerners 3-2 in the first period, coasted to the wire in the second on the long end of a 12-3 count and tapered off in the third with three goals as Smoke Eaters skated themselves into exhaustion in a desperate attempt to scramble within hailing distance of the Eastern champions.

Third Straight Loss

Trail absorbed 9-2 and 5-2 losses in the first two games.

Harvey Bennett in the Oshawa net had another comparatively easy night, his defencemen and back-checking forwards taking care of most of the Trail plays before they reached effective shooting range. He robbed the westerners of goals on several tough shots, while over-eagerness and loose play about the nets doomed the Smokies on other chances.

Ken Smith, flashy Oshawa winger, maintained his starring pace of the series and led the scorers with three goals and four assists. Bob Dawes playing a rushing game from his defence spot and chalked up three goals and two assists, while the other Oshawa big gun was Bob Love with three and one.

Every man on the Oshawa lineup figured in the point-gathering except the goalie and Defenceman Bert Shewchuk.

Trail's goals were scored by Roy Kelly, Frank Turik, Harvey Ross and Dick Butler.

The line-ups:

Trail		Oshawa
Bentley	Goal	Bennett
De Paolis	Defence	Dawes
Toffolo	Defence	Mortson
Turik	Centre	Love
E. Miller	Wing	Chenier
Magliani	Wing	Ezinicki

Trail subs: H. McLeod, Marcquess, Kelly, Ross, Butler, J. Miller.

Oshawa subs: Shewchuck, Taggart, Lindsay, Smith, Curry, Barker.

Officials: Danny Cox, Port Arthur; Pean Bennett, Montreal.

Canadian Sport Snapshots

By SYD THOMAS
Canadian Press Staff Writer

TORONTO, April 20. — (CP). — Thoughts of post-war prospects for sport are much in the foreground now, and many centres are making tentative plans for the day when the athletes in the services come back. On this subject, Alex Walker of Calgary, Dominion president of the Canadian Legion, has some thought-provoking and timely ideas.

Talking to H. A. Cole of the Guelph Mercury, Mr. Walker voiced the opinion that sport won't be the primary consideration of men back from the fighting fronts. First they will want to get themselves re-established in civilian life and get a grip on the existence they were torn out of by the war. After that they will turn eventually to sports and recreation for their spare hours.

It's only natural that a man won't have much appetite for sports if he is at a loose and not absorbed gainfully in the business and social life of the community, so that ties the whole thing up with the general post-war rehabilitation planning.

There's a thought there for those with the interests of sport and their community as a whole at heart. Right now the idea of tieing sport in with general civic activities, and of civic-supported recreation centres is receiving much support.

Once residents of a community can be interested to pitch in and plan a sports program, it's a short step to broaden the scope of the plan and work up to a general civic betterment program. After all, you couldn't have a better base to build on than sport and fair-play.

Incidentally:

Harry (London Free Press) Elsen was tickled by the report Trail Junior Smoke Eaters developed their fancy picture - passing routines through a well-developed sense of rhythm. Coach Louis Demore said he encouraged music among the boys in their off hours because the rhythm "linger in their games." Harry foresees a new trend developing in hockey, with ballet and toe dancing, waltzing and musical chairs as part of the training routine. Tom Glen, member of the R.C.A.F. Hurricanes football team in 1942, has received his discharge from the force and will appear with Verdun Grads next fall. It looks like a return engagement for Pte. Len Wadsworth of Ottawa, and Lieut. Ken Robinson of Kingston, Ont. Wadsworth took a close decision from Robinson in the 1936 Olympic boxing trials, and then both boys turned professional. They may meet in the middleweight "fight-off" between M.D. No. 2 and the Camp Borden section.

International Opens Season

By JOE REICHLER
Associated Press Sports Writer

NEW YORK, April 20 —(AP)— "New faces" is the slogan as the International League gets under way for its 61st consecutive seasonal opening today.

With only a few of last year's familiar faces on hand, score cards will be essential.

Some 40,000 Jersey City fans will see an entire new infield, catcher and two outfielders as the Little Giants face Toronto, last year's pennant champion, in the Roosevelt Stadium niaugural.

Montreal will introduce Stan Andrews of St. Paul as first-string catcher, Morris Aderholt, a .319 hitter at Chattanooga at third, Walter Chipple at first and Howard Belknap, Roy Sanner and Bill Tanner on the mound.

Three new managers will make their bow, Albert (Bruno) Betzel at Montreal, Ken Penner at Rochester and Stanley (Bucky) Harris at Buffalo. Betzel piloted Durham last year, Penner led the Sacramento Solons of the Pacific Coast League and Harris bossed the Philadelphia Phillies.

The battery for the Leafs in the opener at Jersey City will consist of Tom Ananicz and Dewey Williams. The Little Giants will oppose them with Walter [illegible]yche on the mound and Sam Demma behind the plate.

The Leafs have a number of new faces but they also have a number of players back from last season.

Caroline Isles Badly Battered

ALLIED HEADQUARTERS OF SOUTH-WEST PACIFIC, April 20 —(AP). — Japan's 2,000-mile chain of Caroline Islands, guarding the approaches to the Philippines was hit on Tuesday at both ends, with Central Pacific raiders handing Ponape on the east its 41st attack and South Pacific planes giving Woleai near the western end its fourth pounding.

The raid on Woleai, in which air patrols hit a runway and started fires and explosions among supply dumps, was announced to-day by Allied Headquarters in a communique which also reported the second successive strike Monday at Satawan airfield to the south-east of Truk in the Central Carolines.

The raid on Ponape from bases in the Marshalls was reported without elaboration yesterday at Pearl Harbor. The announcement also told of naval search plane attacks on Pakin near Ponape and on Ulul north-west of Truk. The Ponape raid was made on Monday west longitude or Pearl Harbor time, Tuesday in the time belt where the attack occurred.

Despite a 2,000-mile spread of targets listed to-day in to-day's South-west Pacific communique—from the Babar Islands north of Darwin to Satawan in the Carolines—no mention was made of air opposition.

Link Trainer Complete In Every Detail

By JACK GRAY
Canadian Press Staff Writer

MALTON, Ont., April 20—(CP)—Canada's Link celestial navigation trainer used to train student airmen at No. 1 Air Observers School here creates the illusion of flight so perfectly that inexperienced passengers are sometimes airsick. This and other details of the trainer were disclosed officially for the first time by the R.C.A.F. yesterday

Pilot, navigator, bomb aimer and wireless students are briefed as if going on an actual operational flight over Germany. They are given detailed maps of their home airport in England, the English Channel and German territory, weather conditions and navigation radio bearings. Routes to and from the target are plotted to avoid flak belts.

The trainer is a bomber fuselage mounted on a framework which moves on a turntable. The radio man can talk to ground (the instructor in the control room on the ground floor) and the navigator charts his course from the electrically-manufactured wind effects and the photographic map of Germany flung up by a projector on a silken screen immediately below the trainer.

Has All Problems

In the ground floor control room the instructor has a small radio sending set which transmits a radio beam which the trainer can "follow in." Every movement of the trainer is recorded on a table map by a "crab", an electrical machine which by means of teletorquess converts electrical signals into mechanical movement and an inker on the crab does the rest.

The dome is mounted on a gear that permits shifting of the stars. The hemisphere moves just as real stars move, thus giving the student navigator bearings on which to work out his course.

The pilot's seat is complete with such instruments as altimeter, directional gyro, air speed indicator and tachometer. When the "motor" starts you're off—at "160 miles an hour." Below the bomber fuselage is a silken screen upon which a projector from the floor throws a photographic map of German terrain as seen at 10,000 feet. As the "plane" veers and banks the instructor downstairs in the control roomroom creates by electrical devises the effects of winds ranging up to 60 miles an hour, thus creating operational problems for the student navigator and pilot.

There were about 200 patients in the blasted wards and by the light of the fires and firemen's searchlights, doctors and nurses worked to remove the bedridden to safety. The fires were swiftly brought under control.

"We had seen some extraordinary red and white flares coming down half-mile east of the hospital when suddenly a big barrage began immediately overhead and the bombs fell," a hospital official said.

"The German airman may have thought this was a factory. We were fortunate our casualties were low. We are still digging away debris looking for the missing patients."

Rail Targets Hit In Balkans

NAPLES, April 20—(AP)—R.A.F. Halifax bombers took up continuing Allied air offensive against German communications in the Balkans today with an attack on the railyards at Plovdiv, Bulgaria, 80 miles southeast of Sofia.

A ground haze made observation of results difficult, it was announced, but bomb flashes could be seen in the target area and the glow of fires was observed as the planes turned homeward.

Plovdiv is an important point in the rail network of southeastern Europe, especially on the line between Sofia and Istanbul, Turkey.

Rail targets there were attacked by R.A.F. Liberators and Wellingtons the night of April 17.

OBITUARIES

MRS. JAMES MILLAR

LAKEFIELD, April 20.—(ENS).—The funeral of Mary Louisa Jorey, wife of the late James Millar, was held from the Tedford Funeral Home on Monday.

Mrs. Millar had resided in this district all her life, having been born in Douro, 73 years ago, the daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. James Jorey. She was educated in Lakefield and was a member of the Presbyterian Church.

Following her marriage she resided on a farm in Smith until her husband retired and they moved into the village. Mr. Millar died seven years ago.

Mrs. Millar had been ill since last September and died on Saturday at her home on Ermitinger street.

The funeral service was conducted by Rev. L. M. Sharpe. There were many lovely floral tributes.

Surviving are two sisters, Mrs. J. Le May of Toronto and Mrs. M. E. McCloy of Vancouver, and one brother, S. W. Jorey, of Vancouver.

The casket-bearers were: Messrs. Herbert Abbott, S. E. White, Clayton White, Stanley Higgins, Stanley Richardson and George Charlton.

Interment was at Lakefield Cemetery.

Among those who attended the funeral from a distance were: Mr. and Mrs. Donald Jorey, of Beamsville, a nephew; Mrs. J. Le May and Mr. and Mrs. Cephas Le May, of Toronto; Mr. and Mrs. W. Larmer, of Millbrook, and Mr. and Mrs. Leonard Smith, of Millbrook.

WILLIAM A. PITT

MILLBROOK, April 20.—(ENS).—William Alexander Pitt, eldest son of Mr. John Pitt and the late Mrs. Pitt, of Millbrook, and veteran of the First World War, passed away suddenly in Toronto in his forty-seventh year, following only three days' illness.

He was born and brought up at Millbrook where his parents have been for many years well-known residents, his mother, the former Minnie Piercey, who predeceased her son by almost ten years, being a member of a pioneer family of the community. Enlisting in the 136th Battalion in the First World War, Mr. Pitt was overseas practically the whole period of that conflict, spending three years of his service in France.

Since his return he had been employed as a presser by a Toronto firm, and fifteen years ago was united in marriage with Marjorie McAllister, niece of Mrs. William Sayles of Kirkland Lake, formerly of Millbrook, who survives her husband. Also surviving are his father, John Pitt, of Millbrook; one sister, Mary, and a brother, Piercey, also living here; and one brother, Allen, of Toronto.

A member of the Anglican faith, having been confirmed at St. Thomas' Church, Millbrook, in his boyhood, Mr. Pitt had also retained his membership in J. B. Hall Lodge, No. 946, A.F. & A.M., of this village. For the Easter week-end William was home with his father and the family, returning to Toronto on Saturday evening, and suffering a stroke the next day, which resulted in his death.

The funeral took place on Friday from the Ross Craig Funeral Home, Queen street west, the service being conducted by Rev. J. Little of Chalmers' Presbyterian Church in the unavoidable absence of the Rev. Mr. Lambert of Christie Street Hospital.

The casket was draped with the Union Jack, and other military honors were accorded, including the sounding of the Last Post at the graveside. The many beautiful floral tributes were testimony to the affection and esteem of a wide circle of relatives and friends, and pallbearers were two members of the Pressers' Union to which he belonged, J. Wright and H. Moore; cousins, Donald McAllister, William O'Neil and Alex Brown; and a former school friend, Henry Johnston, at one time a resident of Millbrook.

Interment was in the Veterans' plot at Prospect Cemetery.

FOUR ENLIST

Four more men have enlisted in the Active Army through the Recruiting office in the Armouries. They are M. F. Dolan, 492 Dickson street; F. A. Moher, 121 Stewart street; Harold Cockerill, R.R. No. 1, Peterborough; and Lloyd Armitage, Cavan.

TO OPEN LOAN

J. J. Melleor of Orono, prominent Victory Loan speaker, is scheduled to address the Port Hope and Durham County salesmen in Port Hope on Friday night at the first rally in Durham of the Sixth Victory Loan. Mr. Melleor's address will be carried over CHEX at 7.30.

GOING UP.

Among the 31 airmen listed by the R.C.A.F as missing on active service after air operations is Flt. Sgt. Harold Bruce Thompson. He is the son of Edward Thompson, 79 Sherbourne Street, Port Hope. Thirteen fliers, previously reported missing, are now presumed to be dead.

IMPROVED TURNOUTS

The penalties provided by the law recently in the cases of several delinquent members of the 2nd (R) Battalion Prince of Wales Rangers, have resulted in larger turnouts of unit strength in recent weeks. "We have been having quite healthy parades of late," an official source said today.

DARING EXHIBITION

Flt. Lieut. Gerry Wooll, test pilot for DeHaviland aircraft zoomed low over the city today at noon, as a salute to the school pupils of the city and district who are working hard to sell enough war savings stamps to purchase a fighter plane. He was flying a Mosquito which is one of the fastest fighter-bombers now being used by the Allied fliers, and his daring swoops thrilled young and old.

MORE GRASS FIRES

Grass fires continued to occupy the attention of the Fire Department Wednesday afternoon with three in the space of a little over two hours. The first was in a vacant field at 1001 Water Street at 4.17 p. m. and was closely followed by another at the rear of 346 Mark street at 4.44 p. m. Later a third case of burning grass was discovered near the C. N. R. tracks at Perry and Lake streets. This was at 6.39 p. m. Still another grass fire originated out on Highway 7, and an alarm was phoned into the Fire Hall at 10.30 p. m., but being outside the city firemen did not go.

CASE DISMISSED

A charge of non-support against Frederick Henry, Lakefield, was dismissed in police court this morning at the request of the wife who had reported that family conditions had much improved. Crown Attorney V. J. McElderry, K.C., announced that he would not offer any evidence under the circumstances.

FALLS DOWN STAIRS.

W. M. (Pete) Lang, 417 Sheridan Street, suffered a cut on the forehead last evening shortly before 9 o'clock when he tripped and fell down the long flight of stairs leading into the offices at 397 George Street. He was taken to his home in Belleghem's ambulance and given attention by Dr. R. J. Young. He was not seriously hurt but the cut bled profusely.

HOME AGAIN

Exactly one year from the date of his serious accident, when a train ran over him, little Stanley Peryer, son of Bandsman Stanley and Mrs. Peryer, Bethune street, returned home from Sick Children's Hospital, Toronto, He was brought home Wednesday for a two months' stay, before returning to the hospital for observation. Bandsman Peryer has obtained a leave from his station at Barriefield, to be with his son.

NURSING SISTER

Miss Irene Corkery, daughter of Mrs. Dennis Corkery, 238 Westcott street, has enlisted in the R.C.A.M.C. as a nursing sister. She will report in Kingston for posting on Monday morning. Although she was educated in Peterborough, Miss Corkery graduated from a London hospital and has been working at Riverdale Isolation Hospital in Toronto. A brother, Cpl. O. D. Corkery, is stationed at Barriefield.

Trinity Club Presents Comedy Hit Before Crowded Auditorium

Members of Trinity Church Young People's Club surpassed their reputation for fine presentations Wednesday evening, when they presented Kurtz Gordon's "The Mad Hatters" to a crowded auditorium. The players maintained a high standard throughout the performance, and all parts were excellently portrayed. The play was fast-moving, and highly amusing, keeping the interest of the audience at all times.

Each player knew his part thoroughly, and definite knowledge lent a sureness and naturalness to all stage actions. Clever direction also played a great part in the "naturalness" of the characters. They seemed "at home" in their parts, and showed that a great deal of time had been devoted to study and direction, since even their facial expressions were realistic and understandably human.

The Hatter family, as the title suggests, was slightly crazy, in a nice, friendly sort of way. Joe Hatter, "pop" to the family, was a fishing enthusiast. Margaret Hatter, "mom" a former actress, had not lost her love for dramatics. Peggy Hatter, their daughter, was "nuts" about athletics, while Bunny Hatter, their son, was an amateur photographer, specializing in candid camera shots of his family, taken from odd and almost impossible angles. Diana Hatter, the other daughter, was the most sensible member of the family, but even she could not be counted on, since she had fallen in love.

Stages Upset

As the action began, the members of the family were free to follow their separate pursuits, because Grandma Hatter, an aviation enthusiast 70 year of age, gave the family a monthly allowance of $500. Consternation developed, however, when Grandma, who arrived piloting her own auto-gyro, announced that the family were going to have to show whether they could support themselves. She had decided to give them three months in which to prove they were "worth their salt", and if they failed, she was going to withdraw her support.

Although slightly taken aback, the family decided to show that they could amount to something, and each member, chose his own field of endeavor, "to prove to Grandma that I can make something of myelf, without her help."

Although, in the end, each was not as successful as he had hoped, the play ended happily for all. Richard Clayton and Iris Whalon, as "pop" and "mom" caught the spirit of their parts, as the scatter-brained, but lovable parents. Again the naturalness of their actions must be stressed, because pop brought to mind a great many fathers, as he wandered about singing "a fishing we will go", stacking his equipment in the corner of the living room; and exaggerating the size of his catches.

"Mom" was equally lovable, allowing herself to lose her temper, then changing in a moment to her own sweet self again. Ruth Holmes, as Peggy, was perfect in her part. She caught the subtle differences in her character, and in the first scenes was slightly on the superior side, changing however into a charming girl, in the last scenes. Don Holmes, as Bunny, took a rather difficult role, and turned in an excellent performance. He was likeable throughout all the action, and played his part with a polish which bespoke thorough knowledge of his character.

Well Trained

In addition to the excellent performances turned in by the main characters, the supporting players were all exceptionally good. Edna Elliott, as Angelica, the housekeeper, carried her comedy role very well. Her stage actions were free, and she always brought laughter when she walked through the room clicking her castanets. Dorothy Leeson, as Grandma Hatter; Melville Elliott, as Henry Harrison; Diana's fiance; Audrey Garside as his mother; Isabelle Taylor as Nancy, a young actress; Don Sly as Mugzie Mullen, Peggy's instructor; and Elva Elliott as a theatrical talent scout presented their parts with sincerity and sureness. Supporting roles are doubly important in a comedy, since there is no main character to carry the plot, and these players were equal to the task, turning in smooth performances.

H. T. Rehill did an excellent job as director for the production.

Beer Scattered Along Railway

When the brewery warehouse truck he was driving collided with a C. P. R. passenger train at the Park street crossing Wednesday afternoon, Donald White, 25 of 515 Bonaccord street sustained a broken right hip and injuries to his ribs.

The truck thrown to one side by the impact, was almost completely wrecked and bottles of beer were scattered over the scene of the accident, many of them broken.

White was driving the truck north on Park Street and as he reached the intersection the C. P. R. westbound passenger train was approaching the crossing. The driver swerved his truck in an effort to avoid the collision but his machine struck the front of the locomotive and was hurled to one side, coming to rest near the Park St. curb and facing south.

The train was brought to a stop 147 feet from the point of impact.

The injured man was taken to St. Joseph's Hospital. Officer C. J. McGillen investigated the crash.

Ortona Casualty Invalided To England

A veteran of the bloody Ortona fighting, Pte. Ken Masters, who was wounded on December 23, and has been hospitalized in Italy since that time, has been invalided back to a hospital in Great Britain.

Enlisting with the Hastings and Prince Edward Regiment in February 1942, Pte. Masters went overseas in December the same year. He is suffering from leg and hip wounds and is reported to be making good progress.

Son of John Masters, 163 Rink street, Pte. Masters has a wife, Pte. Ruth Masters, serving with the C.W.A.C. in Kingston, and a sister, Mrs. W. Faiers, R.R. 5, Peterborough. Before enlisting in the army, Pte. Masters was employed at the Martin-Hewitt company.

SERVING OVERSEAS—Telegraphist Chalmer (Chum) Gillespie, son of Mr. and Mrs. S. Gillespie, Lock Street, has been serving overseas since December. He joined the Navy in February, 1943, having been employed at the Bell Telephone Company. Tel. Gillespie attended the Collegiate.

Cottage Theft Ends In Jail

Two months imprisonment in the county jail, dating from April 6, was the sentence imposed by Magistrate O. A. Langley, K.C., this morning on Francis Edward Ruttle, former Port Arthur man, who had pleaded guilty at a previous sitting to breaking and entering the Chandos cottage of Pte. Frank Tanner of the Veterans' Guard and stealing goods valued at $65.

Ruttle, who had previously told the court that his wife was in a delicate condition and that he had broken into the cottage because he was down and out, asked for suspended sentence, declaring that he would go straight from now on.

The accused's record showed that he had been given a suspended sentence in St. Catharines in 1937 where he had stolen a suit of clothes.

Today he said that as a boy he had been admitted to the Mimico Industrial School, but added that the charge against him on that occasion was framed.

"Cottagers have to be protected against that sort of thing" said Crown Attorney V. J. McElderry, K.C. "This man not only stole the goods but he burned some of the things he took."

Magistrate Langley also said that it was not a case for suspended sentence and in sentencing Ruttle to two months in jail warned him that a repetition of the offence would result in much more severe punishment.

WelcomeNewMinister To Hastings Parish

HASTINGS, April 20—(ENS)—A reception was held in St. Andrew's Presbyterian Sunday school rooms on Tuesday evening to welcome the Rev. John Davey and Mrs. Davey who have received a call to this charge.

The chairman of the evening was Dr. Wilson, who gave a short address and called on Rev. J. E. Glover, pastor of Trinity United Church for a brief talk. A vocal duet entitled "Just a Song at Twilight," by Mrs. S. Whitred and Mrs. R. Johnston; readings, "The New Church Organ," by Mrs. R. Johnston, and "The Little Things that Tell" by James Moore. Rev. Mr. Davey and Mrs. Davey both gave interesting talks.

The Sunday school room was decorated with a long table covered with a lace cloth, centred with a plant with silver tapers on either sides. Mrs. W. E. Wilson and Mrs. W. McMillan poured tea. The women served a luncheon to a large crowd, with members present from St. George's Anglican and Trinity United churches. After lunch the ladies presented Mrs. Davey with the plant.

Peterborough Unit Subscribed $19,038,900 In Five Loans

In the five Victory Loans the Peterborough unit has subscribed to Canada's war effort $19,038,900, or sufficient money to build and fully equip three of Britain's largest heavy cruisers. Every loan has been over the three million dollar mark with the last two, the fourth and fifth, exceeding four million dollars.

With the Sixth Loan opening on Monday the objective is $4,500,000. This objective is a great increase over that of the First Loan in 1941 when $2,750,000 was asked and $3,085,000, including conversions, received. In that loan only 5,273 persons bought bonds.

The objectives have been increased and this has resulted in greater organizations and greater efforts put forth to increase the number of buyers until in the Fifth Loan there were 13,319 buyers.

A record of the six Victory Loans is as follows:

First Loan—
Objective	$2,750,000

C.G.E. Workers Do Good Job For War Victims

All branches of endeavour must set themselves a standard to which they aspire to attain, and the measure of their comparable success is best judged according to the heights they reach in so doing.

Nothing succeeds like success, and in this respect the workers in the Industrial Control department of the Canadian General Electric Co. Ltd, with P. Killingbeck as foreman, have chalked up a notable achievement in recent times on behalf of the Peterborough and District British War Victims Fund, that fully demonstrates they have set and are maintaining a high standard in their steady work to assist the sufferers from air raids over Britain through the fund.

Much of this is due to the leadership of Philip Weir one of the employees in the department, ably backed by the workers themselves, who already with to-day's acknowledgement made four donations this year so far, which gives them a total credit of $100.73 in that period, and a total of $255.70 since February 16 of last year, when they began in earnest to carry on this work of mercy to aid others in distresss.

The means and method employed has been one which almost any group similarly situated could indulge in, if the will to be good to those less fortunately situated was strong enough to give the urge and inspiration to follow it up in a steady manner, and that is just what these boys have fully demonstrated, for the box is passed around on every Saturday morning, and their goodness on this occasion as on others meant that this box was filled with coins to the point where it would hardly have been possible to insert any more.

C. G. E. Total $6,901.81

It may not be generally known that the motto for the city of Peterborough is "Labore Vincimus", which stands for "We conquer by labor", and it would seem that the employees of the C. G. E. and Genelco Co. Ltd. are taking quite a hand in upholding this in things pertaining to the war effort in more ways than one.

Some time ago it was suggested that these two plants might set an objective of $10,000. in a total of aid they would raise to assist the people of Britain through the fund, and already over two-thirds of the journey has been passed, for with this latest contribution their total now stands at $6,901.81, and nothing is going to help it more towards attainment than such steady help as the employees of the Industrial Control Department have and are giving.

A personal donation orginating in Oshawa is also reported to-day, this coming as a result of D. Dobbie of that place sending money for a Peterborough product from which he desired no change, and so it was given to the fund; to go on its mission of help to the people overseas.

Boy Scout Executive Prepares For Show

The executive of the Peterborough Boy Scout Association met on Wednesday evening. Reports of the committees in charge of the Scoutcraft show to be held Tuesday, Wednesday and Thursday of next week in the Market Hall were received.

It is expected that His Worship Mayor Hamilton will open the show on Tuesday at 8 p.m. All those interested in boys' work are especially invited to attend and see the fine work that is being done in this city by the Scout and Cub leaders with their troops or packs. A different program exemplifying phases of scouting will be given each night.

Discussion on the use of the Scout hut on the grounds near Lock 22 at Nassau brought out many suggestions. It is hoped to hold many week-end camps during the summer on these grounds, and the executive will devote its next meeting on May 17 to a thorough check-up of what can and should be done to make full use of the building erected last summer.

AIRMAN GRADUATES—LAC. Gerald Metcalfe, who has been training as a navigator, graduates today at Winnipeg. He enlisted April 23, 1943, and trained at Toronto, Montreal, taking his flying course at Winnipeg. Before enlisting he worked as a fitter in the C.G.E. His mother, Mrs. A. E. Metcalfe of Norwood, and his sister, Miss Flora Metcalfe, are in Winnipeg to see him receive his wings.

C.G.E.-Genelco Aiming At $450,000 In Loan

The employees of Canadian General Electric Company and Genelco Limited with an objective of $450,000, are launching their Sixth Victory Loan campaign with a mass meeting Friday at 1 p.m.

This assembly will probably recall to most of the men and women their similar meeting last October, with something of a sense of repetition of an experience in familiar setting and sentiment.

That atmosphere of sameness probably extends all the way across Canada behind the broad moats of the Atlantic and the Pacific, but there is no sameness in Italy and Burma and in the air over Western Europe and in the preparations for the invasion of the continent except in all the accompaniments of war and death and destruction, frightful sounds and violence, human suffering and the devastation of the property people have built up through the ages.

Little Change

Nor was there any sameness in that crowded British hospital hit by a German air raider the night before last. But there probably is much of the feeling of sameness here in Peterborough and on the prairies and on both coasts, where nothing much has changed since last autumn except the happiness of those families who have been bereaved by the casualties of war since then.

At this mass meeting on the grounds of C.G.E. Limited Friday at the noon hour the employees are about to dedicate their effort and enthusiasm and loyalty to a new objective, close to half a million dollars. They are about to lend the Government of Canada $450,000.

They are going to hear an address by Frank Dowsett, who is coming to Peterborough Friday for several Victory Loan engagements, and particularly at C.G.E.-Genelco.

Mr. Dowsett will be introduced by Ian F. McRae, works manager, and the Royal Canadian Naval School of Music H.M.S. "York" Band will play as the employees assemble before one o'clock.

Setting Pace

Peterborough's big industrial plant's staff is again setting the Victory Loan pace for the city and county, starting from the barrier with a "jump on the gun" as they say in races along the cinder paths.

Shop organization has been lining up to make a complete and thorough canvass as quickly as possible. Down there they feel that everybody knows the Sixth Victory Loan is right around the corner, that the end of the war with victory is still over the horizon, and that it is a case of sustaining morale at home and reflecting it wherever our men are by making another success in this loan campaign.

City Planning Project Given Support

The city council's initiative toward planning for the Peterborough of the future was heartily endorsed by some thirty-five citizens attending the public meeting, sponsored by the council, at the city hall last night.

Discussion ended with approval of a proposal to have a basic plan prepared by the council's special committee enlarged by the addition of citizens willing to co-operate in this public enterprise.

Alderman Dutton was appointed chairman of the meeting, and proceeded to sound the opinions and ideas of the men who had responded to the council's invitation. Actually, the wish of the council, as expressed the other night, would be to transfer as much as possible of the preliminary pondering and survey to a group of citizens willing to undertake the work and responsibility as a means of assisting the council, and thereby contributing some directive drafting, the effect of which beyond present appraisal to the community of today, and especially as a design in development for many years to come.

It was declared intention of the council, in its anticipation of the response to this meeting, to proceed with action that will enable the general committee to commence its sessions at once. Ideas presented last night were tentative and sketchy, but there was manifest thought behind them. Members of the local branch of the Engineering Institute of Canada, which was represented in the discussion by A. J. Girdwood, D. Emery, A. L. Malby and A. G. Northover, volunteered their help, and suggested that three members of the E.I.C. might be recruited for the planning committee, together with other citizens to be chosen by the council.

Expressing the views of the council, Mayor Hamilton said, "Our committee would like to see an advisory committee take up this planning. In fact we would like to have you take over the work as much as possible."

Mr. Girdwood said that traffic was steadily increasing on Monaghan Road with all the indications of becoming an important through street in future development. He also mentioned the lack of smaller playgrounds throughout the city for the benefit of the children. The school grounds were generally spacious, but they were too far from most homes. On that point of open spaces City Engineer Parsons outlined a western crescent from Jackson Park to Confederation Square and King Edward Park in the south, and commented that west of that line the city had been building residences without provision of parks.

Some of the topics mentioned were residential and industrial areas, transportation facilities including the proposed bus terminal, the new city hall and the extent of its community facilities, neighborhood stores, the movement of population and housing, the proposed new hospital, arena and airport, and ominously, the fate of other undertakings of city planning, hopefully and ambitiously projected but gradually neglected and eventually abandoned and forgotten.

Among those who were called upon by the chairman were Captain, the Rev. F. M. Grant, D.D., representing Bishop MacDonald, Rev. J. D. Smart, Ph.D., and Harold M. Scott, M.P.P.

Russian Speed Saves Ukraine From Damage

By HENRY C. CASSIDY
Associated Press Staff Writer

WITH THE RED ARMY ON THE UKRAINIAN FRONT, April 20. — (AP).—Most of the southern Ukraine has been saved from German destruction, I learned during a week's trip through country recently recaptured by the Red army.

The retreating Germans, who laid waste Central and Northern Russia, were prevented from carrying out wholesale destruction in the lower Ukraine by the swift Red army offensive.

Rich farmlands already are being tilled and important industries are being put back in commission to make a major contribution to further production in the war.

I travelled by plane and truck over and through the region from Kharkov to Odessa.

"It is characteristic of this offensive that there is little destruction," said Alexander S. Rogov, deputy chief of staff for this front. "The Red army is going so fast the Germans have little time for systematic burning."

Rogov said the Germans intended to hold a line along the Dnepr river and had devastated the entire region to the east to create a no-man's land and deprive the advancing Russians of local support. That is no longer so. Here the Germans ran for their lives.

Odessa, seventh Russian city, is by far the most important in the newly liberated area. Odessa is typical. It suffered cruelly under Romanian and finally German occupations. About 80,000 of its residents were killed. They were mostly Jews.

But to-day, Odessa has an atmosphere like pre-war Paris on the 14th of July, with crowds strolling along peaceful, sunlight avenue in holiday mood.

First Grass Fire

CAMPBELLFORD, April 20. — (ENS).—The grass fire season was inaugurated here Tuesday night with a fast spreading blaze on what is known as Redden's Hill at the west side of town. Burning spectacularly the blaze was readily seen from the east side of town, but no action to put it out was taken till an alarm sounded by Constable D. Bowen sent the fire department on a journey up the hill at about 10.30. Volunteers assisted the Department in quickly bringing the flames under control.

Painful, Pus Filled Boils the Cause of Much Misery

If you suffer from boils you know how sick and miserable they made you feel.

Boils are an outward indication of impurities in the system, and just when you think you are rid of one another crops up to take its place and prolong your misery. All the lancing and poulticing you can do may not stop more coming.

To help overcome boils you should purify the blood, so why not give that old, reliable blood medicine, Burdock Blood Bitters, a chance to show what it will do in helping you get rid of them? Thousands have used it for this purpose for the past 60 years. Why not you?

Members Asked To Boost Efforts

HAMILTON, April 20 — (CP) — Mrs. C. D. Hickey, Hamilton War Services Convener, yesterday told the provincial chapter, Imperial Order Daughters of the Empire in convention here that although war work expenditures of the organization last year amounted to $383,821, an apparent slackening of effort was noted and "we now appeal to the Chapters for an increased program of war work."

She said total articles distributed in 1943 were 273,331, chiefly comprised of clothing to the Navy and Merchant Marine and for British and Polish relief. Also contributed were 2,351,182 cigarettes valued at $8,074.

A new work undertaken last year, the adoption of ships, had grown to include 114 Naval vessels up to January, it was stated, and gifts amounting to $8,221 had been provided for the comfort of their crews.

Increased activities in supplying camp libraries, with 68,312 books and 489,372 magazines distributed, was reported by H. Jeanne Knapman of Hamilton. I.O.D.E. camp libraries now are valued at $100,000.

Norwood Woman Reports

For educational purposes, $18,193 was expended, with many Chapters allocating 25 per cent of their general fund for this purpose, it was reported by Mrs. L. L. Skuce, Milton. Mrs. W. B. Tucker, Norwood, said a record sum of $60,092 was spent last year on child and family welfare work.

Mrs. M. S. Somers of Tillsonburg, organizing secretary, said nine new chapters were formed in 1943 with a membership increase of 268, bringing the Order's total provincial membership to 15,858.

Mrs. William Ruttle of Hanover reported that nine new I.O.D.E. Girl Guide Companies were formed, increasing to 48 the number of Ontario companies.

Young Air Gunner Honored By Friends

HASTINGS, April 20—Sgt. Air-Gunner Lloyd Fife, son of Mr. Howard Fife and the late Annie Fife of Asphodel, was honored by a large number of friends and neighbors at his home on Monday evening.

The highlight of the affair came with the presentation, when Ronald Warner read a very appropriate address and Jack Elmhurst presented him with a handsome airforce gold signet ring and a fountain pen. Lloyd thanked his friends in a few well-chosen words. All joined in singing "For He's A Jolly Good Fellow." He is spending a two weeks' furlough with his father and family, after receiving his wings in McDonald, Manitoba.

The evening was spent in cards and dancing. The ladies served lunch at midnight.

W.A. Gives Supper

MARMORA, April 20. — (ENS). — Circle 1 of St. Andrew's Women's Association held a spring supper at the home of Mrs. A. H. Connor and Mrs. R. E. Neal on Tuesday afternoon. Table decorations and accessories were in accordance with the season and the pleasant weather brought a goodly number out for the event.

Personals

Medames H. A. Burwash, W. J. Pack and L. I. [illegible] and Miss M. Brown of St. Adrew's Women's Missionary Socie[illegible] attended the Presbyterial meetings in Tabernacle United Church Belleville on Tuesday.

A Lonely Boy

HAMILTON, Ont., April 20 (CP). — "Adoption" of an Italian youngster by Canadian soldiers is described in a letter by Sgmn. Tommy Jacombs in a letter to his mother, Mrs. T. Albert Jacombs of Hamilton. The little fellow, described as "clean and smart as a whip" was completely equipped with shoes, socks, sweaters, and a cut-down army uniform. Extremely proud of his Canadian Army membership, Jacombs wrote, the lad "did nothing but cry the day we moved."

Let him help YOU to help end the war SOONER!

HE'S a fellow citizen who has undertaken a very big job—one that will keep him "on the go" early and late throughout the whole loan period. To do it he has put aside his customary work.

So give him a warm welcome. Help him by being ready to buy Victory Bonds.

In the last Victory Loan nearly 3,000,000 purchases of Victory Bonds were made—more than in any previous loan. Yet, since there are about 5,200,000 people gainfully employed in Canada, about 2,200,000 still did not buy a Victory Bond!

But the supreme crisis of the war is near and Canada now needs the help of every citizen, man or woman. Everyone must strain for victory to the very utmost. If you bought bonds in the last loan, use the services of your Victory Bond salesman now for a still higher purchase. If you did not buy then, determine that nothing shall prevent you from buying a Victory Bond this time.

The Victory Bond Salesman will ask you to do only what everyone is asked to do. That is, to help supply in superabundance everything needed to hasten the war's end.

Count up your resources for a supreme effort. Be ready to buy all the Victory Bonds you possibly can.

Go All Out for Victory this way

The Victory Loan Salesman can tell you everything about buying Victory Bonds.

He will explain how, in the first place, to buy bonds out of your savings.

Then how you can buy more bonds on the monthly savings plan out of your earnings.

Bay Of Quinte W.M.S. Executive Reviews Work Of Past Year

BELLEVILLE, April 20—(ENS). —The Bay of Quinte Conference executive of W.M.S. resumed sittings on Wednesday. Mrs. E. J. Corkill, treasurer, reported total receipts of $72,167.18, an increase of $4,096 over last year. Mrs. W. L Smythe, special objects secretary, announced a total of $1,450.75 contributed by the branch to special objects to be applied to evangelistic work in Africa, hospital cots, for the salary of a hospital superintendent, for education of a girl in Angola, Africa, and for a medical scholarship in Central India.

In a report on Christian stewardship Mrs. J. R. Trumpour, secretary of the department, announced that Renfrew was the only Presbyterial to reach its allocation and exceeded it by $184. Their total for the year was $12,384. Mrs. A. A. Lapp, Missionary Monthly secretary, reported an increase of M.M. subscriptions of 184, and an increase of 180 subscriptions to World Friends. Mrs. A. Wallace, Associate Members secretary, announced total contributions from this department totalled $1,873.67, an increase of $326.83 over the past year.

Miss Constance Wagar, secretary of Mission Circles, reported a total of 44 circles with 726 members raising $2,246.46, an increase over last year of one circle and $88.86 in givings, and $23.00 to special objects. Mrs. N. Butcher, C.G.I.T. secretary, reported a total of 53 groups, a membership of 727, meetings held 213, and givings $176.26. This amount is to be devoted to special objects to be applied to establishing scholarships. The sale of literature announced by the literature secretary, Mrs. B. Soper, was approximately $42.00.

Missions Aid Isolated Families

How the medical, spiritual and social needs of many thousand isolated families and small communities along the lower reaches of the wild coast of British Columbia are met by missionary effort was described to an audience at All Saints' Church Wednesday night by Rev. Alan D. Greene, for 25 years superintendent of the Church of England Columbia Coast Mission.

Mr. Greene, in telling of the conditions prevailing in the area throughout which his organization carries on its work, said that the work of this particular mission might be taken as an example of what practical missionary endeavour can accomplish. There were, he indicated, over 10,000 people directly or indirectly dependent on the Columbia Coast Mission for their medical needs, their spiritual assistance and much of their social life.

The territory included the whole lower third of the British Columbia Coast, Mr. Greene related, and a wide variety of nationalities. There were Swedes, Chinese, over a thousand Indians, and there were even Japanese. Very few of the total number were of the Anglican faith, the minister added.

Expensive Undertaking

He gave some idea of the expense involved in running an enterprise of the scale and extent of the Columbia Coast Mission. The average cost a year was $90,000, of which $70,000 was earned. For the remainder reliance was placed on the contributions of persons interested in the success and continuance of the Mission's worthy ends. The Government paid for accidents through the Workmen's Compensation Act; help was received from the Bureau of Indian Affairs; and funds were forthcoming from other sources too.

Colored films illustrating the work were shown the audience by Mr. Greene. Incidents from the regular routine of the missionary workers, their medical and spiritual visits and happy social gatherings, were depicted on the screen; the different types of people living along the coast were shown; and in every scene the wild loveliness of the coastal landscaping was in evidence.

Bracken Buys Carleton Farm

OTTAWA, April 20 —(CP)—John Bracken, National Progressive Conservative Leader, said last night he has purchased a farm in Carleton County near here. "I have purchased only the one farm and I am not negotiating with anyone else for any more land," he said.

"The purchase has no relation to my political plans of the future," he added.

The farm fronts on the Rideau River some 15 miles from Ottawa, the same river that his father's farm in Leeds County faced and where he spent his boyhood days.

Since he came to Ottawa Mr. Bracken lamented the lack of a farm of his own close to the city where he would go to relax.

The Federal constituency of Carleton used to be considered a Conservative stronghold but in recent years the suburban population has grown so rapidly that it is no longer regarded as the seat it once was.

In the last general election in 1940 it gave a Conservative majority of 1,100 but in the by-election a few months later it rolled up a Conservative majority of 4,562.

Sir Robert Borden was elected in the constituency in 1905 by acclamation after he had been defeated in Halifax in the 1904 general election.

Nazi Refused Beer Service

OTTAWA, April 20 (CP)—Feelings ran high in an Ottawa tavern yesterday when two men, a former soldier and a member of the Veterans' Guard of Canada, objected to the presence of a Nazi prisoner of war who entered with his employer, a district farmer.

As the prisoner, in the red-spotted, blue denim uniform of the Farmer Labor Corps, entered the establishment, Pte. W. Hutt of the Veterans' Guard and J. O. Bond, returned soldier, complained to the bartender and ordered him not to serve the prisoner until the Provost Corps had been notified.

The bartender complied and the farmer, who had come into Ottawa to sell produce, left with his prisoner-employee when provost officers arrived. There was no disturbance.

Later, W. M. Croskery, Carleton County Agricultural Representative, said the prisoner was within his rights in entering the beverage room so long as he was accompanied by his employer.

Two Win Suit Against C.P.R.

TORONTO, April 20—(CP)—Mr. Justice George A. Urquhart, in a judgment handed down at Osgoode Hall yesterday dismissed a motion for non suit and confirmed a jury's decision awarding $2,250 to Robert Rutherford and $2,000 to Alex Stewart, both of Perth, Ont., for injuries received when their truck crashed into a Canadian Pacific Railway freight train which had stopped at a highway level crossing near Carleton Place, Ont., Nov. 20, 1942.

The jury found the defendants 50 per cent negligent and held that the accident might have been avoided had the crossing been protected by a wig-wag with a flashing light.

Victorian Order of Nurses Supervisor Visits City

Twenty scholarships for nurses qualified to take post-graduate work in Public Health at universities will be sponsored by the National Board of the Victorian Order of Nurses. This step, to overcome the scarcity of nurses trained and qualified in Public Health, was announced by Miss Mary Ferguson, National Office Supervisor for the Victorian Order of Nurses, addressing the regular meeting of the Board of Directors of the V.O.N.

The speaker outlined a portion of the health program suggested by provincial and dominion governments, and pointed out the role that the Victorian Order could play in aiding such program. She complimented the local branch on its work, and said that in spite of the shortage of nurses, the national office would do their best to supply another nurse, in accordance with a request recently made. She doubted, however, if a public health graduate could be located.

After the meeting, Miss Ferguson heard the recordings made of the recent radio programs sponsored by the Peterboropgh Branch, and expressed her personal delight, saying that she hoped that the national office could make use of them for meetings.

Miss Barbara Scheetz was also introduced to the Board. She is a graduate from Western Hospital, Toronto, and is now completing her course in Public Health Nursing. She is spending the month of April with the local V.O. branch. in order to obtain her practice work in that particular field of public health work. Miss Mary Ross outlined the plan followed by the local staff in directing this experience, and stated that the nurse first observes, then does independent work, followed by supervision, given periodically throughout the entire month.

Observation work in V.O.N. work was also given to six undergraduate students from Nicholls Hospital, in order to give them some insight into the work.

Correspondence read from the national office concerned the 46th annual meeting of the Board of Governors of the Victorian Order of Nurses for Canada, being held May 11 in the Convention Hall, Chateau Laurier, Ottawa. Members chosen to represent the local branch were Miss L. Hurley, and Mr. Charles Elliott. Miss McGeary, of the nursing staff, will also attend.

In her report, Miss Ross told of 81 new admissions, and an increase of 82 visits over last year's corresponding figures. The total number of visits was 542, with four night calls answered and attendance at one operation. James Dutton presided.

Couple Observe 57th Wedding Anniversary

WARKWORTH, April 20—(ENS)—Mr. and Mrs. Charles Goodfellow are observing the fifty-seventh anniversary of their marriage today and on this occasion their family will be present to congratulate and wish them many more years of happiness together.

Mr. and Mrs. Goodfellow were married April 20, 1887 at Hilton by Rev. Duprau. They are well known in this vicinity having spent most of their life near Codrington in Brighton township. Since retiring from farming nineteen years ago they have lived in Colborne where they are highly respected citizens.

Mr. Goodfellow is a son of the late Mr. and Mrs. William Goodfellow and was born August 28, 1864. Mrs. A. B. Armstrong, Toronto and Mrs. William Evans, Stouffville are sisters.

Mrs. Goodfellow is a daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. William Valleau and was born July 22, 1865, and the other surviving members of the family are: Mrs. Ralph Ames, Bowmanville; Mrs. Emma Latta, Manitoba and Wilfred Valleau, Norham.

From this union there are three children, Mrs. William Buchanan, Colborne; Cecil and William, M.P.P., Codrington. They have fifteen grandchildren and four great grandchildren.

Personals and Social

WED 57 YEARS—Mr. and Mrs. Charles Goodfellow of Colborne are today celebrating their 57th wedding anniversary. The couple lived in Brighton township until he retired from farming nineteen years ago. At 87 years of age, both are in good health and taking an active interest in the community. William Goodfellow, M.P.P., of Codrington, is a son.

Lieut. C. M. Jeffs Weds English Bride

CAMPBELLFORD, April 20 (ENS)—Lieut. Charles M. Jeffs, son of Mr. and Mrs. John Jeffs, George street, who is now with the Canadian Army Overseas, is the third Campbellford soldier to choose an English bride since arriving in England. According to the announcement made by his parents, the wedding took place in March when Miss Olive Elizabeth Brook, youngest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. A. W. Brook, 26 Lindsay Road, New Haw, Surrey, England, became his bride. The ceremony took place at St. John's Church, West Byfleet with the vicar, Rev. R. S. Morris officiating.

The bride, who was given in marriage by her father, wore a white wedding gown and carried a bouquet of arum lillies. Miss Lillian Reynolds, a cousin of the bride, in gold taffeta and Miss Marian Parker, fiancee of the bride's brother, in blue taffeta and Miss Joyce Barney, in lemon taffeta, were the bridesmaids and each carried bouquet of spring flowers. Lieut. Bernard Fox of Colborne, a friend of the groom, was the best man.

Representing the bridegroom's family, Dr. Howard B. Jeffs, of Barnes, London, England, toasted the couple's future happiness during the reception that followed at the home of the bride's parents. Lieut. and Mrs. Jeffs spent their honeymoon in Edinburgh.

DOROTHY DIX . . . . .

ATTRACTIVE BOYS ARE GENTLEMEN

Have Good Manners, are Clothes Conscious, Make Friends and Find Work a Pleasure.

A group of high school boys ask me if I can give them a few suggestions about how they can make themselves attractive to other people and acquire a pleasing personality.

Well, little brothers, my first bit of advice to you is to make yourselves gentlemen. That is about the finest thing that any human being can be, so keep it as an objective towards which you are always striving. Being a gentleman is not a matter of money, or social position, or even intellectuality. It is something within a man's own soul that makes him gentle and kind and true and loyal and incapable of doing a mean act. It has been said that if the art of being a gentleman were lost to the world you could learn how to become one from Colonel Newcome in Thackeray's story. That novel should be "must" reading for every boy.

Good Manners Element in Success

Mind your manners, as our old nurses used to say. Good manners will carry you farther in the world than any other one thing. The boy who can enter a room without falling over his feet; who has poise and self-assurance without being fresh; who knows what to say when people speak to him; who stands when women enter a room and who helps old ladies out of their cars, has a thousand more chances to get on that the boor has. See that your table manners are above reproach. I have known more than one young man of talent and ability who missed getting a coveted position because he gargled his soup and didn't know his way among the silver.

Be clothes-conscious. "Costly thy raiment as thy purse can buy, for the apparel oft proclaims the man," said a seer, and it is a tip you can play all across the board. Be not only neat and clean but appropriately dressed. You can't imagine an employer hiring a boy in a zoot-suit, or expecting a boy who was too lazy to brush his clothes, polish his shoes and get his hair cut to bring any energy to a job You have to look the part as well as be it. People will judge you by your clothes because that is the first thing they notice about you, so make your looks your sales appeal.

Learn how to get along with people and how to make friends. Not only your happiness but your success in life will depend on this, because kissing does go by favor, and people will do things for you because they like you that they would not do for you because it is your due, to save your life.

Good Mixer Welcome In All Circles

To make friends you have to be friendly. Nobody is going to run after you. You will have to do your share of the chasing. You will have to play fair and give and take. You will have to learn to adapt yourselves to others. You will have to be a good loser as well as a modest winner. Learn to be a good mixer. It is one of the most valuable accomplishments that any man can have.

Never forget that there are three things upon which all success in life is founded. They are all habits, and you should start forming them by the time you get out of the cradle. The first is the habit of industry, which makes work a pleasure, an interest, an excitement that never fails. The Number Two habit is the habit of finishing whatever you begin. The failures, the ne'er-do-wells are those who give up whatever profession or business they have gone into as soon as the sledding gets hard. or they get tired of it. The men who win fame and fortune are those who stick to their jobs and see them through.

And the third habit is thrift, how to make money and save it, how to spend money wisely and well so that you may be independent yourself and able to help others.

And, most of all, boys, learn to take girls in your stride. Have plenty of girl friends, because they are a pleasure and an education, but don't get serious about them and don't get married until you have gotten settled and are able to support a family.

Of Interest to Women

Extending Sugar and Butter By Juggling of Supplies

BY MARY MOORE

Some smart meals are being turned out by thnking cooks who survey their shelves to see what they can do with what they do have on hand.

The first recipe today is a result of just such a survey; a cook who didn't have enough sugar for cookies resolved she would have cookies nevertheless, for she had spied a box of pudding powder; it contained sugar,—why couldn't it sweeten her cookies?

It was chocolate pudding powder, so she hunted up a recipe for chocolate cookies, measured the volume of the pudding powder, figuring it was mainly sugar, with probably a little cornstarch or flour and some cocoa. Not much else.

The following is the recipe she evolved after two tries.

PUDDING POWDER COOKIES

Three-quarters cup good quality shortening—(chicken fat is delicious when you happen to have it), 2 tablespoons brown sugar, 1 well-beaten egg, 1 cup rolled oats, 1 cup flour, 1 teaspoon baking powder, 1 tablespoon cocoa. Sift together the flour, baking powder, soda, salt, pudding powder and cocoa. Cream the shortening with the sugar, then add well beaten egg, and rolled oats and stir very well. Sift in dry ingredients, mixing until of consistency that will form balls when rolled on floured palms. Place on baking sheet, and flatten slightly with floured fork. Do not be tempted to add vanilla, these cookies have good flavor.

CARAMEL AND BUTTERSCOTCH PUDDINGS MAY BE USED IN PLACE OF CHOCOLATE.

My American friend Garny, reminded me of her recipe for a cake using chicken fat in place of butter or lard, leftover coffee in place of milk. It is a large cake that keeps well; the one catch in it being it needs 1½ cups brown sugar; ½ cup of this sugar could be replaced with 2-3 cup of corn syrup though. Of course if you don't have chicken fat leftover you may use lard or any other good shortening.

GARNY'S LARGE ALL-PURPOSE CAKE

(See Note Above)

One cup chicken fat (other fat may be used), 1½ cups brown sugar, 3 eggs beaten together, 1 cup cold leftover coffee, 1 teaspoon each cinnamon, cloves, nutmeg, 3 cups flour, 1 teaspoon each soda, cream of tartar, cornstarch, 1 cup raisins are optional. Sift together the flour, soda, cream of tartar, cornstarch and spices. Cream the fat for 3 to 5 minutes to make it creamy then cream the sugar into it, then add the beaten eggs and beat for 2 minutes. Sift in the dry ingredients alternately with the coffee, a third of each at a time. Add raisins if used. Pour into large buttered and paper-lined pan the paper being buttered too. Bake at 375 deg. Fahr. for about 50 minutes. The peacetime frosting for this is boiled maple frosting, but the butter sugar, and maple syrup are well-nigh impossible to spare so I'll give you my MOCHA FROSTING: Cream 2 tablespoons butter with 1 teaspoon vanilla, 1 teaspoon cocoa, and gradually sift in 1 cup confectioners' sugar alternately with 2 tablespoons clear hot coffee—preferably strong. Sift in enough additional sugar to make thick enough to spread. Spread roughly over cake when cool.

If your family is used to raiding the cupboard, it is a good idea to cut this cake in half and hide one half, it will keep well 5 or 6 days.

It seems a little early to talk about summer drinks, but the cocoa syrup I am giving you today is such a handy thing in my refrigerator you should be reminded.

COCOA SYRUP

Mix 1 cup cocoa with ¼ teaspoon salt and 1 cup sugar. (See note re sugar and saccharin below). Add 1 cup water and boil until it is the consistency of maple syrup; this amount will serve 25 cups cocoa or chocolate milk, or makes enough sauce for 10 or 12 dishes of ice cream or cottage pudding.

SACCHARIN: You may use ¼ cup in recipe, and when cooking is complete and syrup is removed from heat add 10 ¼-grain saccharin tablets to the syrup, stirring until dissolved. This reduces the volume but not the sweetness of the syrup.

COFFEE NOTE

For those who want their coffee strong and often find their ration to short, try adding postum to half-strength coffee to extend the flavor.

CORN SCRAMBLE

Because meat is not rationed temporarily there is a inclination on the part of some food writers to assume that now all is smooth sailing. Meat is still expensive, and countless numbers of us have to make it stretch. Corn Scramble is a good stretcher.

Melt 4 tablespoons bacon fat or butter, or heat corn oil and to it add 1 tablespoon grated onion (and 1 tablespoon chopped green pepper if on hand). Stir for a minute, then add 1 can kernel corn, 1 can tomato soup (undiluted), and heat to boiling point. Reduce heat and add 4 lightly beaten eggs, ½ teaspoon salt, shake of pepper and paprika. Stir constantly over low heat until just firm. Serve on frizzles slices of bologna with rind on, which makes edges curl. Sprinkle with grated cheese. A good supper, breakfast or brunch dish.

At your grocer's in two convenient sizes . . . also in improved FILTER tea balls.

OSTRICH SKIN POUCH BAG—This is a practically lifetime accessory for tweeds and country clothes, a red ostrich skin handbag capacious (comparatively) as Noah's Ark. Ostrich skin, long restricted by stylists to gadgets for male wardrobes, has now been imported from Africa strictly for girls. The leather-like material is very strong and soft, is attractive in its natural creamy beige, takes even bright red dye, as in the carryall drawstring pouch, above. The ostrich in its native heath puts up with terrific rain and sand storms, so no wonder its hide is tough and hardy.

Today's Victory Garden

By DEAN HALLIDAY

BEAN SELECTIONS FOR 1944 VICTORY GARDENS

In the small Victory garden it is of special importance to grow only the best varieties of vegetables. The seed catalogs list hundreds of named varieties and it is not easy to pick out the one which will give the best results. No two gardeners seem to agree about results, for many factors, such as drainage, feeding, sun and soil conditions play an important part in the final result and harvest.

In the matter of snap bean varieties there is a wide selection. There are the green-podded and yellow-podded flat types of beans, as shown in the accompanying Garden-Graph. In this class Bountiful and Plentiful seem to be the most popular green beans. Webber Wax is a good yellow type. The round-podded type, also illustrated, may be preferred. Stringless and Tendergreen are favorite green varities. Pencil Pod Black Wax is a good yellow type. Many other varieties, of course, will perform practically as well as those mentioned.

When space permits, the pole beans should be included in the Victory garden, for they bear more abundantly and yield over a longer period than any other bean. Old Homestead or Kentucky Wonder, illustrated, is the most popular. Its pods hang in great clusters and are six to eight and more inches long.

THE TEA HOUR GOSSIP . . . .

Have a spring inspired top coat either in tweed or herringbone—a coat that will carry you gaily through a long day's routine; with straight, slenderizing lines, topped with a soft velvet collar. If you prefer a softer coat, have a fine all-wool diagonal weave with wide revers made of silk and smocked in two or three different shades. These are the latest spring touches for your coat. With this wear either a tiny pill-box hat or narrow brimmed sailor covered with silk and smocked the same as the coat collar. The sailor must be worn quaintly straight atop your crowning glory. You will want a printed frock to wear under your tweed coat, and later on when you begin to leave off your coat. Have this dress buttoned all the way down the front, with a turned back collar, which gives such a pretty neckline, and by all means have the bracelet length sleeves.

The sweethart dress is very new and the last word in spring style. It is a two-piece dress with plain skirt and jacket blouse ending just below the hipline. The jacket is buttoned up the front with rather large buttons; the neckline is square and is trimmed with lace. Lace is also all around the bottom of the jacket. A tiny heart-shaped flower turban is worn with this. This whole costume is carried out in a lime green shade.

Another dress is in sunny aqua rayon crepe with lace bertha around the square neck. Lace is to be used in many ways for the late spring and right on through the summer.

Blouses for your spring suit are made of crisp linen or seersuckers in either tiny checks or narrow stripes. The ruffled neckline for light-hearted moments or the more casual one for street wear or business.

Have several skirts in different colors to wear with these smart blouses and you will feel each time you go out that you have on a new costume.

In a few weeks' time we will see the larger hat making its appearance on the street, and they do look very dressy worn with either a printed dress, a suit or a casual tweed coat.

Just a few words about the new dinner dresses that are being shown. Here is a tunic dinner dress in beige with green tunic. The skirt is plain and floor length, the tunic having a deep pleated peplum. It has a collar of the green and pointed pieces of green extending from the waistline to the shoulder. Another smart dinner dress is carried out in bright navy blue silk shantung with a huge bow of rose silk fastened at the waistline and falling to the bottom of the skirt. The neckline is round and quite low with a rose colored pin caught at the one side.

Quebec Aces Defeat Port Arthur

QUEBEC, April 20.—(CP).—Quebec Aces and their supporters were taking the Allan Cup finals in three straight games to-day after a convincing 6-1 victory over Port Arthur Shipbuilders in the series opener here last night

A record crowd of 7,300 fans jammed into the Coliseum last night watched Aces flash the same form that took them past Truro Bearcats and Sudbury Miners in straight games after capturing the Quebec title. The Ports put up a fighting exhibition all the way but—for last night at least—they were up against a better team.

Nils Tremblay sparked he Tremblay-Check-Bruneteau line—the best line on the ice last night—by rapping home three goals and making the play for another. Lude Check scored one and set up the scoring plays on all three of Tremblay's counters. Bruneteau drew the assist on Check's goal.

Norm Larson, winger on the Ports' best line of Robertson-Larson-Koivasto, bagged the only goal of the night for the Shpibuilders. It came mid-way through the second period and after Aces had built up a 3-0 lead.

Aces struck early for their win. Less than three minutes after the game started, Rosie Rozzini broke through for an unassisted tally, and a minute later Captain Billy Reay bagged another on Doug Baldwin's pass

Aces scored again at the eight-minute mark in the middle session. Then Tremblay slapped in the first of his three goals—a counter that was offset two minutes later by Larson's tally.

But the Shipbuilders had nothing to offset the third period drive of their opponents. At the four-minute mark Bruneteau set up Check in front of the net. A minute later it was Check and Tremblay who combined for a score, and they did it again at the 13 minute mark.

Second game of the series that may bring Quebec its first Allan Cup in history will be played here Friday night.

G. Worton Rolls Single Of 344

Aggie Anderson of Westclox and Betty Goldie of Outboard Marines were the individual scoring stars in the Ladies' Five Pin League games this week, each of them coming up with a nice 707 total. The best single score of the week, however, was hung up by G. Worton of Lucky Strikes who cashed in with 344.

Westclox by a clean sweep over the Beavers while the Outboards were losing one in three to Commandos increased their lead over the second-place Outboard Marines to seven points.

Audrey Livingstone of Westclox almost hit the blind score right on the nose. She rolled 686, only one pin short of the blind score.

Arrangements have been made to hold the annual league banquet at the Empress Hotel at 6:30 o'clock on May 15, with the tickets at $1. All bowlers who wish to attend the banquet are asked to turn their $1 fees into their captains on Monday night, April 24. You co-operation will help to make the affair a success.

Doubles Tourney Billed For Tonight

The Men's City Five Pin League will wind up their bowling season with a doubles tournament tonight at 7:30 at Duffus Alleys for the British War Victims Fund. Bowlers from the industrial and mercantile leagues have been invited to compete with the city leaguers.

Prizes will be awarded the first three top pairs, and the draw for partners will be made at 7:30 p.m. when the competition gets underway. It is expected the largest turnout of bowlers of the entire season will be on hand tonight at Duffus Alleys for the tournament.

The management have turned the alleys over to the city leaguers at no cost so that the entire proceeds will go to the British War Victims Fund. Bowlers are asked to be on hand at 7:30 sharp, and President Harold Freeman is looking for a record crowd for tonight's affair.

Tom Hitchcock Killed In Plane Crash

NEW YORK, April 20 (AP).—The New York Daily News said today that Col. Thomas Hitchcock, 44, famous American sportsman, had been killed in England in an airplane crash. The News said the family had been informed in a cable from Ambassador John G. Winant.

Hitchcock, one of the world's greatest polo players, left his post recently as assistant military attache for air at the American Embassy. He commanded a P-51 Mustang group in the 9th Air Support Command.

A member of the family said the crash occurred during a routine flight, and not in combat, so far as was known here.

News of Hitchcock's death was the second blow for the family in two weeks.

The polo player's nephew, Thomas Hitchcock Clark of Westbury, N.Y., recently was reported missing on a bombing raid over Europe. The polo player, known as "Tommy" to thousands of sports fans in the United States and Britain, was engaged in his second war.

As the youngest member of the Lafayette Escadrille in the first Great War, he shot down two enemy planes. He was shot down slightly wounded himself, was captured and later escaped to Switzerland. He was 17 years old when he joined the Escadrille. Returning to the United States he entered Harvard from which he was graduated.

What Babe Ruth was to baseball, Bobby Jones to golf, and Bill Tilden to tennis, Hitchcock was to polo. He was rated the greatest polo player of all-time—the man who changed the international sport from tactics of slapping the ball around smartly among the players and gradually working it down toward the goal posts. Tommy taught them the art of smacking the ball a country mile and generally riding hell-for-leather in its pursuit.

A big man — he stood 5 feet 11 inches and weighed close to 200 pounds—Tommy was a picturesque, daring figure on horseback. He caught the crowd's fancy by his ruthian power in his drives, many of them carrying fully 100 yards.

LAWN BOWLING

By HERB MARTIN

Well! Here we go again and for the 'steenth season we have been asked to keep this column alive with lawn bowling news. If the Peterborough Examiner will print it, and if the board of directors can stand it and if the public will read it, then it looks like a big time this summer.

And so without any further delay we are going to come right to the point. Have you joined up with the Peterborough Lawn Bowling Club yet? If not, why not?

Already this great sporting organization has had many meetings that are necessary, to get things all in good shape but today we wish to deal with the work of the membership committee. This is a big job and an important one and it depends upon what success they have with the members joining up at once, as to just how a successful season we will have. They have gone to a lot of work lining up the old members, and a lot of new ones, contacting the skips, passing around memberbership cards, etc., and their response has not been all that it should be. Maybe the boys and girls are holding back a little, they intend to bowl alright but just have put off the all important thing of signing a membership card and sending a little folding money along with it.

Now here's the point, next Monday night the games committee meets and they intend to form groups and then immediately start working on the schedule and the schedule books. If you want your names to appear in the schedule book attend to the matter of signing up today. You can send your entry to K. Sloane or R. Payne co-chairman of the membership committee, Fred Brown, club secretary or to Mrs. F. Staunton, chairman of the membership committee of the ladies' section. We'll let you know in a day or two how successful this appeal has been. Thank you.

And just before we close for today we want to draw the attention of our bowlers to this: that within the next few weeks many of our members will be out canvassing for the Victory Loan. We refer to R. Payne, E. L. Sackville, J. E. Harkness, R. Arnott, V. Tully and R. Everett and James Skinner. Do you see what we mean?

Yesterday's Stars

By The Associated Press

Mel Ott and Ewald Pyle, Giants—Ott's home run with one on accounted for all of Giants' runs as they defeated Braves 2-1; Pyle gave up only four hits for his first National League victory.

Paul Waner, Dodgers—Hit pinch single in 10th to drive in winning run giving Brooklyn a 5-4 decision over Phillies.

John Dickshot and Orval Grove, White Sox—Former drove in two runs and latter gave up only 7 hits as White Sox defeated Al Smith for first time since 1942 and Indians, 3-1.

Charlie Woods and Jim Tabor, Red Sox—Tabor drove in three runs in double header with two doubles, single and a home run; Woods held Yankees to one run in first game as Red Sox swept twin-bill 6-1 and 5-2.

Raises $40,000

WINNIPEG, April 20—(CP)—The Manitoba Curling Association announced last night that it raised $40,000 for the Canadian Red Cross Society Prisoners of War Parcel fund during the last season, bringing the Association's three-year contribution to $92,000.

DISTRIBUTION MIGHTY

FREAKISH arrangements of the cards, with great long suits supplemented by blanks, can play havoc with aces and kings. Sometimes a pair holding every ace and all the kings but one cannot make as high a contract as opponents who possess no aces at all and no king except that in their trump suit. Their ability to trump the big cards of the other suits proves the decisive factor of the deal.

North: ♠ K 6 5 4; ♥ A Q 6 2; ♦ 7; ♣ K 6 5 2

West: ♠ Q J 8 7; ♥ 7 5 4 2; ♦ Q 9 8 3 2; ♣ None

(Dealer: North. North-South vulnerable.)

North	East	South	West
1 ♣	1 ♦	2 ♠	3 ♦
3 ♠	4 ♦	4 NT	5 ♦
5 ♥	6 ♦	6 ♠

That contract was set by West, who refrained from doubling because he did not want to tell the declarer how to play against his trump holding. It made no difference, however, as no method of play could have kept him from scoring two trump tricks.

At another table of the same duplicate, South made a bad mistake, in doubling the 6-Diamonds when East bid it. There the earlier bidding had been the same except that on one round West bid clubs instead of diamonds, to let his partner know he was blank in the opponents' first named suit. This should have made South still more wary about doubling the opponents.

East made the doubled 6-Diamond by cross-ruffing, until clubs were set up, as South could score nothing except his trump A. This was most emphatically a case of distribution triumphing over honors, as the weak side could score 12 tricks and the strong side only 11.

Lindsay Kiwanis Put $30,000 In Victory Loan

LINDSAY, April 20 — (ENS). — Lindsay Kiwanis Club was the first service club in Ontario to subscribe to the first Victory Loan. The club has increased its subscription in every subsequent Victory Loan, and to-day unanimously endorsed a motion to subscribe $30,000 to the Sixth Victory Loan. T. H. Stinson, K.C., who was the first president of the club, emphasized the great need for supporting the Loan and looked to the service clubs to give leadership. Past President H. S. Johnston and Reeve Richard Butler moved that the club purchase bonds to the extent of $30,000 which was carried.

Refuses Increase

LONDON, Ont., April 20.—(CP).—City Clerk R. G. Crawford last night informed City Council that he would decline their offer of higher pay and would abide by a previous decision to take a post as head of a new faculty of municipal affairs at Queen's University, Kingston. Council had voted to raise his salary to $7,000 per annum.

AIRMEN MAKE EPIC VOYAGE — Sea-going airmen of the R.C.A.F. recently completed one of the most hazardous feats of the war when two battered wooden vessels of the R.C.A.F. marine section limped slowly into port. They had battered their way through winter gales of the North Atlantic and delivered full equipment of R.C.A.F. anti-submarine squadron which moved intact from an east coast port to a base in Iceland. They fought fire at sea, narrowly missed a floating mine and fought the worst weather on the Atlantic in years. Crew members are shown clearing the deck while the sail was used to aid the ship's Diesel engine.

School Board Marks Time On Cadet Drill

HAVELOCK, April 20.—(ENS).—On a communication from the Minister of Education received by the Havelock School Board, it was stated that Cadet training would be a compulsory training course next fall, and advised against the purchase of any more new uniforms, until such times as the regular course is established.

Chairman B. Smith presided, with trustees Sarginson, Anderson, Sayers and Wilde present. Principal Jones reported the attendance was still down considerably, owing to the epidemic of measels. Caretaker Young is quarantined with measles and the work is being carried on by the former caretaker, R. Buchanan. at the usual rate of pay.

The Secretary received a reply from the department, regarding students getting farm leave, April 29 is, the earliest date, and only then, with the Principals consent. The Ontario School Ratepayers and Trustees Association are soliciting a renewal of membership. The Secretary is to forward complete returns for Superannuation before the end of June. A leaflet, giving full explanation of Health Insurance was laid over and a letter of sympathy is to be sent to Mrs. H. B. Puffer and daughter. The property committee is to meet shortly and decide on the necessary repair and decorating work to be done during the summer months.

On a motion by Trustees Wilde and Sarginson, a large carload of coal is to be ordered through the local dealer, Robt. Buchanan. The Secretary is to write H. Goden, Hydro superintendent to meet the Board at next meeting, regarding the school meter, and explain why the bill should be more than doubled.

The list of general accounts were ordered paid:

Teacher's, Caretaker and Secretary Salary $1150.35; Guard Assurance Company $22.80; Commercial Co., $34.20; Caledonian Assurance Co., $14.42; second policy $15.45; General Accident Assurance Co. $10.80; Royal Accident Assurance Co. $23.80; C. C. Snowden account $9.75.

HELD FOR RANSOM—Belief was held that Jack Guzik, above, one-time chief lieutenant of "Scarface" Al Capone, former Chicago racket overlord, has been kidnapped for ransom, following Guzik's disappearance in Chicago. In retirement, Guzik had recently returned to Chicago from Florida where his wife and daughter now reside.

Charles Logan Heads Agriculture Group

LINDSAY, April 20. — (ENS). — Charles D. Logan of Bobcaygeon was elected president of the Victoria County Federation of Agriculture at an organization meeting held in Lindsay. Representatives from every district in the county attended the meeting and it was decided to ask the county council for a grant of $500 to help defray organization expenses until a sufficient membership was formed. It was suggested that new members sign an agreement allowing the township councils to collect one-fifth of a mill on their assessments.

Officers elected were: president, Charles Logan; 1st vice, William Newman; 2nd vice, W. P. Glassford; sec.-treas. M. H. Winter; executive, Wesley Wilson, Omeme; Wilbert Worsley, Cameron; W. H. Payne, Little Britain; Grant Benson, Bexley; Chester Bailey Head Lake; Township Committees —Ops. Allan Currins, W. J. Murphy, W. J. Hall, W. H. Payne; Mariposa, H. R. Sonley, S. Dix, W. B. Graham; Eldon, R. J. McAlpine, John Alton; Verulam, A. Thompson, Charles Logan; Fenelon, W. Worsley, C. Shier.

Home Cooperation Basis For Peace

MILLBROOK, April 20 (ENS).—The citizenship committee, Mrs. Franklin Bannister, convener, was in charge of the Young People's Union on Monday evening, Margaret Smith reading the story of Jesus and the woman of Samaria, from John's gospel, and the worship story, "God's Dreams," being given by the leader.

A series of responsive prayers completed the worship period, after which the president, Olver Brock, took the business period. Announcement was made that next Monday's meeting will be the final one for the current season, the election of officers to take place.

Mrs. Bannister introduced the guest speaker, J. Ingham, a veteran of the first world war, formerly of Peterborough, but now a resident of this community. Mr. Ingham spoke on "Life Is Very Short," emphasizing particularly the advantages, and the Christian character of cooperation, as against the evil spirit of competition. Incidents from personal experience, as a High School teacher, the owner of a sheep ranch, then as a store keeper, and now once again on a farm, illustrated the speaker's remarks, as he insisted on the cooperative spirit which Paul had in mind when he wrote of his determination 'to know nothing except Christ Jesus and Him crucified."

"The result of competition is war; we earn wars and we get them. Cooperation must begin in the family, for if we are going to accomplish anything, we must start early. The lack of cooperation between individuals may change the course of a life, and from the family it will go out to the church, the community, the nation, and the international relationships," he said.

The growth of the cooperative movement in the last 100 years in Great Britain, on the continent of Europe, and then in America was traced briefly, and the work of Kagawa in Japan, "the greatest Christian in the world today," was also used as illustrative material.

Radar Winning War

TORONTO, April 20. — (CP). — Lieut.-Cmdr. H. H. Burchell of the Royal Canadian Naval Volunteer Reserve said today on a visit to Toronto that "Radar is winning this war" which "may be over a lot sooner than you think."

Burchell, Fleet Radar officer of Mediterranean fleet, has travelled 225,000 miles in naval vessels of all types from Murmansk to Malta and from the Skaggerak to Crete and wherever he has gone he has met Canadians.

MIGHTIEST BOMB LOAD HITS EUROPE

Pacific Bases Hit Daily Since Sunday

Allied Fliers Stage 22 Raids On Caroline Isles

ALLIED HEADQUARTERS, Southwest Pacific, April 21.—(AP).—Allied heavy bombers are spanning the South Pacific with "milk run" regularity to blast Japanese bases in the Caroline Islands.

For three consecutive days, enemy plane installations at Woleai Island, in the Western Carolines, and Satawan Island, 150 miles southeast of the key Japanese base at Truk, have trembled under bombs laid by Liberator squadrons.

The South Pacific fliers are lending a potent helping hand to American bombers which strike the Carolines from their Central Pacific bases in the Marshall and Gilbert Islands. Army, navy and marine corps aircraft are doing the slugging from both directions.

Since Sunday, navy fliers and army bomb-layers have hit the Caroline bases in 22 raids. Their explosives have raised smoke pillars on islands from Woleai eastward 400 statute miles to Pinge-lap.

Raids on Ponape, east of Truk; on Wake, American island occupied by the Japanese, and 40-ton bombing assault on remaining Japanese holdings in the Marshall Islands also were reported.

A South Pacific communique today told of the destruction of six enemy aircraft aloft and on the ground at the enemy base at Woleai, Tuesday and Wednesday.

Solomons-based Liberators struck at Satawan in the Naomoi Island group Tuesday, blasting the airfield and dispersals areas with 34 tons of explosives.

Three American planes were lost to anti-aircraft fire in a daylight attack Tuesday on Rabaul, New Britain, where medium and light bombers from the Solomons planted more than 100 tons of bombs on airfields and supply buildings.

Attacks on Japanese-held villages and enemy positions on Bougainville cost three American fighters.

Plan Furloughs

NEW YORK, April 21 (AP).—The New York Times in a dispatch from Central Pacific army headquarters said today that army officials soon will announce a limited schedule of furloughs for soldiers in that area on a percentage basis. The Central Pacific command has been acutely aware that the inability to grant furloughs because of crowded transportation facilities has caused discontent, the Times reported.

Churchill Says Empire Free To Retain Trade

LONDON, April 21 (AP)—Prime Minister Churchill told the House of Commons today that the British-American mutual assistance agreement was reached in 1942 with assurance from President Roosevelt that "we were no more committed to abolition of Imperial preference than the American government was committed to abolition of their protective tariff."

Winding up the Empire debate in Commons, Mr. Churchill said:—

"At my first meeting with the president of the United States in Newfoundland at the time of the so-called Atlantic Charter, and before the United States had entered the war—a meeting on very anxious and critical matters—I asked for insertion of the following words in the Atlantic Charter which can be read in that document:—

"'With due respect for their existing obligations....'

"These are the limiting words and they were inserted for the express purpose of retaining to this House and to the dominions the fullest possible rights and liberties over the question of Imperial preference.

Opposed Article

"Again in February 1942," he went on, "when the United States was our closest ally I did not agree to article seven of the mutual aid agreement without having previously obtained from the president a definite assurance that we were no more committed to the abolition of Imperial preference than the American government was committed to the abolition of their protective tariffs."

This part of the prime minister's statement was greeted with loud approving shouts of "Hear! Hear!"

"The agreement for discussing as to how a greater volume of trade and a more harmonious flow of trade can be created in the immediate post-war years leaves us in every respect, so far as action is concerned, perfectly free," Mr. Churchill said.

"How could it otherwise be when parliament itself would not only have to debate the matters but would have to legislate upon them when they were brought before it?

"I am convinced that there should be a careful searching and far-reaching discussion of the economics of the post-war world and a sincere attempt should be made to reconcile conflicting interests wherever possible.

Could Be Nightmare

"There must be a wholehearted endeavor begun in good time to promote the greatest interchange of goods and services between various communities of the world, and to strive for that process of betterment of the standards of living in every country without which expanding markets are impossible and without which world prosperity is a dream which might easily turn into a nightmare."

Mr. Churchill, however, made no government commitment on the various proposals advanced, explaining it "would not be appropriate on the eve of the first meeting we have been able to arrange after many attempts, of all the Dominion Prime Ministers together since this war began."

Yugoslavs Check Nazi Offensive

LONDON, April 21—(AP)—Counter-attacking Yugoslav Partisans have checked a German offensive in two sectors of Montenegro, reoccupying a number of places, including the town of Mjokovac, headquarters of Marshal Josip Broz (Tito) announced today.

A Yugoslav communique announced last night that a Nazi drive in Montenegro, employing tanks and planes, had recaptured the town of Sahovici.

The broadcast communique today said heavy fighting was still raging in other sectors of Montenegro, and declared serious losses had been inflicted on Germans, Chetniks and "Albanian gangs."

New Land Rush

HAMILTON, April 21 (CP).—Hamiltonians are showing more enthusiasm in victory gardens than ever before, A. P. Kappele, secretary of the local victory garden committee, said last night in reporting a "mad rush" for tillable land throughout the city. Present prospects indicate a large increase over the 1943 season when 8,000 plots were cultivated.

Reds Repulse All Thrusts By Germans

Baltic Action Starts; Hun Losses Grow

By EDDY GILMORE
Associated Press Staff Writer.

MOSCOW, April 21 — (AP). — Powerful German tank and infantry attacks have been beaten back by the Red Army near the Estonian border town of Narva and at the Carpathians more than 800 miles to the south, a Soviet communique announced to-day.

The German-Hungarian counter-offensive at the foot of the Carpathians, first announced by the Russians two days ago, spread yesterday from the east of Stanislawow to the south, where the Red Army was credited with hurling back furious attacks.

Grim battles were reported continuing in full swing at the outskirts of besieged Sevastopol, meanwhile, and front dispatches said that thousands of Germans and Romanians drowned in the Black Sea as Soviet bombers and torpedo planes kept up hourly attacks against convoys seeking to reach Romanian ports. Axis troops jamming the Sevastopol docks were being pounded by Russian artillery commanding nearby heights, the dispatches added.

A dispatch from Associated Press correspondent Henry C. Cassidy in Odessa quoted Rear-Admiral Sergei Federovich Beluzov, commandant at that base, as saying that the Red Fleet has "ships of all classes" at its disposal while the Germans possess nothing larger than a destroyer.

Future Peace To Require Force

ANN ARBOR, Mich., April 21 — (CP). — Viscount Halifax said today that whatever arrangement is made for international order in the post-war world, "we must never forget that unless it has behind it a force sufficient and ready to prevent its violation, sooner or later a Hitler, or a Tojo or a Mussolini will rise up to challenge it."

In an address prepared for delivery at on honors convocation at the University of Michigan, at which he war awarded an honarary Doctor of Laws degree, the British Ambassador to the United States said:

"Treaties and pacts and covenants are necessary; but unless we are ready in the last resort to see to it that they mean what they say, they are a dangerous illusion."

Lord Halifax said that in the maintenance of international order, the greater responsibility will fall upon those countries who will have the greatest power—"upon the United States, upon Russia, upon the British Commonwealth, and as she can develop her potential resources, upon China.

"If we can jointly agree upon the pattern of the future peace, that pattern will stand. If we fail to agree, there will be no pattern and no future peace."

Communications Smashed Across Italy

By LYNN HEINZERLING
Associated Press Staff Writer.

NAPLES, April 21 — AP). — Allied warplanes, diverted temporarily from assaults on Balkan rail targets, smashed at German communications in Italy yesterday with heavy bombers blasting Venice Harbor and pounding other targets from Ancoma to Trieste.

The big bombers were hampered by clouds, but explosions fell close to a merchant vessel in Venice Harbor and other undisclosed targets were hit, Headquarters said The Monfallcone shipyards near Trieste and the port of Livorno (Leghorn) also were attacked. Several enemy planes were destroyed aground in a fighter-bomber attack on the Rietti landing field.

In all, Allied planes flew more than 2,000 sorties yesterday, destroying 10 German craft for a loss of eight of their own.

On the ground, meanwhile, German troops on the right flank of the Anzio beachhead were observed taking up both their own and Allied mines. Although the front there has generally been quiet, the Germans have been reacting sharply to every Allied move, apparently apprehensive of an attack. One such Allied movement Wednesday night drew a heavy concentration of artillery fire.

On the same night an American destroyer, patrolling off the beachhead, intercepted four E-boats,

60,000 Japs Launch China Drive

20 Million Chinese Face Famine If Wheat Crop Lost

By SPENCER MOOSA
Associated Press Staff Writer

CHUNGKING, April 21.—(AP).—A new threat to China, including the possibility of a man-made famine affecting 20,000,000 civilians and hundreds of thousands of soldiers, developed to-day as strong Japanese forces drove across the Peiping-Hankow railway in Northern Honan province.

A Chinese army spokesman said the Japanese offensive, embracing between 50,000 and 60,000 troops, was spearheaded by contingents from Manchuria where until now Japan has kept the flower of her army even through the seven years war with China.

The Chinese surmised, the spokesman said, that the Japanese were making a bid to smash the Chinese grip on 150 miles of the Peiping-Hankow railway which would permit the enemy to link his north and central forces in China.

In 3 Columns.

Fanning out in three main columns in an offensive launched April 18, the Japanese evidently were aiming at throwing a strong cordon about Chenghsien (Chengchow), a former strategic junction of the Peiping-Hankow line running south and the Lunghai railway running east and west just south of the Yellow river.

Aside from seizure of communications, the Japanese were believed bent upon securing the rich wheat crop now ripening in Honan.

This crop is the hope of millions of Chinese who in 1943 suffered the ravages of one of the worst famines in China's long history, and who subsequently were afflicted by plagues of locusts and floods

The spokesman said the present fighting was the most serious since the Japanese were beaten back in the battle of Changeth last year in the drive on Changsha south of the Yangtse.

EXTRA!

LONDON—The German radio said "major U.S.A. bomber formations" were over southeastern Europe at noon today, indicating that the 15th Air Force was striking from Italy to carry forward the offensive.

TORONTO, April 21—(CP)—A cigarette or cigar butt thrown by a careless smoker last night started a blaze on the third floor of the Royal York Hotel which destroyed the scenery effects for the opening Victory Loan dinner next Monday night. Hotel walls received damage estimated at $300, and painted canvas and large wooden forms were destroyed in the fire, which was checked before it could spread to other rooms.

Many Telegrams Brighten Royal Birthday

By ALLAN NICKLESON
Canadian Press Staff Writer

LONDON, April 21.—(CP Cable.)—Princess Elizabeth, the heir presumptive to the throne, performed the first official act of her coming of reigning age to-day when she stepped forward on a parade ground "somewhere in the country" and received an 18th birthday present from the Grenadier Guards, the crack regiment of which she is colonel.

The blond, blue-eyed princess, wearing her favorite coat of hyacinth blue and a "Guards" peaked hat featured in recent photographs, accepted from the lieutenant-colonel commanding the regiment a miniature of the King's color of the first battalion of the Grenadiers.

Princess Elizabeth, smiling her thanks, examined the crimson silk miniature, which bore her monogram surmounted by her coronet in gold thread in each corner.

A crack Grenadier detachment mounted guard in her honor while she, the king, the queen, the Duke of Gloucester, the Princess Royal and Princess Margaret Rose watched in the presence of a small group of guests including some American officers. Princess Elizabeth wore in her coat lapel the diamond brooch of the Grenadier badge and cipher given her when she was made colonel two years ago.

The princess' color will be mounted whenever she attends a parade of the Grenadiers.

Little Ceremony.

The presentation and the mounting of the Guard were the only ceremonial observances of Princess Elizabeth's 18th birthday. Later the princess and members of the royal family sat down to a private luncheon.,

During the day telegrams and cables and other goodwill messages piled up at the rate of one every two minutes.

But because of war conditions, there was no special celebration. The King has let it be known that the royal family's elder daughter is not "coming out" in the official sense to-day.

There was a family luncheon party attended by the King and Sueen and other members of the royal family. A birthday cake baked in the royal kitchen graced the table.

Though legally a minor for another three years, the princess now she is 18 becomes a counsellor of state. This means that she is one of those persons empowered to act for the King in his absence.

If at any time during the next three years she were to succeed to the throne, she would do so as queen regent with powers and with no question of the necessity for a regency.

Japs Rush More Troops To India

KANDY, Ceylon, April 21.—(AP).—With the monsoon less than a month away, the Japanese were reported officially to-day to be sending reinforcements to the Kohima area in Northern India, where a besieged Allied garrison was relieved earlier this week by a column dispatched from Dimapur, 35 miles to the north.

Allied forces, however, were said to be making steady progress in cleaning up road blocks. The Japanese, who have made several unsuccessful attempts to take Kohima in recent weeks, have lost 400 men in recent fighting around the village, field dispatches said.

At the same time it was disclosed that British and Indian troops had advanced 30 miles northeast of Imphal to a point about 30 miles from Kohima.

Chinese forces in Northern Burma, meanwhile, were advancing steadily southward along the east bank of the Mogaung river toward Kamaing, which is about 50 miles west of the important enemy supply base and communications centre of Myitkyina.

Across the hills to the east Kachin Levies ambushed a force of Japanese on the Myitkyina road.

1100 Planes Smash Cologne 3 Other Rail Targets; Canadians Out In Force

Drive To Cripple Hun Supply Lines Gaining Momentum With Series Of Day And Night Attacks

By ALAN RANDAL—Canadian Press Staff Writer

LONDON, April 21—(CP Cable). — The Air Ministry announced today that the R.A.F. and R.C.A.F. last night dropped the heaviest bomb load of the war—more than 5,040 tons—on four railway centres in Germany and occupied countries. Almost simultaneously with this announcement of the crushing weight of bombs hurled by more than 1,100 aircraft in a pre-invasion hammering, the German radio reported a major attack today on southeastern Europe by American heavy bombers.

A German broadcast said Bucharest today was attacked by American bombers, apparently from bases in Italy. Cologne, German anti-invasion transportation hub, felt the major weight of the tremendous night operation.

The Canadian bomber group, integrating Canada's aerial strength with the might of the R.A.F. bomber command, provided the entire force of Halifaxes and Lancasters which attacked Lens and the Pas de Calais areas of northern France.

16 Bombers Lost.

Only 16 bombers, including one Canadian aircraft, were lost during the night's multi-pronged operations which included an attack by speedy Mosquito bombers on Berlin.

The smashing night offensive followed yesterday's dusk attack on Adolf Hitler's Atlantic wall by a fleet of 750 to 1,000 heavy bombers.

In addition to Cologne, Lens and the Pas de Calais area, other rail targets hit included Ottignies, 15 miles southeast of Brussels, and La Chapelle on the outskirts of Paris where a ring of rail junctions had been attacked in recent raids.

R.A.F. and R.C.A.F. heavyweights also continued the almost nightly program of minelaying in enemy waters.

The pre-invasion pattern of destruction was continued today as medium bomber formations skipped across the channel, continental radio stations closed down, and Spitfires harassed the military objectives in northern France that were hit by 2,500 tons of explosives by American planes yesterday.

Mosquitoes carried out intruder patrols over wide areas of France and the low countries during the night.

Beaufighters of the Coastal Command late yesterday also made a foray against shipping off the Dutch coast, hitting one large escort vessel with a torpedo and damaging two smaller ones.

Cologne was riddled by Britain's first 1,000-bomber assault on May 30, 1942, but the city still is Germany's third largest and the Air Ministry explained that its railways now largely repaired, were still vital to the German war effort.

Its industries have been reduced to comparative importance, however.

Used 9,000 Planes

Thus in less than 72 hours Allied air units based in Britain have sent more than 9,000 planes roaring against the European fortress to drop close to 15,000 tons of explosives on rail junctions, airfields, plane factories and anti-invasion installations.

While a powerful force of Lancasters was pounding that rail hub, other R.A.F. heavy bombers hit railway lines on the outskirts of Paris, in the Pas de Calais department on the French coast and near

Strikes Cripple English Cities; Trouble Looms

By SYDNEY GRUSON
Canadian Press Staff Writer

LONDON, April 21.—(CP Cable). — London and Manchester were racked today by strikes that may bring the first test of the Government's new iron-fisted labor legislation just four days after it was signed into law, and British troops took over the Manchester Gas Works.

The strikes hit Britain's biggest city — where troops already were operating army trucks on bus routes —and its fourth largest in population.

Freed of trouble in the coal fields for the first time in months, Labor Minister Bevin was faced with walkouts of 2,000 London bus drivers and conductors that snarled the capital's transportation system and of 500 men from two of Manchester's main gas works that left the city of 766,000 without gas for munitions works, aircraft factories, mills and hospitals.

Technicians were dispatched to the plants to instruct the soldiers in their jobs, and it was hoped gas would start flowing again shortly. The gas works employees quit work in protest against a recent wages award.

In London bus drivers and conductors, many of the latter women, struck because of dissatisfaction over new summer schedules. Hundreds more threatened to widen the stoppage today because of the Cabinet's action in replacing strikers with army drivers and putting army lorries on some bus routes.

Mr. Bevin was reported to have ordered an investigation to determine whether any action is necessary under the labor law passed

Allies Massing Record Fleet

LONDON, April 21—(AP)—The Berlin radio said today the American and British navies were massing "the greatest concentration since Dunkirk" in British home waters for the western invasion.

"Troops are leaving London, which is becoming more and more deserted by British, American and Colonial troops," the broadcast said.

"Every day now troop trains are leaving London stations, taking men to Channel ports and to ports on the south and east coasts."

The Vichy radio, also broadcasting invasion rumors, declared the main invasion blow from the west would be timed with new Allied assaults in Italy and the Balkans.

Russia Gains Rapidly as World Power

European Countries Already Trimming Sails To Suit Viewpoint From Moscow

By DEWITT MACKENZIE
Associated Press War Analyst

There has been widespread acceptance of the startling thesis that Russia will emerge from the war as dominant power of the eastern hemisphere, and concrete evidence in support of this idea is accumulating as we enter the final stages of the conflict.

One indication of the trend is the manner in which numerous European countries are orienting their policies, in greater or less degree, towards Moscow. This is particularly noticeable in Eastern and Southeastern Europe, but it's by no means confined to that zone, for we even find France—as represented by the Committee of National Liberation and General de Gaulle in Algiers going out of its way to make overtures to Russia.

A notable example of this tendency is provided by doughty little Czechoslovakia — early sacrifice on the altar of Hitlerian appeasement. One of the mile-stones in this trend was the signing of a pact of mutual assistance and post-war co-operation between the Soviet and Czechoslovakia last December. Then in February President Eduard Benes announced that Moscow and his country were working for a Slav alliance, including Poland, to secure peace in Eastern Europe.

Pursuant to that we have an article by Dr. Benes in the May issue of Free World Magazine in which he emphasizes the need of Slavic solidarity as a barrier against the Nazi and Fascist forces of reaction.

Dr. Benes maintains that "the future of the Slav countries is indissolubly linked to a fight for freedom on behalf of all Slavic peoples." He explains he doesn't mean that the Slavs should form a solid boc, since a bloc excluding all other peoples would threaten them and would constitute a new power in Europe.

Indirect emphasis was added to this article yesterday on the arrival of Jan Masarky, Deputy Prime Minister and Foreign Minister of Czechoslovakia, in New York from England. He declared his country trusts the Soviet Union implicitly regarding future relations between the two.

Of course, Dr. Benes' declaration doesn't indicate weakening of the friendship among Czechosolakia, America and Britain. Indeed, it may fit the truism that world peace depends on co-operation among the big three — America, Britain and Russia. However, the orientation towards Moscow is evident and it will be surprising if, among others, Poland, Bulgaria, Yugoslavia, Finland and Romania don't follow suit in due course.

MONTREAL, April 21 — (CP) — Funeral services will be held Saturday for Thomas Aylmer Somerville, Montreal engineer and vice-president of E. G. M. Cape and Company, who died in hospital Thursday night. He was 76.

Survivors include his widow, the former Edna Webster of Brockville, Ont., and a daughter Mrs. D. O. Turnbull of Ottawa.

Extend Soldier Grants

Takes In Groups Not Previously Covered

OTTAWA, April 21 — (CP) — An extension of regulations governing payment of rehabilitation grants to retired or discharged personnel of Naval, Military and Air Forces of Canada was announced yesterday by defence headquarters.

The amendment authorises payment of grants to certain former members of the services, not previously eligible, and is retroactive to Aug. 26, 1939. It applies also to all future retirements and discharges and includes the women's divisions.

Formerly those retired or discharged at their own request, those retired or discharged for giving a false answer on enlistment or enrolment, and those who, upon retirement or discharge, were granted an immediate pension under the Militia Pension Act, were not eligible for rehabilitation grants, said the announcement.

These exceptions now have been removed, and as a result the only personnel not entitled to grants are those whose retirement or discharge is brought about by reason of a sentence of a court martial or disciplinary court, or by reason of a conviction by the civil power involving a sentence of imprisonment.

No grants will be paid, however, to personnel retiring from one service in order to join another.

Badoglio Still Premier

6 Parties Unite To Form War Government

NAPLES, April 21. — (AP). — Marshal Pietro Badoglio today announced the formation of a new Italian war government with himself as premier and foreign minister.

The men who held the war, navy and air ministries in the old cabinet remained at their posts in the new government, as did the technician whom Badoglio had chosen to head the finance ministry. The other posts were divided among Italy's six political parties of the Liberation Junta and some Independents.

Badoglio submitted the new list to King Victor Emmanuel following the agreement of the Actionist party, the last of the holdout parties, to participate along with the other five of the Junta in the new Union government.

Four outstanding figures were made ministers without portfolio. They were Count Carlo Sforza, onetime Italian foreign minister who led the anti-Fascist movement abroad; Benedetto Croce, philosopher and former senator; Guilo Rodino, leader of the Christian Democrats, and Palmiro Togliatti, Communist leader who in many years in Russia under the name of Ercole Ercoli was attached to the Third International. Togliatti recently returned from Moscow to take the lead in urging co-operation with Badoglio in formation of a new government.

Find Parents Guilty In 4 Deaths

Judge Chevrier To Pass Sentence Monday

COCHRANE, Ont., April 21 (CP)—Trial of Mr. and Mrs. Walter Gillis of Schumacher, Ont., on charges of manslaughter laid in connection with the death of their four children came to a close last night when an Ontario Assize Court jury returned a verdict of guilty.

During the hearing which lasted three days before Mr. Justice E. R. E. Chevrier witnesses related events leading up to the tragedy last March 10.

Mr. Justice Chevrier will pronounce sentence, Monday.

The children—Sandra, 4½, Gerald 3½, Richard, two, and Michael, 13 months—died of suffocation in a fire at the Gillis home in the Timmins district town. They were alone at the time of the blaze, first discovered by the father.

The jury, which took exactly 2½ hours to reach a decision, was congratulated by the Justice, who said he considered the verdict well-substantiated by the evidence.

Prior to the jury's retirement, Mr. Justice Chevrier warned them to reach a decision, stating he believed the couple failed to furnish any reasonable excuse for omitting to provide essential protection for their children. He said the jury would be warranted in finding them guilty as charged.

When the trial opened Tuesday morning, Mr. and Mrs. Gillis pleaded not guilty to eight counts of an indictment charging them jointly with manslaughter and negligence in the deaths of their children. It was decided to proceed only with the manslaughter charges, leaving the others until later

After Mr. Justice Chevrier announced last night he would pronounce sentence Monday, Crown Attorney S. A. Caldbick, KC., was granted his request that the four charges of neglect be traversed pending receipts of instructions from Attorney-General Blackwell.

Evidence in the case was concluded Wednesday night. The parents were the only defence witnesses. Crown and defence counsel took up the morning session yesterday summing up their argument and Mr. Justice Chevrier spoke for an hour and 20 minutes before the jury retired.

During the Justice's address, he said he had already decided that both parents were civilly liable to

Patriotic Routine Makes Smart Finale For Gym Show

A pattern of red, white and blue, against a background of United Nations' flags, formed a fitting finale for the "Physical Fitness" Review, presented Thursday evening in the Y.W.C.A gym. Intermediate business girls, in red, white or blue blouses and stockings, and black gym bloomers, climaxed the program with a snappy gym routine, with red, white and blue wands. They were placed in double lines of red, white and blue, making a striking and effective pattern, and closing the review on a patriotic note. They were joined by all the other participants, and a chorus of almost 300 young voices joined with the audience in the National Anthem.

The idea of the review, to show Canadian girls how to keep physically fit and fulfill a patriotic duty to keep healthy, was carried throughout. Because of war restrictions, the elaborate costume dances of former years were curtailed, and were replaced by a class review of "keep fit" exercises and dances. Colorful long gowns were used, however, for the "Pearl of Andalusia" dance, and the Waltz Brilliant, both presented by the senior ballet. Bright accessories were used in the Mexican Hat Dance, by the intermediate ballet group, and the familiar and ever-popular Sailor's Hornpipe was danced in true nautical fashion by the "Y" cadets, in middies, long white trousers, and jaunty sailor's caps.

All gym routines were done in regulation gym outfits of white blouses and navy or black shorts. Outstanding in this line were the strenuous Danish fundamentals, done by the intermediate business girls. The basic exercises were streamlined somewhat, and done to popular music, but the fundamental exercises themselves were not changed.

Know Their Signals.

Something a little different from regular exercises was presented by the cadets, when they went through their semaphore signalling. After demonstrating all the letters of the alphabet, in a smart, precise manner, the cadets concluded this unusual presentation by sending the words "health," the keynote of the review: "Churchill," "Y.W.C.A.," and "Victory." The girls knew their signals, and their sure actions showed long hours of practice. They climaxed the routine by some precision marching.

The babies, of course, had their part, and their natural, unaffected actions, and expression of genuine pleasure, showing that they enjoyed putting on a show for their parents, brought rounds of applause. Their first number, a series of nursery rhyme exercises, demonstrated one of the most advanced theories in gym teaching for younger children. That is, they did not learn the exercises themselves by memorizing a set list, but connected the action with the music played. They did well indeed, marching in line, and coming down in sixes, just as the older girls did, to line up for their routine.

The second number, a little dance telling a story, was equally appealing. The story concerned several timid canaries; a number of kittens, determined to have canaries for dinner, and a flock of bluebirds, who succeeded in rescuing the hapless canaries. The actions were clear and realistic, and the story was not hard to follow. Even the facial expressions of the kittens, as they invited the canaries to "come out and play with us," were masterpieces of winning guile.

Tops in the way of precision presentations was the split-timing rhythmical work of the Sparkle Club of the senior gym, in a difficult and peppy collection of club swinging exercises. Also different, was the skipping reed work of the cadets. The even click of the reeds on the floor gave added effectiveness to the intricate skipping routine.

Ballet Number.

Colorful costume dances provided a change from the regular program. The senior ballet's presentation of Chalif's "Pearl of Andalusia" was charming and one of the highlights of the program. The girls performed the graceful steps of the Spanish dance in long gowns and lovely heirloom shawls. The dancers also wore dancing shoes, in contrast to the regulation soft ballet slippers, so that the smart, quick, stamping of feet gave realism and authenticity which was complimented by the use of the shawls.

Other numbers by the seniors included exercises for the tired business girl; double gymnastics and mat work; streamline exercises in effective circle pattern; relaxation routine and leg routine. The junior gym gave a number entitled "Dancing for Fund," in which they danced and sang the songs "The Sidewalks of New York" and "Waltzing Matilda." The junior ballet danced the classic trio polka with ease and grace, while the "Waltz Brilliant" of the senior ballet vied with their "Pearl of Andalusia" for daintiness and effectiveness.

Intermission featured a round of activity, with mat work by the juniors; flying rings by seniors, and rope climbing by babies and juniors. A special group of numbers on the mats was also presented by two "sister" teams. Four members of the Archery Club sent their arrows flying to the target with surprising accuracy, while three members of the junior gym did the "triple bird's nest" on the rings.

Miss Caroline Littlefield, physical director of the Y.W., was in charge of the entire presentation. She arranged the exercises, and the choreography of all the dances, with the exception of Chalif's "Pearl of Andalusia." Mrs. F. McBride and Esther Renshaw were pianists. For the costume numbers the lights were dimmed, and the dancers made their entrances and exits in the light of a bright spotlight, thrown from the balcony, making a most effective pattern.

April 17 which provides for the arrest of strike inciters. The regulation is to be debated in Parliament next Friday.

On the brighter side of the picture of Britain's labor problems was the signing of two agreements affecting more than 1,000,000 of the country's workers. About 400,000 railway workers were given an increase of $1.20 weekly in a war bonus and a pact was signed in London yesterday which in effect freezes miners' wages for four years. This pact is the Government's hope of finally obtaining stability in the minefields where production was hit hard by recent labor troubles.

Bus workers, who claim the summer schedules mean longer hours of work, watched glumly as soldiers wheeled the big red, double-decker buses through busy streets, but for soldiers and passengers it was a bit of a frolic. Many soldier conductors didn't bother to collect fares and passengers in turn took up collections for army men.

There were reports of one or two minor accidents and a few drivers strayed off the routes, running into twisting one-way streets where the big buses have never ventured before. One driver made three circuits of Piccadilly Circle and tied up traffic in knots before he found the right route.

Obituary

BARBARA ANN CLARK.

The death occurred on Thursday in St. Joseph's Hospital, of Barbara Ann, 10-days-old youngest child of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Clark, 460 Reid Street.

Besides her parents, she leaves two brothers, Frankie and Gary Clark.

The funeral was held to-day from the Bert Duffus Funeral Home, with interment in St. Peter's Cemetery.

Speculating About End Of The War Deprecated By J. W. Palmer Prisoner Of Japanese Eight Months

Wondering when the war will end was vigorously deplored as unconsciously and unintentionally promoting a form of enemy propaganda, by J. W. Palmer of Hamilton, representative of the Norwich Union Assurance Society of London, England, in Japan for seventeen years until his repatriation in 1942, addressing a joint meeting of life, fire and casualty insurance underwriters at the Kawartha Club last night.

After recounting some of his experiences and impressions of Japanese life and ideology, with special reference also to Nippon's long preparations for war, Mr. Palmer phrased the practical question: "Well, what are we going to do about it?"

That word "it" was a convenient crystallizing of the conception of the Japanese war machine, the complete regimentation of the people in every phase of their living, even to their thoughts, their fanatical acceptance and belief in the myth of the divinity of their Emperor, and their control of the riches and the labor of the people of the East Indies since December 7, 1941.

That question might be paraphrased in words Mr. Palmer used otherwise: "What are we going to do about this ruthless, determined, fanatical enemy, in my opinion potentially more dangerous than their Axis parter in Europe, the Germans, now that Italy is out of the war?"

And the Palmer answer was: "In your own simple, unimaginative way keep on pegging away at the enemy in whatever work and duty you have selected to help win the war. Concentrate on the particular line you have picked out, and I hope you have picked out something that helps, and keep pegging away at it. You have shoved your spoke into the war effort; just keep at it."

And it was in that connection that Mr. Palmer deprecated in a tone of sharp protest "the speculation you hear on when the war will end. That seems to me to be highly dangerous, and playing into the despicable hands of Dr. Goebbels (Hitler's Minister of Propaganda)."

Mr. Palmer agreed that giving thought to postwar problems and plans had a proper place in projecting ideas toward the future, but he said it believed that it could be carried too far, that it could be distracting. "Our first job is to see this war through to success."

"The Silent Ones"

"Now, if I may leave with you a final thought, something which may excite a spot more of energy! You must know that war weariness is a real thing. Frankly I'm fed up with it to my back teeth, but that is an occasional feeling which we have all got to conquer and stamp under foot. We are all part and parcel of this war. That means the people in Peterborough as much as the people in Sydney, Australia, and in Shanghai, China. The world has become a smaller place. Time and space have been vastly reduced in our day.

I ask you to give some thought to those who cannot speak. From the bottom of my heart I ask you to think of the prisoners of war, the civilians in interment camps, and to the unfortunate inmates of internment camps. I frequently think of those who were not so fortunate as I was, and I know of nothing whatever that could have singled me out, some of them my closest friends for years, who were not able to take advantage of repatriation. I speak to you of the appeal of the silent ones. Some of you may have a son or a brother prisoner of war, whose voices are the more potent because they are silent.

They are all looking to you and to me to keep pegging away in doing those things that will bring this war even a few minutes nearer to its close."

Forty-five insurance men attended the meeting, the first occasion on which the life underwriters on the one hand and the fire and casualty underwriters have sat down together at dinner. Stanley Darling was chairman, Jack Arnott led the after-dinner singing with Cliff Nicholson at the piano, and the vocal features were two solos by E. A. Collis, and a duet by Rufus Payne and Harold Howey, that was in a discordant class by itself, with the blue notes being purposely dubbed in by Mr. Howey. And by the way, that is not so easy as it may sound.

The program was merely incidental to the address by Mr. Palmer who came unheralded, except the fact that he had lived for years in Japan, representing in Tokyo his insurance compay, the Norwich Union.

Ferment of Nationalism

Mr. Palmer devoted the first part of his stirringly interesting reminiscences and ideas to his business experience which brought about his transfer to the Orient, and his recollections of the steadily intensifying spirit of nationalism throughout Japan during the years, which reached their climax with the Japanese bombing attack at Pearl Harbor and simultaneously in the Philippines and generally upon the white peoples in the far east. Business built up by the foreign whites, especially by the bankers, oil men, insurance companies and the exporters and importers, was eventually appropriated by the Japanese government.

These westerners had seen the ominous "handwriting on the wall" in many manifestations other than the irksome and irritating difficulties which were encroaching upon the business of the foreigners. Some of them left the country, others sent their wives and children back home.

"When I felt the tension gathering around us, I sent my wife and young son to this country, an action in July, 1940 for which I have been most profoundly thankful," Mr. Palmer said with palpable sincerity. In his appearance he resembles Herbert Marshall, the English star of the movies, and is altogether a most attractive and convincing speaker, with a pleasing assortment of English idioms salting his fluent and sometimes eloquent narrative.

Overtaken In Escape.

Mr. Palmer said he finally decided to leave Japan, and sailed toward the end of November, 1941, on a Japanese ship. When it reached the international date line almost in the mid-Pacific, the ship made a wide curve which he would always remember, and turned back on its course. "I did not need a news bulletin to tell me what had taken place."

"I was extremely fortunate in escaping most of the grim experiences of men and women who were herded into concentration camps, especially those who fell into the unspeakable clutches of the Japanese gendarmerie."

Mr. Palmer was held at Yokohama eight months and by some favoring twist of circumstances he missed the internment camps to which many of his friends were taken. He dreaded every knock at his door, expecting that his turn had come to be whisked away with those others.

Passing from that phase of his talk, Mr. Palmer asked: "Do we think sufficiently about our enemies? We read so much in the press about what we and our allies are doing, and so little about what our enemies are doing, that sometimes I should like to read the war communiques of both side and piece them together, particularly about our Japanese enemy. The more we think about the enemy, the better understanding of him we shall get, and he sooner we will defeat him."

Reared In Regimentation

Japan did not need a dictator, as in Germany, Mr. Palmer said. And the reason was that the Japanese had been for a long time brought up in the tradition of regimentation and totalitarianism, two long words whose full significance should be understood.

Sketching the small islands with their population seventy to seventy-three millions, Tokyo along with 7,000,000 people and covering an area as great as London, and many other large cities of modern industrialization, Mr. Palmer mentioned the prospect of eventual air raids doing tremendous damage in those urban centres.

On the other hand it was worth remembering that the Japs were inured to catastrophe. Mr. Palmer recalled the great earthquake and fires of 1923, causing damage on a scale not approached by any air raid in this war; the conflagration of 1934, floods of 1938, and terrific hurricanes. "They have lived in an environment of catastrophe, and air raids may be just another to them. I am not saying that untold destruction and sufferin by bombing raids will crack their morale. It seems to me open to question. I merely suggest that you think of it yourselves."

Touching upon "the shameless way in which the Emperor worship has been exploited," creating the basis of the fanaticism that extends through the army, Mr. Palmer said: "The fact is that the Emperor is divine to millions of the Japanese. They really believe that stuff," and this religious belief mingled with their intense nationalism and sense of difference in color and race from the whites begets the fanaticism that shows itself in the atrocities of the Japanese soldiers.'

Greatest Atrocity

Mr. Palmer stated that the greatest atrocity of the war, in his estimate, was the brutalizing of human minds, the teaching of Japanese by Japanese that the white devils are to be eliminated as vermin.

"Japanese police have the right to enter your home any time, to enquire into your personal history, to put tion and suffering by bombing raids days without any semblance of trial on a charge of entertaining dangerous thoughts, although how they could pretend to know what a man is thinking is more than I could imagine. But, it does not matter any way. And you have no recourse.

Don't think of those words regimentation and totalitarianism as mere shibboleths of war. They mean literally that you may not think, say and do as you like."

In this country, Mr. Palmer said, a citizen could have a pretty good try at criticizing the authorities, speaking his thoughts according to "our way of living." In Japan long years of ruthless training had cultivated a fanaticism in brutalized minds, based on a system of mythology enshrined about the personality of the Emperor. A serious effort should be made in this country, Mr. Palmer said, to understand Japan and its ways as an unemotional aid to winning the war and also the peace.

A vote of thanks was extended by Oscar S. Smith on behalf of the assembled insurnace men to Mr. Palmer for his visit to Peterborough and his notable address.

Churchill Says

"What I am concerned to do," he added, "is show how strictly I have during my stewardship safeguard the structure of imperial preference which we have built up out of the achievements of the last 40 years against any danger of being swept away in the tumult of this war."

"Looking at the British Empire say 30 years ago, in 1914, on the eve of the First Great War all foreign nations', especially German, opinion was convinced that this vast structure of Empire created, coming into full life in Victorian times, had reached a condition of ricketyness and looseness when a single violent shake would bring it clattering down and lay it low for ever.

"Then there came upon the world a most frightful war, a slaughter so far as we were concerned incomparably greater than anything we had ever known and a slaughter far greater than which, thank God, we have suffered so far in this struggle....

"We had a pretty dreary time between those two last wars. We have great responsibilities for the part we played, all of us and so have Americans in not making the League of Nations a reality and not backing its principles with effective armed force (cheers), letting this deadly and vengeful foe arm at his leisure....

"Then this war broke out....

"Instantly from all parts of the British Empire save one lamentable exception, about which we must all search our hearts, came the same response....

"From the poorest colony to the most powerful dominion the great maxim held "when the King declares war the Empire is at war."

"What is this miracle, for it is nothing else?"...

"We must look very deep into the hearts of men and then we won't find the answer unless we look with the eye of the spirit... Many various forces have held the British Empire together...

"We have had the statute of Westminster which some thought would involve the breaking of ties.

"There was a lot to be said about that on side. But it has not impeded in the slightest degree the onward march of the Commonwealth and Empire... Here, after the statute of Westminster; here, after getting into this war and dragging in the Empire so unprepared and they themselves no better prepared than others in arms, into this great struggle; here, amid the wreck of empires and states and institutions of every kind, we find the British Commonwealth and Empire more strongly united than ever before...

GLIDERS AID ALLIED BURMA DRIVE—With both the Allies and the Japs duelling for positions behind the battle lines from which to strike telling blows at supply lines, the Burma-India battle continues to be filled with potential dynamite for both sides. Some of the recent developments are indicated here. The Japs (1) have undertaken to encircle Imphal and Kohima while hacking at road to Dimapur (2) and the Allied rail supply line. Thin arrow shows where the Allies have hit back and are clearing the Japs from north of Kohima. British officials say they can withstand encirclement tactics by parachuting supplies and even men. The Stilwell drive (3) still heads for Mogaung while a dramatic development is the landing of glider-borne Allied troops 60 miles from Mandalay (4). This is the deepest penetration behind enemy lines and creates a serious situation for the Japs.

Future Peace

Dark Days Over

The Ambassador said the dark days when an enemy victory was possible are over, but warned that the war is not yet over. The utmost in effort, courage, and sacrifice would yet be demanded.

The coming peace conference would surely fail if "we say 'Well, we have done our part'.....If we want peace we shall have to go on fighting and working and serving and perhaps spending our money. The personal demands which peace will make upon us all will be different from the demands which the war is making now; but they will be just as great and just as necessary."

If the world is to protect itself against the future appearance of "other gangsters," Lord Halifax said, the "economic disorders of our time" must be banished.

The peace talks must cover a wide field including international trade, currency, stabilization, the development of industrially backward or bankrupt countries, the adjustment of the supplies of raw materials, the problems of communication.

The Ambassador declared "it is no longer possible economically, any more than it is impossible politically, for a nation to retire within itself and take no heed of what is happening in the great world outside."

Strikers Ready To Go Back Pending Ruling

WINDSOR, Ont., April 21 (CP) — The 14,000 employees of the Ford Motor Company of Canada now idle in a dispute between the Company and Local 200 of the United Automobile Workers of America are willing to return to work under their old collective bargaining agreement, pending a ruling on the case by the National Wartime Labor Relations Board.

This was announced today by President Roy England of Local 200 who issued an appeal for immediate intervention in the dispute by the Labor Board.

"We are willing to abide by the Labor Board's request and believe it in the interests of continued production that such request be backed by all the forces the government can command," said England.

His appeal came in the second day of the work stoppage which started at 11 a.m. yesterday when day-shift workers left their jobs for what was described by Union officials as a "half holidty" to discuss grievance procedure under the Union- Company collective bargaining agreement. The Company then announced termination of the agreement and the Union men at an afternoon meeting decided they would not return to work unless it was restored.

Picket lines, established yesterday after the Union meeting, patrolled the entrance to the company property this morning and groups of men who appeared at each of the five gates as if to go to work turned away after pickets spoke to them. Two city police constables and company police were on duty but there was no disorder. Police did not interfere with the pickets talking to workers. Salaried workers as well as trade school boys, timekeepers, and construction, office and maintenance workers passed through the picket lines to their work.

Pickets were on duty all night in a steady rain.

F. J. Ainsborough, Department of Labor Conciliation Officer, is here in connection with the dispute while J. S. McCullough, Senior Conciliation Officer of the Department, was expected here from Ottawa this morning.

Trappers Find Missing Plane

MARMORA, April 21.J—(ENS).—Walking through the bush about a mile from Twin Sisters Lake on a trapping expedition on Thursday morning, two brothers, Kenneth and Dorland Harten, of Malone, discovered a wrecked plane with the bodies of three airmen.

They returned to Kelly's store at Malone and phoned R.C.A.F. headquarters at Trenton. The ambulance and some cars proceeded to within a mile of the scene of the disaster.

Sgt.-Major William McCoy, of Madoc, who was with the party, drove a jeep into the bush to obtain the bodies and later transferred them to the ambulance. Names of the dead airmen were not divulged but the plane, an Avro Anson bomber, was said to have been missing since the early part of February. A return will be made on Friday for the plane which is badly damaged.

World Sugar Supplies Short

OTTAWA, April 21—(CP)—Sir William Rook, British sugar controller, warned Prices Board officers during recent discussions that world supplies of sugar are so short that larger rations may not be expected "for the first year or two after the war," the board said today.

Sir William termed "incomplete and inaccurate" the view that all that is lacking is enough shipping space to transport sugar from producing to consuming countries.

Labor Member Takes Rap At All Critics

LONDON, April 21 (CP)—Establishment of an economic council to take an inventory of the commonwealth resources was proposed in the House of Commons today by Emmanuel Shinwell, Labor.

Opening a debate on Empire affairs, he urged steps to form firmer economic ties and said "we have no intention of throwing the British Commonwealth of Nations overboard in order to satisfy a section of the American press or anyone else."

"There are some in the United States who would like to take Commonwealth countries, each in turn, by separate agreements which would be to our disadvantage and disastrous to all the Commonwealth," he said. "We are not prepared to play second fiddle to any nation or empire."

Mr. Shinwell paid high tribute to Canada for coming into the war without waiting till the war came to her, as it did to the United States through the Japanese attack on Pearl Harbor. He added what applied to Canada was also true of all the dominions.

Promotion of Empire co-operation was not Britain's final aim, he said, but it was her purpose through and by the power of co-operation to make valuable and practicable contributions to enduring world peace.

"It has become fashionable in certain quarters to indulge in sneers at the British Empire," he said. "I readily admit that in the past mistakes were made. Our treatment of native peoples was not without blemish perhaps. Here and there our administration was far from perfect but it does not lie in the mouths of other nations and other people to indulge in derogatory terms regarding our administration until they put their own house in order."

Hepburn Loses Barn

ST. THOMAS, April 21—(CP)—A large bank barn on nearby Bannockburn Farm, owned by former Ontario Premier Mitchell F. Hepburn, was destroyed by fire early today. The fire was discovered by a group of men from St. Thomas out on a night fishing trip. In addition to the barn, valued at $3,200, 1,200 bushels of barley and 40 to 50 tons of hay were destroyed. Forty-nine head of registered Holstein cattle were saved. Cause of the blaze is not known.

FarmCommodity Fees Bill Not A Precedent

"No producer association is compelled to adopt the system of collection of fees provided for in the bill, merely because the bill has been passed and is now law."

This statement is quoted from an explanatory review of the new legislation permitting "collection of association fees by deducations made by distributors from producers' milk cheques" issued this week by the Ontario Federation of Agriculture. It is a reply to some criticism of the general provisions of the bill, chiefly by Hon. Mitchell F. Hepburn, although the factual presentment does not specifically name the former Premier.

"The bill takes effect," the statement continues, "only in cases where local associations of milk producers desire to make use of its provisions in collecting the fees of their organization. Such associations petition the Government to make the bill effective in the marketing area served."

Another quotation: "It merely gives legal status to a practice in collection of fees for milk producers' associations that has been in operation on a voluntary basis, as between producers and distributors, for a period of ten years or more."

The bill was introduced in the recent session of the Legislature as a government measure, was studied and argued in committee, and finally passed the third reading with the "almost unanimous approval of all parties of the House."

"If the Minister of Agriculture and the Government are satisfied that the local association making the petition is representative of a substantial majority of the producers in the area served and are satisfied with the general status of the association as a producer organization, they may authorize the local association to proceed under the provisions of the bill. The local association in every case is the supreme authority (after approval has been given by the Government) to designate whether their own local association, or whether the provincial association, shall do the collecting for them. After the formalities have been concluded and necessary authority given, the bill is given effect in the particular area concerned, and the distributors in that area must then, according to the law, deduct from every producer's milk cheque the designated fee.

"Under the present Farm Products Marketing Act passed by the Liberal administration in 1937, the Government authorizes a 'board' to make collection of license fees, or, in other words, organization fees for the producers' organizations. This is done under this act in the case of a number of products, in much the same manner as it is now intended to legalize the collection of fees from milk producers. However, in the new amendment dealing with milk fees, the word 'association' is used in place of 'board,' and authorizes the association concerned to be the collecting agency, making it compulsory on the distributors to deduct the fees regularly from the patrons' milk cheques.

Successfully Employed

"The following producer organizations have been collecting fees under the Farm Products Marketing Act in much the same manner as ow provided by the amended Milk Control Act: Ontario Cheese Producers, Ontario Peach Growers, the asparagus growers, the pear, plum and cherry growers, the seed corn growers, the tomato growers, the sugar beet growers, the strawberry growers and the raspberry growers. All of the marketing schemes by which these associations collect their fees by compulsory deduction, were authorized since 1937 under the Farm Products Marketing Act."

The new plan will be administered by the Ontario Milk Control Board, and no alteration in the amount of the fees to be collected by any association at any time under the provision of the act can be made without the approval of the Minister of Agriculture or the Milk Control Board.

Distribution of Money

The local milk producers' association in each case has the distribution of money thus collected, in its own hands, unless it has previously authorized the provincial association to do the collecting. The Ontario Milk Producers' League has nothing to do with the administration of the new bill, and has no authority to take for its own use any of the money collected, except where the local associations are definitely affiliated with the central body. In that case, the provincial body gets only the share its constitution provides for, which at present, in the case of whole milk, is only one-half a cent per hundred pounds of milk.

Use of the Money

"The new bill distinctly provides that the money collected in fees must be used entirely for organization and educational work by both local and provincial associations. None of this money can be used at any time to set up any body of milk producers in the retail or wholesale milk business. Producers' co-operatives which may be organized from time to time to go into the milk business cannot finance their activities out of fees collected under the new bill. They must proceed under entirely different legislation, with funds collected locally for the purpose by themselves.

Bill Is Constitutional

"According to the Government's legal counsel, and the opinion of leading costitutional lawyers the new bill is not ultra vires of the legislature of Ontario. On the contrary it is entirely constitutional, because it was prepared in exact conformity to the latest rulings of the Privy Council in cases involving similar legislation in the province of B.C. In these cases the Privy Council upheld the right of a province to pass such legislation, and to legalize such plans for collection of fees.

"The Privy Council has held that Clause 9 of Section 92 of the B.N.A. Act, gives the provinces the right to provide for the collection of any kind of licenses for provincial, local or municipal purposes. They hold that the collection of such fees as is provided for in the new milk bill is in reality, the collection of 'licenses' for 'local' purposes, and they have also held that the provinces may delegate such collection to 'associations'."

Hospital Deficit Familiar Story

Kitchener-Waterloo Hospital reported an operating deficit of $30,000 last year, according to the Kitchener Daily Record. The hospital "is running in the hole about $1,500 annually on the cost of indigent patients," the chairman has stated in appeal to the county council to increase their grant.

Members of the city and county councils of Peterborough will recognize a familiar note in this quotation from the Kitchener paper.

"C. N. Weber, chairman of the hospital commission, pointed out that the per day cost of a patient averages $4.44, and the county's contribution of $1.75 plus the government's grant of 60 cents does not meet the hospital's outlay. The number of county patients last year was 25 per cent of the total. On that basis Waterloo county's share of the deficit would be about $7,500. Actual cost of county indigent patients was $4,854, and toward this the county paid $3,771. Extra service to county patients represented $426 which brought the service unpaid for by the county last year to about $1,500."

Peterborough conversations about future hospital accommodation has almost sounded this note at times: "Mr. Weber pointed out that the hospital engages a highly reliable collecting agency and that some success is obtained in collecting debts of this type, but it is practically impossible to collect from them all."

Soldier Thanks Club

NORWOOD, April 21—(ENS)—The Willing Workers met on Monday evening at the home of Lois Stackhouse. An Easter card has been received from Pte. R. Lee in Italy and a card of appreciation for the I.O.D.E. for work the members have donated. The new leaders are to be Marion Cuthbertson and Betty Baker.

Several quilt blocks and knitting were handed in finished by Eleanor Carleton of Peterborough and also by the girls of the group. A cloth contest was enjoyed by the girls and Mrs. Stackhouse served cookies.

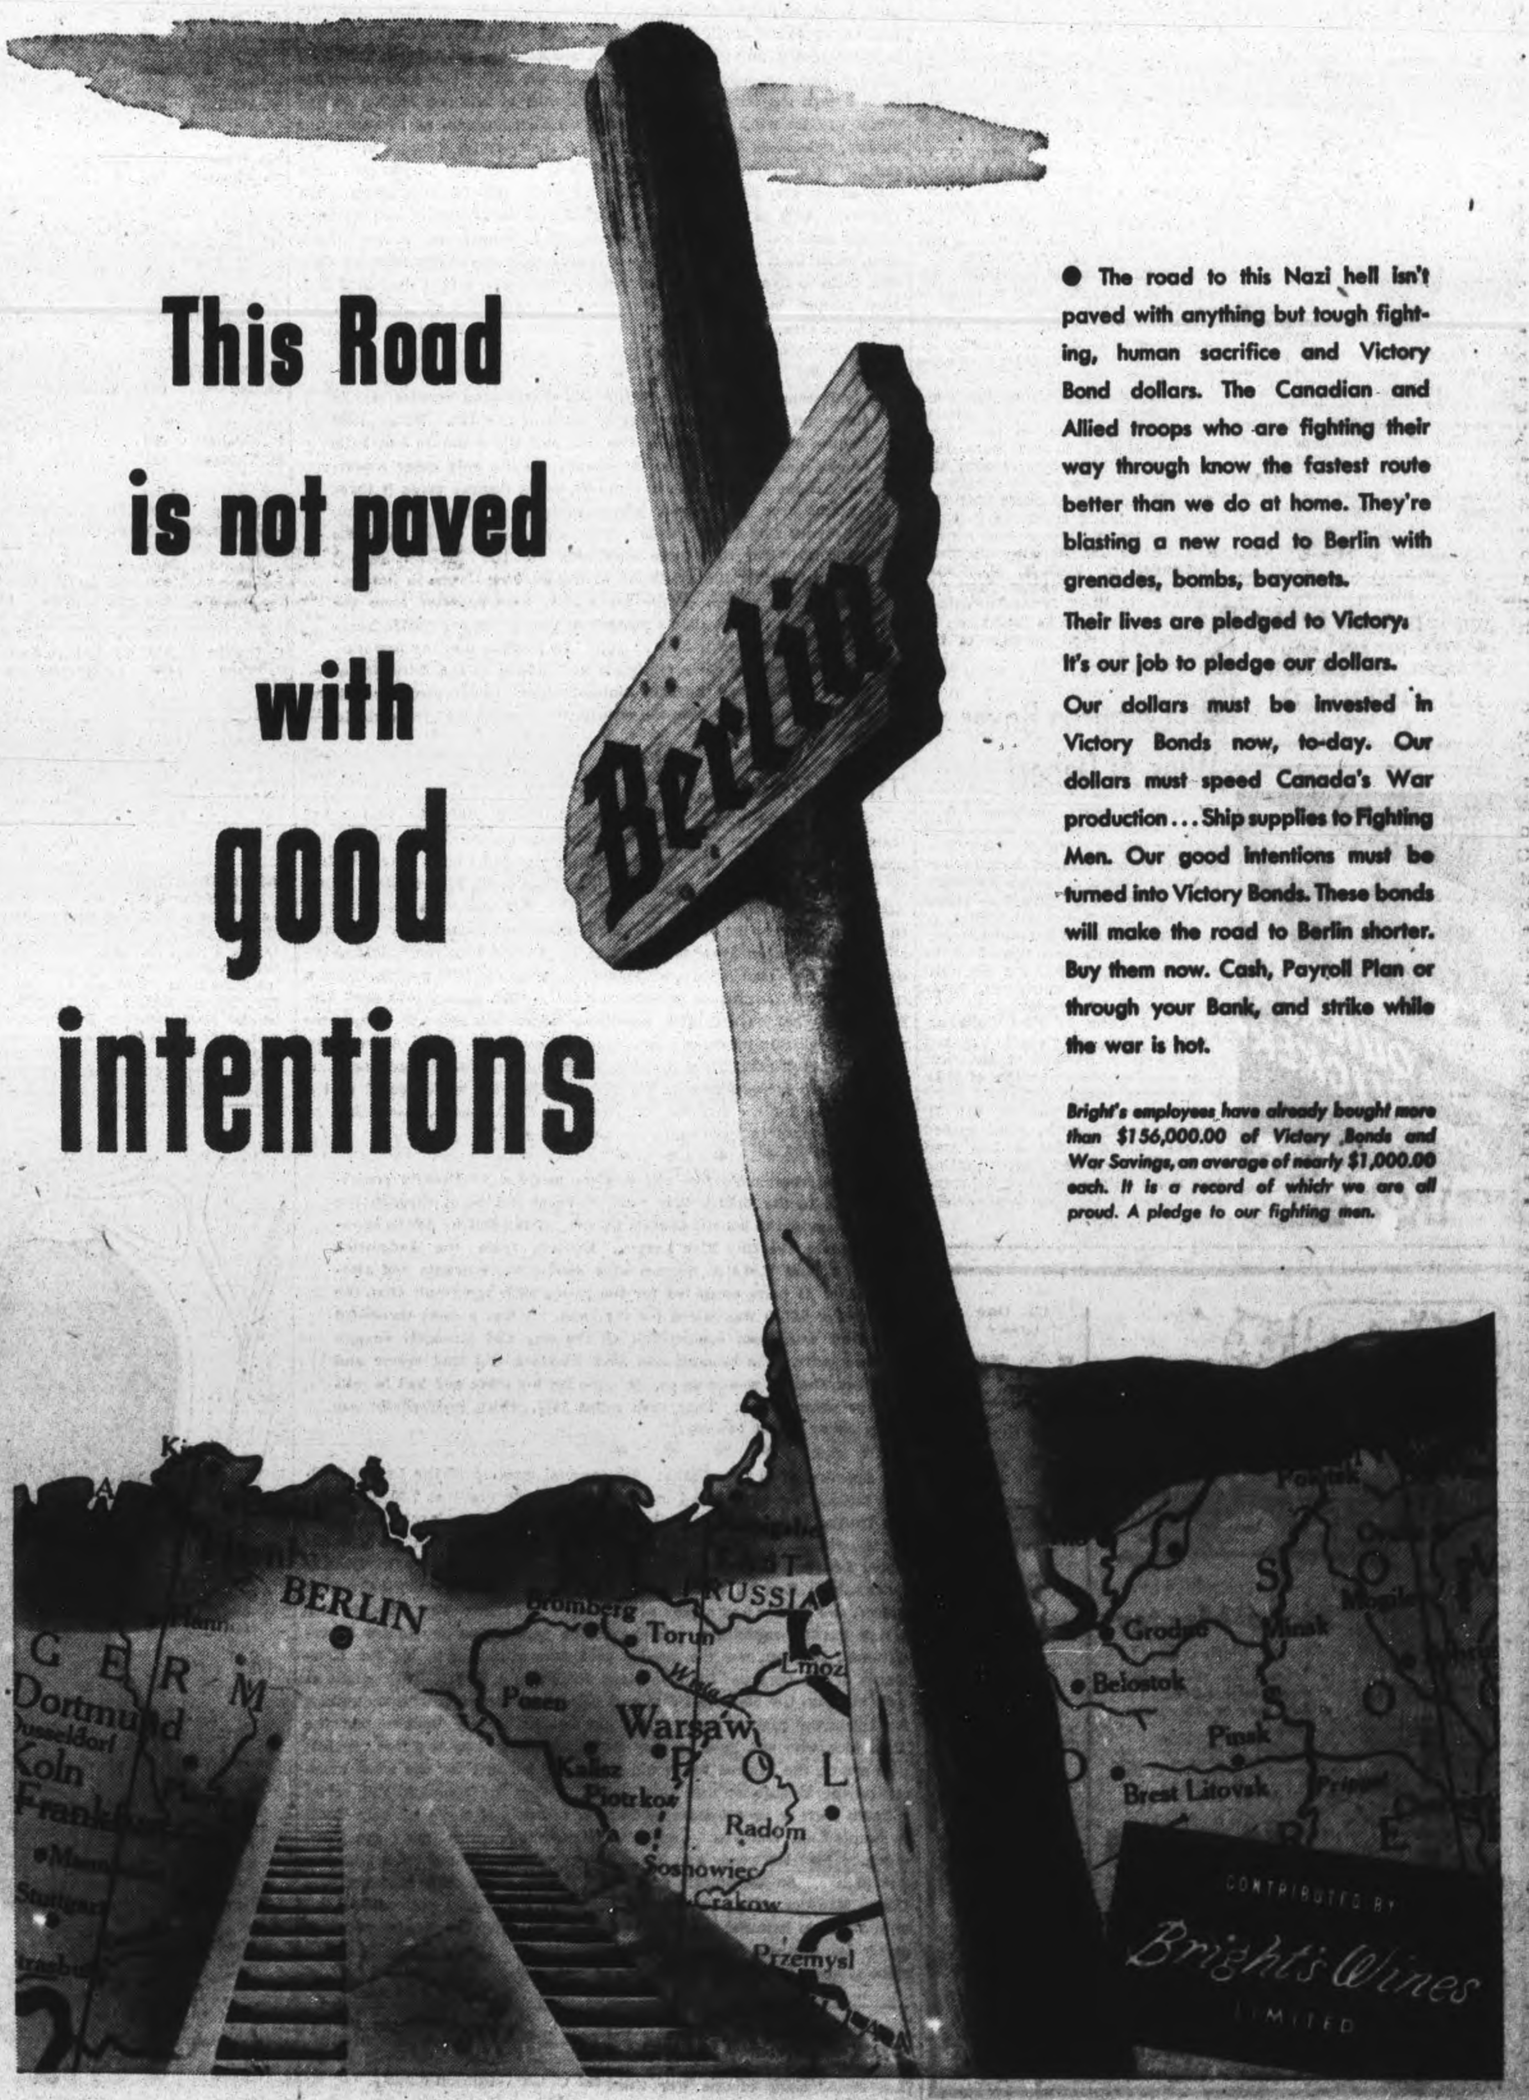
This Road is not paved with good intentions



● The road to this Nazi hell isn't paved with anything but tough fighting, human sacrifice and Victory Bond dollars. The Canadian and Allied troops who are fighting their way through know the fastest route better than we do at home. They're blasting a new road to Berlin with grenades, bombs, bayonets.

Their lives are pledged to Victory.

It's our job to pledge our dollars.

Our dollars must be invested in Victory Bonds now, to-day. Our dollars must speed Canada's War production ... Ship supplies to Fighting Men. Our good intentions must be turned into Victory Bonds. These bonds will make the road to Berlin shorter. Buy them now. Cash, Payroll Plan or through your Bank, and strike while the war is hot.

Bright's employees have already bought more than $156,000.00 of Victory Bonds and War Savings, an average of nearly $1,000.00 each. It is a record of which we are all proud. A pledge to our fighting men.

Wadsworth Takes Step Nearer Title

CAMP BORDEN, April 21—(CP).—Tpr. Len Wadsworth of Timmins, Ont., Canadian middleweight boxing champion, advanced another step in his march toward the Canadian Army title when he scored a clear-cut decision over Lieut. Ken Robinson of Kingston here last night.

Wadsworth earlier this week scored a second round knockout over Pat Fortune of Brampton, Ont., to win the championship of Military District No. 2 (Toronto). Robinson was the Camp Borden champion.

Last night's bout was one of a dozen bouts held here between mittmen from M.D. 2, M.D. 1 (London) and Camp Borden to determine zone finalists. The winners now go to Petawawa Camp, April 28-29, for the eastern Canadian championships with the victors there proceeding to Ottawa for the Dominion finals, May 4.

Zone Champs.

Two soldiers were acclaimed zone champions without a bout. Pte. P. (Patsy) Brandino of Hamilton, Ont., M.D. No. 2, was declared open lightweight titlist when no opponent appeared, and Pte. Archie Sparrow of Burlington, Ont., representing Camp Borden, was declared open light heavyweight champion when his opponent was prevented from competing for medical reasons.

When all bouts were completed, it was shown that M.D. 2 had six winners, Camp Borden, five, and M.D. 1, three.

Pte. A. Boguski of Lethbridge, Alta., representing M.D. 2, won by a comfortable margin over Pte. J. Swartz of Port Colborne, Camp Borden representative, in the open welterweight division.

In the novice welterweight class, Pte. G. E. White, Vancouver, representing M.D. 1, defeated Pte. W. E. Danbois, Sudbury, Ont., representing M.D. 2.

In the novice featherweight final, Tpr. E. N. White, London, Ont., representing Camp Borden, outpointed Tpr. E. G. Winters, Brantford, Ont., representing M.D. 2.

The heavyweight final was won by Pte. V. Escoe of Toronto, representing M.D. 2, by a technical knockout in the third round over Pte. P. G. Browning of Chatham, representing M.D. 1.

tavern and have it brought out to him in pails at the above price.

Much grain was grown in these days. Seventy years ago he saw as many as 60 wagon loads of grain on the road to Belleville or Trenton at one time. They also made potash from the ashes of the elm and other trees. The finished priduct brought a good price but care had to be exercised to get it right. Wages were anything but high. He has often cradled grain from daylight until dark for 50 cents. About sixty years ago he helped build a part of the Central Ontario Railway, now the C.N.R.

Mr. Webb remembers the building of the Methodist Church at Springbrook 61 years ago and St. Mark's Anglican, 12th line of Rawdon, built in the same year. Mr. Webb has been a member of St. Mark's nearly all his life and still attends the new church at Bonarlaw as often as he is able to do so.

Double Celebration

Mr. Webb has been looking forward eagerly to this birthday and the cake of a hundred candles. Also to the christening of his great grand daughter on this day. She is two months old Diane Ruth Crosby, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. O. L. Crosby of Trenton and grand daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Chas. Benson. The officiating clergyman is to be Rev. A. B. Caldwell of Marmora, who is at present taking the services at St. Mark's Church.

In addition to Mrs. Benson, his youngest daughter, another daughter, Mrs. Henry Wallace lives in Ivanhoe, while a son John Webb, resides in Belleville and Christopher in Toronto. A son, William died nine years ago.

Mr. Webb is receiving the congratulations of his many friends neighbours and relatives today and letters and cards by the score from those at a distance. Among the letters which he prizes greatly is one from his Bishop and friend The Right Rev. John Lyons, M.A., D.D., Lord Bishop of Ontario and a dear friend of earlier days, Rev. Herman McConnell of Victoria, B.C. Also one from the Rawdon Township Council. Mr. Webb is the Townships oldest resident and as far as can be learned the oldest person in the County of Hastings.

Pt. Colborne Boxer Wins At Debert

CAMP DEBERT, N.S., April 21—(CP)—Army boxers stationed in Military District No. 6—Nova Scotia and Prince Edward Island—bagged nine zone army titles last night as 13 boxers from this zone belted their way into the eastern finals of the Canadian army championships.

Two knockouts were posted as the soldiers slugged it out for the right to represent the Maritimes, Newfoundland and Labrador.

Gnr. M. Jeles of Port Colborne, Ont., stationed at Debert, knocked out Pte. L. J. Richard of Moncton, N.B., another representative of M.D. 7, in a heavyweight tussle.

Giving away 31 pounds, Sgt. H. Higgins of Denmark, N.S., gained an easy win over Pte. J. Loughren of Schumacher, Ont., after cutting him down with a series of lightning body blows in the open heavyweight final.

SPORTS—Day by Day

By FRED D. CRAIG

Earl McCready has been assigned the task of taming the wild man from the Pacific Coast, Strangler Bob Wagner. The big Canadian has been matched with Wagner in the main bout of next Tuesday night's show at the Brock Street Arena, and Promoter Frank Tunney is making no secret of the fact that he is hoping that the Moose will make a thorough job of demolishing the Portland bad man. Tunney is decidedly peeved over the conduct of Wagner in the main bout against Yvon Robert at the Brock last Tuesday. "Here I bring in one of the classiest wrestlers in the country for Peterborough fans to watch in action and this roughneck Wagner turns the affair into a beverage room brawl," growled the Toronto promoter yesterday in announcing the McCready-Wagner match. "It's time somebody gave that bird a wrestling lesson and I figure Earl McCready is the man to do it. He's big and powerful and clever and his record shows that he has disposed of a lot of mat villains who had been making life miserable for some of the other wrestling stars. I have a notion that Earl can take this Wagner apart and so far as I am concerned I don't care what methods he uses to do it, just so long as he makes a thorough job of it."

* * * * * *

Peterborough fans have the same idea and they will welcome the announcement that McCready has been given the job of subduing the troublesome Wagner. They believe that the Moose was the logical choice for that chore, remembering the list of badmen that the big Aurora Farmer has taken for a ride here in the last few months. Palermo John Katan, Jan Gotch and other ring villains have all been the victims of McCready's power and skill in mat clashes at the Brock with the turbulent Karl Davis the latest to be cut down by the Moose. McCready subdued the ornery Texan after Davis had ridden roughshod over a flock of good wrestlers and local enthusiasts are confident that he will give Wagner the same kind of treatment. Naturally Strangler Bob has his own views. He admits McCready is big and experienced but declares that he has cut other big fellows down to his size and there is no reason to believe that he can't do the same to the Moose. "Anyway I'll be in there punching," Wagner promises and the fans know that he'll be doing just that until McCready gets him under control anyway.

Not All Rookies

There are a lot of new faces in the big leagues but the summary of yesterday's New York Giants-Boston game has decidedly familiar appearance in the home run division with the names of Mel Ott, Ernie Lombardi and Ducky Medwick all listed therein. The three veterans each drove a ball out of the park, Ott's second in two days as the Giants won their third straight triumph over the club from the Hub. The final count was 10 to 8 with the Giants coming through with 14 hits and Melton getting credit for the win. The neighboring Brooklyn Dodgers also registered a victory, outscoring the Phillies 8 to 2 for their second triumph in succession. The losers were outhit only 14 to 13 but as John J. McGraw once pointed out they pay off in runs and the Bums had the lion's share of the counters. One of the smoothest pitching performances of the National League card was turn in by an International League star of last season, none other than Tom DelaCruz. The former Syracuse ace held the Chicago Cubs to five hits and the Cincinnati Reds won a neat duel by 2 to 1. Mort Cooper, St. Louis Card star made his first start of the season but had to be relieved by Munger who got credit for the 5 to 3 win registered by the National League champs over Pittsburg.

* * * * * *

It remained for Early Wynn, the Washington Senator star to come up with the best flinging stunt of the day. Wynn held Connie Mack's Athletics to two hits and the Senators had little trouble hanging up a 5 to 0 triumph. In the only other American League game of the day the St. Louis Browns made it three straight over the Detroit Tigers winning a rather free-hitting engagement by 8 to 5. Other clubs in the junior circuit were idle yesterday. The first three days' play in the major loops has been notable for the excellence of the pitching shown in the majority of the games. While many stars have departed from the big top it is evident that a number of very promising rookie heavers have moved up to fill the gaps. In fact the opening performances of some of these freshmen have added to the difficulty of trying to dope out the 1944 pennant races. Unexpected strength on the hilltop may alter the outlook for a number of the clubs in both leagues.

That Famous Lift

Stan McBride, weight-lifting instructor at the Y.M.C.A. who asked through this column for some information in regard to the famous lift made by Dan McDonald, Peterborough's strong man who is buried in Little Lake Cemetery has received some data from J. W. Stuart whose father worked with McDonald for some time. The 1600 pound lift was performed with a harness, the Y weight-lifting coach has learned, and incidentally that fact is confirmed by Sidney H. Mitchell, a relative of McDonald's who states that Dan lifted a ship's anchor, weighing 1600 pounds, using a specially made harness to perform the feat. "Mr. Stuart tells me," McBride said "that he had often heard his father talk about it. That was not a praticularly impressive lift, with harness used. It is more than likely that McDonald lifted the weight without any warmup and as a result ruptured a blood vessel. I might add that the world record at the present time for the harness lift stands at 5,100 pounds, established by Louis Cyr, Montreal policeman over 30 years ago."

Peterborough's five pin bowlers made a worthwhile contribution to the British War Victims' Fund last night through the medium of the benefit doubles tourney at the Duffus Alleys, sponsored by the City Five League. Bowlers from the Industrial, C.G.E. and Y.M.C.A. leagues were among the entrants and altogether 31 pairs competed for the prizes with the result that the sum of $32.50 was raised for the fund. It was a most successful affair with keen competition all the way and strangely enough two pairs, Joe Denault and Jack Playford and Bud Weese and Jack Thomas wound up exactly even for top score and had to split the prize money. They each rolled 1477, which incidentally was a classy bit of bowling.

Sporting Chili Con Carne: The annual meeting of the Ladies' Softball League has been called for next Wednesday night at 7.30 o'clock at the Duffus Board Room for the election of officers and re-organization for the season....Toronto ball club got off to a nice start in the International League opening yesterday, walloping Jersey City 8 to 1. Centrefielder John Kontini was the big shot in the Toronto offensive with a homer, two singles and a pass while Pitcher Mustaikis came through with a nice hurling exhibition....Best pitching feat of the day in the International, however, was the one-hit performance put on by big Jim Konstanty of the Syracuse Stars to blank Rochester 1 to 0....They might as well wrap up the Memorial Cup and hand it to Generals without waiting for tomorrow night's game....It's Springtime in the Rockies and the Trail kids who will have to play Saturday minus two or three regulars who are on the injured list would be as well heading for the coast without having to wait for that final game....With the Memorial Cup series a fiasco there is now a move to transfer a couple of the Allen Cup finals to Maple Leaf Gardens....And that shouldn't surprise any one very much....Earl McCready and Yvon Robert wrestled to a draw in Toronto last night....So incidentaly did Frank Sexton and Bob Managoff....Ducky Medwick didn't have a bad day with the Giants yesterday....All he did was to hammer out a homer, a double and two singles which is pretty fair country hitting in anybody's league....Early Wynn has won eight straight triumphs over the Philadelphia A's.

MINIATURE MODELS

LONDON — (CP) — The British automobile trade is holding its first motor show of the war this year. But it will be a show of miniature car models with no full-size car of the future on display.

4 Bowlers Roll Identical Doubles Scores

The unusual happened when Bud Weese and Charlie Thomas and Joe Denault and Jack Playford rolled the identical high scores of 1477 to win top honors in the doubles tournament, sponsored by the Men's City Five Pin League.

The tournament was staged last night at Duffus Alleys, which were kindly donated by Senator J. J. Duffus and $32.50 was raised for the British War Victims Fund. The presentation of the money was made to Mr. F. J. Mann, manager of the local fund, part way through the bowling.

Although Bud Weese won the high individual single with a smashing 351 count, the fact that he was a winner in main event stopped him from taking this prize. It went to Frank Maloney with 316. The blind score of 1196 was won by Irvin Haines and F. H. Patterson with 1195.

A number of bowlers from the Y.M.C.A., Mercantile and C.G.E. leagues competed with the city leaguers. Best turnout was recorded by the Old Timers teams with 100 percent attendance.

The winners of the doubles received $5.00 a pair, the single prize was $2 as was the blind score.

REMEMBER WHEN—

Max Schmeling, regarded then as boxing's next human sacrifice to the slashing fists of Joe Louis, arrived in New York eight years ago today to prepare for his June 18 heavyweight bout with the Detroit negro. The German, in the Nazi army in the present war, beat Louis to cross the critics and become a temporary challenger for Champion Jimmy Braddock's crown.

More Interest

Principal R. W. Goheen and Rev. J. W. Wilkinson discussed the aims of the Association. Mr. Jones began the discussion by pointing out the success of the future rested entirely with the home, school and church. He felt one of the most important functions of the Association lay in emphasizing the responsibility that lay in the homes and he suggested several ways in which the Association could directly aid the school by providing hot lunches for pupils, motion picture projectors or pianos that would be a distinct advantage to the pupil. "I know of several schools where these things would not be had were it not for the Home and School Association."

Changes Coming

Principal R. W. Goheen recalled that present indications pointed to many new ideas being incorporated in the schools after the war and he saw less chance for misunderstanding of them by parents if there was a closer tie between home and school and of the vital part that early training along proper religious precepts played. A quartette comprising Misses Betty Holdcroft, Ruth Wilkinson, Elaine Isles and Vernon Goheen offered two numbers and Mrs. William Smith contributed an amusing recitation following which Misses Shirley and Beverley Bennett sang a duet.

Some highlights of the Toronto Convention of the Home and School Association were reported in an address by Mrs. C. Price who dealt with several subjects that it had been proposed be added to the school curriculum. Mrs. G. Holdcroft sang and the program concluded with a play written especially for presentation before Home and School Associations. The cast included Mrs. W. J. Nobes, Mrs. George MacGowan, Mrs. George Kennedy and Miss V. Lochlin.

No Canadians On Boxing List

By FRITZ HOWELL
Associated Press Sport Writer

PATERSON, N.J., April 21—(AP)—Abe J. Greene, president of the National Boxing Association today announced the N.B.A.'s quarterly ratings of boxers.

In the ratings Greene said, champions and contenders in the armed services retain their original positions, for the first time in several years no Canadian fighter is listed in the N.B.A. ratings which follow:

Heavyweight — Champion Joe Louis; logical contenders — Billy Conn, Jimmy Bivins.

Light heavyweight—Champion Gus Lesnevich; logical contenders—Freddie Mills, Lloyd Marshall.

Middleweight — Champion Tony Zale; logical contenders—George Abrams, Jacob Lamotta, Holman Williams, Tony Martin, Coley Welch, Jose Basora.

Welterweight—Champion Freddie Red Cochrane; logical contenders—Ray Robinson, California Jackie Wilson, Henry Armstrong.

Lightweight — Champion Juan Zuarita; logical contenders—Sammy Angott, Bob Montgomery, Beau Jack, Bobby Ruffin.

Featherweight — Champion Sal Bartolo; logical contenders—Willie Pep, Chalky Wright, Phil Terranova.

Bantamweight—Champion Manual Ortiz; logical contenders—Rush Dalma, Ernesto Aguilar, Little Dado, Kui Kong Yong.

Flyweight (all of England)—Champion Jackie Patterson; logical contenders—Peter Kane, Alex Murphy.

Royals, Leafs Capture Opening Games

By The Associated Press

Opening games of the International League yesterday gave every indication that the circuit, with a reputation for being a pitchers' league, will hold that claim in 1944.

Three pitchers, two of them holdovers from last year's squads, turned in brilliant performances

Just one solitary bingle kept Jim Konstanty, Syracuse Chiefs' righthander, from entering the International League hall of fame. Joe Overman, Rochester outfielder, doubled in the third inning for the Red Birds' only hit as big Jim blanked them 2-0 before 6,208 fans.

Southpaw Tom Sunkel, former Giant and Dodger hurler, allowed Newark only one run and four hits as Montreal Royals spoiled the Bear's opener, by whipping them 7-1.

Another veteran, Alex Mustaikis, who, besides leading the Eastern League in batting last year, found time to win 20 games for Elmira, shared the opening day spotlight. Alex, pitching for Toronto, last year's champions, blanked Jersey City Giants in every inning but one to gain an easy 8-1 triumph before the day's largest crowd, approximately 26,000. Actually 51,206 tickets had been sold, but not all attended the game.

The Baltimore-Buffalo game was of a different nature, as the score was 6-5 in Baltimore's favor. Sherman Lollar, Oriole's kid-catcher, emerged as the hero by belting a home run with the bases full to provide the Birds with the margin of victory.

Canadian Sport Snapshots

By SYD THOMAS
Canadian Press Staff Writer

TORONTO, April 21—(CP)—The Canadian Amateur Hockey Association has come in for large chunks of criticism from time to time, and now the attack comes from Vancouver. Discussing the now-celebrated Sweeney Schriner case, Ken (Vancouver province) McConnell takes the sport body to task for what he terms a "number of errors directly chargeable to the C.A.H.A. this year."

McConnell says that Schriner played three full games with St. Regis Senior Hockey squad before the C.A.H.A. took any action to notify the team he was ineligible to play, although the hockey body said it had warned Manager Coley Hall the former National Hockey leaguer was out. As a result of the tumult, Hall was suspended from organized hockey for two years, and later announced his "retirement" from everything connected with the ice game.

Further, McConnell says that other St. Regis players who were suspended along with Schriner continued to play with other teams. One of these, Connie King, was allowed to play with New Westminster Lodestars in the western play-offs, and McConnell says fans on the coast are wondering about it all. It looks like war in the west.

Ship Ahoy:

It's Shipbuilders against Shipbuilders in the Allan Cup hockey play-offs, Jack (Cornwall Standard Freeholder) Park points out. The Port Arthur squad goes by that label directly, while most of the Quebec Aces are also workers in a shipyard in the French capital.

Father Fans

Bev. Bentley, Trail Smoke Eaters' young goalie, put the whitewash brush on his father, Roy Bentley, during an exhibition game earlier this winter. Trail, with no juniors to play with, stacked up against a senior squad known as the Gulchers, with papa Roy on the defence Pop swore he would score, but Sonny swore he wouldn't. So it winds up that Bev lets three goals go by him but stops his father cold every time he gets in on the net. Bev probably got a spanking when he went home.

Incidentally:

Pete (Victoria Times) Sallaway found the ideal banquet the other night. He attended a sports club dinner, and there wasn't a single speech, he reported dazedly . . . Fight fans in Toronto practically choked when their old favorite, Baby Yack tangled with Patsy Brandino in an army boxing tournament. They tried to cheer for Yack as they used to, but were shushed up under the army rules of silence during rounds.

Yesterday's Stars

By the Associated Press.

Tom De La Cruz, Reds—Rookie Cuban made successful major leadebut by holding Chicago Cubs to five hits in Cincinnati's 2-1 win.

Augie Galan, Dodgers — Veteran outfielder collected four hits in four at bats as Brooklyn trimmed Phillies 8-2.

Joe Medwick, Giants — Clouted homer, double, and two singles in New York's third straight over the Boston Braves by 10-8 score.

Ray Sanders, Cardinals — First sacker batted in two runs of St. Louis' 5-3 margin over Pittsburg with a brace of doubles.

Sigmund Jakucki, Browns—Earned first big league victory by scattering nine Detroit bingles as St. Louis won its third in a row 8-5.

Early Wynn, Senators— Pitched day's only shutout, a 5-0 blanking of the Athletics whose only hits were singles by Dick Siebert and Irv. Hall.

Southpaw Clips Westboro Pug

MONTREAL, April 21.— (CP).— Pte. Maurice Chartrand, of Westboro, Ont., was willing to mix it with Lieut. Joe Gagnon of Montreal, last night, but was unable to get by the talented southpaw tactics of the former Dominion amateur bantamweight champion and was knocked out early in the second round of the Zone 2 finals of the Montreal portion of the Canadian army boxing championships.

The first knockout of the evening went to the Military District No. 4 team when Pte. Henry Demassimo of Montreal, battered Pte. Fernand Forget, of Gaspe, Que., to the canvas with short punches to the body and face.

Spr. Homer Stephens of Windsor, Ont., failed to gain the welterweight novice title but won the plaudnts of the crowd as the gamest loser of the two-day inter-district meet. The Windsor lad took everything Pte. Yvon McDougall of Montreal, had to offer and hit the canvas four times only to get up and take more unil the end of the bout.

Sgmn. Wally Hicks of Toronto, fighting for the Vimy Barracks, Kingston, held back his punching power and landed only two hard ones on Rene Lecerc, of Sherbrooke, Que. The first knocked Lecerc down for a count of seven in the first and the second was enough to gain Hicks a technical k.o. in the second.

Dodgers Beat Phils; Detroit Loses

By JACK HAND
Associated Press Sport Writer.

BROOKLYN, April 21 — (AP).— "Leave us go root for the Dodgers, Roger," echoes through the damp tunnels of the subway again to-day as the Flatbush flock comes home to see what has been making the New York Giants tick and the other clubs change partners and circle around for the second openers.

St. Louis gets its first gander at the unbeaten Brownies when they take on the equally spotless Chicago White Sox and the Yankee Stadium opens up for the first time this season to present New York Yankees and Washington, the experts' 1-2 pennant picks. Cleveland entertains Detroit at home, and the venerable Connie Mack sends out his A's for home front inspection in a tilt with Boston.

In addition to the Ebbets Field inaugural, other National League "turnabout" openers will find St. Louis at Chicago, Cincinnati at Pittsburg, and Philadelphia at Boston.

More pitching battles are indicated all along the line although the hitters staged a partial comeback in yesterday's series finales.

Early Wynn blanked the A's with two singles for Washington's 5-0 decision.

Sigmund Jakucki, a 31-year-old righthander, broke into the American League victory column for the first time by hurling the Browns to an 8-5 edge over Detroit.

Fritz Ostermueller pitched the Brooklyn to an 8-2 decision over the Phils. The veteran lefthander allowed 13 hits but his mates clawed four Blue Jays for 14, including four by Augie Galan.

The New York Giants lashed out with circuit clouts by Mel Ott, Joe Medwick, and Ernie Lombardi again yesterday in a 10-8 slugfest decision over Boston.

Tomas De La Cruz, stylish Cuban from Havana via the Syracuse Chiefs, did the best hurling job in the National in Cincinnati's 2-1 verdict over Chicago.

St. Louis made it two in a row over Pittsburg, but the Pirates belted Morton Cooper out of the box before succumbing to reliefer George Munger 5-3.

The Tam o'Shanter open tournament to be held at Chicago Aug. 24-27 will be the richest golfing competition in history, according to its sponsor, George S. May, who announced last night the total of purses would be $42,500 in War Bonds. First prize would amount to $13,466 which is greater than the total incentive for many tournament programs.

May announced there would be separate classes for pros. amateurs and women, all playing simultaneously on a 72-hole medal basis during the four-day contest.

In executive session at Philadelphia yesterday, club owners of the National Football League turned down four applications for franchises for the duration and instructed Commissioner Elmer Layden to return the $25,000 application cheques. Bids had been received from San Francisco, Los Angeles, Baltimore and Buffalo.

Senior baseball is expected to boom in Fort Erie where the opening dinner will be held next Tuesday night with several Big League and Buffalo diamond leaders in attendance as guests. Softball also looks promising. it was stated last night, with 10 applications already received for the Fort Erie Senior Softball League.

Putting his hiking experience to practice, Maj. Ian Eisenhardt, Canadian Army Sports Director, Ottawa, took to the road in order to attend the Army zone boxing finals at Montreal last night after missing his train. The Major was forced to walk only two of the miles, however, because passing motorists gave him a lift.

Lacrossers Hold Big Reunion

TORONTO, April 21 — The reunion banquet for former lacrosse players, old and young, was a smashing success.

Held at the King Edward last night, it attracted around 300 onetime lacrosse men when the committee in charge had only expected half that number.

Some had been out of the game for just a few years. Others hadn't played for decades. Some hadn't seen one another for 20 or 30 years

Lally Chief Speaker

Joe Lally of Cornwall, who has been identified with the gutted-stick game for many moons, was the guest speaker. He spoke engagingly of the lacrosse picture over the last 40 years and gave his younger listeners many interesting glimpses of the past.

Fred C. Waghorne Sr., long-time local lacrosse enthusiast, was another speaker. During his talk Mr. Waghorne produced a lacrosse stick that was used about 60 years ago.

Others who spoke were: Eddie Longfellow, Charlie Querrie, Gene Dopp, O.L.A. secretary, Rev. Clarke Wallace, Woodbridge, Dinny McMullen and Con. Fred Hamilton, representing the City of Toronto.

A collection was taken for Bert Large, veteran Brampton goalkeeper, who was seriously injured last year during the Mann Cup finals. About $200 was collected.

All present felt the gathering will result in a boost for lacrosse throughout Ontario, and more activity this summer.

Eddie Sullivan acted as chairman and master of ceremonies for the entertainment, which was arranged by Bun Gallagher. Archie Campbell, trainer of the Maple Leafs hockey team, recited two lacrosse poems.

Among the prominent old-timers spotted were: Fred Rose, Eddie Longfellow, Duffy Braden, Norm Harshaw, Georgie Kalls, Frank Grace, Dinny McMullen, Charlie Querrie, Gordie Thoms, Jack McDonald, Tim O'Rourke, Dr. Wendell Holmes, and Peter McMillan.

Post-War Policy On Aviation Starts Hubbub

By D'ARCY O'DONNELL
Canadian Press Staff Writer.

OTTAWA, April 21 — (CP). — The Federal Government's proposed post-war policy for civilian aviation weathered a storm of inquiry from Opposition benches in the Commons yesterday and may come up for further discussion today.

Government Bills have precedence on the day's order paper, but if they are disposeu of quickly discussions are scheduled to revert to the civilian aviation estimates of Munitions Minister Howe, who said under questioning yesterday that:

1. Private air lines absorbed by Canadian Pacific Air Lines will be returned to separate operation after the war.

2. Canada's proposed post-war international aviation policy was "wholly consistent" with conclusions reached at the Empire Air Conference in London last October.

3. A Bill for establishment of an Air Transport Board, similar to the Civil Aeronautics Board of the United States, will be introduced this session.

No Hardship.

Mr. Howe said no business was to be destroyed by the policy which would divorce air lines from railways one year after the war. Companies which had been consolidated in Canadian Pacific Air Lines would be returned to separate operation. Many of them never were consolidated in C.P.A., which was simply the majority shareholder of separate enterprise.

"Separate enterprise will be re-established and I see no reason for any loss. I assume they were bought at a reasonable price and the equipment was worth the value represented on the books of the company and I have every confidence that the operations can be separated without loss to any one."

Canada's proposal that an international air transport authority be set up after the war was discussed at the Empire Air Conference and was consistent with the conclusions reached by delegates.

Rev. E. G. Hansell (SC-Macleod) said he favored international co-operation, but feared an international authority had the elements of a danger which would plunge the world into war. Any Government "playing into the hands of a world authority" was setting the stage for a world distatorship.

Mr. Howe said international agreements on civil aviation would be an important factor in maintaining world harmony.

"If Canada refused to enter an agreement and denied the right of planes to fly over her territory, then every country in North America and Europe would seek bilateral agreements with her.

"Suppose we gave one the right to fly over Canada and refused another—would that lead to friendly relations?" the minister asked. Such a system had the potentialities of serious disagreements.

Fears Cartel.

J. S Roy (Ind.-Gaspe) expressed belief that the Government civil aviation policy would lead to the "building up of another giant cartel" He believed that unless monopolies and cartels were done away with "we will have only a temporary truce and not an enduring peace."

The railroads in Canada had done so much for the country's war effort that they deserved better treatment than they would receive under the proposed policy.

Hon. R. B. Hanson (PC-York Sunbury) asked if private enterprise had been consulted.

J. G. Diefenbaker (PC—Lake Centre) said Mr. Howe stated in 1937 that the railways were the "ideal" firms to operate air lines. The Minister said he had gained much experience since 1937 and now thought differently.

Anthony Hlynka (SC—Cegreville) said the Government's domestic air policy represented state monopoly and adoption "of the policy of the Socialists."

Gordon Graydon, Progressive Conservative House leader, wanted to know how many men civilian aviation would be able to employ in the post-war period.

Employ 25,000.

Mr. Howe said the air lines probably would be able to employ a personnel of 25,000.

In reply to another question of Mr. Graydon's, the Minister said that returned servicemen might be able to set up their own air lines by borrowing money through the industrial bank the Government planned to set up. Many businessmen and several flying clubs were anxious to sponsor the establishment of lines.

In domestic services the Government policy was to allocate areas to separate air lines and give support to each in its area. This left room for small enterprise.

The international air policy which Canada has proposed is "consistent with the conclusions" reached at the Empire Air Conference in London last October, Mr. Howe said. He added that documents containing Canada's proposals were discussed at the Empire Conference.

"One or two changes were made in the documents, but there was no material change," he said in reply to questions of Progressive Conservative members.

King Pledges Plan For Slavs

LONDON, April 21 — (AP) — King Peter pledged his future today to giving Yugoslavia a democracy and a "federal state of all Serbs, Croats, and Slovenes — a broadminded state as desired by the majorities of my people."

The platform upon which he will stand in his bid to return to his country as monarch, the most detailed he has yet outlined, was presented in his speech to the Anglo-American Press Club of Paris, now meeting in London.

He emphasized his country's friendly relations with Britain, the United States and Russia, noting particularly that the Yugoslavs had "lived in brotherhood with the Russian people and it is our sincere wish to establish those relations on a permanent and more intimate basis."

Defence Counsel Gregory Evans objected to the Justice's remarks on the grounds his expression of opinion left only one verdict for the jury to return, but Mr. Justice Chevrier replied that it was a long-standing right of a Judge to express his opinion on evidence provided the jury was warned as he had done.

Throughout the trial, the parents, side by side in the dock, carried on only brief conversations with counsel and did not speak with each other. Both walked quickly from the dock after the verdict was given.

Taxi Driver Dies In Train Crash

TORONTO, April 21 — (CP) — Officials of the Canadian Pacific Railway said today that Theo Levoie, Pembroke taxi driver, was killed early today in a level crossing crash with a westbound C.P.R. passenger train at the first public crossing west of Cobden near Chalk River.

Three other persons in the crash —Mrs. Rose Smith of Pembrooke, Mrs. Lloyd Bulmer of Cobden and Spr. N. LaLonde of Petawawa—and are in hospital at Pembroke. Extent of their injuries are not known here. Two other persons were riding in the car but they were not injured. There names are not known here.

Brussels.

The attack on Cologne was described as very heavy. Returning Lancaster crewmen said the bombing was well-concentrated and they could see the glow of fires 200 miles away.

Casualties High

The German-controlled Paris radio said Paris and its suburbs — centre of a vast railway network which has been hit repeatedly by the R.A.F. this month—had been bombed again and declared that casualties were high.

The northern suburbs were particularly hard hit and several quarters were razed, the broadcast said.

The R.A.F. night operations followed a day of great activity by Allied airmen, during which a fleet of 750 to 1,000 Flying Fortresses dumped approximately 2,500 tons of explosives on German military installations in Northern France.

The Fortress assault, carried out just before sunset, climaxed the greatest daylight air blows ever delivered against enemy-occupied territory and apparently caught the Germans by surprise. Returning bomber crews reported no German fighter opposition.

Minor German aerial activity was reported last night over coastal districts of northeastern and eastern England. Bombs were dropped at scattered points, but casualties and damage were described as light.

OBITUARIES

WILLIAM CHARLES YOUNG

LAKEFIELD, April 21—(ENS)—The sudden death of William Charles Young, 65, occurred on Thursday evening as the result of a heart attack at his home at Young's Point.

A resident of the district all his life, he was born one mile north of the homestead, where he farmed for many years and where he died Thursday. He was the son of the late Joseph Young and Margaret Hurley. Mr. Young was a member of St. Mary's Church, Young's Point, and of St. Mary's Holy Name Society.

Married 32 years ago to Nora Ann Anglesey, he is survived by his wife, a son Charles at home, and three daughters: Mrs. Albert Conlin of Toronto, Mrs. Roger Patrick of Colorado and Marian of Peterborough. A sister, Mrs. Elmer Hanlin, lives in Toronto.

Funeral arrangements will be made later.

MARJORIE M. ANDERSON.

WARKWORTH, April 21.—(ENS). —Marjorie Marilyn Anderson, beloved infant daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Alvin Anderson, passed away unexpectedly on Wednesday.

The child was taken suddenly ill early on Wednesday morning and was removed at once to the Belleville General Hospital and in spite of a blood transfusion and expert professional assistance, she failed to rally and passed away early in the afternoon. The baby was born January 28 of this year. Surviving are the parents and two small sisters, Faye and Ferne at home.

The funeral service was conducted from the home near Warkworth on Thursday and was in charge of Rev. Dr. Cooper of St. Paul's church, Warkworth. Interment took place at Stone cemetery, Norham. Pallbearers were Charles Twyman, Bruce Hope, Max Nelson and Ray Evans.

Cattle Prices Stronger; Hogs Unchanged

TORONTO, April 21 — (CP) — Cattle prices were steady to a shade stronger in trade on the livestock market here this week. Veal calves, hogs, sheep and lambs were unchanged.

With the movement of heavy beef cattle from Western Canada easing off somewhat, local offerings moved more readily at firm prices. The moderate supply was cleared by the close. Weighty steers were generally $12.50 for tops with three head at $12.75. Good butcher steers sold at $11.50 to $12 and heifers were from $11.65 downward to $10. Butcher cows sold at $7.50 to $9.25 with canners and cutters mostly $5.25 to $7.25. Bulls sold from $7 for light bolognas up to $9 and $9.25 for good, light butchers. Fed yearlings were $12 to $13.50. Light western stockers sold at $10.50 to $11 with other stockers downward to $8. Milkers and springers continued slow at around $130 for tops.

Veal calves had a liberal run of easterns of common to medium quality. Light calves sold at $7 to $13 cwt. with good and choice $14-$15.50.

Hogs sold off trucks, at yards and local packing plants, at $17.55 to $17.65 for Grade A and at $17.15 to $17.25 for Grade B1. Government premiums were in addition. Sows dropped 25 cents cwt. to $13 dressed.

Western lambs again formed the bulk of the supply selling at $14.25 for good quality and $10 to $11 for culls. Local lambs ranged from $6 to $13 according to quality. A few choice spring lambs at $17 to $18 cwt. The few sheep offered sold at $2 to $6 cwt.

All In Vain

ATLANTA, April 21 (AP). —Capt. Eddie Rickenbacker, First Great War ace who offered a case of Scotch whiskey to the first flier in the Southwest Pacific who topped his American record of shooting down 26 planes, said today he is not going to send the present—out of deference to Gen. Douglas MacArthur's wishes. Maj. Dick Bong, a non-drinker, recently got his 27th Japanese plane in the Pacific, but Gen. MacArthur, Southwest Pacific commander, opposed a case of Scotch as a reward.

Gets High Rating

TORONTO, April 21 — (CP) — The University of Toronto Medical School ranks among the first half dozen medical schools in theh world, Dr. Arthur Ellis, Regius Professor of Medicine at Oxford University, said yesterday in addressing a special convention at which he received the honorary degree of Doctor of Laws.

Norwood Group Guests Of WMS

HAVELOCK, April 21 (ENS) — About twenty women of the Norwood Auxiliary were guests of Knox Presbyterian Women's Missionary Society for their Easter Meeting held in the Sunday School room. The new pastor on the circuit, Rev. J. Davey and Mrs. Davey were introduced and welcomed.

Mrs. President, Mrs. L. Colquohoun, presided for the program. Two little girls Dorothy Graham and Marilyn Brunton, representing the Mission Band, sang an Easter Hymn "The Children's King." The scripture lesson was told by Miss E. Chase and Mrs. W. Martin led in prayer. Marilyn Burnton gave a recitation "A Glad Thought," Misses Shirley and Beverley Bennett sang a duet "Whispering Hope". Mrs. Carman McMillan gave an interesting paper—"Jesus, the Resurrection," a piano solo by Mrs. Florence Clarke was much enjoyed.

The President conducted a missionary quizz and Mrs. J. Davey and Mrs. H. Goden of Norwood sang a duet "Alone", Rev. Mr., and Mrs. Davey each spoke briefly and suggested some plans for futuring missionary work.

Mrs. Tedford of Norwood gave a solo "The Lord's Prayer," after which Mrs. J. Kinnaird closed the meeting with prayer. Dainty refreshments were served by the members of the Society.

NO BONES BROKEN

Donald White, who was injured when the truck he was driving was in collision with a C.P.R. train at the Park street crossing on Wednesday had no bones broken in the accident. It was reported at first that he had a broken hip, but he escaped with severe bruises and shock.

TO LEAD GROUP

Another of Peterborough's sons, Lieut. Jack Penrose, has brought honor and distinction to his native city. He has been chosen to lead a group of men from the training centre at Cornwall, representative of Military District No. 3, in the Victory Loan parade in Ottawa on Saturday. Lieut. Penrose is the son of Mr. and Mrs. W. Roy Penrose, 394 Reid street, and attended P.C.I., although he was working in Hamilton when he enlisted in April, 1943.

BLOOD DONORS.

Blood donors were 86 in number at the Wednesday morning clinic, with 26 from the C.G.E. and Genelco. There were also groups from the Outboard Marine, De Laval, Quaker Oats, Peterborough Lock, and Dominion Woollens. Lakefield, Lily Lake and Havelock were represented by contributors coming from out-of-town. Three employees of the C.G.E., Arthur Smith, Alfred Sproates and Alec. Anderson made 8th donations, and the same number was also reached by J. Clifton Beacock of the Peterborough Lock Co. and Irving Moldaver.

GRASS FIRES

Of four grass fires which brought the Fire Department into action on Thursday, the one which snaked its way along the C.N.R. tracks back of the Normal School caused particular sorrow. The flames forked through the back fences on property owned by Charles Kingan and Harold Scott, M.P.P., Benson street, destroying several valuable trees at the back of their grounds. Other grass fires broke out on Armour Hill at 1.20 p.m.; on a vacant lot beside 503 Elm street and at 61 Argyle street, home of Mrs. A. Kidd. Firemen answered a call for R. Ferguson at 464 Stewart street at 7.55 p.m., but although there was smoke from the furnace there was no fire.

BANK CLEARINGS.

Bank clearings for the past week totalled $1,153,358, a decided increase over the previous week's figures in Peterborough.

CHARGED WITH THEFT

IN CASUALTY LIST.

Pte. George Scott, nephew of Mrs. Elizabeth Jamieson, 56 Sullivan Street, Port Hope, has been wounded while serving with the Hastings and Prince Edward Regiment overseas. Also appearing in the list is the name of Pte. Robert A. Allt, brother of Mrs. Minnie Nickle, Madoc, who is dangerously ill.

TWO WEEKS LATE.

Reports from the rural portion of the county close to Peterborough revealed today that R. A. Dobbin in North Monaghan was busy ploughing, and Albert Roberts on the east side of Armour Road, north of Downer's Corners, was seeding a field with oats.

TO ADDRESS ROTARY

There will be a decided Victory Loan touch to the address to be given the Peterborough Rotary Club at the regular luncheon on Monday. Major Bramwell Welbourne will be the speaker, and he will have some interesting things to tell of his experiences in Sicily and Japan and will link them up with the necessity of supporting Canada's Sixth Victory Loan.

BELLEVILLE CAR DAMAGED

A car driven by Gerald DeLong, Belleville, was damaged to the extent of $40 Thursday in a collision with another automobile driven by Charles Gilbert, 168 Pradette avenue, which pulled out from the curb in front of the Customs House as the Belleville automobile was travelling north on George street. The doors and fenders on the right side of DeLong's car were damaged.

Rangers Release Camp Schedule

Summer camp at Connaught Ranges for the Prince of Wales Rangers will be from July 23 to August 6 this year. It had been planned originally to start earlier in July, but the change was made in order that the battalion's training period away from home might coincide with the general shutdowns which have been mooted for several of Peterborough's larger plants.

This year the Rangers will train along with the 33rd Brigade Group, an operational unit which is more fully equipped than others. In addition to this advantage, the Rangers, it is said, have been promised extra equipment themselves to be distributed through the regular military channels.

In a letter which is going out to employers in the city, the Headquarters Training staff is requesting the cooperation of businesses in assuring as large a turnout of battalion members for the summer camp as is possible. It is pointed out that the number who went to camp last year did not compare favorably with the size of groups that came from other communities of the size of Peterborough. It is felt that the Battalion's showing this year can be improved by recognition on the part of employers of the value and importance of the Reserve Army's summer training period.

Feeling Labor Shortage? Help Is Near "Odd Jobs Auction" Promises Succour

Something new has been added to Peterborough's 6th Victory Loan drive. It is the spirit of gaiety, laughter and good clean fun. Sponsored by the National War Finance Committe, it will take the form of an "Odd-Jobs War Bond Auction," and it will attempt to prove—among many other things—that buying bonds can be no mean pleasure.

Have you ever, in the straitened circumstances of wartime, cried for help and, lo and behold, no help came? Have you ever yearned for someone to wash those dirty windows, cook you a good meal, or mind the baby so you could skip out to the movies and get an eyeful of Ingrid Bergmann or Charles Boyer? Have you ever thought it would be nice to put on a little swank and treat your dinner guests to a meal served by an unimpeachably attired butler? And you, sir, did you ever secretly long for some menial you could order to black your boots? This is your chance.

What do you do? You com. to the Collegiate Auditorium the night of Wednesday, May 3 and you hoot and you holler and you try to out-bid in war bonds the guy sitting next to you and every other person too. You assess the worth to you of the varied domestic and odd-jobs talent, male and female alike, which will be paraded before your very eyes dressed in the appropriate costumes of their respective occupations. And then you bid just as much as you can afford. (And confidentially, folks, some of them should be worth an awful lot!)

The admission charged will be $1 in War Savings Stamps, payable in advance for reserve seats at headquarters of the 6th War Loan, 287 George street north. Or you can wait and buy your ticket at the door. The doings start at 7:45 p.m. and will get underway with a stirring concert of martial music by the R.C.A.M.C. band from Camp Borden. After that, the fireworks begin, with Stan Francis of "Share The Wealth" radio program fame wielding the hammer, and having as his assistants the Messrs. Rutter and Wharry.

Must Hire Out

Whose services can you buy? Well, for a whopping good sum in war bonds to help speed the victory, you could probably get the vice-president and general manager of the Westclox, John Vernor, to wash your car. If you pay enough for him, Harold Scott, M.P.P., will be only too glad to leave off working on the party platform at Queen's Park for a day and do some repair work in your house here. J. F. Strickland, K.C., has kindly consented to perform in the capacity of a butler, and it is more than likely that he will guarantee to satisfy in the best country-house style. R. R. Faryon, the Oats man, is available for landscape gardening. And so it goes.

Gordon Matthews of the Canada Packers, able chairman of the 5th Victory Loan who is serving in the same capacity again in the present drive, will be the man to shine your shoes. Hugh Campbell, purportedly unexcelled in his department of mixing beverages, has volunteered, if his services are valued at a high enough rate, to act as somebody's bartender. Mrs. J. G. Wharry can and will cook; J. K. Hughes likewise; and Mrs. John Stuart, Jr., will wait on table. If you want to spend an evening out, bid your bonds for Miss Margaret Wood, a very capable "sitter."

Here are the names of some others whose services in various useful capacities will be auctioned off at the Odd-Jobs War Bond Auction. They include Alderman Adam Sands, Mrs. D. 'Bonnie" McCready, Mr. and Mrs. W. E. Fanning, Samuel Whitehouse Jack Gillespie, Mrs. Paige Rowell, Charles Levine, Mrs. F. Strickland and Mrs. A. G. Howson. There will be others. And they will all be available to the highest bidders in bonds.

SAILOR CRITICALLY HURT — When this light roadster turned over on Highway 28 just outside the city limits Thursday night, Able Seaman Norman A. Brown, home on furlough from serving on a minesweeper, sustained a fractured skull. Elwood C. Seabrook, 18, driver of the car, suffered a fractured collar-bone and shock, while Able Seaman Donald F. Roode, 247 Westcott Street, escaped unhurt. (McGillen—Staff Photo)

Young Sailor Badly Hurt In Car Smash

Home on furlough after serving on a minesweeper on the Atlantic, Able Seaman Norman A. Brown, 20, R.C.N.V.R., was injured critically Thursday night when the light roadster in which he was a passenger rolled over on Highway 28 just around the bend at the top of Charlotte street.

The young sailor, son of Mr. and Mrs. K. G. Brown, Lakefield Road, was taken to St. Joseph's Hospital in Belleghem's ambulance, suffering from a fractured skull, sustained when he was pinned under the overturned car.

Elwood C. Seabrook, 18, Alexandria avenue, driver of the automobile, suffered a broken collarbone and shock and was also taken to St. Joseph's Hospital for treatment.

The third occupant of the car, Able Seaman Donald F. Roode, 19, 247 Westcott street, home on leave after taking a radar course at St. Hyacinthe, Que., escaped unhurt.

Rolled Over

The accident happened as the roadster driven by Seabrook, travelling out of Peterborough struck the west shoulder of the highway on the curve and then made a three-quarter roll on the road as the driver pulled sharply to his left in an effort to keep from going into the ditch. The machine came to rest on its right side, still on the highway.

Brown, who was partially pinned underneath, was released by C. K. Fraser, in front of whose home the accident occurred and by Russell Bannon, Bridgenorth, who arrived on the scene just afterward.

The top of the light car was crushed in and the machine was badly damaged along the right side.

C.W.A.C. Begins Peterboro Drive

Between now and the middle of June the Canadian Women's Army Corps is making a special effort to fill an enlistment quota of 300 recruits in the district that includes Peterborough, and at present Sgt. Muriel Robertson is heading a mobile recruiting unit which is here to stimulate interest and point up the importance of more girls joining the ranks of the C.W.A.C.

This district's campaign to bring in 300 recruits is only one part of a Dominion-wide drive, recently announced, that aims at obtaining no less than 5,000 women across Canada. Special emphasis is being placed on the need for girls for such trades as operators (wireless and switchboard), clerks, cooks, postal clerks, mechanics, dental assistants and technicians, X-ray technicians, pharmacists, photographers, masseurs and draughtswomen

With Sgt. Robertson in the six weeks' tour of the district which she is making are Pte. Sally Prete of Peterborough and Pte. Pat Rooney of Ottawa. While in the city they are using the new C.W.A.C. Recruiting office in the Kresge Building as their headquarters.

From June 30 to July 4 the C.W.A.C. Pipe and Brass Bands will be in the Peterborough district, and as they did last year will present several concerts and parades.... The band was in the city last summer and aroused considerable interest. At that time Sgt. Robertson was with it as recruiting officer.

APRIL 21, 1940—Royal Air Force planes bombed aerial ferry terminals in Denmark and Norway. British and Norwegian troops reported from Stockholm to have driven Germans from Hamar. Germans claimed their troops had advanced to Lillehammer, north of Hamar.

G. A. Macdonald President For Third Term

George A. Macdonald was elected president of the Chamber of Commerce for the third consecutive year at a meeting of the new directors Thursday night.

The associated officers are: H. L. Garner as vice-president; John A. McKone, treasurer, and J. J. Dorris, secretary by appointment.

Directors are planning a membership drive some time in May after Peterborough has successfully wound up its Sixth Victory Loan. They feel that the Chamber can extend its activities and usefulness within the city, and to that end it should receive the support of a larger membership.

Must Pay Way

One of these days information will be forthcoming as to the assessment of Peterborough for the representative service of Major J. S. D. Armstrong at Ontario House in London, England. This assignment of Major Armstrong was proposed by Premier Drew at the annual meeting in Toronto of the Associated Boards of Trade. The cost of this Ontario House agency in behalf of the industrial cities of the province which subscribe to its maintenance will be $15,000 a year for five years.

Mr. Dorris recently received the first local enquiry from Major Armstrong, and Peterborough is expected to be one of the cities participating in this collective enterprise, its expense as well as its advantages. The Chamber has not yet been notified of the amount allocated to this city, but the responsibility of furnishing this money will likely have to be assumed entirely by the Chamber of Commerce as part of the broader program which the directors are planning for this year.

Auctioneer Faces Busy Week At Farms

Thirty-six head of cattle were sold by auction for $2,106 by J. H. Miles at the farm of the late W. J. Irwin, Ennismore, Thursday. The Examiner was informed they were chiefly grade Durhams. Cows averaged from $77 to $122.50; two-year-olds $77 and yearlings $49.

Cows at Owen Montgomery's sale at Clysdale in Chandos this week brought from $90 to $115, and stockers around $46 to $50. A mower sold for $79. Horses were the weak spot at $87 and $92.

Mr. Miles has three furniture sales in Lakefield next week, two furniture sales in the city and one farm sale to complete his engagements for the six days.

David A. Glassey Summer Visitor Dies In Toronto

One of the best-known members of the Upper Stoney Lake summer colony is dead in Toronto in the person of David A. Glassey, former principal of Harbord Collegiate Institute, Toronto whose death occurred Wednesday at his home 113 Lauder Avenue. For many years Mr. Glassey was a summer visitor at Stoney Lake, where he owned a cottage near Crowe's Landing.

Seventy-three years old he was born near St. Thomas, attended school there and took his B.A. degree at University College, Toronto. He obtained his first position in Port Perry when only 19 years of age and later taught in secondary schools in St. Marys and Guelph before going to Harbord Collegiate, Toronto in 1906 as classical master. In 1927, he became principal and held that post until his retirement ten years later. Because of the wartime shortage of teachers Mr. Glassey had recently returned to that field, lecturing in classics at the Ontario College of Education until taken ill two weeks ago.

He was one of the organizers and past president of the Federation of Teachers' Association of Ontario. He was the author of several Latin text books and was a member of the Senate of the University of Toronto.

Mr. Glassey is survived by his widow, three sons, Courtney Glassey Rochester N.Y., Dr. D. W. Glassey and Charles W. Glassey, Toronto and one daughter Mrs. A. L. (Anne) Wilson, New York City.

Support Asked For Tag Day

Mayor James Hamilton today expressed his confidence that the citizens of Peterborough will be generous to the Tag Day appeal this Saturday of the Local R. C. A. F. Auxiliary.

"All the money collected by the ladies of this Auxiliary, as with the other service auxiliaries in the city, will be used wisely to send needed comforts and benefits to our Peterborough airmen wherever they are serving," commented His Worship. "This is one way that we at home can show our appreciation to our boys for their daring and sacrifices in our behalf. I just wanted to remind the citizens of this particular Tag Day on Saturday and I know they will be generous to the taggers."

Would Lift Ceiling

KIRKLAND LAKE, April 21 (CP).—Teck township council with a letter to Federal Finance Minister J. L. Ilsley yesterday joined the Association of Northern Mining Municipalities, comprising Kirkland Lake, Timmins, Larder Lake, Tisdale and Whitney townships, in asking removal of the price ceiling on gold. Lifting of the ceiling, the council said, would prolong the life of northern mines, bring in new ones, and make availiable millions of jobs of sub-marginal gold ore.

No Evictions Reported In Local Housing

Legislation to prevent eviction of tenant families and also "to make partial freezing of leases until suitable locations can be provided for those affected" is asked of the Federal Government in a resolution passed Thursday night by the ladies' auxiliary of locals 524 and 527, United Electrical, Radio and Machine Workers.

This petition was based more on general housing shortage throughout the country rather than on local conditions. Discussion at the meeting tended to confirm reports recently received by the Examiner from real estate and municipal sources.

The preamble of the resolution was as follows: "The housing situation throughout the country is such as to cause considerable distress among the people of this nation, especially among the wives and families of our fighting forces. Such a condition cannot be anything but a detriment to their morale."

"And on those premises the Dominion Government is strongly urged to immediately pass legislation making partial freezing of leases possible until suitable locations can be provided for those affected; and that there shall be no evictions.

"Also, that the Government be urged to start its rehousing program this year."

No Immediate Worry.

No evictions of tenants at the end of this month are pending in Peterborough, according to the information the Examiner received. But, there are double tenancies and other conditions of crowding which would be relieved and generally improve social conditions if families were living separately, and could obtain the adequate accommodation they require. A few six-month notices that properties will be required by owners have been mentioned, but they are not immediately effective.

Mrs. Alex. Seppalla was elected to the vacant office of vice-president, and delegates were appointed to the district council meeting of District Five, U.E.R. and M.W.A., which will be held in Peterborough at the end of April. The members of the Ladies' Auxiliary closed their meeting by serving refreshments.

In connection with the housing shortage elsewhere, and especially in Toronto whose municipal authorities are now clamoring for Federal aid, it was recently stated that Toronto rejected proffered Wartime Housing accommodation, a temporary housing plan, demanding a type of permanent house which, it was said, the Government was not prepared to undertake in the wartime circumstances.

Can't Be Moved.

Another comment relating to the temporary houses was quoted from an observation by H. R. Scott, M.P.P., at his recent meeting with the United Electrical Workers, which was also attended by Gordon K. Fraser, M.P. It was reported that Mr. Scott estimated the life of these houses at possibly up to thirty years, providing they remained where they were built; but if they were taken apart for removal or if they were moved intact from present sites, their period of usefulness would be seriously affected.

Mr. Scott is reported to have said that the type of construction in these temporary houses is not suitable for removal. At the city planning meeting the other night Mr. Scott also suggested that steps should be taken early to prevent these houses from falling into the hands of speculators.

Third Brother Hurt In Italy

Mrs. Frank Peters, 112 Hurley street, has received official word that her son Gunner James Edward Peters, in Italy with a Canadian anti-aircraft battery was slightly wounded in action on April 14. The message added that the nature of his injuries are not yet available.

Gunner Peters is one of three sons of Mr. and Mrs. Peters who have seen service in Sicily and Italy. Pte. Victor Peters was killed in action last summer and another son Pte. Frank Peters, badly wounded, was invalided home some time ago and is now stationed at Kingston.

Dean Dies

MONTREAL, April 21—(CP).—Dr. James Crawford Simpson, former dean of the Faculty of Medicine at McGill University, and prominent member of intercollegiate sports bodies for almost two decades, died in hospital last night after an illness of two months. A native of Brockville, Ont., he was 69.

Champagne Cheap

TORONTO, April 21 (CP).—Soldiers in Allied-occupied sections of Italy can buy the finest Italian champagne at approximately $2.50 for a 35-ounce bottle. Oddly enough, a meal at a good restaurant costs about the same and German beer costs $1.25 for an equal quantity, according to a price list received by a Toronto girl from her brother in Italy. Barbering prices are relatively low with shave about 20 cents and haircuts an additional 10.

Salerno Veteran Gives Support To Victory Loan

By ALENE HOLT
Local Victory Loan Headquarters

First Lieut. Ralph B. Leonard of the United States Army is visiting his aunt, Mrs. Peter Weatherstone, 49 Wolsley street, for the first time in three years.

Much water has passed under the bridge in those three years. Ralph, who was born in Woodville, but is now an American citizen, more or less considers Peterborough his second home. In his youth (he is only 25 years of age now) he spent his summer vacations here visiting relatives on both sides of his family. He was well known, especially in sports circles, as he played baseball in Canada in Glace Bay, N.S., and also in Granby, Que., the latter team being in the Granby Provincial League.

One June 19, 1941, he entered the United States Army. He trained at Fort Custer, Michigan, and at Fort Benning, Georgia, and at the latter station obtained his commission. He was then assigned to Camp Edwards, Mass.

From there he went overseas to North Africa. He was in that country about six months, had his land and sea training and took part in the invasion at Salerno, Italy, September 9 last. He received a serious shell fragment wound in the right arm in Italy and was returned by hospital boat to Oran, North Africa, and seven weeks later returned by boat to the United States.

Although First Lieut. Ralph Leonard is now on convalescent sick leave and will soon return to hospital for further treatment, when asked if he would speak on behalf of the Sixth Victory Loan he said "Anything I can do or say to encourage the citizens and explain that it is of the utmost importance that they enlist every dollar in Victory Bonds, I feel it is not a waste of time and I am only too happy if I can be of service to your Victory Loan Headquarters." W. A. Reid, Assistant Organizer immediately took advantage of First Lieut. Leonard's offer and has been taking him to the local industrial plants where mass meetings are held to speak to the employees and tell them in his own words of what their money in Victory Bonds is doing to bring this conflict to a victorious conclusion.

Wife Is Along

With First Lieut. Leonard is his very attractive wife. She was formerly Dorothy Fiske, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. R. W. Fiske, 344 Diamond avenue, Grand Rapids, Michigan. This is Mrs. Leonard's first visit to Canada and she has been very much impressed and enthused with the stores and other items of interest dear to the feminine heart.

Especially was she, I might say thrilled, over the fact that she could go into a restaurant or store and order a nice, big, juicy steak. Evidently there is a lot of truth in the stories and rumors written from across the Border on the subject of food, mainly meat. Over there they are given 16 red points each week, to cover meat or butter. These points will give the purchaser either enough meat for two or one pound butter.

Lieut. Leonard, who is a very retiring young chap, still has a soft spot for Canada in his heart. He said that when he was in North Africa from all the reports he heard the Canadian First Division really did a wonderful job.

Need 5 Millions

TORONTO, April 21—(CP). — A telegram to Prime Minister Mackenzie King from the Toronto District Labor Council last night recommended an order "freezing" tenants in their present homes and asked that a $5,000,000 Federal loan be granted Toronto for the immediate building of new homes to alleviate the city housing shortage.

TITLE PASSES

LONDON — (CP) — Brig.-Gen. Lord Roundway, 63, died at his Devizes home. The title became extinct with his death.

Utility Workers Repeat Aid For War Victims

The word "utility" covers considerable ground in the various works it may apply to, but first and foremost the word itself is drawn from another signifying of use or service, and when it comes to public service of those whose daily work comes under this heading, are of a general benefit to all, particularly that of light, heat and water.

The workers at the sub-station on Aylmer street have on many an occasion demonstrated how they can extend this service abroad beyond the limits of their own duties, by raising money to assist the people in Britain who have suffered as a result of enemy air raids over that country through the local and district fund which operates for that purpose.

In this connection, on many occasions a bottle fully sealed to protects what may at any time be deposited in it has been made by one of the employees, and then they usually have something special in order to accelerate the givings, which from time to time have appeared in this column.

Their latest effort in this respect comes as a result of a part of the proceeds from some hockey pools which were held recently, each pool providing a dollar for the bottle, which when opened contained the sum of $9.55, and this was spontaneously made up to $10 by one of the employees who has taken considerable interest in the help that these efforts would give to the fund. Thus their utility services extends itself to unknown members of the human race in need a long distance away, and should surely earn them a great deal of attention.

Friends Honors Memory

An abiding friendship is exhibited by two gifts to help others in trouble, ot honor the memory of two gallant young men who both answered the final summons while on active service for their country, whose passing occurred during this month in former years.

Sgt. Pilot Roland Rennie was killed in a flying accident only two weeks after landing in England in 1941, and Sgt. Jake Burnham of the Prince of Wales Regiment, A./F., died at Prince George, B.C., a year ago today, the memory of both being recalled through a gift made by Mr. and Mrs. E. S. Kingdon, who in this manner pay a tribute to their friendship in the days gone by.

From Hastings comes another of those pleasing gifts made through the holding of an effort at a party held to mark the 6th birthday of Paul Humphries, where a small draw was held in order to mark this big day in the boy's life by giving aid to people in need.

From this same town events of a like nature have brought gifts in a similar manner, and the happiness that all youngsters have on this recurring day of days could find no better outlet, besides leaving their stamp which will give much satisfaction in the days to come when they reach the stage of looking back on life's fond memories.

Market Stall This Saturday

Again the fund is starting to help through the market stall facilities made available through the City Council, when this Saturday two young ladies from Queen Mary School, through the kind arranging of O. M. Steer, their principal, will be on hand to conduct a sale of garden seeds, kindly donated by Loblaw's Grocerterias, the Metropolitan Stores and Higgins Hardware, together with many interesting varieties of Peterborough production. The full proceeds are for the fund.

Prepare To Meet World Needs For Nursing When Peace Is Won

The Nicholls Hospital announces a class for student nurses beginning on Monday, July 31, 1944. Young women are asked to thoughtfully consider the choice of this profession and to communicate at once with the Superintendent of Nursing.

If there are more applicants than can be accommodated in one group another Class will be organized, beginning early in September. Because of recent regulations, students admitted after July 31st must have a Secondary School Graduation Diploma. Anyone in doubt as to their academic qualifications should submit their educational certificates for evaluation

THE TEA HOUR GOSSIP

Our column today is going to be on salads, as we are told salads are a very healthy food to eat. They make a table look so well and are so very pretty in themselves. In these times when so many foods are rationed and hard to get, we do really appreciate a nice salad for you can always get nice fresh fruits and vegetables with which to make it. Below you will find several recipes for these tempting dishes.

Endive Grapefruit Salad

12 stalks endive, scooped out pulp of 1½ grapefruit, 2 oz. crumpled Roquefort cheese. Wash and dry the endive, chill thoroughly, and arrange on individual plates. Heap the grapefruit at the end of the stalks and sprinkle it with the cheese crumbs. Pour French dressing over all. If necessary romaine may be substituted for the endive.

Cucumber and Pineapple Salad

½ cup vinegar, juice of ½ lemon, ¼ cup sugar, ½ teaspoon salt, 2 tablespoons granulated gelatine, ¼ cup cold water, 1 cup boiling water, lettuce, ½ cup dressing, ¼ cup cream whipped, 1 cup diced cucumber, 1 cup shredded pineapple. Soak the gelatine in cold water for five minutes, add boiling water and stir until dissolved. Add the sugar, salt, vinegar, and lemon juice. When the mixture has begun to set, stir in diced cucumber and shredded pineapple (preferably canned) and pour into wet, individual molds. When stiffened, serve on crisp lettuce beds. Pour over dressing to which the whipped cream has been added. The jelly may be colored with green vegetable coloring if desired.

Apple and Water Cress Salad

3 large red apples, 1 small cream cheese, water cress, currant jelly, French dressing. Wash and core apples, leaving the skin on, and cut crosswise into inch thick slices. Mix the jelly with the cream cheese until a smooth paste is formed; spread this mixture on the slices of apple, allowing one slice to each portion. Mix dressing with water cress, lay it on one side of the salad plate, and place the apple slices on the other.

Tomato and Cabbage Salad

1 small firm head of cabbage, 3 medium sized tomatoes, 1 finely chopped onion, 1 cucumber, ½ green pepper, lettuce, salad dressing. Shred the cabbage finely, and add the chopped onion, ½ green pepper chopped, and ½ cucumber, pared and diced. Mix well with either French dressing or cooked dressing as preferred. Peel the tomatoes and cut them in eighths. Pile the cabbage mixture in a salad bowl on the leaves of lettuce and garnish with tomatoes, the remainder of sliced cucumber and green pepper cut in strips.

JUST FOR WOMEN

HANDBAGS FOR PERSONALITY

Yes, choice of handbags can express the personality of the wearer just as choice of styles and colors. The quiet, rather unobtrusive girl invariably chooses a conservative style in one of the duller shades, while the girl with a vivid, bright personality chooses bags in vivid colors and more extreme styles and fabrics.

There are, however, many happy mediums in purse styles, and since a purse sets off any outfit, particular care should be taken in its choice. A tailored envelope bag, in a durable leather, is always a good purchase, since it will match any number of ensembles, and yet always be smart and appropriate.

Shoulder bags are particularly effective with tailored suits, and are handy and useful for the business girl. One of the new styles now appearing is the soft fabric bag with the draw-string top. Another new idea, which is surely to be tops in summer wear, is the handbag made of flowered and striped chintz and chambray, with wooden frames. They're bright and light and add just the right dash of color to all-white summer ensembles.

KITCHEN ASSEMBLY LINE

Even the housewife can learn a great deal from the speed-up methods used in factories nowadays to increase production and cut down on lost time. One of the most common duties associated with housekeeping is dishwashing, and it takes up a great deal of time every day. However, with a little practice, the "little woman" can educate herself in assembly line routine, and thus cut down on time spent at the sink.

Here are a few tips which may be of help. Wash cooking utensils as they are used, so that they won't clutter up the sink and retard work. If possible, tidy the kitchen before serving the meal. Soak last minute utensils during the meal, so that they can be easily cleared away.

Have lots of hot water ready, and in clean, sudsy water, do glass, silver, china, in that order. Rinse in hot water, set in dish drainer. Only the silverware need be dried. Cover the dishes with a clean cloth.

MONK'S CLOTH FOR UTILITY

Monk's cloth is one of the most satisfactory materials on the market for home decoration. It is sturdy, washable, needs no pressing, and loses none of its body and freshness in laundering. Because of its neutral shade it fits into any color scheme, and can be dressed up with bright trims.

It is readily adaptable to a great many uses, and can be used to cover couches, as portieres, for pillow tops, for doilies and napkins, and even for table sets. Simple luncheon and bridge sets can be made easily by cutting the cloth into the desired size, and fringing the edges.

Because it dyes easily, monk's cloth can be made to match any color scheme. Sofa pillows covered with monk's cloth, and, trimmed with bright braided yarn or fringes, are particularly charming.

HANDY FACTS

Mending tape which "mends as you iron," eliminating sewing, can also be used to bind seams, turn hems, mend girdles, and reinforce buttonholes.

When buying Turkish towels, be sure that the foundation of the towel is firm, because a firm foundation cloth is necessary to hold the pile yarns in place. A loosely woven, sleazy foundation material, allows the pile to pull out, and the fabric that is left take up too little water and it soon goes to pieces.

When knitting the hand of gloves, get four strands of darning cotton of the same color, and knit them in with the yarn. The gloves will wear much longer.

HANDY TIPS

Fabric shoes can be freshened by sponging away surface soil and spots with a solvent, such as carbon tetrachloride.

Meats and milk should be stored under, or near the evaporator of an electric refrigerator, where the temperature is lowest, while fruits and vegetables, which do not require such low temperatures, can be stored on the lower shelves.

If buttonholes in a garment are raveled or weak, rework with a buttonhole or blanket stick. If completely raveled, machine stitch close to the edge of the buttonhole, and then work the buttonhole by hand.

Star Class Meets

Members of the Star Class of George Street Sunday School met for the April meeting at the home of the teacher, Mrs. P. Hetherington, King street. Miss Evelyn Beatty, president, was in the chair.

The evening opened with a prayer by the president, and a devotional reading by Mary Sorrie. Marjorie Kitchen gave a short talk, and Mildred Marshall played a piano solo, "Meditation." At the conclusion of the business meeting, a sing-song was enjoyed and refreshments were served.

L.C.W. Sponsors Talk By Italy Veteran

A veteran of two wars, a missionary, and a tireless worker for the entertainment and recreation of servicemen, Major W. P. Welbourn, of the Salvation Army, will give a talk on his experiences in Korea, Sicily and Italy, Monday afternoon in the Green Room.

His visit is being sponsored by the Local Council of Women, and at a meeting of the Council, held Thursday afternoon, an invitation was extended to everyone to attend. Major John Wood, of the Salvation Army, gave a brief outline of Major Welbourn's life, and assured members of the Council that his address would be both educational and interesting.

Mrs. W. H. Morton, president, announced that A. L. Haskill, of the Better Business Bureau, Toronto, would be guest speaker at the next meeting of the council and members were urged to attend.

Final arrangements were completed for the spring tea, being sponsored by the Council, in the Y.W.C.A. on Saturday. Mrs. W. Addyman, announced that tea-cup readers in colorful costumes would be in attendance, and Mrs. J. C. Larmer, in charge of the home cooking and Mrs. E. Wand, in charge of the white elephant display asked for donations for their respective tables. Mrs. Morton told of a tea being sponsored by the Women's Missionary Society of Trinity Church, to be held April 28 in the basement of the church.

Brief Reviews

Six members of the Local Council gave short talks. Mrs. Robinson spoke on the new law governing the labelling of clothing, and asked members to keep labels, so that quality could be checked. Mrs. J. C. Larmer gave a paper about the laws for the naturalization of women, and explained how women could obtain or lose their Canadian citizenship.

Mrs. W. Addyman read a resume of the James report, explaining some of its more pertinent factors, and how reconsruction proceedings after the war would have to be conducted. Mrs. C. M. Scott, a vice-president of the Ontario Provincial Council of Women, gave a brief outline of a meeting of the sub-executive. She explained that the main portion of the meeting was taken up in considering resolutions sent in by Local Councils, and that several Peterborough resolutions had been accepted. One of these, the resolution pertaining to the showing of drinking scenes and other forms of vice in pictures that children could attend, has received wide attention in Peterborough. Copies were distributed to representatives of affiliated groups, and they were asked to obtain the names of all in agreement.

Mrs. J. K. Hughes gave a brief resume of a recent talk give by Trevor LeMay on the 30-yearf plan. She outlined ideas he suggested in Peterborough, such as reclaiming the banks of the Otonabee and making a riverside drive on both sides, and fixing up the creek, and making it a spot of beauty running through the city. She emphasized the the time to begin plans was the present, so that there would be jobs awaiting the returning servicemen.

Mrs. E. Chambers, president of the Home and School Council, gave an outline of a talk on juvenile delinquency given at the recent annual meeting of the Home and School Federation, held in Toronto. The speaker, Dr. S. R. Laycock, of the University of Saskatchewan, laid the blame for most of Canada's 12,000 juvenile delinquents on the shoulders of parents, Mrs. Chambers said. He maintained that suitable recreation had to be provided for growing youngsters, because, although the war had curtailed a great many projects, children continued to grow up. and to need proper recreation and guidance.

Musical Program Enjoyed By Class

A very entertaining program was enjoyed by members and visitors of the King's Own Bible Class of St. James' United Sunday School, at their April meeting, when Mrs. H. F. Doig, Cameron street, was hostess.

As special speaker, Captain Graham of the Salvation Arm Recreation Centre gave an address based on the theme "Thankfulness." The business session was conducted by Mrs. R. J. Burnside, 2nd vice-president in the absence of the president, Mrs. Ernest Kitney.

A musical program, directed by Mrs. G. Butcher, included a group of piano solos. "The Myrtle" and "Spring Song," contributed by Mrs. Moore. Vocal solos, "I Love a Little Cottage" and "The World is Waiting For The Sunrise," by Mrs. Karl Dorrington, were much enjoyed. As a pleasing variation to the program, Mrs. George Rowe gave the humorous reading, Mary Mahone." Another musical treat was the vocal trio by Mrs. R. C. Searles, Mrs. L. McLaren and Miss Margaret Smart, who sang "Have You Tarried Alone In The Garden?" and "Dutch Tyrol."

Refreshments were served and Mesdames Tate and Watson voiced the appreciation of the class. The class will meet for their May meeting at the home of Mrs. G. Butcher.

Employees Honor Reta McMillan

Miss Reta McMillan, a bride-elect of the month, was recently honored by employees of the cord set department of the Canadian General Electric Company, at a miscellaneous shower, at the home of Miss Audrey Leach. She received many beautiful gifts and expressions of good will. Lunch was served by the hostess, assisted by Miss Alma Leach and Mrs. J. Worr.

Those attending were Misses Winnie Gladwin, Aletha Wood, Joyce Kirkus, Margaret Jordon, Hilda Suddards, Margaret Legros, Mabel Killingbeck, Gladys Perrot, Alma Leach and Audrey Leach; Mesdames J. Worr, J. Vass, E. Hall, L. Post, A. Rightmyer, L. Carveth, L. Ash, R. Carter, B. Hatton, J. Andruska.

DOROTHY DIX . . . . .

WIDOWER MUST GUARD SPEECH

Stupid to Make First Wife Favorite Topic of Conversation With Second Mate.

DEAR MISS DIX—How do you think you would feel if you were married to a widower and had been frankly told by him that he did not love you as deeply as he did his first wife? I adore him, and one day during a conversation I remarked: "I wish you loved me as much as you did her." and he replied: "That is asking a lot. I lived with her for nineteen years and she was a part of me." These words stabbed me to the heart and killed all the joy and happiness I had in my marriage.

I keep busy making a comfortable home, but I feel that I am not a wife. I am just my husband's housekeeper. He never tells me that he loves me, or shows me any affection. We live together as two friends would, but my nature craves more than friendship from my husband. What would you do under the circumstances?

MISERABLE.

Second Wives Need Consideration

ANSWER—Well, if I had married a widower who told me flat out that he didn't love me as deeply as he did his first wife, I would think that I was united to the dumbest man who ever lived. I can't imagine any man being married to a woman for nineteen years without getting some inkling of feminine psychology and finding out that every second wife who loves her husband is jealous of his first wife, and that it behooves a widower when he takes on Number Two to watch his speech when he talks of Number One and not make her his favorite topic of conversation.

Yet there are men who are stupid enough to do this and who, without realizing that they are putting their second wives through the tortures of the Inquisition, are forever throwing their first wives in their faces. They discourse about how the dear departed did this and did that, and how she could run a house without money, and conjure good meals out of the air, and how she never wanted to go anywhere but just to stay at home, and so on and so forth, until the wonder is that the present encumbent of their hearts and homes doesn't rise up and smite them with the coffee pot, or take the carving knife to them.

Of course, a second wife realizes that her husband gave his first wife something that he can never give her. She had the freshness of his youth, and the romantic ardor that once gone can never be revived. For Number Two there can never be the circling wings and trails of glory that belong to young love. But her husband can give her a love that may not have any sentimental fringes on it, but that is likely to be far deeper and tenderer and more enduring than his boyish fancies. For the halo of the first marriage didn't last, and when it wore out only too often the husband discovered that his goddess not only had feet of clay but was mostly mud, and it was only after she died and he got away from her nagging and her henpecking that he idealized her and put her on a pedestal again.

On the other hand, a second marriage very often gives the man the kind of a wife that he really wants, because he brings intelligence and experience to the selection of her, and he loves her far better than he did his first wife. But, somehow, he seems to feel that he has a sort of postmortem duty to burn incense at Number One's grave, and he expects Number Two to take it, and like it. Which she doesn't and never will, and why she stands it, goodness only knows.

DEAR DOROTHY DIX — I am married and have a little boy 6 years old. I love my husband and want him with me, but he signed up to leave the states in a government job without my consent. He said he was doing it for us that we could have some money saved for the depression after the war.

But I am thinking of getting a divorce from him because I don't think he loves me like he should, or else he wouldn't have taken this job. I can't sit at home and pine my life away for him while he is gone and there is someone else who loves me and says he wouldn't have left me for anything in the world. What would you advise me to do Marry this man, or wait for my husband to return?

A WORRIED WIFE.

Wife Wrong in Opposing Husband

ANSWER — Apparently you are one of the henpecking wives who think that their husbands should ask their permission to even breathe, and the reason you are so angry with yours is because he disobeyed you. He was perfectly justified in accepting the good job that would give him a chance to advance himself in his work and make enough money to save somethng for the future, and you are entirely wrong in opposing him.

If you were a good wife, you would have backed him up in a plan that took courage and required sacrifice on his part, instead of talking about divorcing him. But perhaps you had your eye already on this other man and were only waiting for an excuse to ditch your good husband.

Can't you look at the matter sane-

THE STARS SAY . . . .

By GENEVIEVE KEMBLE

For Saturday, April 22

A FAIRLY moderate opening for success and progress is shown by the predominant stellar aspects. It is a time for working toward cherished hopes and wishes, in relation to private as well as business progress. The effort may be based on sound principles and applied energy, promising fairly enduring returns. But there may be some tricky or peculiar circumstances to be vanquished by perseverance, shun high pressure from those in power.

If It Is Your Birthday

Those whose birthday it is may have fair progress and productiveness, during the year, with returns according to the persistence, industry and diligence exercised. There may be solid foundations with enduring rewards for future comfort and security. Resists doubtful demands from those higher up and keep alert to peculiar or tricky lures or strategies. Be prudent with funds.

A child born on this day may have much sturdy ability and fortitude and should make worthwhile progress by its own efforts and shrewd vision, as well as a measure of good luck.

Home and School

QUEEN ELIZABETH

A patriotic play, "Flag Voices," was presented by the pupils of the senior room, at the regular meeting of the Queen Elizabeth Home and School Association Wednesday evening. The idea of the play was to show the significance each flag held for its country. Several students, each carrying a small flag of one of the United Nations, explained their significance to the people of the country represented.

The cast was as follows: Flagmender, Trevor Davies; apprentice, Eric Orvell; Union Jack, Shirley Allison; Stars and Stripes, Marjorie Brown; Russian flag, Ted Doughty; Chinese flag, Donna Stemp; Czechoslovakian, Loraine Sexsmith; Polish, Maxine Johnston; French, Ken Gallagher; Norwegian, Sanda Maciver; Dutch, Ruth Sine; Greece, Shirley Harriot; Yugoslavian, Sheila Maciver; Mexican, George Bedford, and Red Cross, Betty Munroe.

Mrs. C. Doughty, president, gave her report of the Home and School Association convention, held recently in Toronto, and L. Bird, principal, spoke briefly on the points of interest she had mentioned. The meeting opened with community singing, led by Miss Mary Taylor. Mrs. O. Deyell asked that all nominating forms be turned in, and complimented Mrs. Doughty on the large membership in the Association, the total of 46 being an all-time high for Queen Elizabeth. Refreshments were served by Mrs. W. Ellison and Mrs. Peter Jarvis, during the social half-hour which followed.

Black Market Serious Across States

WASHINGTON, April 21—(AP)—Congress was told by Shad Polier, an Office of Price Administration official, to-day that with "hot" C coupons bringing 50 cents each and illegal transactions draining off an estimated 2,500,000 gallons daily, black market operations soon may force a reduction in civilian gasoline rations in the United States.

'The black market in gasoline is already dangerous,' Mr. Polier's memorandum said, "but if allowed to grow it will become a serious threat to the whole war effort."

The 2,500,000 gallons of gasoline which Mr. Polier said is the daily "tribute" to "the thieves and counterfeiters who stead, print and sell gasoline coupons and to the chisellers who buy them or buy gas without coupons" would increase "A" rations by 30 miles a month or boost the top limit for "B" rations from the present ceilings of 325-475 miles to an estimated 700 miles monthly for business drivers.

"The saboteurs who print and sell counterfeit coupons, the car owners who buy coupons or buy gas without coupons, and the dealers who buy coupons to cover illegal sales of gasoline," his report said, "are no better than the saboteur who blows up a gasoline refinery."

The heaviest concentration of illegal coupons was described in the report as being in the Eastern States, with the problem "also serious" in California, the Pacific North-west and on the Gulf Coast

Students To Get Normal Course

MONTREAL, April 21 — (CP) — Students entering medical or dental studies at McGill University here next fall, as well as those already in first year will take a normal peacetime course it was announced today following a university senate meeting yesterday.

Decision to resume a peacetime program in medical and dental teaching was taken following recommendation by the Association of Medical Colleges of Canada and with the National Defence Department approval.

MANUSCRIPT WAS STOLEN

ST. ALBANS, England — (CP) — A 16-year-old boy who had been writing stories for some years but did not have any accepted stole a manuscript from the publishing firm he worked with, changed the title and submitted the story as his own. He was put on a year's probation.

CUTE FRAULEIN — When German prisoners of war presented a play "From Und Heiter" (bright and gay) for their fellow prisoners at Fort Dix, N.J., this P. of W. made a charming "fraulein" on the stage. All scenery and costumes were made by the prisoners from waste material.

School Children Present Concert

MOUNT JULIAN, April 21—(ENS).—An enjoyable variety concert was given in the school, in aid of Eden United church this week. Cleveland Robb, who has charge of this parish, was chairman for the evening.

The following program provided a splendid evening's entertainment and was attended by people from Young's Point Lakefield and Peterborough. Several anthems were sung by the choir, and patriotic songs by the school children, duet and dance by Marie Wilson and June Northey; solo Miss Gladys Langton; recitation, Russel Booth; solo, Marie Wilson; dancing duet Ethel and Daphne Northey; trio song and dance, June and Dorothy Northey and Marie Wilson; recitation, Ethel Northey; reading, Miss Gladys Langton; song with guitar, June, Daphne and Dorothy Northey; solo, Miss Gladys Langton. One of the features was a song by school, "The Old Gray Mare Is Back Where She Used to Be," complete with a gray mare, almost life size and ear that refused to go on its own power. This was the climax of the comic numbers.

Roy Brown of Lakefield gave an interesting account of his experiences on the building of the Alaska highway. Then followed a duet by Mrs. William Church and Mrs. Stanley Northey.

A door prize draw was made on an autographed quilt with William McCauley holding the lucky ticket. Mrs. Stanley Northey was in charge of a fish pond which was enjoyed by the children.

Sure Proof

NEW BRITAIN, Conn., April 21 — (AP). — When Ralph Prims saw a stranger with a dog he recognized the animal as one stolen from him five months before and demanded its return. "Prove it's your dog," replied the stranger. Prims lighted a match and placing the flame in front of the dog's mouth ordered "Blow it out." The dog blew out the match. "It's your dog," conceded the stranger.

Almost 8 Million Parcels Packed

TORONTO, April 21—(CP)—Norman C. Urquhart, chairman of the Canadian Red Cross prisoner of war food parcels committee, today told the annual meeting of the central council that the five packing plants in Montreal, Hamilton, Toronto, Windsor and Winnipeg had by the end of 1943 packed 7,800,000 prisoner of war food parcels or 42,900 tons of food.

He said delivery of supplies from manufacturers was better now than at any time since the start of the war.

Dr. F. F. Tisdall recently returned from Britain where he interviewed a number of repatriated prisoners, said that ingredients of the parcels should remain the same.

The price on imported goods such as raisins, prunes and corned beef had advanced steadily, and by January, 1944, these three items alone have increased the cost of parcels, over a period of a year, by $500,000.

Red Cross Keeps Up Knitting Activities

MILLBROOK, April 21—(ENS)—Articles shipped from the Red Cross rooms this week included: 5 quilts, 2 of them from Carmel; a layette composed of one dozen diapers, 4 night gowns, 2 bonnets, 2 pairs bootees, 1 pair mittens, 1 blanket, 1 towel and 2 cakes baby's soap; 1 tin powder, and one card of safety pins.

For the Air Force: 1 sweater, 2 pairs gloves, 7 turtle neck sweater, 2 scarves, 9 pairs socks, 4 pairs mitts. For the British Civilian: 5 coats, 7 blouses, and 3 jumpers.

Race Predicted To Get Cars Into Production

By C. R. BLACKBURN
Canadian Press Staff Writer

WASHINGTON, April 21.—(CP).—What car makers will be the first to get sleek, new post-war flivvers rolling off the assembly line? Who will be first back in the field with new radios?

Rival makers of these and numerous other commodities, whose plants have been tied up with war contracts, are wondering which will be released first because the first in the field will have a decided advantage.

Civilian consumers, their pockets bulging with cash saved for a post-war spending splurge, will rush to buy up the first new cars, radios and refrigerators as soon as production starts.

Selection of the plants to be released from war work will be the headache of reconversion and post-war planners and they are worried about it but not saying much.

The Baruch-Hancock report on reconversion made guarded reference to this phase of the problem. It suggested that small industries should be released first so that their competitive position could be protected.

It suggested also that consumers of war emergency products should advice the War Production Board of proposed cancellation of orders as far as possible in advance—just as soon as they even "think" of cancellation.

But the general basis of selection will be efficiency of manpower utilisation, and protection of the war efforts usefulness in the case of reconversion before the shooting ends.

Pulpwood cutters wanted: There is a report around the Capitol that fresh agitation is brewing in the Truman Senate Investigating Committee for pressure to be brought upon the Canadian Government for release of Quebec woodsmen to work for a Northern Maine pulp and paper company.

Secret weapon? Impressionable young diplomats should shy away from a new concoction recently introduced to members of the foreign representative corps in Washington half and half of a strong Russian brandy and a popular American cola beverage "A tongue loosener if there ever was one," a staid veteran diplomat ruefully commented after trying several at a recent party.

Beauty and the Beast: Vivien Kelems, attractive, photogenic Connecticut industrialist and militant anti-new dealer, was accused in the Senate of writing love letters to a German agent. That would be treason, or something serious, if it were true. Yet, immediately afterward, she was feted by another Senator in the Senate dining room with many "big shots' present. This is a Presidential election year.

School Pupils Aid In Paper Collection

LINDSAY, April 21 — (ENS) — Boys and girls of the local school started today dragging their bundles of paper to the Shools, ready for the massed collection on Saturday. With every 20 lbs. of waste paper the collector is given a free ticket to the theatre.

This afternoon one young lad was seen shoving a large wheel barrow filled with papers; another young girl was pushing a baby carriage filled with papers, while others had their wagons and bicycles loaded. It is expected to collect 20 tons of paper.

Bailieboro News

The final euchre and dance of the cigarette fund held in South Monaghan municipal hall on Wednesday evening was well attended. Twenty-four tables were played and prizes won were: Ladies' first, Mrs Keith Halstead; second, Miss Ivy Sutton. Men's first, Karl Huggins; second, Percy Farr, and consolations were given Mrs Dawson Rutherford and Everett Wood. Dancing was enjoyed to the lively strains of the Gilmour orchestra.

Misses Margaret and Agnes Brackenridge have returned to their respective schools at Oshawa and Hamilton.

Mr. and Mrs. Vernon Hunter and family, of Brantford, visited Mr. and Mrs. Dawson Rutherford.

Mr. and Mrs. Willis Wood entertained a number of their friends when six tables of progressive euchre were played. First prize was won by Mrs. Dawson Rutherford.

Miss Jean Rutherford is home convalescing from an operation for appendicitis.

BOARDING SHIP — British W.R.E.N.S. board merchant shipping vessels which arrive from convoy at naval ports and assist the ship's officers in whatever clerical work necessary. Here we see a W.R.E.N. climbing the ship's ladder with a request to see the captain.

Soldiers Top War Bond Quota

CORNWALL, April 21 — (CP) — Two hours after officials at the Canadian Army Infantry Centre No. 31 here yesterday were presented with two shields for leading the Canadian Army in the Fifth Victory Loan, the officers and men pledged 12 per cent over their quota for the Sixth Loan, a campaign which does not officially open until April 24.

No official figures were released on the day's sales but it was stated that every soldier in the camp, from the Officer Commanding down to the newest private—a soldier in the Army only ten days—pledged to buy a Bond.

Professor Warns Land Drying Out

NIAGARA FALLS, ONT., April 21 — (CP) — Prof. A. F. Coventry of the University of Toronto said yesterday the disturbing of surface waters caused by deforestation and farming was "affecting the fertility of the land and in some instances imperilling the health of our people

The unbalancing of surface waters, as evidenced by the drying up of streams, wells and springs, was particularly acute in Ontario although it existed in all agricultural sections of Canada, Prof. Coventry said in addressing the Canadian section of the American Water Works Association in convention here.

Canada should follow successful methods employed by the United States Soil Conservation Service in combatting this "disorganization of water." At the outset, he said, many more surveys are essential.

Announcement was made of the award of the Hunt Memorial Trophy, for outstanding service in the waterworks field, to Harry F. Hall, Waterworks Manager at Sarnia, Ont.

World Delegates Attend Labor Congress

By C. R. BLACKBURN
Canadian Press Staff Writer

PHILADELPHIA, April 21—(CP)—Election of Walter Nash, deputy Prime Minister of New Zealand, and retiring Minister from that country to Washington, to preside over the plenary sessions of the International Labor Organization conference is expected to be the first item of business when the conference opens here today.

It will be the first constitutional conference of the I.L.O. since it was forced by the war's encirclement of Switzerland to move its permanent headquarters from Geneva to Montreal in 1940. Between 350 and 400 delegates representing 41 member countries are expected to attend the conference which will run from three to four weeks.

Before the war the conferences were held annually in Geneva. A non-constitutional conference, was held in New York in 1941 but there have been no regular meeting since 1939.

At the present time the I.L.O. is the most representative and active of world organizations devoted to bettering the general conditions for working people and uniting the nations of the world in efforts to that end.

Canada Has Many.

Canada will have one of the biggest delegations, possibly 50, including official delegates, observers and advisers and staff. It is headed by Humphrey Mitchell, Labor Minister, who arrived last night.

L. B. Pearson, minister-counsellor to the Canadian Embassy in Washington and chairman of the United Nations' Interim Food Commission, is attending as an observer for the latter organization.

Delegates to the conference are named by the member nations—two nominated by the Government with alternates and one each by employer and employee organizations.

A long list of resolutions have been prepared by the Montreal headquarters office for presentation at the general conference, looking toward the establishment of a world social code and a possible world minimum wage law.

Resolutions adopted (and they must have a two-thirds majority vote), are submitted to the governments of the member and other countries.

A notable absentee from the Philadelphia meetings will be Soviet Russia, unless there is a last-minute acceptance of a cordial invitation to rejoin.

Russia was dismissed from the I.L.O. when she attacked Finland in 1939, but some weeks ago it was announced that the Soviet government had been invited to rejoin. It is understood United States and British diplomats attempted to persuade the Russians to forgive and forget the 1939 episode.

Blame Cigarette For Hotel Fire

BRANTFORD, April 21—(CP)—Fire which broke out in the ladies' beverage room of the Brant Hotel here last night caused damage estimated at between $15,000 and $20,000. Much of the damage was due to smoke.

Firemen said they believed the blaze was started by a cigaret butt left in the beverage room. The room was gutted and the fire was creeping upstairs leading to the lobby when firemen arrived.

When the alarm was given one truck was fighting a garage fire in another part of the city but all other apparatus was rushed to the scene and off-shift firemen called.

Evening Auxiliary Follows Easter Theme

NORWOOD, April 21—(ENS)—The Evening Auxiliary of the Norwood United Church met Tuesday evening at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Earl Hamblin. Eighteen members and two visitors attended, and the president, Miss Pauline Weir, presided.

The Easter theme was predominant throughout the worship service, and also during the study period, which was conducted by the group leader, Mrs. A. Weir. "Easter Chimes," a poignant description of Mary weeping at the tomb, was read by Mrs. E. Blodgett.

Mrs. Webb read a story of a small boy who shared Easter with an unfortunate old lady, and who in later years became a loved and respected minister. Miss Lila Kirke sang a solo, "Calvary," accompanied by Miss Weir at the piano. Mrs. E. Hamblin read a selection referring to the sufferings of Christ, and how His 'children' cannot expect to avoid sorrow and pain.

"The Story of Easter," a beautiful tale of a young Indian boy, was read by Miss Lila Kirke. "The Easter Service," consisting of Easter hymns, responsive reading, and prayer, was conducted by the group leader, Mrs. A. Weir.

MOSQUITO PLANES DO THEIR STUFF—Some of Britain's speedy all-wood fighter-bomber Mosquitoes have been fitted to take on the superblock boster 4,000-pound bombs. One of the overaize eggs is here being wheeled into place in the bomb bay of one of the Mosquitoes. Pilots say that when the Mosquito lets go of one of these two-tonners, the plane leaps into the air like an express elevator shooting to the top of skyscraper.

An Old Razor

TIMMINS, April 21 — (CP) — A straight razor 110 years old is the prized possession of J. P. Foley of Timmins. Brought over by his grandfather from Ireland in 1834 and handed down to the present owner in 1902, the English-made steel razor had not mowed whiskers since 1923, when one of Mr. Foley's friends shaved three people with it on a bet.

Voting Plans Arranged For Soldiers

OTTAWA, April 21— (CP)— The Commons Elections Committee, recommended today that members of the armed forces on leave be allowed to cast their ballots at the nearest depot of their own branch of service.

By this concession a soldier of any age on leave would go to the nearest military establishment, produce his leave pass and cast his ballot with a commissioned officer designated to take votes.

Servicemen, enumerated at civilian polls in districts where they have established homes, must be 21 years old if they want to vote in these polls. A man under 21 must cast his ballot at the nearest depot of his branch of the services.

Another recommendation of the committee, aimed especially at enfranchising the more than 2,000 Canadians in the R.A.F., provides that Canadians who enlisted in United Kingdom forces subsequent to Jan. 1, 1937, may go to the nearest Canadian election officer in their own branch of service and cast their ballot.

The matter of proxy votes for Canadian prisoners of war came up for further discussion at today's session and Chairman Sam Factor (L—Toronto Spadina) said experts had advised that this matter should be excluded from the war service voting regulations and a separate Order-in-Council be framed to take care of providing proxy votes, through next-of-kin or designated persons, for the prisoners.

Want Nobel Houses In Toronto Area

TORONTO, April 21—(CP)—Relief for Toronto's housing shortage through use of hundreds of vacant Wartime Housing, Ltd., homes in the Nobel, Ont., district will be suggested to Federal officials in Ottawa Monday, Controller Robert Saunders said today.

Controller Saunders said he and Mayor Fred Conboy will ask establishment of a Federal tribunal in Toronto empowered to take steps necessary to relieve the situation.

Meanwhile E. W. Young, in charge of Wartime Housing in the Nobel area, said there are about 170 homes vacant at Nobel and about 100 vacant in Parry Sound, six miles away.

Reeve Anne Shipley of Kirkland Lake, Ont., said the town would be willing to consider a plan to have a number of Torontonians emigrate there.

Fall Wheat, Clover In Good Condition

Fall wheat and clover have come through the winter in promising condition, as reported to the provincial Department of Agriculture from many of its county representatives. Bruce, Perth, Haldimand, Brant, Wentworth and other sections in the west end of the province where the season is further advanced than in this area report the fields looking well.

In Hastings, farmers have begun shearing their flocks, and their lamb crop looks healthy. A few cheese factories are operating and others were ready to take the locks off the doors this week. Plowing has begun in Northumberland; the run of sap has been disappointing throughout this part of the province; Prince Edward tomato growers have their seed sown; and demand for brood sows is strong.

Finished cattle in Middlesex are selling in a rather weak market; demand for young pigs in the Lincoln district is brisk, with the price ranging around $15. The turnip crop is getting down to the last few carloads with the price down to 20 cents a bushel in Oxford.

U.S. Flier R. Sheehan Honored In Douro

DOURO, April 21.— (ENS).— A large crowd of friends and neighbors gathered at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Richard Sheehan this week to honour their son Francis of the U.S. Air Force, who is home on furlough from Homestead, Florida.

An address was read by Gerald Walsh and a purse was presented to the young airman who expressed his thanks. Lunch was served by the hostess and dancing and music were enjoyed. Miss Catherina Gallagher, of St. Paul, Minn., who has been a guest at the Sheehan home was also present for the occasion.

DEAR MISS DIX—In a recent article I read that there is something in the personality of people who have dark hair which blonds do not possess. It is said this certain personality which brunettes have holds a man better than the girl with blond hair can. I am referring to a natural blond, not a peroxide. Are these statements true?

A DOUBTFUL BLOND.

ANSWER—Certainly they are not true. Personality is a matter of the mind and the heart and the spirit and not of the hair. There are just as many wife-deserters married to women with black hair as there are to red heads or blonds, either natural or synthetic.

SIDE SUIT BID RISKY

Even though you think it may contribute to the reaching of a sound slam contract, the bidding of a side suit is highly dangerous after your partner has shown good support for your major. Against the times that such a bid helps you feel sure of slam possibilities, there are plenty of occasions on which it tells the opponents how to put up their defense against your contract.

North: ♠ 9 8 7 3 ♥ Q 9 8 7 ♦ A Q ♣ K 10 6
West: ♠ K Q 10 5 ♥ None ♦ 9 8 6 4 3 2 ♣ J 7 4
East: ♠ A 6 4 2 ♥ 6 5 3 2 ♦ None ♣ A 9 8 5 3
South: ♠ J ♥ A K J 10 4 ♦ K J 10 7 5 ♣ Q 2

(Dealer: South. Both sides vulnerable.)

	South	West	North	East
1.	1 ♥	Pass	3 ♥	Pass
	4 ♥
2.	1 ♥	Pass	2 ♥	Pass
	3 ♦	Pass	4 ♥

There you have the bidding which meant the difference between victory and defeat for South's contract at two tables of a duplicate game. At the first table, West led the spade K, which won. Receiving the 2 on it from his partner, indicating the desire for a switch, he selected a diamond and East ruffed it. Trying to put West back in the lead to give him another ruff, he led the spade 2. South ruffed this, dropped trumps in three rounds, and lost only one more trick, to the club A, making his contract.

At Table 2, West determined, after hearing South's diamond bid, to try to find his partner able to trump that suit. His diamond 4 was ruffed. East put him back in the lead by chancing an underlead of his spade A, the 2 to the Q, and a second diamond was ruffed. The club A then made the setting trick. South was defeated by his effort to show North that his second suit was diamonds.

Tomorrow's Problem

North: ♠ 9 8 7 ♥ A J 10 9 8 7 ♦ 6 2 ♣ 7 5
West: ♠ J 5 4 3 ♥ Q 5 ♦ A Q J 10 ♣ 9 6 2
East: ♠ K 10 2 ♥ 3 2 ♦ 9 4 ♣ A J 10 8 4 3
South: ♠ A Q 6 ♥ K 6 4 ♦ K 8 7 5 3 ♣ K Q

(Dealer: South. East-West vulnerable.)

If North gets into 4-Hearts on this deal and East leads the club A, what principle should govern his lead to the next trick?

Personnel Counsel System To Aid Airmen After War

By JACK BRAYLEY—Canadian Press Staff Writer

OTTAWA, April 22—(CP).—Details of an R.C.A.F. personnel counsel system guiding airmen to post-war opportunities will be announced April 25, it was learned reliably here today. Air Minister Power recently told the Commons the Air Force's rehabilitation program envisioned the appointment of personnel counsel whose job would be to interview airmen either before or during demobilization and advise them on available opportunities and guide them into jobs appropriate to their skill and ability.

It is believed the details of the plan will show that it follows the general outline of the scientific personnel selection program by which an airman is sent to a fighting post fitting his mental and physical capacities.

The R.C.A.F. now is able to take a new recruit, test his ability and aptitudes and place him in the branch of training where he has the best chance of success. The effectiveness of the method has been proved by comparing the test score of thousands of airmen with their measure of success in the air.

The wartime selection machinery starts to work as soon as a prospective airman steps into a recruiting office. First of all they find his proper place in the service. Then, as training proceeds, the tests decide accurately his chances of success or failure. The tests sort out the potential pilots, navigators, wireless operators or ground crew.

The Canadian selection system, based entirely on performance, has developed from what instructors and research men learned in training airmen through the last four years.

A system of measurements has been set up and definite standards established. The recruit is judged by a common "measuring stick" which will predict the type of training in which he will succeed.

The tests do not necessarily take into consideration "formal education." Some 15 per cent. of aircrew applicants who have had only grade eight education have equalled or exceeded the classification tests scores of a large number of university graduates.

Labor Expects Lively Debate

By C. R. BLACKBURN
Canadian Press Staff Writer

PHILADELPHIA, April 22—(CP)—Oratory bristling with controversy is expected here next week when the International Labor organization's 26th conference will devote two days to discussion of a resolution leading it into an almost unlimited field of responsibility for world international policy.

The major debate, scheduled for Monday and Tuesday, is expected on a resolution prepared by the secretariat which has been located in Montreal since the war forced it from its palatial home in Geneva in mid-1940.

This resolution would declare that the I.L.O. should have the authority to "scrutinize" all international policies on economic and financial matters (such as the proposed international monetary fund announced in Ottawa last night by Prime Minister MacKenzie King) and to comment on their desirability in the light of what is deemed necessary to establish social justice.

An even sharper controversy was brewing over the argument carried on all day yesterday in the workers' delegate group arising from an almost solid Latin-American campaign, led by Mexico, to refuse a seat to the workers' delegate from Argentina on the grounds that the trades unions in that country are controlled by a Fascist government.

It was expected that Canada would take a strong stand against the proposal to expand the scope of the I.L.O. to cover economic and financial policies, other than those which have a specific and immediate effect upon working conditions.

The British delegation may split on this proposal (and Canada too for that matter) with the workers'

Aerial Push Goes Into Fifth Day

Mosquitoes Batter Cologne With Blockbusters

By W. W. HERCHER
Associated Press Staff Writer.

LONDON, April 22 — (AP). — American medium bombers in strength attacked military targets in Northern France to-day, carrying forward the Allies' biggest aerial offensive from Britain into its fifth day following a night strike against burning Cologne by R.A.F. Mosquitoes and minelaying by R.A.F. and R.C.A.F. planes.

The medium Marauders and light fast Havocs were covered by swarms of R.A.F., Dominion, and Allied Spitfires in the cross-channel attack, many squadrons of the U S fighters also were observed in the air.

The attack on the cross-channel objectives, which have been hit every day this week by Britain-based planes of all types, apparently formed only part of to-day's striking force.

Other bomber formations were seen flying to the Continent continuing the thunderous bombardment which saw no diminution as the hours passed.

Last night's blow at Cologne by block-buster carrying Mosquitoes was a follow-up to the tremendous pounding the Rhineland city received Thursday night.

The Air Ministry disclosed that the Mosquito attack was compressed into a 10-minute period between 4 and 5 a.m. and that many two-ton blockbusters were dropped on the battered city.

Pilots on the raid said that dense clouds over the target hampered the searchlights and allowed the fleet of fast plywood bombers to strike before the defences were fully organized. They reported one huge explosion during the attack.

Still Burning.

Cologne, one of the most important railroad centres in western Germany, was still burning last night from the deluge of 1,600 long tons of bombs poured upon it by R.A.F. and R.C.A.F. four-engined bombers 24-hours earlier.

That tremendous Thursday night assault on Cologne was the major blow in the greatest night aerial operation of the war, in which the R.A.F. and R.C.A.F. sent out more than 1,100 bombers and dropped more than 5,000 tons of bombs.

A late morning German radio report said "there were no enemy planes over the Reich" but watches along the English Channel Coast saw planes swarming across the narrow waters in cloud-like formations.

Air activity yesterday included a hammering of targets in Northern France behind Hitler's Atlantic wall, by American light and medium bombers. The Nazis sent up fighters for the first time in more than a month in this region and took a toll of five bombers.

ENGLAND DEFEATS SCOTLAND

Held For Murder

RAINY RIVER, Ont., April 22—(CP).—Florida Isabel Wilcox, 31, was committed in police court here yesterday for trial at the next Ontario Assizes on a charge of murdering Hugh Macdonald, 43-year-old trapper. Macdonald's body was found at his Bigsby Island home on April 11. He had been shot in the head.

Free Telegram Service For Returned Men

OTTAWA, April 22 — (CP). — Defence Minister Ralston told Gordon Graydon, Progressive Conservative House Leader, in the Commons yesterday that the Government was arranging to pay for telegrams from returning servicemen informing their families throughout Canada that they had arrived back and were heading for home.

Col. Ralston had promised Mr. Graydon a statement on this subject when the Progressive Conservative Leader raised the question in the Commons yesterday.

Col. Ralston said there was no security involved in the case of hospital ships and relatives were advised of these arrivals. Army public relations officers kept the local newspapers advised as the hospital train proceeded through Canada from the port of disembarkation.

He said, however, that ordinary troop transport arrivals were kept secret for 24 hours, but telegrams, held by telegraph censors, were released so that families knew their boys were home. These telegrams would, in future, be paid for by the services.

Bucharest Hit By Heavy Planes

NAPLES, April 22—(AP)—Allied heavy bombers struck Bucharest, capital of Romania, yesterday.

The four-engined bombers laid explosives upon railyards at Bucharest and also at Turnu-Severin, on the Romanian side of the "iron gate."

Medium and fighter bombers ranging over the Italian front struck at German ammunition dumps, and at rail objectives in the Rome area.

Thirty-eight German planes were destroyed during all operations, and eight Allied heavy bombers and nine other planes were lost out of 1,000 sorties, headquarters said.

Allied Drive Gains Across Burma

Dive Bombers Lash Enemy Columns Protect Railroad

By THOBURN WIANT
Associated Press War Correspondent

SOUTH-EAST ASIA HEADQUARTERS, Kandy, Ceylon, April 22 — (AP) — Allied Headquarters to-day declared its forces were prepared to meet any Japanese threat in the Imphal and Kohima areas of Eastern India where infantry and tanks continued to push outward from the Manipur Plain, and that the "situation continues to develop favorably."

There was no further report of Japanese activities in the Kohima area, 60 miles north of Imphal and 35 miles south-east of the Bengal-Assam railway, where enemy reinforcements were reported yesterday.

Dive-bombers aiding the Allied cleanup campaign northeast of Imphal where British troops at last report, had pushed the enemy back to a point 30 or 35 miles from the town, were reported inflicting heavy losses on the Japanese.

At Bishempur, on the road leaving westward from the plain of Silchar the communique said. This railroad runs from Calcutta northeast to Assam and pumps the lifeblood into the Chinese-American North Burma offensive and the American 14th Air Force activities in China.

Chinese troops were still advancing slowly southward toward the rail town of Mogaung in an effort to cut of Myitkyina, chief Japanese base in northern Burma and a control point on the projected Ledo road to China.

The Chinese 38th Division was operating east of the Mogaung River and the Chinese 22nd Division to the west of the River.

South of Warazup less than 50 road miles northwest of Mogaung, 22nd Division units, supported by tanks, destroyed 100 Japanese in a single engagement, it was announced, but there was no further word from the Mansum area, 55 miles northwest of Mogaung, where this Division was said on Thursday to have encircled a Japanese Division. In that area the Chinese were approaching the Jade mines of northern Burma.

Ceylon newspapers gave prominent play to a Tokyo radio broadcast which said British and Indian troops formerly stationed at Ceylon as a reserve had gone into action around Kohima.

Heavy Bombers Hit New Guinea

ALLIED HEADQUARTERS, Southwest Pacific, April 22.—(AP).—Sustained air blows against Dutch New Guinea, the Western and Central Carolines were reported to-day by Allied Headquarters.

For the fourth straight day, the communique listed a long over-water hop by heavy bombers from the Solomons for a bombing of Satawan in the Central Carolines to the southeast of Truk. For the third straight day, it told of bombing attacks on Woleai in the Western Carolines and on Plen bases in the Geelvink Bay area of Dutch New Guinea.

In the raid reported to-day on Woleai two parked planes were destroyed and the communique said two others were destroyed on the previous raid. A Liberator sank a loaded 1,000-ton supply ship near Hollandia and planes attacked shore installations as far as the Madang are.

Rabaul, New Britain, took its daily drubbing from Solomons-based bombers.

In the Central Pacific American heavy bombers in a Wednesday attack on Wake, pounded Japanese installations on the tiny island with 30 tons of explosives.

True Fish Story

RIDGETOWN, April 22—(CP).—Here's a fish story, but unlike most of them, it's not exaggerated. While fishing at nearby Morpets Creek yesterday, Percy Cowell and Frank Maxwell of Ridgetown scooped up large smelt by the bucketful. Another fisherman, Reeve Simpson, grabbed them by the handful.

34 Countries Endorse New Money Plan

WASHINGTON, April 22—(AP)—Secretary of State Hull, lauding progress made toward the creation of an international stabilization fund by treasury technicians of the United Nations, today urged that such a program "be put into operation before the end of the war."

Agreement of the technicians on broad outlines for a gold-based $8,000,000,000 stabilization fund to promote post-war world prosperity was announced last night. Soviet Russia gave its approval at the last minute so that the outline had the technical support of the leading Allied nations.

Mr. Hull noted that while the basic principles had the support of the technical experts, the agreement as announced did not actually commit any nation to the program. He made it clear that as far as the United States is concerned, final diplomatic agreement and Congressional decision still are lacking.

Mr. Hull suggested the need for speedy action in order to clear and organize the world's monetary channels in time for post-war economic reorganization.

Secretary Morgenthau hailed the technicians' plan as "the keystone to all post-war economic planning."

Their agreement on principles, product of a year's study, calls for a fund of $8,000,000,000 of which the United States would put up from $2,500,000,000 to $2,750,000,000 of its huge store of gold designed to buy and sell gold and currencies to keep the world's money on an even keel. Britain would put up about $1,250,000,000 and Russia about $1,000,000,000.

Eventually the sponsors suggested, the fund might be expanded to $10,000,000,000 to take in present neutrals and Axis countries.

Each country's money would be assigned a value in gold.

Mr. Morgenthau presented the experts' statement — not binding on any government — to congressional committees in advance of the announcement last night.

(In Ottawa the statement was tabled in the House of Commons.)

The reaction of the committees, Mr. Morgenthau reported was 'on the whole, good."

The next step would be an invitation from President Roosevelt to other countries for a formal conference.

Russia added her approval yesterday to present a united front on the experts' plan.

Mr. Morgenthau said negotiations on principles for a proposed $10,000,000,000 world bank to finance reconstruction and rehabilitation have not been finished, but expressed hope such a bank would be considered at an international conference at the same time as the stabilization fund—"the sooner the better."

Massive Nazi Panzer Drive Across Foothills Fails To Dent Russian Line

Red Fleet Massed At Sevastopol Tightening Siege Ring; Fierce Battle For City Rages On

By EDDY GILMORE—Associated Press Staff Writer

MOSCOW, April 22—(AP).—Russia's Crimean armies and the Red fleet have massed at Sevastopol "to fling the enemy into the sea," Red Fleet Correspondent Lieut. Dimitri Nikolaev reported today as Soviet forces tightened their siege of the great naval base. The Russians have captured hills dominating the city's approaches, the correspondent wrote, and are storming one pass after another despite German long-range guns and strafing and bombing attacks by the enemy's air forces which have put down a "screen of fire" in the mountains.

A highly-important intermediate line just outside the city has been captured by a swift Russian flanking thrust, he said.

In the southeastern section of pre-war Poland, today's communique said Red Army artillerymen, pouring a hurricane of fire into charging masses of German tanks and infantry, again threw back powerful German thrusts as the battle raging east of Stanislawow spread through the Carpathian foothills.

Red Army artillerymen, pouring a hurricane of fire on charging masses of German tanks and infantry, again have repulsed powerful Nazi thrusts in a battle of increasing violence spreading through the Carpathian foothills east of Stanislawow, a Soviet communique announced today. In fierce fighting that also repeatedly took the shape of hand-to-hand encounters, the Germans lost 1,500 in killed alone on the third day of the battle yesterday and anti-tank gunners destroyed 68 tanks in beating back Panzer assaults, the bulletin declared.

A front dispatch said the Germans, using the flooded Prut and Dnestr Rivers to guard their flanks, had thrown a great weight of men and machines down the intervening valley in a drive apparently aimed at relieving Soviet pressure on Lwow, big communications centre 65 miles northwest of Stanislawow and 45 miles west of the nearest Russian forces.

(A Berlin broadcast, possibly providing a clue to the current German attacks, asserted tha huge Red army reserves were flowing through the Ukraine into a 250-mile sector of the Polish front between the Upper Dnestr and the Pripyat marshes in prelude to fresh Russian assaults along the most direct invasion route to Berlin).

The Soviet communique contained no mention of the fighting around besieged Sevastopol, but front dispatches said the Red army lines had edged nearer to the sea and that German and Romanian divisional remnants, deserted by their commanders, were fighting each other in an effort to grab ship passage out of the big Crimean port.

The dispatches said Soviet warships and bombers continued to thwart evacuation attempts.

The Soviet communique reported only long-range bombing activity on the Estonian front, where the Russians Thursday announced that 2,000 counter-attacking Germans had been slain in strong tank and infantry thrusts that were beaten back.

Human Torpedo Captured By Allied Units

THE FIFTH ARMY BEACHHEAD AT ANZIO, April 22 — (AP) — Two of Germany's secret weapons—a "human torpedo" and a robot tank called the "death wagon"—fell into Allied hands today.

The "human torpedo" ran ashore just north of the Anzio beach and two American soldiers lifted out of it a 17-year-old German marine who explained he had run out of gas."

After a week of hazardous night work in no man's land British engineers gleefully hauled into their lines with a winch a wrecked robot tank, called the "death wagon" or the Goliath tank, which they discovered could be operated by remote radio control.

The skinny young sailor had set out on the seeming suicide mission from a motor torpedo boat. His craft consisted of a conventional torpedo about twelve feet long attached beneath a similarly shaped steel case. He rode in the top compartment and looked out through an airtight glass cover.

His strategy was to spot Allied shipping in Anzio harbour, fire his torpedo, then make a getaway in the upper compartment, which was a virtual one-man submarine.

The "death wagon" is about half the size of a British Bren-gun carrier, weighs 8,267 pounds and is technically classified as a B-4 armored vehicle. It is about 10 feet long and five feet wide, with a six-cylinder gasoline engine producing a top speed of 28 miles an hour.

The one-man crew is supposed to ride as far as possible, then dismount and do the rest by remote radio control. It hasn't been very effective either on the Russian or Anzio fronts.

Russian Says Allies Too Slow

MOSCOW, April 22—(CP-Reuters)—Allied beach landings at Nettuno are criticized as being carried out in a "slow, dull tempo" by Rear-Admiral Frolov, Soviet naval observer, who witnessed them at the invitation of Admiral Sir John Cunningham.

Writing in "War and the Working Class" he says the beach operations last January were carried out too slowly especially in the first eight or nine hours when there was no German opposition. He adds his opinion that there was insufficient initiative and decision on the part of the commanders of separate units once the landing was made in going over to the offensive.

He writes describing the operation, "Several ships succeeded in disembarking their troops, but others were standing by and the landing continued in a slow, dull tempo."

Prisoner Quarters

CHATHAM, April 22 — (CP) — James A. Garner, district representative of the Ontario Department of Agriculture, said here today that the detention camp being constructed to house 300 German prisoners of war who will work Kent county farms will be ready for occupancy, May 15. The water supply and drainage facilities now are being installed.

Surprise Raid on Sumatra Shakes Japs

Attack Illustrates Fact That Nippon Faces Trouble On Indian Ocean Front

By DEWITT MacKENZIE
Associated Press War Analyst

With the European war verging on the climactic amphibious invasion—an operation which will call for a greater mass of sea and air equipment than ever before employed—it's a heartening circumstance that the Allies have the strength in southeastern Asia to stage Wednesday's naval-aerial assault on the northwest point of Sumatra and on neighboring Sabang.

Until very recently it hadn't been expected that the Allies would show so much striking-power in the Indian Ocean this side of the invasion of France. The answer seems to be that the Anglo-American partnership has run ahead of its anticipations in the way of building for the sea and air navies. At least that's part of the answer, but it must be said that there also figures in the picture the weakening of Japanese naval and aerial power as a result of the continual Allied successes in the central and southwest Pacific.

Now lest this give too rosy a hue to the situation in the Asiatic theatre, it should be said at once that the attack on Sumatra wasn't a major operation. It required major strength because it was an adventure into supposedly strongly held enemy waters, but the action itself wasn't in the big league class. It caused great damage to Japanese port facilities, shipping and aircraft, but its chief importance lies in the fact that Admiral Lord Louis Mountbatten was able to stage it at all.

We also should note that this raid doesn't necessarily presage any major amphibious operations by Admiral Mountbatten in the immediate future. Another three weeks or so will see the start of the Monsoon season, which will raise hob with land and sea until Fall, making landing operations extremely precarious if not impossible. Furthermore, while we know the Admiral has both sea and air strength, we don't know that he has the landing equipment necessary for big scale invasion.

In any event, even if he is capable of undertaking amphibious tasks one wouldn't expect him to do more than try to oust the Japanese from the small Nicobar and Andaman islands. They lie across the path between his base on Ceylon and both Burma and the Malay peninsula, and must be occupied before any invasion of the mainland behind them is attempted.

Monsoon Coming

However, the approach of the Monsoon and a possible lack of landing equipment do not mean that the Allied command in southeast Asia must sit down and twiddle its thumbs. On the contrary one would expect Admiral Mountbatten to make further sorties with his warships and carrier based warplanes.

By taking his fleet so close to Indonesian waters the commander in chief has challenged the Nipponese in a strategic theatre which they must hold at all costs. The surprise raid on Sumatra, which

Ford Workers Remain Out

Production Military Vehicles Held Up

WINDSOR, Ont., April 22—(CP).—Production of military vehicles—universal carriers and armored cars—was at a standstill for the third consecutive day at the Ford Motor Company of Canada plant here today as the more than 14,000 production workers remained away from their jobs.

Settlement of a dispute between the men, most of whom are members of Local 200 of the United Automobile Workers of America (C.I.O.) and the company may be attempted today.

J. S. McCullough, senior conciliator of the National Wartime Labor Relations Board, who arrived by plane from Ottawa yesterday, and P. J. Ainsborough, another Department officer, held a conference last night and were expected to confer with company and union officials today.

Only employees allowed to go through picket lines at all gates leading to the plant are salaried workers, trade school boys, timekeepers, construction office and maintenance workers.

There were no reports of violence or trouble by picketers during the night and no extra police have been assigned to the scene.

Labor Supports Government

Oppose Newspapers On Censor Issue

SYDNEY, Australia, April 22 (CP-Cable)—Some labor organizations have rallied to the support of Prime Minister John Curtin's Labor government in the controversy between the government censorship and Australian newspapers.

This development came as six daily newspapers, suspended by government censors last week after publication of an article banned by the censor, agreed to drop injunction proceedings against the censorship office because they succeeded in publishing the article which started the controversy.

The high court last Monday enjoined the censors from suspending publication of the newspapers, granting the newspapers a temporary injunction, and hearing was to open yesterday on the newspapers request to make it permanent. However, the newspapers agreed to allow the injunction to lapse.

Meanwhile both New South Wales and Melbourne Trades Councils passed resolutions declaring that while they strongly supported freedom of expression and of the press those issues were not involved in the present censorship argument. Sydney Labor Council planned a week-end open air demonstration "to rally to the defence of the government on this issue."

HomeDefence Soldiers Hear Appeal

Canadian Legion Objects To Triquet Mission

VERNON, B.C., April 22.—(CP). —Maj.-Gen. G. R. Pearkes, V.C., general officer commanding in chief Pacific Command, in an address to a group of sodiers at Vernon training camp yesterday said "cease wavering, play the man's part and join the active army of Canada."

Gen. Pearkes said in an interview later: "I tried principally to appeal to their pride in Canada and to the fact that the outcome of the second front might rest upon the number of home defence men who are ready to back up the troops already overseas."

Brig. William H. S. Macklin, camp commandant, in an interview said the response to appeals to men to go active have "not been satisfactory."

In an interview, David Howrie, Mayor of Vernon, and president of the Vernon Canadian Legion Branch, described as "prostitution of the Victoria Cross," the recent recruiting trip made by Maj. Paul Triquet, V.C.

Many at Vernon.

"The humiliating duty imposed on a good soldier like Maj. Triquet as evidenced by his recent recruiting tour is in very poor taste," Howrie said. He added the Vernon Branch has sent a protest to Provincial Legion Headquarters. Maj. Triquet in a recent address at the camp urged French Canadians to transfer from home defence category to active.

Payroll Savings Division Again Challenges Brantford Unit In The Sixth Victory Loan

The Payroll Savings Division of the Peterborough Unit in the Sixth Victory Loan has again challenged the Brantford division and the challenge has been accepted. D. G. H. Melton, chairman of the Peterborough division issued the challenge that the industries comprising the Payroll Savings Section in this city will be the first to reach their total objective.

Mr. Melton in his letter to J. D. Wood, the Ontario chairman said: "Recalling the friendly challenge which we made on the occasion of the Fifth Victory Loan, and was taken up by the Payroll Savings Section of the City of Brantford. We repeat this challenge to Brantford through you and respectfully request that you convey the same to them and indicate the basis on which the challenge is made as follows:—

"That the industries comprising the Payroll Savings Group in Peterborough will be the first to reach their total objective,—the figures to be those as reported from the plants by telephone. This will assist in declaring results."

"We respect the 'licking' Brantford gave us last time and are willing to 'come up' for more punishment but believe we can beat them this time."

Every industry will be contacted on Monday next for results obtained and Mr. Melton is asking every canvasser to start early and the objective will be reached very early in the campaign.

Fire Destroys 2 Homes In Village Of St. Ola

BANCROFT, April 22— (ENS).— As the result of an overheated chimney, fire destroyed two homes at St Ola on Thursday afternoon and caught on three other buildings.

An overheated chimney at the home of Mr. Wilcox of the village fired his home about 12:30 in the afternoon and the heat and flames were so great that they spread to an adjacent home some 60 feet distant. It was owned by Mr. Matthews of Toronto. Despite the heroic work of the volunteer fighters of the village the homes were levelled with their contents. Two families were living in the Wilcox home at the time, but the Matthews home was untenanted.

Word was despatched to the Department of Lands and Forests at Bancroft and two men and two forestry pumps were rushed to the little village. They fought the flames for over two hours, saving a barn, another residence, and a blacksmith shop which took fire on several occasions.

Hospital Faces Early Closing

CAMPBELLFORD, April 22. — ENS).—The Campbellford Hospital which has been operated here for the past nine years, is going to close next month unless council can do something to forestall it. This bit of unwelcome news was given by Mayor Long at the special session of council Friday night.

He told members that Dr. E. A. Stuart, who had organized and operated the hospital, intended to discontinue using the building and planned to turn back to the town. The chief reason for this was the difficulty of obtaining qualified help under the existing circumstances when traied nurses were in such great demand.

The suggestion was made that a Hospital Board be formed, but members reflected that no matter how desirable they were, municipally owned hospitals were usually operated at a loss, and to enter a project of that type might saddle the corporation with a financial outlay it was not prepared to meet. Another alternative offered was that the hospital be taen over by a private individual and used along the lines of a nursing home and for minor operations.

"This is something we should consider very seriously," stated the Mayor, "if we could do something to have it carried on till the war is over, we might sell it as a private residence, and build a Memorial Hospital which would be a fitting monument to those who have given their lives in the present struggle."

Ralston Acts For Premier During Absence

By D'ARCY O'DONNELL
Canadian Press Staff Writer

OTTAWA, April 22 (CP)—International monetary agreements and mutual finance arrangements with the United States held the spotlight in a quiet House of Commons yesterday before members settled down to the discussion of a few domestic issues.

The House, which Monday will turn to the study of estimates for the War Services Department, heard the following announcements:

1. Prime Minister Mackenzie King expects to leave shortly for the conference of Empire Prime Ministers in London.

2. Special financial arrangements under the Hyde Park declaration have been ended, but the declaration of principle of close collaboration in war production between Canada and the United States will be continued.

3. Financial experts of the United Nations have agreed on the principles which should govern the constitution and operation of an $8,000,000,000 international monetary stabilization fund.

4. The provinces will be asked at the forthcoming dominion-provincial conference to consent to an amendment of the British North America Act to permit the Federal Government to fix the retirement age for judges in provincial superior courts.

Defence Minister Ralston will be

Obituaries

WILLIAM PERCY EDWARDS

The death of William Percy Edwards, Ford avenue, occurred at Nicholls Hospital Friday in his 68th year. He had been ill for ten days.

Born in Horsham, England, son of the late Mr. and Mr. Alfred Edwards, he came to this country in 1912 and had lived in Peterborough ever since. An employee of Canadian Raybestos Co. for the past eight years, he was previously with the Auburn Woollen Mills. Surviving are his wife, the former Ellen Sarah Melton, and one daughter, Kathleen Mary Edwards, at home.

The funeral will be held on Monday at 2 p.m. from the Nisbett Funeral Home, 437 Charlotte street, with service conducted by Rev. Canon W. P. Robertson. Interment will be in Little Lake cemetery.

THOMAS H. WILSON

The funeral of Thomas H. Wilson, for many years a resident of Peterborough County, was held on Thursday at the Bert Duffus Funeral Home, with Rev. M. L. Hinton of Colborne, a former pastor of Warsaw and personal friend of the family, conducting the service at the chapel and the graveside. Interment was made in the family plot in St. Mark's cemetery.

The late Mr. Wilson, whose death occurred in Toronto after an extended illness, carried on his trade as a blacksmith in Warsaw and Hall's Bridge before the Great War, in which he served for three years. He was predeceased by his wife, the former Patience Singleton, while he was overseas, receiving word of her death at a time when he and his son, Cecil, also serving in the forces in the last war, were together overseas.

He leaves to mourn his loss two sons, George in the Merchant Marine and Cecil of Cobourg; and three daughters, Mrs. R. McGee (Laura), and Mrs. G. Russell (Ada), of Toronto, and Mrs. H. E. Peacock (Myrtle) of Peterborough.

Pallbearers were Thomas Clements, Clarence Watts, David Brown, Marmon Clements, Robert Crowe and Fred Hamblin.

Raid Veteran, 96 Dies At Campbellford

CAMPBELLFORD, April 22 (ENS) —George Temple, 96-year-old Fenian raid veteran, was buried here on Friday afternoon. Born in Grafton of Scottish parents, he came to this town as a boy and spent practically his entire life here.

He was a lad of 18 when he responded to the call to the colors that took him from Cobourg by boat to Niagara Falls where the Fenians were threatening trouble. And though the danger had passed by the time his unit reached the lake head Mr. Temple used to take pleasure in recalling that he was the only casualty of his unit having been struck by a paper pellet loaded in the musket of a companion.

George Temple was a carpenter by trade and his early introduction into the building field, coinciding as it did with Campbellford's early growth, gave him a part in the construction of many dwellings and churches in the community. He learned the buliding trade from the late Walter Dunk and further added to his store of knowledge by spending a number of years in the sash and door factory which at that time was operated by the late William Doxsee.

Mr. Temple was a member of the Presbyterian Church and formerly a member of the Masonic order. A man who liked people and enjoyed being with crowds, he was also a member of the L.O.L. and he took great pride in the fact that he had rarely missed a 12th of July celebration. Last year at the age of 95 he motored to Port Anne where he took part in the annual "walk" in which he was said to have been the oldest man.

Though in his early life he had been fairly regular in his church attendance, as he grew older he became more frequent and was often seen walking to services twice each Sunday. Often it was to the Baptist church, which was closest to his home on Kent street, or to the Pentecostal Church or the Salvation Army. It made little difference which, for he enjoyed hearing a good sermon and right up to the last he maintained a keen interest in the affairs of the day.

Twice married, Mr. Temple's first bride was formerly Jennie Keith of Seymour who bore him four children prior to her death. Subsequently he married Amanda Rice of Hastings by whom he had one daughter, Mrs. Thomas Peake of Campbellford whose passing on May 24 last left him the sole surviving member of the Temple family.

The funeral service was conducted from the home of his grandson, Mr. William Peake, Kent street at 2:00 o'clock and was in charge of Rev. H. R. Bryant and Capt. Earl Jarrett. Interment was in Mount Pleasant Cemetery. Pall bearers were Messrs. William Peake, Harry Peake, George Peake, Clayton Mason, Fred Blake, Oscar Mason.

Council Divided On Appointment To Vacant Committee Post

CAMPBELLFORD, April 22 (ENS) —Acceptance of the tax roll was the first item of business transacted at a lengthy special session of council Friday night when A. D. Bennett was appointed to complete the term of the late Charles Davidson as member of the Water and Light Commission. With the introduction of matters which had not originally appeared on the agenda the meeting lasted more than three hours.

Going over the collector's roll took more than an hour but council was apparently well pleased by the figures that showed better than $60,000 of the $63,435 roll had been collected. The arrears were now at the lowest point they had reached in the past ten years having continued a gradual decline from an all time high of $14,000, ten years ago.

While on the question of taxes Finance Chairman Fowlds re-introduced the question of increasing the collector's salary, which paid on a commission basis, was deemed to be inadequate with reduction of the rates from 53 to last year's 42 mills. He felt that instead of giving a bonus to collector J. C. Birmingham, as had been done in 1943, a straight increase of $15 to $40 a month be granted. This procedure would make his total remuneration approximately the equivalent of the amount he formerly received. A motion authorizing preparation of the necessary by-law was passed.

"Revision of the Milk by-law" brought a "progress" report from Councillor Taylor, chairman of the Legal committee. The by-law recently returned from Queen's Park with a list of recommended changes, had been left with the committee at the last meeting, and though a draft of proposed changes was studied, the by-law had not yet been prepared for passage.

Second Nominee

Dealing with the appointment of a member to the Water and Light Commission Mayor Long pointed out that council was required by statute to "appoint" rather than cause an election to be held for the purpose of naming a person to fill the balance of the uncompleted term of the late commissioner Charles Davidson.

Though at the last meeting it had appeared the appointment of A. D. Bennett was cut and dried when his name was proposed by Fowlds and Donald, Reeve MacMillan quickly moved an amendment seconded by Macoun that the name of W. S. Wiggins be entered in the blank space on the by-law. Council divided on the vote as four members supported the amendment, and Mayor Long declared it lost by virtue of the fact that a motion not carried by a clear majority is lost.

Reeve MacMillan disagreed with the Mayor declaring it was his duty to cast the deciding vote. "You are Mayor and also a member of the Commission and we want your decision and we're going to have it."

Paying little heed to this argument the Mayor called for the vote on the motion and the four remaining members supported it leaving the matter in a complete deadlock.

Discussion Rages

Reeve MacMillan again insisted it was up to the Mayor, who did not relish the job of choosing between the two "capable men." In an effort to clear up the situation the Clerk read from the rules of procedure that the chairman 'may' vote in case of a tie.

"Why can't we put both of them on?" asked Deputy Reeve Fowlds.

"We should have a five man commission and in my humble opinion, before too long," put in the Reeve.

The Mayor pointed out that another by-law would be, necessary to make a change of this type and he went on to add that he would cast the deciding vote in favor of the motion, saying his reason for so doing was that Mr. Bennett had been nominated at the annual nomination meeting and would have qualified for election had the retiring member not made it clear he intended to seek re-election.

Don't Like Signs

"Vandalism, pure and simple" was the description given by the Mayor to the manner in which street signs were being destroyed in various parts of the town. He told members he had made a tour of inspection and all evidence pointed to the signs being "wilfully damaged." At two intersections on Ranney and Market streets all four signs were lying "flat on the ground," at the Post Office the Stop sign had been broken off, 'the No U Turn sign has completely vanished and both No Parking signs in front of the Police Station are badly battered. These are conditions which certainly should not be allowed to exist. Either the signs were never required or they should be immediately repaired. Someone is deliberately destroying them."

The Mayor went on to say that the ones which had apparently escaped destruction were those in the outlying districts.

"If they break them down in front of the police office door what can we do?" asked Reeve MacMillan, who suggested the matter be left with the Police committee, which would bring in a report at the next meeting.

Raise Salaries

A letter from members of the Fire Department requesting that their honorarium be increased was laid before members of council by Fire, Water and Light Chairman F. G. Macoun. It was pointed out that an average of from 40 to 45 calls a year were answered by the 12-man department, and council, recognizing the men were underpaid for the splendid service they rendered, took action to have this rectified. On motion they boosted the Chief's salary from $25 to $100 a year and each member's salary from $50 to $75, retroactive to January 1. Councillor Ball recalled things had changed considerably since the days when he was a member back in 1916, when firemen received $10 annually. No action was taken on the supplementary request for 500 feet of new fire hose, 2 new fire extinguishers, new rubber coats and gas masks. Deputy Reeve Fowlds stated the Department had 1,600 feet of first quality hose on hand and suggested the proposed equipment plus the increased salaries would amount to practically a mill on the tax rate.

Council will again play host to the R.C.A.F. Brass Band from Trenton which will visit here in connection with the Sixth Victory Loan campaign on April 29. Following the practice of former years the bandsmen will be guests of the corporation for dinner. The meeting adjourned until Monday night when council will meet again to bring in the budget.

BELLEVILLE — Mrs. Dorothy Harper, 24, and Leon Spencer, 44, both of Napanee, were admitted to Belleville hospital late last night in serious condition from injuries suffered when the car in which they were riding crashed headlong into a tree near Shannonville.

Four-Nation Navy Hits Sumatra

Carrier Planes Devastate Ships, Docks, Tanks

SOUTH-EAST ASIA HEADQUARTERS, Kandy, Ceylon, April 22 — (AP). — British, American, French and Dutch naval units cooperated in the Allied raid at dawn on April 19 against the northern tip of Sumatra, it was announced officially to-day.

Speedy Navy planes, including the Royal Navy's Barracudas—the type which carried out the recent attack on the battleship Tirpitz—hopped off from British and American aircraft carriers and carried out a successful surprise attack against Japanese installations at Sabang Island and the nearby Lhonga airfield.

American Hellcats and Dauntless Avengers and American-built Corsairs, manned by Royal Navy fliers, also participated in the raid.

The announcement said British tonnage predominated among the warships.

The carriers were screened by British and French battleships and lighter units of the British, Dutch and U.S. Navies, it was announced.

Before the airmen hit the Sumatra targets India-based United States Liberators struck Port Blair in the Andaman Islands some 300 miles to the north-west in a diversionary attack to draw off the Japanese planes from Sabang.

The ruse was perfect At Sabang all the planes on the ground were destroyed. The Japanese were so unprepared that their anti-aircraft batteries were unmanned. Only light guns were used at first.

In a devastating 15-minute attack, the Allied aircraft wrecked Japanese planes, ships, docks, oil tanks and other installations. A British submarine in the vicinity reported that huge fires still were burning 12 hours later.

Only one plane was lost in the foray.

ALL THE Extra VITAMINS AND MINERALS . . . SHE NEEDS

Authorities say the difference between husky children and those who are poor eaters, underweight, and nervous is often simply a matter of proper nourishment, especially an adequate supply of vitamins and minerals.

But don't worry about vitamins and minerals! Children who eat 3 average-good meals including fruit juice, and drink 2 glasses of Ovaltine each day, are getting all the extra vitamins and minerals they need.

In addition to its well-balanced food values, Ovaltine adds significant amounts of Vitamins A, B_1, and D and the minerals Calcium, Phosphorus and Iron. So, if your child is not developing normally, remember this rule:

3 good meals plus 2 glasses of Ovaltine every day.

New Life of Faith Offered In Resurrection of Christ

JESUS SAITH UNTO MARY: TOUCH ME NOT FOR I AM NOT YET ASCENDED TO MY FATHER.
St. John 20; 17.

Naturally you think of Our Lord's command to St. Thomas in this very same chapter:—"Reach hither thy hand and thrust it into my side". St. John carefully gives us this story in order to make us think. They are written for our instruction in the deep things of the faith. In the words of St. Paul we are to think of these things." Thinking strangely enough for this educated age is not easy. Our Lord's own command is:—"to love the Lord thy God with all thy mind."

Very much stress has been laid upon the "simple Gospel". Many thinking people imagine that Christianity is shallow. Yet the finest minds of every age have been Christians. They acknowledge that they are thrilled with the deep things of God.

Here we find an example of Our Lord's wisdom. "He knew what was in man". Mary is a temperamental woman placing great importance upon her feelings. So her will must be strengthened. The Lord says;—"Go, tell my Brethren." In obeying Mary's thoughts are turned from herself. To bring happiness to others helps her to forget herself.

The Lord has a deeper reason for saying:—"Touch Me not". Mary believes that the Lord has risen from the dead. She knows that Lazarus was raised from the dead. He came forth from the tomb to live and die again. Here she is to learn a deeper truth that the Lord's Resurrection means that He is not to die again. The Master is now living on a higher plane. "Death hath no more dominion over Him". The perfect Man, the absolutely obedient Son of the Father is raised from the dead to live for evermore. "I am He that liveth and was dead, and, behold, I am alive for ever more", is the Lord's own claim. His Body is the resurrection body.

St. Paul reminds us that "there is a natural body and there is a spiritual body." That spiritual body is fitted to live on a spiritual plane. That is why He could not show Himself to the High priest or to Pilate. They were blind spiritually They could only see the Carpenter of Nazareth, a poor helpless man.

There are men who have no musical ear. The music of the great masters do not touch them. They are deaf to their beautiful sounds. Mr. H. Charlesworth writes this very week of Hoffman's playing.—values; his playing the waltzes had a liquid delicate quality that was ravishing". This writer recognizes the National Anthem when all stand to attention. To this writer the playing of the famous pianist would be "the clatter of matter". Musical things are musically discerned; even so "spiritual things are spiritually discerned".

Mary is to be taught a deeper and more important lesson. She lacks the spirit of reverance and awe. She calls Him:—Rabboni—My Master". He is truly Her Master, Teacher and He has to teach her a deeper truth. He hints when He says:—"I am not yet ascended to My Father" As a devout Jewess she has no thought of worshipping Him. That is the truth St. Thomas discovered when he cried: "My Lord and my God". In these words he acknowledges the Divinity of the Lord Jesus, that He is indeed the Son of God in a mysterious wonderful sense of the word. Only when her mind is convinced that Jesus is God will her tone change; then it will be full of reverance and awe.

Some day Mary will make this discovery and with the finger of faith she will touch Him. Then new Life from Him will flow into her.

We are familiar with the expression "A blood donor". In a very true sense the donor's blood flows into the wounded man and brings life back.

This is the secret of the resurrection of the Lord Christ. He asks you to touch Him by faith and His life will flow into you; some of His love and patience will be seen in you.

Perhaps one of the most touching statements of the Lord is: — "I have prayed for thee that thy faith fail not'" He is praying for you because you are one of His little sheep. "Believest thou this? Yea, Lord, I believe that Thou art the Christ, the Son of God."

BECAUSE I LIVE, YE SHALL LIVE ALSO.

Paul Given Rough Treatment On His Missionary Tours

By NEWMAN CAMPBELL

(The International Uniform Lesson on the above topic for April 23 is Acts 13:1-14:28, the Golden Text being Acts 13:2, "The Holy Spirit said, Separate Me Barnabas and Saul for the work whereunto I have called them.")

OUR LAST lesson told us that Barnabas and Paul stayed a whole year at Antioch preaching and teaching.

"Now there were in the church that was Antioch certain prophets and teachers; as Barnabas, and Simeon that was called Niger, and Lucius of Cyrene, and Manaen, which had been brought up with Herod the Tetrarch, and Saul."

These were the men who were gathered at Antioch, and the Holy Ghost said to them, "Separate Me Barnabas and Saul for the work whereunto I have called them."

That meant that these two were to go forth on a missionary journey—sad news for their brethren in Antioch—but they never faltered, but blessed these two and set them on their way.

Go First to Seleucia

They went first to Seleucia, and from thence sailed to Cyprus. Look on the map to see where Seleucia was in relation to Antioch, and the isle of Cyprus with Salamis on its east coast, where they preached the word of God in the synagogues to the Jews. On the opposite side of the island of Cyprus was Paphos, where they had their first real adventure of the journey. A man who was a sorcerer, a false prophet, a Jew whose name was Bar-jesus, was with the Roman deputy, Sergius Paulus, a Christian but faltering in his loyalty because of this man.

Paulus called for Saul (now Paul) and Barnabas, asking them to tell him the word of God. When Paul saw this sorcerer and realized that for the sake of his own comfortable living he was trying to turn Paulus away from Christ, he said, "O full og subtlety and all mischief, thou child of the devil, thou enemy of righteousness, wilt thou not cease to pervert the right ways of the Lord?

"And now, behold, the hand of the Lord is upon thee, and thou shalt be blind, not seeing the sun for a season." And so it was that Bar-jesus or Elymas, the sorcerer, was struck blind, "and he went about seeking someone to lead him by the hand."

The churches now visited by Paul and Barnabas are not mentioned anywhere in the gospels except in Acts.

After leaving Perga they went to Antioch in Phrygia, not to be confused with the Antioch in Syria, from which they had come. Here they went into the Synagogue on the Sabbath and sat down. At the close of the prayers, psalm reading, etc., of the service, the rulers of the synagogue asked Paul and Barnabus to stand and give whatever message they had to the congregation. Paul rose and preached one of the few sermons we have on record. He told of his love for Israel, his respect for the Jewish faith, and his concern for the welfare of the Jews to whom he was speaking.

Jesus of David's Line

He spoke of Jesus coming from the line of David, referring often to the Old Testament prophecies. Then he came to his central theme—the death of the Man Jesus, according to prophecy, and His resurrection from the dead. By this person whom God raised from the dead, so you have forgiveness of sins and justification, in believing, said the apostle.

At the end of the service many Gentiles and begged the apostles to preach the word to them the next Sabbath, and the next Sabbath "came almost the whole city together to heard the word of God."

This roused the envy and anger of the unconverted Jews and they stirred up trouble so that eventually Paul and Barnabas shook the dust of Antioch from their feet and went on to Iconium, where the disciples welcomed them with joy.

In Inconium both Jews and Greeks believed, but unbelieving Jews stirred up the Gentiles and while Paul and Barnabus spoke their message boldly, the city was divided. Their enemies assaulted them, so that they fled to Lystra and Derbe, where they preached the gospel.

Here they saw a man who had been crippled all his life. Paul, looking on the man, saw that he had faith, and Paul told him to stand upright. He did, and he leaped and walked. When the people saw this they thought their Roman gods had come down to earth and wanted to sacrifice to them. Paul much shocked, explained that they were mere men, but had a message for them. The fickle populace whereupon turned against them and stoned Paul so that he was thought to be dead, but he rose, and next day departed with Barnabas for Derbe.

Paul and Barnabas again made a round of the cities mentioned in this lesson. They ordained elders (the first mention of elders) and finally returned to their starting point in Antioch in Syria, where "they abode a long time with the disciples."

Victory Loan Prayer

Almighty God, Who hast called us to be citizens of this Dominion and Empire, give us grace that we may prove ourselves a people mindful of Thy favor, and glad to do Thy Will. In this day of trouble, keep us calm, steadfast, and unselfish, and suffer not our trust in Thee to fail. Fire us with a vision of a new world in which justice and right, peace and brotherhood, shall reign, and help us to build it according to Thy plan. Contiune Thy loving kindness to us that, united, free, and mindful of our stewardship, we may, through Thy grace, fulfil Thy purpose and be faithful witnesses to Thee, to the advancement of Thy glory, and the good of all mankind; through Jesus Christ our Lord. Amen.

Observes 50th Anniversary

MILLBROOK, April 22.—(ENS).—The fiftieth anniversary of local Oddfellowship, which falls on Monday, May 1st, will be celebrated, the observance to begin on Sunday, April 30 with a special church service at 3 p.m. and for two days, the Grand Master, Byron E. Dundas, of London Ontario, will be the guest of honor.

It is expected that seven other Grand Lodge officers will be present, and the I.O.O.F. lodges of many points throughout the surrounding district including Oshawa, Peterborough, Toronto, Lindsay and Port Hobe will be represented.

The Oshawa Canton No. 11, Patriarchs Militant, will be present for the Sunday service, and the Salvation Army Band, of Peterborough, will head the parade from the I.O.O.F. Hall to St. Andrew's United church, where Rev. A. L. Sisco, Noble Grand of the local lodge, will preach the sermon, and the Grand Master will read the lessons.

The Monday events include the conferring of the initiatory degree in the afternoon at 3 o'clock. A banquet will be held at 6.30 p.m., in the basement of St. Andrew's church, for which the W.A. will cater, after which a toast will be honored. Following this the degree team of Peterborough Lodge will carry through the ritual of the first degree. One charter member still resides in the community, George E. Burnham, who was initiated the night Millbrook lodge was organized, and to him will be presented the Fifty Years Veteran's Jewel. He will also have the honour of cutting the birthday cake. Other veterans of twenty-five years' standing will also have their jewels presented, and more than a dozen candidates will be ready for initiation, or for the conference of the first degree at the time of the Grand Master's visit.

Plan Parade To St. Luke's

The Peterborough Branch of the Canadian Legion is holding its annual church parade to St. Luke's Anglican Church on Sunday morning for worship at 11 o'clock. At the service the Honor Roll of the congregation is to be unveiled and Rev. A J. Arthur, the rector in charge, will be the preacher

Paul Becomes a Missionary

ILLUSTRATED SUNDAY SCHOOL LESSON

By Alfred J. Buescher

Scripture—Acts 13:1—14:28

The Holy Ghost told the teacher at Antioch to send Barnabas and Paul away to do the Lord's work, so they blessed them and sent them away.

In Paphos they found a false prophet and sorcerer, who was trying to turn a certain Christian from the faith, and Paul cursed him and made him blind.

In Antioch Paul and Barnabas went to the synagogue and sat down, but at the rulers' invitation, Paul stood up and preached Christ and Him crucified.

In Lystra Paul and Barnabas came upon a crippled man, whom Paul healed because he had faith, and the man walked.

Three Million Prudent People

On Monday the Sixth Victory Loan campaign will begin, and Canada will be combed to find three million prudent people. In this Loan we must raise, in all, $1,200,000,000, and it is estimated that at least three million subscribers will be needed to provide that sum. They will be asked to invest their money, at three per cent. interest, in the United Nations' chance of victory. There is no safer investment on the market today. Can three million prudent people be found?

• • •

The question is not merely rhetorical. In a population of less than twelve millions, three million subscribers is a large number. But we think that they can be found if every Canadian knows what his duty is in this matter, and takes responsibility for his share of the Loan. There are people who will subscribe as a matter of course, and there are those who simply cannot subscribe; this editorial is not addressed to either of these groups: but we should like to put down a few thoughts about the Loan for those who are undecided whether they will subscribe or not, and who perhaps feel that they cannot afford to do so.

• • •

Since its beginning, this war has cost the people of Canada $12,500,000,000, at a very conservative estimate. Mr. Graham Towers, the governor of the Bank of Canada, said in an address a few days ago that we are spending $100,000,000 a week on our share of the war. Now the war is being fought for one main purpose—to preserve freedom in the world and to give us our chance to live according to our own lights. That is to say, the war is being fought to keep us all safe and to give us and our children a chance for happiness. We cannot expect to reap the benefits which victory in this war will bring us without taking any responsibility, and without making all the efforts we can to support the forces which fight on our side. We cannot leave the job of paying for the war to the rich, or to the banks; we cannot expect the full cost of the war to be paid out of taxation. These sources have been strained to their utmost already, and now every Canadian citizen who has a job or an income of any kind must bear his part in paying for the war.

• • •

The sum which the Dominion must raise in three weeks is far beyond anything that most of us understand. Have you ever had a thousand dollars in your pocket all at one time? If you have, imagine that sum multiplied by twelve million, and you will know what the objective of the Sixth Victory Loan is. Now perhaps you will say that in such a fabulous sum of money your $50 or $100 or $250 will never be noticed, or will never be missed. Don't deceive yourself on that score! To raise the full objective every purchase of a Bond will be needed.

• • •

Because it will not be easy to make the Loan a success. The time is past when money was plentiful, and the salesmen had only to ask for it. Taxes have risen, and the Income Tax, even on small salaries, is very steep. If you can buy Bonds without feeling the pinch you are a man in a million. But you are being asked to pinch and scrape, if that is necessary, in order to help your country fight a war.

• • •

The matter boils down to this: you are being asked to give a part of your working week directly to the cause of victory; according to your purchase in Bonds, you are working eight hours, or ten hours, or whatever it may be every week in order to supply the fighters with the tools and weapons they need for their job. You are not doing this work for nothing; your pay is substantial and your Bond is your pay-check. But you are asked to put off cashing the cheque until the war is over. Then you can cash it and do anything you like with the money. Of course, after the war there will be more things to do with money and, unless you are a most unusual person, you will have plenty of uses for it. That is what you are being asked to do. It is a duty, and this is no time to shirk a duty.

Were The Nineties Naughty?

A good deal has been heard during the past twenty years or so about the Naughty Nineties. Now the Vancouver Sun writes in defence of the aspersed decade; the Nineties, it insists, were very far from being Naughty. This is what it says:

"If ever there was a time in our history that was not naughty, it was in the nineties.

"Queen Victoria was still on the throne and keeping a tight hold on the morals of all British communities.

"Elderly ladies wore bonnets and veils. Grown-up young things tripped over their long skirts. Prudery, prunes and prisms were rampant. All ladies were shocked if they heard the word 'damn'. Even 'devil' was written d——l.

"It was the last war that made the world naughty and knocked out chaperons and a lot of prudish convention. 'Naughty Nineties' was probably coined purely for its alliterative quality".

We are quite prepared to believe that the Nineties were not Naughty in Vancouver, for that city has a reputation for righteousness which closely challenges that of Toronto. But the Nineties were Naughty enough to merit their name. We could go into details; we could mention names; we could refer the curious to books of memoirs and histories, but space does not permit.

Our own theory is that every age is Naughty, and that nothing alters from decade to decade, or from century to century, but the fashion. The human race may be divided into two main divisions—those who are of high vitality and those whose vitality is low. Those who have high vitality are the ones who make a stir in the world, and they may do so either by being exceptionally virtuous, or by producing works of genius, or by being unusually gay and naughty. The second group—the low vitality people—simply follow the fashion. If it is fashionable to be good, they pretend to be good; if it is fashionable to be naughty—as it was, for instance, in the reign of Charles II — they are conscientiously vicious.

The Nineties was particularly rich in men and women of high vitality, and some of them were very gay indeed. Queen Victoria was a person of exceptional vitality and, as a contrast, so was Lily Langtry. Yes, the Nineties were Naughty, and so are the Forties. But not in Vancouver; no, not in Vancouver.

The Pianos Of Odessa

The differences between Russia and the western democracies have been stressed for many years; the similarities, even in the smallest matters, which might cause us to look upon the Russians as brothers, have been overlooked. A few days ago we saw some pictures taken in Odessa when the Soviet forces drove the Germans from it; one of these pictures showed a group of upright pianos standing in the open air outside the conservatory of music in that city; the Germans had put them there, ready for transport back to Germany, but they never succeeded in finishing that small job of looting. It was the picture of those pianos which gave us a sense of kinship with the Russians.

They were old pianos which had suffered much One of them had actually brass candle-brackets on its front. One only finds such pianos in conservatories of music, and one finds them in conservatories the world over. In China, in Tibet, in Lapland the pianos provided for conservatory students to practise on are of this ancient line, thin and wiry in tone, weak in the pedals and yellow and broken in the ivories.

The Russians, like the peoples of the western world, love music and provide conservatories in which it may be studied. And in those conservatories they house the oldest and most dilapidated pianos which money—a very little money—can buy. Take a piano student from Canada, blindfold him, and set him down again before one of those pianos in Odessa, and he would go right on struggling with Czerny as though he had never been disturbed. Upon such small sympathies great friendships are formed.

NOTE AND COMMENT

The new Budget is expected in June. The roses will have their thorns.

Salt keeps grease from smoking. And peppering the seat of his breeches has the same effect on a young spark.

Hitler says that he has not had a vacation in eleven years. Yes, but think of the long period of retirement which we want to give him.

Ambition: The Hon. Solon Low of Edmonton, Alberta's treasurer, who was in the east a few weeks ago, tells of his little son who had to have his tonsils out soon after his mother returned from hospital with a baby. The boy didn't want to go to hospital and was persuaded much against his will. Finally he said he'd go, but added: "They won't palm off a baby on me—I want a pup".

Diary Of Earliest Spring

By
SAMUEL MARCHBANKS

SUNDAY: Perhaps this really was the first Spring day; certainly there were several signs. For instance, there was a warm rain, indescribably soft and grateful; and I saw a boy and a girl walking along the street hand in hand; and there was a toad in my cellar when I went donwstairs to fix the furnace for the night. Undoubtedly this will lower my prestige with many readers; the best people do not have toads in their cellars; they have rumpus-rooms, and clean linoleum, and a furnace which burns oil and looks like a cabinet gramophone. But my cellar is a cellar in the old-fashioned sense, and in the warmer months it has toads in it. I don't mind; I rather like a friendly toad, and if a snail or a bat wants to drop in, the more the merrier. Every house should have a sinister place where the inhabitants can indulge their macabre moods, and I do all my more sinister work in my cellar....I was talking to a lady who had just finished reading "Madame Bovary," and she asked me how many Madame Bovaries there were in Canada. I mused for a while and said, "I think about 150 to every 1000 of population." "You are conservative," she replied, "Bovarisme is one of the most vicious female diseases of our day."

◊ ◊ ◊

MONDAY: Every year one tastes the pleasure of abandoning one's winter coat and venturing forth in a lighter one; sometimes one can savour, on the selfsame day, the delight of going out without overshoes. Oh, the boredom and burden of winter clothes! Spring has no lovelier moment than that in which we put our woollens in the mothbag, and forget them for a few months....Now that the snow has gone everything has a bare, shivering, lost look, like a collie that has had its coat clipped. But one of my rose-bushes has a perceptible soft bud on it, so Nature should soon have the decency to cover herself....A man was scolding mankind in my presence today because it took so much interest in the Oakes' murder, and the Lonergan murder, and the Chaplin trial, and so little interest in the war; he demanded of me, as though this were my fault, why it should be so. I really don't know. Perhaps it is because we all, in our inmost hearts, long to brain our enemies, and strangle women we do not like, and take our pleasure in a large and spacious way; but civilization and sense of duty prevents us. Still, we gape in wonder at men who yield to these ancient and powerful impulses. Human nature is fascinated by whatever is gory and horrible.

◊ ◊ ◊

TUESDAY: I sang my spring-song too soon; today brought a remorseless snowstorm. No wonder we Canadians are a stoical, grim lot; our climate inures us to disappointment. In 1932 or 1933, I recall, it snowed heavily on the 24th of May....Tonight went to a concert for which I had tickets, but discovered that the singer was ill, so I went to the movies instead and saw a mediocre little piece which contained these favourite Hollywood superstitions: (1) That all gangsters are really nice fellows who are tender and sweet with children; (2) that all psychologists are numbskulls who do not understand children or know how to deal with them; (3) that all newspaper offices are lunatic asylums; (4) that no highly paid reporter is ever sent to report anything less significant than a murder; (5) that the passion of love is capable of transforming a selfish oaf into a devoted husband and father; (6) that instinct is a better guide than intelligence in dealing with children. Last week I said that superstition still flourished; Hollywood is its tireless disseminator.

◊ ◊ ◊

WEDNESDAY: Got up on the wrong side of the bed and did not really become reconciled to the Fall of Man all day. These days come to everyone—bland, dull, heavy days, when everything takes twice the usual amount of effort and nothing comes out quite right....Read a few pages in a new book by Andre Maurois, which I have not had time to sit down to, but observed a sentence in which he said "All civilization is ceremony." That is a characteristically French observation, and a very true one. But every day I observe people protesting against ceremony, and setting it at naught. Are they, therefore, barbarians? I don't know. Their hearts are in the right place, approximately, but they have no ability to conduct their lives smoothly or pleasantly....I saw a group of children ranging from nine to sixteen sitting down in a bus today while their elders—a group of women—stood up. That was barbarous, but then, the poor children had been taught no better by their parents. To what extent is barbarism hereditary?

◊ ◊ ◊

THURSDAY: This is a poor week to be writing a diary; I have done nothing of any interest all day. True, I have worked hard, in my fashion, but who is interested in hard work? The dullest passages in novels are those in which the characters are described at their work, tilling the soil, or seeding, or tanning leather, or making coffins (as in "Adam Bede"), or pasting labels on pots of blacking (as in "David Copperfield"). Such passages always reduce me to a condition of fatigue, and I curse the author who thinks that hard work is a fit subject for his pen. But my daily work is not even active; if I were to write about it I should simply describe a man sitting at a desk reading and writing and pecking at a typewriter, whose anguish of mind would be impossible to communicate to the reader. Work is a boring necessity, the curse of Adam, and I have no patience with those who pretend that it is anything else. For if one gains pleasure from it, as Sir James Barrie pointed out, it ceases to be work.

◊ ◊ ◊

FRIDAY: Certainly life would be much easier if it vere governed by the logic of the fairy-tales. This afternoon, for instance, I found myself wishing that I had at my command a clever little gnome who could be trusted to do my work while I wandered about outside in the sunshine. But as I have never seen a gnome, much less owned one, I had to stick to the job. Nowadays we boast of our comforts and our modern conveniences, but we still lack the supremely necessary, all-purpose gnome....My life was made dark this evening by the necessity for considering my financial obligations for the next few months. If I ever get that gnome, I hope that he will bring a big pot of gold with him.

SATURDAY: The opera this afternoon was "Faust" which I always enjoy, though I think that Mephistopheles had a very easy time of it; two greater boobs than Faust and Marguerite never trod the operatic stage. I should like to see the devil given a really hard job, like converting a Continuing Presbyterian minister to Wesleyanism, for instance. What a subject for an opera that would make! But only Wagner could handle it....This evening I joined a little girl of my acquaintance in blowing bubbles, and we both got very wet. I blow a fine bubble with a pipe, but she can blow one merely by joining her thumb and first finger, which of course puts her among the elite of bubble-blowers, ranking almost with Venetian glass-blowers.

"ON Christmas Eve and Day we were entirely cut off with no supplies of any sort. Once again we were in slit trenches being shelled. However, the local farms supplied some food and no man went really hungry. Clarkson's batman cooked us a cake out of corn meal with a melted emergency ration for chocolate icing and walnuts found in a farm house. Merry Xmas was written on it with his finger."—From the recently received letter of a Canadian officer in Italy.

The Sixth Victory Loan affords Canadians an opportunity to lend money to our Government at interest.

In the next few days, Victory Bond salesmen will be coming to us and to our fellow workers in our offices, factories and stores. We Canadians on the home front have warmth, ample food, ample and clean clothing. We daily enjoy many luxuries; daily gratify most of our whims. Our lives have been little disrupted. We pursue our accustomed habits and activities, continue to mingle with old friends and associates of our choice. We go at night to the comfort and supreme safety of our own beds.

"The weather has been cold and very wet with unbelievable mud. On New Year's Eve every trench was filled with water to the lip and the men had to abandon them. For over a month even I didn't change my underwear and I had my boots off twice. I am a pampered baby compared with the men. They had no great coats, no blankets, no pup tents, no ground sheets—only a gas cape...."

Produce more, consume less, lend our savings. There is the unchallengeable arithmetic of total war, the simple, categorical rule of wartime civilian conduct. With so many doing so much more, we at home cannot do less.

In pledging ourselves to buy and to hold Victory Bonds to the utmost limit of our resources; in conscientiously and persistently urging our friends and associates to do likewise, we are doing our minimum duty to ourselves, to our country, to the 800,000 Canadians who have pledged their lives, to the millions of our allies who are helping keep this a world of freedom, hope and opportunity.

The great invasion is now close. Every indication is that this greatest battle of time will be as costly in lives as it will be apocalyptic in determining the future of our civilization.

"...and through all this I have never heard one grouse or complaint and their spirits are just as high now as when we started. I am terribly proud to be associated with these men."
put victory first and buy and hold all the Victory

How will we rate with our conscience unless we put victory first and buy and hold all the Victory Bonds that we can?

Stovepipe Cleaning

(NEW YORK TIMES)

THE countryman knows when spring has arrived. It is always a beautiful day, warm and sunny; the sky's blue counterpane is splotched with masses of cumulus clouds. The bluebirds carol from the apple trees in the back yard; cock pheasants crow from the edges of the mowing, and the farm collie is exploring woodchuck holes along the pasture wall.

This is the day — the day Mother decides to have the stovepipe cleaned. The stovepipe goes from the wood-burning kitchen stove straight toward the ceiling, makes a right-angle turn, south by southeast, and runs into the central chimney. From the place it makes the turn to the spot where it enters the chimney the stovepipe is supported at twofoot intervals by wires. It is a good thing, practically, to have the pipe run across the width of the kitchen. It means comforting heat on cold winter days.

Cleaning the pipe follows a pattern established by experience. Newspapers are optimistically spread over a generous area. Then the pipe is tapped gently at the right-angle turn. However, the pipe is tightly stuck by soot; after a half dozen tentative tugs the countryman gives a sudden strong pull. The pipe comes apart and a generous quantity of soot is spread over the stove, wood box and himself. Next the upright portion is lifted from the stove connection. Another dose of soot. Halfway across the summer kitchen the pipe is tilted too much and a long trail is established on the rush to the woodshed door. The horizontal lengths come next; finally all pieces are on the ground in the back yard. With a light stick it is easy to tap out the accumulated soot.

Reassembling the pipe should be easy. What comes apart should go together again. But stovepipe is an inanimate object which not only conveys smoke; a second major purpose is to test a man's patience. After a few lengths have been reassembled they should maintain their position. Unfortunately, some obscure law of physics enter the operation, and the pressures exerted elsewhere keep separating the assembled sections. The task is eventually completed, but the countryman is convinced spring has never arrived for him until the stovepipe is cleaned and reassembled. He says that post-war scientific miracles will never be a reality in country living until a one-piece plastic kitchen stovepipe is devised.

The MacArthur Letters

(CHRISTIAN SCIENCE MONITOR)

THERE are a great many Americans who feel that soldiering and politics should not be mixed. They don't want the Commander in Chief or any other man whose single concern should be victory to make political capital out of his military position or let political considerations divert him from the most effective prosecution of the war.

Following such a feeling and tradition, judgment on the exchange of letters between General MacArthur and Representative A. L. Miller, could be very sharp. But it should be noted that the General's statements were made in private letters. We must assume that they were not intended for publication and that their disclosure may be unfair to the General. It is to be noted also that they were made in answer to fulsome personal praise and highly partisan statements by the Congressman. Some officers would have rebuffed or tactfully turned aside Mr. Miller's approach. But politically-minded Americans will make considerable allowance for a failure to do so in private correspondence.

Judgment should not be according to whether one agrees with the political views of an officer. Many who might indorse General MacArthur's opinions would be shocked had General Marshall made such statements. Or had Commander Stassen. One reason thoughtful citizens have questioned the political activities of General MacArthur's most ardent supporters is that he has been made a symbol for a school of thought which before Pearl Harbor maintained that America need not concern itself with aggression and oppression outside its borders and which should be finished first.

General MacArthur's public complaints about inadequate forces for his own command have at times looked like a basic quarrel with the General Staff on strategy. For his political supporters to press the campaign for him in a way that would make an electioneering issue of fundamental strategic concepts would be a calamity.

We trust this is not going to happen. Even if some of the MacArthur people would like to do it the probability that Governor Dewey has already won the nomination should block them. It may not, however, prevent their using the General's prestige for their own campaign of isolationism and reactionism, with intent to influence the Dewey position and turn the Republican party backward.

A Bible Message

Finally, my brethren, rejoice in the Lord.... For we are the circumcision, which worship God in the spirit, and rejoice in Christ Jesus, and have no confidence in the flesh.

Though I might also have confidence in the flesh. If any other man thinketh that he hath whereof he might trust in the flesh, I more.... But what things were gain to me, those I counted loss for Christ. Yea doubtless, and I count all things but loss for the excellency of the knowledge of Christ Jesus my Lord.... That I may know him, and the power of his resurrection, and the fellowship of his sufferings, being made conformable unto his death; if by any means I might attain unto the resurrection of the dead.

Not as though I had already attained, either were already perfect: but I follow after, if that I may apprehend that for which also I am apprhended of Christ Jesus. (Phil. 3: 1, 3, 4, 7, 8, 10-12.)

◊ ◊ ◊

Blessed and holy is he that hath part in the first resurrection: on such the second death hath no power, but they shall be priests of God and of Christ, and shall reign with him a thousand years. (Rev. 20: 6.)

Unconsidered Trifles

Walking through the wood, the artillery officer was very surprised to see a number of his men climbing trees and crawling through bushes.

"What's the great idea?" he snapped. "What do you men think you are doing?"

"Well, sir," said the sergeant, "we've camouflaged the gun so well that we can't find it."

◊ ◊ ◊

"Are you positive that the defendant was drunk?" asked the judge.

"No doubt," growled the officer.

"Why are you so certain?"

"Well," replied the officer, "I saw him put a penny in the patrol box on Fourth Street, then look up at the clock on the church and shout: 'Gawd, I've lost 14 pounds.'"

A fellow got on the bus with a hundred-pound bomb under his arm and sat down.

"What's that you've got on your lap?" asked the conductor.

"It's a delayed-action bomb I'm taking to the police station," came the answer.

"Lumme," said the conductor, "you don't want to carry a thing like that on your lap. Put it under the seat!"

Winston Learns English

"....by being so long in the lowest form (at Harrow), I gained an immense advantage over the cleverer boys," says Winston Churchill in "Roving Commission: My Early Life." "They all went on to learn Latin and Greek and splendid things like that. But I was taught English. We were considered such dunces that we could learn only English.

"Mr. Somervell — a most dignified man, to whom my debt is great—was charged with the duty of teaching the stupidest boys the most disregarded thing—namely, to write mere English. He knew how to do it. He taught it as no one else has ever taught it. Not only did we learn English by parsing thoroughly but we also practiced continually English analysis. Mr. Somervell had a system of his own. He took a fairly long sentence and broke it up into its component parts by means of black, red, blue and green inks. Subject, verb, object: relative clauses, conditional clauses, conjunctive and disjunctive clauses! Each had its colour and its bracket. It was a kind of drill. We did it almost daily. As I remained in the Third Fourth....three times as long as anyone else, I had three times as much of it. I learned it thoroughly.

"Thus I got into my bones the essential structure of the ordinary British sentence—which is a noble thing. And when in after years my school fellows who had won prizes and distinction for writing such beautiful Latin poetry and pithy Greek epigrams had to come down again to common English, to earn their living or make their way, I did not feel myself at any disadvantage. Naturally, I am biased in favour of boys learning English; I would make them all learn English; and then I would let the clever ones learn Latin as an honour, and Greek as a treat. But the only thing I would whip them for is not knowing English. I would whip them hard for that."

VICTORY LOAN
for $1,200,000,000
OPENS MONDAY
YOUR Victory Loan salesman will be calling on you on Monday, or during the next three weeks. Open your door wide and ask him in. He will show you how you can play your part in reaching the 6th Victory Loan objective of $1,200,000,000.
For every Canadian, the Sixth Victory Loan presents both a need and an opportunity. The need is that of our fighting men for a continuous flow of supplies of all kinds. The opportunity is for you to stand alongside your fighting men and to share as best you can the weight of conflict.
Our fighting men are storming the beaches—battering their way step by step to the citadels of our enemies. When our armies are on the attack, they use up ammunition, machines, clothing, great quantities of foodstuffs and every type of equipment at a terrific rate. These things must be replaced and a great reserve maintained to keep the attack moving and to ensure victory.
War supplies can only be maintained with the whole-hearted support of every Canadian. By putting victory first—by getting along with less to save more—by buying Victory Bonds, you help to see that our soldiers, sailors and airmen never have to do without—never have to worry about where the next round of ammunition or the next day's rations are coming from.
When you purchase Victory Bonds, you supply the means to help shorten the war and bring our Canadian men and women home sooner.
Welcome your Victory Loan salesman. Greet him cordially. Give him every co-operation. Be ready for him and help conserve his time. Buy all the Bonds you can for cash and on the monthly savings plan. Be proud to wear the new symbol, the "winged VI" on your lapel. Be eager to play your part and do your share to bring victory sooner.

Brisk Battles Staged On Calgary Card

CALGARY, April 22. — (CP).—Fighting back after a first-round knock-down Pte. Roy Foltz of Vancouver won the novice bantamweight class with a third-round knockout over Pte. Sam Bonamico of Sault Ste. Marie, Ont., in the Western Canada army boxing semi-finals here last night. Foltz was from Alberta Military District No. 13 and Bonamico represented the Pacific Command.

In the lightweight novice class Cpl. George Paul of Chilliwack, B.C., defeated his Pacific Command opponent, L.Sgt. Al Napper of Welland, Ont. Napper had a clear advantage at the end of round two when both fell through the ropes after a flurry of blows. Napper suffered a gash at the back of his head and Paul held undisputed sway throughout the third.

Rfmn. Honey Waithe of Toronto, knocked out Pte. John Renny of Nanaimo in 26 seconds of the first round of the lightweight open class.

The welterweight novice went to Rflmn. Mickey Mongrain of Matheson, Ont., representing the Pacific Command, who defeated Pte. Nick Savino of Evanston, Ill., from M.D. 13.

Pte. Walter Dwyan of St. Catharines, Ont., Pacific Command contender, lost by a knockout in the second round to Gnr. George Gablehaus of Vegreville in the middleweight novice class.

On the entire slate Pacific Command and M.D. 13 each had six winners to send into the western army finals at Winnipeg April 29.

Peterborough wrestling fans are looking forward to next Tuesday night's Tunney bill at the Brock Street Arena with a keen sense of anticipation, confident that they will have a chance to view the enjoyable spectacle of Earl McCready giving Strangler Bob Wagner the well-known works. And how they will eat that up. There have been a lot of rough-house wrestlers seen in action here in recent months but few of them have succeeded in so thoroughly arousing the ire of Peterborough mat enthusiasts as Wagner has done. Not even Karl Davis, savage as he is nor Tom Zaharias, the man of a thousand mean tricks, have got into the hair of local fans as badly as the back-alley battler from Portland who turned what should have been an outstanding exhibition here last Tuesday night into a brawl and so angered a large section of the crowd that they attacked Referee Bert Maxwell and threatened to mob Wagner who had to be convoyed out under police escort. The fans had wanted to see Yvon Robert show some of the class for which he is noted but the handsome Montrealer never got a chance to do anything but carry on a dogfight with the Oregon rowdy who chose to make it a knock-him-down-and-drag-him-out affair and forced Robert to meet him on his own ground.

* * * * * *

Most fans have an idea that if Wagner tries the same kind of stuff on the usually complacent McCready he will wonder what hit him. The Moose, powerful and experienced, is not quick to anger but he will only stand so much pushing around and after that it is up to the other fellow to make sure that his parachute is in good order for it is a cinch he will be bailing out before long. For years McCready has been meeting these bad men of the mat game, all over the map, and his percentage of wins is unmistakable proof that he has thoroughly mastered the art of taming these wrestling villains. Four or five times during the current revival here he has smothered bad actors who had been riding high, wide and handsome over all opposition. The chances are that in spite of Wagner's admitted toughness he will do exactly the same thing to the rough-house performer from the Pacific Coast. The Strangler doesn't think so, of course. "I have seen McCready wrestle many times," Wagner says, "and I think that I have figured out a way to beat him. Anyway I'll be in there swinging Tuesday night and the Moose will know that he has been in a battle. I have a few tricks up my sleeve that I haven't worked here yet and McCready may prove a sucker for one of them." All of which totes up to a hectic main bout tussle.

Local Boy Makes Good

Peterborough boys in the armed services continue to make their presence felt in sporting circles wherever they happen to be stationed and the latest example is furnished from Kingston where Petty Officer Harold Jones, a Peterborough member of the R.C.N.V.R. has been distinguishing himself in service boxing. A Kingston navy boxing fan writes this column to say: "I am writing to let the folks back home know they are being well represented in the sports world here in Kingston. The person to whom I am referring is Petty Officer Harold Jones of the Royal Canadian Navy. He did quite a bit of boxing around Peterborough with Nick Orlando, the Minnicolas etc., but now he is fighting a bigger fight down here. Since joining the service he has had a total of fifteen fights in Toronto and Kingston, winning 12 and losing only three and we of the Navy here think that is a pretty good record. He is always in the best of condition, neither smokes nor drinks and trains every night." Jones boxed in a middleweight final bout at a recent R.A.F. tourney in Kingston against Pte. McGregor of the R.C.O.C. Barriefield Camp and next Wednesday he is billed for another important match on the Army camp program.

So impressed is Bill Gaynon with the desirability of hockey arenas being municipally operated that the Niagara Falls scribe suggests that the arena in the Cataract city should be taken over by the city. Here is his comment: "One cannot take issue with that spirited individual in an eastern Ontario point who stated that civicly owned arenas were every bit as essential as public playgrounds and with our uncertain winters taking hockey off the back ponds, artificial ice plants are needed if the sport is to be played by the youthful inhabitants of Canada. St. Catharines is the best example that this principle is the proper one and with Ft. Erie and Welland following in the footsteps of garden city heads, Niagara Falls may be trailing these spots in a short time. Our locality is up with any of the other points, and greatly in advance of most places in the way of fine playing fields, Oakes Stadium being about tops across the land, while Poplar Park and such other plots as Cyanamid Park, Bridge Street grounds and the many school fields, provide accommodation for summer athletes. Therefore, some move should be made to place the Arena under civic control, and if efforts are started, the local owners might agree to sell their holdings to the ratepayers."

Don't Look Natural

The big league standings have a rather novel appearance today with the New York Giants heading the National League and the St. Louis Browns riding out at the head of the parade in the American. Both of these clubs have won four straight games. The Giants thus have half a game margin on the champion St. Louis Cards who have won the three games they have played so far this season. New York picked up their fourth victory yesterday at the expense of the Brooklyn Dodgers and that must have been a sweet win not only because the Giants always take a kick out of beating their neighbors, the Bums, but because Ace Adams who set a new record last season as a relief pitcher was selected by Manager Ott as his starting twirler and he justified the confidence shown in him by coming up with a seven-hitter. Whit Wyatt started for the Dodgers and while he didn't finish he was in there long enough to get the official blame for the loss. Adams wasn't the only former relief heaver to get a starting assignment and make good for Cincinnati Reds tried the same experiment with Johnny Beggs and he came through with a win. It was scored incidentally at the expense of "Rip" Sewell, big winner of last season who failed to puzzle the Reds and the latter beat Pittsburg 4 to 2.

* * * * * *

The St. Louis Cards, picked by nearly everybody to breeze through to another pennant garnered their third win in three starts yesterday when Brecheen pitching beautiful ball held the Chicago Cubs to exactly four hits and not a solitary run. Slats Marion started the scoring with a homer that would have been enough to win but the Cards added three more to make it sure. The Cards apparently outclass their National League opposition about as badly as the Montreal Canadiens did the rest of the N.H.L. teams. The St. Louis Browns made it a clean sweep for the Mound City by beating the Chicago White Sox 5 to 3 with Potter holding the Pale Hose to six hits while Mike Kreevich took personal command of the offensive. All Mike did was to slam out a long homer with two on the bases and come back with another with the sacks unloaded. Hal Trosky was responsible for Chicago's three runs by homering with two on the runways. Cleveland had little trouble in winning the only other American League game played. It was the fourth straight loss for the Detroit Tigers who so far are getting neither pitching nor hitting.

PHILADELPHIA, April 22—(AP)—Judging by current standings, the experts who picked the Yankees and Cardinals as pennant winners had the right cities but the wrong leagues.

On the Records

Charley Murray, the Buffalo promoter who is a visitor here, tells this yarn about the time years ago when he sent a boy named Donaldson to fight at Erie, Pa. . . . In those days, the papers used to run the fighters' recent records and, since Donaldson never had fought professionally, Murray fixed up an impressive list of knockouts for them to print . . . The boy won and collected his $50, but the next day he appeared looking for more dough. . . . "Didn't they pay you?" Murray asked. . . . Donaldson said yes, but he thought a fighter of his ability should get more money. . . . "Why?" demanded Charley. . . . The kid reached into his pocket and pulled out a clipping. . . . "Just look at my record," he exclaimed.

One-minute Sport Page

The Phillies farmhands at Wilmington are being offered full or parttime jobs in war plants there. . . . Charley Bidwill, the Chicago Cards' owner, stumbled onto a hold-up in downtown Philadelphia early yesterday, and when he turned up at the football meeting, the other club owners called a recess to hear him tell about the "punks with cannons."

Need One Game

TORONTO, April 22 — (CP) — Oshawa Generals today stood on the threshold of their third Memorial Cup win in six years, needing only one more victory over Trail Smoke Eaters to sweep the best-in-seven series four straight and wrap up the junior hockey title of the Dominion here tonight. If Generals finish it up tonight, six of their starriest players will be playing their final game in the Red-White-and-Blue Oshawa uniform. Coach Charlie Conacher revealed yesterday that Bill Ezinicki, Bill Barker, Bob Love, Jack Taggart, Floyd Curry and Ken Smith plan to join the Navy as soon as the series is over, and they are confident that will be tonight.

Trainer Dies

INDIANAPOLIS, April 22 —(AP) — John Franklin Case, 77, a well-known trainer of trotting and pacing horses whose most famous pupil was Greyhound died yesterday at his home. Born in Eagle Corner, Wis., he had lived here 25 years.

Launch Frigate

MONTREAL, April 22—(CP)—H.M.C.S. Poundmaker was launched from Canadian Vickers here yesterday, the fourth frigate to slide down the ways from Vickers yards within three weeks.

Orlando Stuck

CINCINNATI, April 22—(AP). — The U.S. Circuit Court of Appeals yesterday affirmed the four-year term and $2,000 fine imposed on James Vincent Orlando of Montreal, former player of the Detroit Red Wings, for violation of the U.S. Selective Service law.

Hockey Figure (Billy) Holmes To End Career

WINNIPEG, April 22.— (CP).—The man who introduced the word "dignity" to the hockey rink, W. J. (Billy) Holmes, dean of Canadian rinkmen, will conclude a 44-year career May 1.

Holmes, 73, brought dignity to hockey when he took over management of the Amphitheatre rink here more than 30 years ago. He introduced startling reforms for those days in these parts—a sweep squad to clean the rink after each game; modern dressing rooms; a "no smoking" order, hard on veteran fans but pleasing to the players, and later artificial ice, one of the first plants in western Canada.

Officials of the Manitoba Amateur Hockey Association will honor him on his retirement May 2 at a testimonial banquet.

REMEMBER this Old Chum Calendar and the year 1929?

In that year Major H. O. D. Seagrave drove his "Golden Arrow" at 231.5 miles an hour at Daytona Beach, Florida.

Squadron Leader Orlebar flew a seaplane at 355 miles an hour to win the Schneider Cup.

It was in 1929, too, that "talkies" appeared. People said they were just a stunt, wouldn't work.

Commander Richard E. Byrd, with Bert Balchen as pilot, flew over the South Pole.

The Ambassador Bridge between Windsor and Detroit was opened in 1929.

On November 18th, the Atlantic coast from New York to Newfoundland was shaken by an earthquake.

Giants Capture 4th Straight; Dodgers Lose

By JACK HAND
Associated Press Sport Writer

Ace Adams of New York Giants and Mike Kreevich of St. Louis Browns, the two early pace-setting clubs, can mark up 1944 as a successful season in their personal record books right now before the first week of the schedule has been completed.

The Ace has pitched and won as many complete games as he did all last season...total one. Kreevich has hit twice as many home runs as he did in the last thre campaigns...total two.

Last year Adams didn't start a game until Sept 12. Yesterday he took the hill to spoil Brooklyn's home opening as the Giants made it four straight victories by a 3-2 margin. Adams had appeared in 70 games in 1943 to set a league record.

Kreevich bashed two circuit clouts while St. Louis was thumping Chicago, 5-3, for its fourth in a row. He hit only one in 1942 and none at all in the big show in either 1941 or 1943.

Rookie Pat Seerey, Cleveland outfielder, helped himself along with a three-run homer as the Tribe walloped Detroit, 7-4. The paid attendance at Cleveland's home opener was 13,643, best of the second inaugurals which totalled only 43,685 in five cities.

Washington at New York and Boston at Philadelphia were washed out in the American as was the Phillies at Boston tilt in the National.

Over-optimistic Giant fans might do well to cast an eye at the defending champions, the Cardinals, who likewise are unbeaten but have won only three. Billy Southworth has been getting the kind of pitching that goes with champs, two shutouts in three games, the latest being Lefty Harry Breechen's 4-0 job against Chicago yesterday.

Breechen and Paul Derringer went down the line in a 0-0 game for seven frames until Slats Marion hoisted a homer in the Card eighth. After Derringer was removed for a pinch hitter, the Birds hopped on Johnny Burrows and Paul Erickson for three more.

Joe Beggs goes into the Navy next Thursday but he's making good use of his spare time pitching for Cincinnati as in yesterday's 4-2 triumph over Pittsburgh's Rip Sewell.

Bad weather forced postponements of the other three league games.

SWIMMER, 13, WINS U.S. TITLE — Only 13, Patricia Sinclair, New York girl, rates the sports headlines. She won the 100-yard breaststroke in the annual A.A.U. women's swim tourney at Oakland, Cal.

Quebec H.A. Seniors Defeat Port Arthur Shipbuilders 15-4

QUEBEC, April 22 (CP)—Quebec Aces appeared virtually certain today to be the 1943-44 Allan Cup holders—first team from Quebec City to hold the Cup—after last night's 15-4 trouncing of Port Arthur Shipbuilders in the second game of their best-of-five series.

The overwhelming score, a modern Allan Cup record, plus the 6-1 count Aces ran up in the opening game, left little doubts in the minds of Quebec fans that the Aces would wind up the series in the third game here Monday night.

The Ports were of the same opinion.

"We're just not in the same class as Aces," remarked Coach Hugh O'Leary.

The Shipbuilders just couldn't cope with the speed, power and polish of their hosts last night. They started out playing cagey defensive hockey but had to open up after Aces ran in two first-period goals. And as soon as it developed into wide-open hockey it was all over except speculation as to what the final score would be.

Aces rapped in seven counters with a single reply in the middle frame, and added six more against two for the Ports in the third.

Rollie Rossignol led the Quebec snipers with four goals, three of them coming within a 12-minute period in the middle frame. Eddie Bruneteau got three and Lude Check and Armand Gaudreault bagged two each. Other Quebec scorers were Nils Tremblay, Butch Stahan, Rosie Rozzini and Jim Robinson.

Norm Larson, Bill McKenzie, Bill Dinning and Don Eaton were the Port marskmen.

TORONTO, April 22 — (CP). — Just when everybody thinks the Hockey Hall of Fame situation is under control, something else bobs up to unsettle things again. The site is settled beyond doubt now, at Kingston, Ont., but it's selection of the candidates that is causing argument.

The C.A.H.A. proposed Jim Sutherland and Claude Robinson as the first two names to receive recognition, but different sports writers are of the opinion the roll should have been started off with active players. The two mentioned have had a great deal to do helping build the game up to its present status, but the opinion seems to be that the men who played the game should get first recognition.

Of course, that's going to be a tough job, since no matter who is selected will be vigorously questioned either by the staunch old-timers or the devotees of the modern puck stars. After that is done, there will be a chance to start more arguments by selecting prominent coaches, managers or builders of the ice game.

Deadly females:

As if women weren't satisfied to invade most masculine fields, now they are usurping the rights of the young marble players, Jack (Cornwall Standard-Freeholder) Park reports. Boys around Cornwall are complaining bitterly about the new state of affairs. It seems the girls have become so good they are winning all the "aggies" and nibs are very hard to come by these days indeed.

Saturday subjects:

Bill Sootheran of Niagara Falls was elected to the executive of the Ontario Baseball Association, but now he is in line for military service. If he dons the uniform the the Army will have indirect representation in the province's baseball councils.....Establishment of nation-wide soccer competitions is advocated by Gunner Jim Smith, former secretary of Vancouver St. Saviour's team. Now stationed at Barriefield, Ont., Jim argues that all other sports have continued through the war, so there seems little point keeping the soccer boys out of it because of transportation limitations....Baz (Montreal Star) O'Meara suggests a notional wrestling tournament similar to the highly-successful Army boxing run-off....Outdoor boxing may start in Montreal late in May, if the weatherman is kind.

Kobesky Hits First Homer

By The Associated Press

Eddie (Shovels) Kobesky home run king of the International Baseball league last year, has served notice that he intends to retain his crown.

The Buffalo blaster, who smacked 18 a year ago, got his first 1944 four-base wallop last night as the Bisons nosed out the Orioles at Baltimer 7-6 in the only game played. Kobesky connected in the seventh inning with two mates aboard. Previously Shovels had doubled in the first inning to drive in the first Herd run. Altogether he batted in four runs.

Young Walter Wilson gained credit for his first AA victory, although he failed to finish the game. Stymied in the early stages of the game, the Orioles climbed on the rookie hurler for four runs in the last two innings, almost snatching the game out of the fire. Seventeen-year-old Charle Price hit a pinchhit home run for Baltimore in the final inning.

Sport Shorts From Britain

By ALAN NICKLESON
Canadian Press Staff Writer

LONDON, April 22—(CP)—The secret kept itself pretty well but let it now be known that greyhound racing, rivalling football as a major sport, carries a "Scotland Yard" within its precincts.

Unknown to the general public, preventives against "ringers" and fraud, which include such measures as paw-printing, are taken by the Greyhound Racing Club, a body similar in functions to the Jockey Club, ruling committee of the turf.

Before a greyhound is permitted to race on any of the 61 tracks which come under jurisdiction of the Club, it must have a passport book in which particulars are recorded. For instance, particulars of each foot, with color markings and length of the four claws, forms a part of the passport contents. Thousands of dogs have been checked and no two sets of feet found similar.

Dog owners never handle passports. They remain with the tracks and this makes substitution of a dog impossible because each physical point of the entry is checked before each race. Each track forwards a result sheet of its meeting to headquarters. Questions are asked if a dog suddenly "finds" a suspicious jump in form.

Just as stringent is the check on trainers and kennelmen, especially since recent cases of drugged greyhounds came to light. Seekers of these posts fill in a questionnaire which contains 30 sections.

Danger of loss of records through bombing or fire has been nullified. Each passport is photographed and the duplicate secreted in blast and fireproof boxes deep underground.

A record price of $13,500 has been refused for Disputed Rattler, most popular racing greyhound in Britain today and winner of 21 of 31 races.

"She is not for sale at any price," said Trainer Sidney Orton. "It's a lot of money to refuse but only once in a lifetime can you expect to have such a champion."

Nicknamed "Sadie" around the kennels, Disputed Rattler has a greater fan mail than many movie stars and leaped to popularity peak at London's Wembley Stadium recently by winning 11 of 12 open races against some of the country's crack racers.

The immortal Mick the Miller, most famous of all track greyhounds, was purchased for $9,000.

Kenneth Gandar Gower, a British Army press officer who once startled London by introducing cheetahs to a greyhound track, is missing, believed drowned, while travelling to Ceylon.

Big-game hunter, sportsman and author, Gower took a team of 10 cheetahs from the Kenya jungle to Romford Stadium in 1937. Before a huge, slightly-nervous crowd, one of the animals clipped off a speed of 55 miles an hour and smashed the track record. The cheetahs were not fed for 24 hours before the meet and when brought to the track devoured the rabbit skin which was to be used as a decoy to make them run.

Reporter Tells How She Found Mystery Quints

(Editor's Note: The following was written for The Associated Press by Leila Drew, a Buenos Aires newspaper woman, who first reported that quintuplets had been born in the suburb of Belgrano and who thus far is the only reporter who claims to have seen the infants.)

BY LEILA DREW

BUENOS AIRES—"Quints Mystery."

When that headline appeared in the Buenos Aires Herald with my story describing my interview with the first quints born in Argentina—now eight months old—even war news was relegated temporarily to second place.

The "mystery" was not dispelled until, three weeks later, a well known obstetrician reported after careful investigation that he believed there was no reason to doubt the authenticity of the birth of quintuplets—three girls and two boys—to Senora G. Diligenti.

The Italian parents live in a modern house in a stylish suburb of Buenos Aires. They also have three other children, Myra, three, seven-year-old Ana Maria, who was one of triplets, two of whom died at an early age, and 14-year-old Armanda, pupil in an American school in Buenos Aires.

Here's how I got the story:

Following up a rumor that quints existed in Buenos Aires and had been on view almost every day in their garden for several months, I managed in good movie reporter style to locate them.

Guard at the Gate

Gaining entrance to the quints' home, however, presented another difficulty. The tall gate of the green-shuttered house was locked and a suspicious majordomo refused to let me through. Finally, an attractive dark-haired woman of about 35, who I later discovered to be the quints' mother, came to see me and after assuring her I had an important message to deliver from mutual friends which I could not possibly communicate in the street, she allowed me to enter.

I was taken into the garage of the home, which had been converted into a dining room because, as the mother explained, the quints required so much space.

In the simply-furnished dining room, I confessed I was a newspaper woman who had come to see the quints. The mother became visibly nervous and refused my offer to take some photographs. Finally, after a woman-to-woman talk, I was allowed to see the babies.

Senora Diligenti afterwards showed me photographs recently taken of the babies by a Buenos Aires photographer who, she said, had been instructed not to give them to anyone. She finally agreed to let me have one photograph if I promised not to reveal her name and address, to which I consented.

But at that moment, the father, a middle-aged man, arrived and, amazed at finding a member of the press firmly refused to supply any information. Subsequently, he revealed the name of the mid-wife as Senora Delfino.

Gets Bigger House

"In two months time," the father said, "I will move to a larger house with a big garden and all those interested in looking at the quints will be welcome."

I took another look at the infants, who are named Carlos, Maria Esther, Maria Fernanda, Maria Christiana and Franco.

Maria Fernanda, who is the plumpest of them all, almost died after birth. Her brother, Carlos, also was very weak and both babies were kept in incubators for two months.

The quints have normal healthy appetites. The daily menu consists of a dish of oatmeal and milk at eight a. m., mashed pumpkin, semolina pudding and grape juice at noon, a bottle of milk diluted with water at three p. m., stewed fruit and rusks at six, a bottle of milk at nine, and at midnight they are given prune juice.

The total weight of the infants at birth was 6,400 grams (approximately 14 pounds) while at eight months the total was 41,000 grams (nearly 90 pounds). Obstetricians believe their birth on July 15, 1943, was premature.

When asked to explain how the existence of the quints, which was known to the neighborhood, was not revealed earlier; Senor Diligenti replied that he had informed the neighbors he wished to avoid publicity and all the worry it would entail, and they respected his wishes.

End Euchre Series For War Workers

BEWDLEY, April 22 — (ENS) — The last euchre party for this season sponsored by the War Workers Society drew a record attendance. Twenty-one tables were played for a series of ten games and the winning ladies were Mrs. K. Halstead, Mrs. W. Kennedy, Miss Clara Seenes, Mrs. H. Trawin, and Miss Laura Graham. The lucky men were Jack Hibbard, Ted Shenkles, Pete Sidey, Jack Wilson, and Ross Carruthers. The lucky ticket was drawn on a crazy quilt, and the holder was Robert Hancock. Tickets amounting to $16.10 had been sold on this quilt. A total of $29 was raised from this evening's entertainment and quilt. Lunch was served and as special for the last party dancing was enjoyed for two hours.

With only one week's exception, there has been a party at Rice Lake Inn each Tuesday evening since last November sponsored by the War Workers group. Many of the prizes have been donated. Mr. Farr has been most generous with his hospitality, and with the untiring effort of the convener of this society, Miss Alice Dillon, have made these evenings successful.

Poultry Demand Shows Strength

TORONTO, April 22 — A firmer tone has developed in the dressed poultry market, the Dominion Department of Agriculture reports. Receipts of fresh killed chicken of roaster weight are nil, broiler and fowl supplies are very light. There is a very good demand for heavy chicken locally and out-of-town and some of the larger dealers are holding their stocks of heavy birds to take care of contracts, as this kind of poultry is not very plentiful.

Enquiry for fowl is only fair. Some small lots of chicken have been shipped to the Maritimes, but none has been exported this week. One carlot of 30,000 lbs., 50 per cent fowl and 50 per cent chicken, all grades, arrived from the West early this week.

No Happiness in the Home When Mother Is Sick

The tired, worn out mother cannot make a happy home if she is sick and worried by the never ending household duties.

She gets run down and becomes nervous and irritable, downhearted and discouraged, can't rest at night, and gets up in the morning feeling as tired as when she went to bed.

Women suffering in this way may find in Milburn's Health and Nerve Pills a remedy with which to help recuperate their health, build up the run down system, and assist them back to health—happiness again.

Price 50c a box, 65 pills, at all drug counters.

Look for our trade mark a "Red Heart" on the package.

Delegates Appointed To Y.P.U. Convention

OMEMEE, April 22—(ENS)—At the regular meeting of the Young People's Union of Trinity United church, Omemee, this week, delegates were appointed to attend the Lindsay Presbytery Y.P.U. convention which will be held in the United church in Fenelon Falls on May 6 and 7, namely, Miss Marion Fisher and Keith Bradley. It was decided that the union would assume the expenses of the delegates for Registration and meals.

The program was in charge of the Citizenship convener, A. D. Campbell, who conducted a fine worship service built around the Shepherd Psalm. Mr. Campbell's topic was "The effect of poetry on citizens" and dealt particularly with the revival of Irish poetry in later years. Several poems composed by Irish poets were read "Little Mary Cassidy" by Francis Fahy, "Cuttin' Rushes" and "Corrymeela" by Moira O'Neill, "The Lake Isle of Innisfree" by William Butler Yeats, and "Farewell" by Katherine Tynan.

Realtor Raps Toronto For House Shortage

TORONTO, April 22 —(CP)—L. Rice, Toronto realtor, says today in a letter to Mayor Conboy that the city of Toronto itself has failed to take what steps it could to solve the housing problem here where more than 1,000 families face eviction May 1 with no accommodation for them. The letter cited instances where city officials delayed permission for conversion of dwellings to accomodate more than one family and the work was done only after federal officials at Ottawa overruled local authorities.

NATIONAL SELECTIVE SERVICE

IF YOU EMPLOY MALE PERSONS

Have they all complied with the Military Call-Up?

By an Order signed under authority of the National Selective Service Mobilization Regulations:

1. Every employer of male employees must make an examination of the documents of these employees, and forward advice on those who fail to produce documents showing good standing under Mobilization Regulations.
2. This examination must be completed by May 1st, 1944.
3. "EMPLOYER" includes industrial and commercial employers, and also farm operators.
4. "MALE EMPLOYEE" includes all male persons working for you.
5. A booklet, "EMPLOYERS' GUIDE", has been sent to industrial and commercial employers. A return post card has gone to farm operators.
6. If you employ any male person, and have not been notified of the survey by booklet or post card, contact the nearest Employment and Selective Service Office and ask for the booklet.
7. Workers in agriculture, of military age, who have not been rejected by the Army and who have not a Postponement Order should apply for such order to the nearest Registrar immediately.
8. Obligation to make the examination rests on each and every employer of male persons, and employers must act.
9. Penalties are provided for failure to carry out this examination, and for male employees failing to assist by refusal to produce documents.

PTE. EARL PRUNER

Pte. Earl Pruner, 19, Gave His Life We Are Only Asked To Buy Bonds

BY JEAN STENTON

At nineteen years of age, Pte. Earl Pruner, though a veteran of the Sicilian and Italian campaigns, was a rollicking young man who loved life. Yet he treasured freedom and love of Canada above his own happiness and gave his life December 6 in the battle of the Sangro River.

Pictured above with his cheerful grin, his youthful gaiety is marred by the weapon which he holds. He is seen among the ruins of a village which fell to the Allies after hard street fighting. The carefree life which he led as a student at the Collegiate was only a memory as bullets whizzed angrily around his head when he and his companions pushed forward almost by inches. The people of Peterborough are only asked to buy Victory Bonds. Pte. Pruner did not count the cost when he died in action.

Tribute From Friends

Young though he was, his ideals and courage made a deep impression on friends whom he met in Inverness, Scotland. When they learned of his death, they wrote to his mother, Mrs. C. Pruner, 478 Aylmer street, paying tribute to a soldier as they new him.

"Words fail to express our deepest sympathy about your son. He was such a fine man, every inch of him, and we all admired him. Canada has lost a great soldier and you a fine son. Mother and myself loved him as one of our own.

"When we meet we will talk about your son, of the many things he said while he was in Scotland. We have so often already. Of when he was leaving to go back and Mom kissed him goodby. He bent down and his forage cap fell off and the poor lad blushed like a school girl. Or again of how as he was seated in a bus in a strange English town he spotted my daughter on the pavement, and accompanied her while she paid a painful visit to the dentist's.

"We loved him as a son and the world is poorer for his leaving it. By his sacrifice, you can be comforted with the knowledge that he died for a great cause that we his friends might live in liberty and enjoy the good things placed at our disposal. Greater love hath no man than this. Some day we may be able to pay worthy tribute to his noble memory. For the present we live in the hope that his sacrifice might not be in vain."

Two Other Boys Died

Like two other Peterborough lads Pte. Thomas Bloom and Pte. Donald Anderson, both 18, recently killed in action, he was too young to die. He clearly envisioned that before he could help to build up a better world, he and his companions must help to pay the cost. National peace and security cannot be bought for nothing and no nation can be great until it has paid for the things it values. His life was a contribution toward payment of that debt. He and his companions have taken the first step towards building the world of tomorrow and it is upon the structure they have built from blood and shells, that those who remain are asked to finish the job.

Pte. Pruner has two others in his family serving overseas. A sister Alice, has been there with the C.W.A.C., for several months, and a brother Jack is stationed there too.

Main Street Topics

A SATURATION RAID.

Taggers for the Peterborough R.C.A.F. Auxiliary made a saturation raid on downtown sections today and the army of canvassers were apparently disposing of large numbers of tags.

HAS FAIR NIGHT.

Able Seaman Norman Brown, who was seriously injured Thursday night in a car accident on Highway 28 just outside the city limits, had a fair night last night, a report from St. Joseph's Hospital this morning stated, and his condition, still regarded as critical, was much the same as yesterday.

CAR DAMAGED.

A car belonging to A. Rutherford, 639 Charlotte Street, was damaged to the extent of $40 Friday in a collision with a Board of Works truck at Hunter and George Streets. The truck driving north on George Street, was making a turn to go east on Hunter Street when the automobile driven by Rutherford and pulling out from the west curb of George Street, came into contact with the heavier machine.

LUCKY WINNERS

The winners of the $5 War Savings Certificates drawn at the Canadian Legion bingo Friday night in aid of the Bomber Fund are as follows: Mrs. Lillian Halladay, 41 High street; Hazel I. Morley, 10 Lundy's Lane; Wallace Wager, 253 Wolfe street; Mrs. Vera Playford, 32 Lafayette avenue; Gary Hopkins, 15 Lundy's Lane. Those drawn at the Wednesday night bingo were: Wallace Wager, 253 Wolfe street; Mrs. Elizabeth Houghton, 39 Orpington road; Grace Record, 656 Reid street.

USED CLOTHING NEEDED.

The Grenfell Mission is making its annual appeal for good used clothing and old silk stockings for the bale for Labrador. Please leave your parcels at Grafton's Store.

FLIER GRADUATES.

A large number of pilots received their wings in a graduation ceremony at Centralia on Friday. Among them was G. W. Goodkey of Bancroft.

DOING HIS BIT.

Pilot Officer Bernard (Bun) Burrows, R.C.A.F., son of Mr. and Mrs. A. B. Burrows, 158 Parkhill Road West, is serving overseas as a pilot. Before enlisting he was employed at CHEX and he attended the Peterborough Collegiate. PO Burrows was given his wings at Uplands.

DISTRICTS OMITTED.

In drafting up the advertisement for "Do You Know Yocr Loan Salesmen Contest" it was omitted that Rufus Payne was looking after the Burnham Point Wartime Housing area and J S. Curtis, J. Harkness and Bruce Sargent were looking after the Parkhill Road Wartime Housing area.

RETURNS TO WORK.

Harold Cassan of the plumbing partnership of Cassan & Hutchinson, has resumed work after an ilness of seven months, two of them in hospital. A member of the Council of North Monaghan, Mr. Cassan was unable to attend the latter stage of the annexation discussions with the city and before the Ontario Municipal Board.

Obituary

MRS. MARY WATTERS

The death occurred this morning in Our Lady of Mercy Hospital, Toronto, of Mrs. Mary Wallace, who has been in ill health for several months. She was predeceased by her husband some years ago. A devout Catholic, she was a member of the Altar Society, St. Joseph's Union and of the League of the Sacred Heart. Surviving are a daughter, Mrs. Mary O'Donnell and two grandchildren, Dorothy and Donald, of Toronto, and one sister, Mrs. W. J. Young of Peterborough. The funeral will take place in Toronto, Monday.

Ovaltine Firm First Plant To Go Over Top

The employees of A. Wander Company, manufacturers of Ovaltine, have the destinction and honor of being mentioned first in the opening and pre-campaign response to the Sixth Victory Loan.

Dave Melton announced the glowing report from the Ovaltine folks at the Friday night dinner of canvassers. Readers of the Examiner know the words by heart after all these Victory Loan campaign reports. It goes like this:

A. Wander Company: 124 per cent of their Sixth Victory Loan objective and 100 per cent. of the employees subscribing.

Just an all-round perfect job enhanced by the swiftness by which the Ovaltine employees made up their minds that they were going to repeat former investments in the men overseas.

Tops Again

Employees of the Peterborough-Brinton Carpet Company:—120 per cent of their objective with 91 per cent of their employees responding so far.

Probably G. Whitaker and Company Limited might have been mentioned first. They have been usually out in front in performance, and Friday night, Mr. Melton again had the Whitaker staff on his first list.

George Whitaker and Company: 116 per cent of their objective with all the employees "buying bonds".

Mr. Melton kept his own associates up at Dominion Woollens to the last spot in the payroll savings category.

Employees of Dominion Woollens and Worsteds, Limited, — 110 per cent. of their objective with 91 per cent of the staff investing.

Starting The Ball

They were getting ready to "start the Victory Bond campaign rolling" at the meeting Friday evening, last minute pep talk or exhortation to the canvassers reminding them that they were engaged in the greatest undertaking along the Home Front in this war.

And the big meeting learned from Mr. Melton that the "ball was already rolling" and gathering both volume and speed which it is greatly hoped will sweep aside the city and county objective at the end of those next three weeks.

Lucky Strike — 186 per cent.

Mr. Melton contributed a second group of reports from the Group Payroll division, — another sheaf of splendid news:

Canadian Departmental Stores—100 per cent of the staff subscribed and for 100 per cent of their objective.

Zeller's Limited: — 100 per cent of the staff subscribing and for 120 per cent of the shop objective.

These early subscribers have taken themselves out of the campaign at such a preliminary stage that they may be almost forgetting by the time the city and county subscriptions are finally counted.

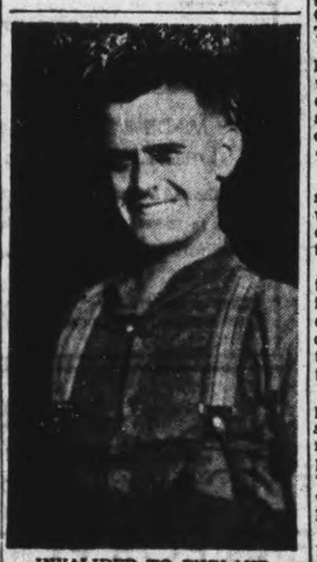
The staff o Gratons Limited, another return from main street 100 per cent subscribing and 100 per cent. of their objective.

W. J. Hamilton's fur store staff, Charlotte Street, another 100 percenter group; that is all hands subscribing for the entire amount of their objective.

Such is the first instalment of Peterborough's Sixth Victory Loan story. In fact it is the preface, because as Mr. Melton remarked these shop and store employees have "beaten the pistol"; they have got a start in the race fractionally before the "go" sounded.

Bell Telephone Company's staff was also mentioned last night but the inormation was incomplete. However, it sounded like $6,500 subscribed, but percentage detail was lacking. However, that will hold for next week.

The band from the School of Music, H.M.C.S. "York," young naval musicians in training, under the direction of Petty Officer Shepherd, assistant conductor, played an interesting program of selections during the dinner, concluding the finale "God Save the King" after benediction had been invoked by Rev. W. A. Filer.



INVALIDED TO ENGLAND — Pte. Ken Masters, who suffered leg and hip wounds in the bloody battle of Ortona, has been invalided to England, according to word received by his father, John Masters, 163 Rink Street. His wife, Pte. Ruth Masters, is stationed with the C.W.A.C. at Kingston, and a sister, Mrs. W. Faiets, lives at R.R. 5, Peterborough. Before enlisting he was employed at the Martin-Hewitt Company.

HE IS IN ON THE AUCTION—J. K. Hughes, prominent Peterborough automobile dealer, is one of those who are going to take part in putting the "Odd Jobs Auction" across on Wednesday, May 3, in the Collegiate Auditorium. Mr. Hughes (above in his uniform) has guaranteed he will act as cook to the highest bidder for his service and of course the bids will all have to be Victory Bonds. The "Odd Jobs Auction" is something new in Peterborough. It is being put across in a spirit of good fun for all and to show that buying bonds can be a real pleasure.

Soldiers Ignore Cost Of Victory Bonds Easy Way Of Winning War

Canada's Sixth Victory Loan is thrusting every Canadian of the home front into a position of more than ever exacting duty and challenge by contrast with the price which hangs over the Allied forces in these spring days of impending invasion of the German fortress of Europe.

Confronted with the approaching climax of the war, with all it involves of sacrifice by the Canadians overseas, how can any one at home retreat behind such an easy excuse as "I can't afford to buy as many Victory Bonds as last time"?

That question and its stark background was outlined as the only impediment to the success of the Sixth Victory Loan by Frank Dowsett, Toronto advertising adviser, in an inspirational talk to the city and county canvassers Friday evening at dinner in the C.G.E.-Genelco cafeteria on the eve of the national appeal for renewed war funding, which will extend through the next three weeks' campaign beginning Monday.

The company of canvassers was the largest assembly since the war began of men and women meeting together before starting out to ensure the success of Victory Bond investment in Peterborough county and city.

Can't Be Passive

David G. H. Melton, chairman, explained that on some other occasions group meeting had been held for the purpose of stimulating sales effort and focussing understanding on the objectives and obstacles that might be anticipated.

For the instance of this preliminary to the Sixth Victory Loan the canvassers in the several groups were brought together in a community of influence, the men and women who will carry on the canvass in the factories and shops and stores, the special names group, and the general canvass workers who undertake to call at all the homes in the city and county of Peterborough.

Mr. Dowsett, a veteran of the last war in which he served from 1914 to 1919, indicated in his talk a concern about a possible effect of income tax feeling on public investment in the Sixth Victory Loan, and declared that the Canadian people on the home front have generally experienced little of sacrifice, as compared with their men in the armed forces.

"While we have been asking 700,000 of our young men and women to go active, are we here at home in Canada going to start going passive? That doesn't make sense."

Mr. Dowsett was introduced to his large audience of both men and women by Gordon S. Matthews, chairman of the Peterborough city and county National War Finance committee.

The Patriotic Bond

"The Victory Bond we buy in a sense of duty is the Bond we think we can't afford. That is the patriotic Bond. The other is only a token Bond."

"It is no trick at all to buy Victory Bonds when we have the money in our hands. But, it takes a real effort to give up some of our personal comforts and satisfactions to buy the extra Victory Bond which we think we can't afford."

Mr. Dowsett was frankly anticipating for the hundreds of canvassers who are about to make the rounds of factories and shops and private homes in the city and county "the only obstacle that stands in the way of sucess of this Sixth Victory Loan."

And "that only barrier which we have to surmount is the genuine and sincere belief of many of our people that because of the income taxes they just can't afford to buy as many Bonds as before. That is an awfully easy idea to believe."

"We talk about sacrifice in this war, and a great deal of it is true. But, when the war ends, we who have bought bonds, and everybody knows by this time that we have simply been investing our money, lending it to our country, will be able to go to the bank and get our money back whenever we decide that we want it.

But, what of the young man who has lost an arm in the war? Can he go anywhere and say 'I want my arm back'; or the youth who has lost a leg, or both; and what of the young man who lost his sight. Is there any bank to which he could go and say 'I'd like to have my sight back?' And, then we who have only bought Victory Bonds talk of sacrifice."

What is that we cannot afford? That the average Canadian has begun to sacrifice till it hurts? That is not true. We can't afford to prolong this war by one minute by failing to do anything which we know in our hearts we can do. We have our part to do in getting this war over as quickly as possible."

Mr. Dowsett said he was thrilled by his two Peterborough audiences Friday, the other at noon hour on the lawn of C.G.E.-Genelco when the employees of the two companies combined to open their joint drive to subscribe $450,000 of the Sixth Victory Loan.

"I would like those employees to know that they were the most courteous and kind gathering of men and women I have ever spoken to," Mr. Dowsett said. "You could have heard a pin drop out there on the lawn. I might as well have been talking in the quiet of a cathedral."

War Begets Unity

Mr. Dowsett began his address to the canvassers with a reference to the spirit of unity which had developed in Canada under the stress of war. Men and women of different political denominations, employers of labor and employees, found a common ground in their desire and determination to win the war, to back up the men of the armed forces and the women of the auxiliary services. In such meetings as those promoting the success of the Victory Loans, citizens had come together in a fine spirit of unity and purpose and co-operation.

Some day he hoped that the men in the nation's government would realize that we have the finest group of citizens to be found anywhere and that in this country we have got a paradise. Mr. Dowsett said he hoped that this realization might come about before too long, and that the unity born of the war would remain as one of its results for the time of peace after victory.

Mr. Dowsett said with unmistakable earnestness that since coming to Canada as "an immigrant" in 1926 from England he had become deeply impressed with the fact "that we have a great country here," and that it was worth all the price we were being asked to pay for it during those years of war trial and testing.

Victory and peace for those Canadians of tomorrow for whom so much was being paid today by the young Canadians of the army and the navy and the air force! To win through to that goal we have got to put ourselves last, and our personal comforts and satisfactions must go by the board. Victory in itself was not going to provide us with a wonderful new world. But it would present us with the opportunity of realizing the possibilities within ourselves which the demands of the war have brought to the surface, an opportunity of living together in unity and goodwill and peace.

Know Value of Bonds

Mr. Dowsett said that in the course of the approaching Loan campaign it would not be so essential as in the past to emphasize the investment value of Canada's Victory Bonds, their cash and savings value, and of the duty of investing to back up the men overseas. Most people in Peterborough have become fully alive to those factors, and they know that Victory Bonds provide them with a nest egg for the future. They realize, too, that they are not "buying" Victory Bonds, but are backing up all the lads who are fighting their battles for them.

"If there is still anybody who doesn't understand that, I don't know how you could hammer the idea into his head. They would know it if they spent three months in a Nazi or Jap concentration camp."

Mayor Hamilton, in moving a vote of thanks to Mr. Dowsett, promised him on behalf of the canvassers and citizens "that we will get out and do everything we can not only to reach our objective but we will try to exceed it."

Services For Prayer

SPECIAL prayer services for the success of the invasion of Europe are being suggested. The plan is that when the invasion is announced the church bells will ring calling everyone to prayer.

This suggestion originated in New York from the 'Men of Goodwill' a non-political and non-sectarian group pledged to the furthering of better human relationship. The services are being planned in many cities and towns of Britain and the United States.

Firemen Battle Bad Bush Fire

CAMPBELLFORD, April 22. — (CP).—After a two hour battle volunteer firemen, aiaded by farmers and citizens yesterday succeeded in extinguishing a bush fire which for a time threatened the Ferris woods in the southern section of the town.

Hundreds of gallons of chemicals were used to subdue the flames which spread over a five acre section adjoining the C.N.R. tracks. Sparks from a passing freight locomotive was believed to be cause of the outbreak.

War—4 Years Ago

By The Canadian Press

APRIL 22, 1940—Allied forces moved from Namsos and Andalsnes in Norway in effort to encircle Germans at Trondheim. Germans claimed their planes blasted Allied landing ports and positions in Norway. French repulsed German infanty raid on western front.

APRIL 23, 1940—Heavy fighting between Allied and German forces reported from several points in Norway including the area north of Trondheim and at the "gate" to Oslo. Budget of $11,000,000,000 presented to British House of Commons.

OVERSEAS TOO — Pte. John Richards, formerly of Douro, has been serving overseas for several months. A native of England, he had been in Canada nearly twenty years, when he joined the Army. He worked on farms in Douro and had also been an employee of the C.G.E. While in the country he made his home with Mr. and Mrs. Allen Hayes.

Buckhorn Ladies Repeat Aid For War Victims

In the realm of doing good work that others in need may benefit, there is no finer word than that of "Repeat", for this goodness is of such a nature as to make it a worthwhile daily feature in the manner of the boy scout who pledges himself to a daily good deed that others beside himself might profit.

As the seasons come and go, the works of a Great Creator proclaim this very same feature, for the world would be a most sorry place indeed to live in and survive should this bountiful example of a steadfast beneficence for the human race fail, this in itself providing a fine example of just how all good deeds should be continued on behalf of the members of the human race.

The ladies of the Womens Institute at Buckhorn have been very steady in their work to help along the war effort, more than one project having benefitted through their labor of love, among which the Peterborough and District British War Victims Fund has had a share, and through which they have rendered a service and assistance to those stricken through enemy air raids over Britain.

Their latest help in this direction is recorded in to-day's list of receipts, having been forwarded by Mrs. Jean Smith, the convener of their war service group, who also expressed their pleasure at being able once again to have a small share in the very worthy cause for which the fund was working.

Four Personal Gifts

The success of all efforts of a nature such as this, must first of all start with the individual, or without such support nothing of very worthwhile proportions could be accomplished.

To-day's list of receipts shown how four different people have acted in an individual manner to give their support for the cause that the fund seeks to assist, each providing an inspiration which could well serve of future benefit for the humanitarian work the fund seeks to carry on.

This Sunday April 23 is England's Day, the Festival of St. George, and since his fame arises from the legendary history of deeds of valor for others in distress, and martyrdom or the Christian Faith, it could well serve as an inspiration for people in this part of the world, secure from the threats of air raids such as England has had for four years, to send them some help in their distress. Your contribution to this fund would greatly facilitate this.

Committee Suggests Location For Barn

Location of a barn to be built in the city's yard on Townsend Street for the housing of the horses used in the collection of garbage was decided at a meeting of the property committee of the council Friday afternoon.

Peterborough Metal Company may be given the job of demolishing the old incinerator for the salvage they might get from it. The committee is not including removal of the smoke stack for the present. It was thought better to leave the big iron pipe standing until it is bought.

Application of H. B. Taylor and Sons for use of part of the city's lot on George Street between Rink and Townsend Streets for the piling of incoming wood was referred to a sub-committee with power to act. Taylor wood has been placed on the property at the corner of Dalhousie and Water Streets, east of George Street, but that accommodation will be no longer available as a result of the pending activities of the new bus terminal company.

Bobcaygeon Woman Has 88th Birthday

LINDSAY, April 22 (ENS)—Mrs. Gerald Murphy, of Bobcaygeon, though 88 years of age Friday is not growing old with her years. This fact was quite in evidence when she received about fifty friends and neighbors, who joined in celebrating the anniversary of the date of her birth.

Those of the immediate family in attendance were: Joseph Murphy of Peterborough, who was accompanied by his wife and family; also Mr. and Mrs. George Murphy, of Lindsay; Mrs. W. E. Bick, a daughter of Toronto; Reeve Hilliard Murphy and Mrs. Murphy, of Bobcaygeon.

TRAINS FOR COMMISSION—After eight months on active service in Italy, Sgt. Bernard Hamlin has returned to England to take an officers' course. He is the son of P. C. Hamlin, who recently returned from England, where he was serving with the R.C.O.C. He has now been discharged and is working at the De Laval. Sgt. Hamlin has been overseas since the fall of 1941, and before joining the Army was employed at the Western Clock Company.

Hun Prisoners Expect Indians

LINDSAY, April 22 (ENS)—Herbert Parker, R.C.N., of Bobcaygeon, was in the engagement on H.M.C.S. Wakesiu that attacked a German submarine and sank it. The attack was so accurate and so persistent that the sub sank before the crew of the sub had a chance to use thir guns, according to reports received by friends in Bobcaygeon.

When the attack was over 19 prisoners were hauled in out of the cold water. Others perished because of the rising sea and strong drift. All the Germans were young, the average age being 22, the oldest prisoner being 26 years old.

According to the young sailor the Germans had the impression that the Canadians were either cowboys or Indians, and they were surprised at the friendly treatment they received.

Herbert Parker is a son of Mr. and Mrs. H. B. Parker, of Bobcaygeon.

Lucky Strikes Top 5 Pinners

With the last scheduled games over this week and of course making no difference in so far as first place was concerned the final stading in the Ladies' Five Pin League at the Y.M.C.A. shows Lucky Strikes as winners with 56 points. The other teams finished thusly: Tigers 48, Hurricanes 42, Y's Menettes 41, Bombers 40, Glengarrys 38, Tankers 36 and Corvettes 35.

This week's scoring was low, not a player hitting the 600 mark. Marion Timm had high three with 595 and T. Jackson high single with 251.

UPLIFT BERET STYLE — White milan straw with a double cocarde and rim trim of navy blue belting ribbon is the formula for this new, high upswept summer beret. The beret, which has been recognizable as such whether worn skull tight, dipped forward, dripped back or straight across, now takes an uplift line becoming to the new flat, centre part hairdo. In fabric or straw, it retains its good hug fit in this new version, and will gain many new adherents who couldn't cope with its original swoops and swags.

St. Andrew's Cubs Scouts Get Badges at Banquet

The annual banquet of the 8th Peterborough Troop of Boy Scouts, and Wolf Cub pack belonging to St. Andrew's Church was held Friday after supper, Roy Lewis acted as chairman.

The Cubmaster R. K. McKee, led in community singing with R. B. Harle at the piano. The chairman welcomed the fathers and mothers who were present, and the boys. Members of the group committee are R. Lewis, G. Reader, James Johnson, H. H. Dinsdale, F. H. Dearborn, A. Hutchinson and Dr. E. W. Young.

The Assistant District Commissioner, A. Hope, presented badges and buttons to the Cubs and congratulated them on their success. Henry Dinsdale proposed a toast to the parents and G. Reader responded. Adam Hawley sang two solos, "Keep On Hoping" and "Let The Bands Play." The Boy Scout Troop presented an amusing play.

Protect Birds

F. H. Dearborn introduced Alex Kay the speaker, who said that he had inherited his love of birds from his mother. Birds are necessary to the life of man, they destroy hurtful insects, he said. During the last 20 years the government has enacted laws for the protection of birds. It is against the law to throw stones at them, or destroy their eggs. Quails kill the potato bug. Robins will not eat in the morning without a bath. The cat is the great enemy of bird life, the robin buries it own dead. The starlings are imported from Central Europe, and are very destructive the speaker continued. The swallow can fly 108 miles an hour. The cuckoo destroys caterpillars, the owl kills mice, sparrows eat the seeds of weeds.

A. Hutchinson thanked Mr. Kay for his address. R. K. McKee then gave an exhibition of Cub work, showing especially how the boys pick up the jungle atmosphere. Mr. McKee was assisted by Miss M. Jones.

Opening Jungle Dance, led by Sixers Greer Elcombe as Baloo and Bill Frisken as Bagheera. The part of the doe of the woods was taken by Sixer Bob Hutchinson. A demonstration of first aider proficiency badge. Thompson Presentation of Service Stars: Paul Elcombe 2 years, Don Sisson 2 years, Grant Harrison 1 year, Howard Harrison 1 year, Gany Patterson 1 year, Lang Thompson 1 year.

Dr. E. W. Young commended the work of the Cubs and Scouts. The ladies who assisted with the supper were Mrs. R. Lewis, Mrs. A. Hutchinson, Mrs Gordon Ham, Mrs. H. H. Dinsdale, Mrs. J. L. Airth, and Mrs. R. K. McKee.

Visiting Member Sets Fast Pace

Quick: The Ottawa belles still are speaking about Miss Florence Horsbrugh, United Kingdom House of Commons member, with a trace of envy in their voices. Here is what she accomplished in 1½ hours during an Ottawa visit:

Dressed in a brown tweed suit with matching accessories, she received the Canadian Press for a 20-minute interview; sat for official photographs; paid a visit to government house, and, as guest of honor, arrived calm and collected at a service club luncheon clad in a navy-blue wool dress with a little matching hat and other accessories, also in navy blue.

Miss Inez Barrer, band leader, presided. The meeting opened with a call to worship by Mary Excell and Sylvia Ferguson. The scripture was read by Oryce McIlwraith. Allan McIlraith and Robert Ross took up the offering which was dedicated by repeating "We give Thee but Thine own." A short reading on "The Spirit of Jesus lives forever," was given by the band leader. Prayer for the missionaries was led by Mrs. R. Hanscom.

Hamblin—Brown

NORWOOD, April 22—(ENS)— A quiet wedding was solemnized this week at Trinity United Church parsonage, Hastings, when Annie Grace only daughter of Mr. and Mrs. E. E. Brown of Milford, Saskatchewan, was united in marriage to John T. George, youngest son of Mr. and Mrs. G. A. Hamblin of Norwood. Rev. J. E. Glover B.A. officiating.

The bride wore a pretty two-piece suit of navy blue gabardine and a corsage of pink sweet peas. She was attended by Miss Betty K. Andrews who wore a two-piece suit of gold-coloured wool and a corsage of mauve sweet peas.

Miss Anne Richardson of Lakefield, cousin of the groom acted as ring-bearer. She was attired in a smocked frock of silk angel-cloth and carried a nosegay of sweet peas and carnations. Mr. John W. Bitten of Norwood acted as groomsman.

Following the ceremony a dainty lunch was served by Mrs. Glover, cousin of the groom. The groom's gift to the bridesmaid was a gold bracelet; to the ring-bearer a necklace and to the groomsman a tie-set.

The young couple left on a short honeymoon to points east. On their return they will reside in Norwood.

Dancing to the music of Jack Marshall's orchestra completed the entertainment for the evening.

THE TEA HOUR GOSSIP . . . .

Today we will start our talk on the black dress. Ten out of ten women have one but ten out of ten want another because a black dress leads the best rounded life. No matter what mood you are in, the time or the place you are going, the black dress has the highest potential chic. You can wear it in any season of the year from spring into summer, afternoon or evening. A black dress, bare at the neck short and sweet over the shoulders, with a cluster of pink roses fastened at the diamond shaped decolletage, casts a glow of jewels for a spring evening. Twelve-button length pink gloves are worn with the costume for evenings.

Then there is the new tube dress in black sheer wool, belted at waistline. With this is worn a box jacket in black and white stripe, a small off-the-face cloche worn well on the back of the head with nose veil, and white gloves. The new dressmaker bags are a pretty compliment to feminine fashion. One of these shown in smooth black calf, with soft drapery caught into a deep smooth frame, a slide fastener top and novel carrying ring. Earrings are charming, they make every women who wears them look more feminine. There are so many new styles shown this spring. Among some of the smarter ones are the wedding band earrings either in natural gold or silver, depending on the color you are wearing. Those are full-blown posies centred with tiny brilliants in pink, lime green, blue, red and white; green tulip leaves centered with simulated moonstones; a tiny bouquet of star flowers, each centred with brilliants in the tulip shades. There never was a season when all those small details made so much difference to your costume. Earrings make your hat so much more becoming, and it is surprising how many more styles in hats you can wear if you wear the ear jewels.

The suit dress is the costume you will wear more than any other, a slim, velvet two-piecer that serves as a dress or a suit. The young swinging lines of the bolero with nattily nipped-in-jacket, diversified by cap-sleeve, flowered blouse, brightly colored dicky, a soft drape, braid embroidery or buttons, make a lovely dress for any time of day. This may be carried out in many different colors, some of the new ones being April haze, rust brown aquamarine blue, grey, Mrs. Miniver rose, flame swept red, California beige, sunrise yellow, purple and many others. It has been a long time since there have been so many beautiful colors from which to choose Pick the shade most becoming to you in any of the many new styles shown and you will have a spring costume of which to be proud.

Mrs. J. E. Munro Of Art Group

Mrs. J. E. R. Munro was re-elected president of the Peterborough branch of the Lyceum Club and Women's Art Association of Canada at its annual meeting Friday afternoon in the Green Room of the Y.W.C.A.

Other members of the executive are as follows: Honorary president, Mrs. Mackie of Toronto; first vice-president, Mrs. N. D. Seaton; second vice-president, Mrs. C. S. Thompson; third vice-president, Mrs. H. A. Mitchell; recording secretary, Miss Ruth Barns; corresponding secretary, Mrs. V. Canning; treasurer, Mrs. L. M. Brooks; assistant treasurers, Miss Laura Belleghem and Mrs. F. Hooper; social convener, Mrs. N. Moncrief; assistant, Mrs. W. E. Chambers; archivist, Miss Leone Walsh; members representatives, Mrs. V. Foster and Mrs. W. Ovens.

Mrs. V. Foster presided for the election, and Mrs. E. McCulloch gave the report of the nominating committee. Mrs. Munro, when she resumed the chair for another year, expressed her thanks, on behalf of the club, to Mrs. W. Tinker, retiring corresponding secretary, for her capable work. She also said that a forward step had been taken in the matter of obtaining presidents for the club. She had spoken to the vice-presidents, and Mrs. Seaton and Mrs. Mitchell had expressed a willingness to accept the chair if the need arose. Mrs. Thompson felt that she would not be able to accept the responsibility. Mrs. Munro's action was to relieve the duties of the nominating committee, in order that vice-presidents, willing to take the task of the presidency, could observe the procedure, and become acquainted with the duties involved.

Review Work.

Reports presented by various conveners showed a successful and enjoyable year, with the separate guilds meeting at regular intervals, and joining once a month at the regular studio meeting. Mrs. G. N. Moncrief, of the Art Study Club, gave a detailed outline of the periods of artistic achievement studied during the season. The topic of study was 'Classical Lands of the Mediterranean."

Mrs. B. V. Moore, convener of the Guild of Arts and Mrs. C. Saunders, gave joint reports on the activities of this Guild, showing a total of 22 quilts and afghans completed during the year. The financial status of this Guild was also reported, with the raffle, and the small fee charged for each sewing meeting amounting to about $50, and expenses, to $19.

The Literary Study Club considered Tolstoy's "War and Peace" as its main project. In her report, Mrs. J. F. Osborn, convener, gave a brief outline of Tolstoy's life, and a short introduction to the book, poitning out that central character in the novel was somewhat similar in nature to the author.

The report of Mrs. C. L. Upper, convener of the Home Arts Guild showed a varied program of work and social activities. At their work meetings, the members made supplies for the Children's Aid. Several members of the Guild gave papers at other meetings. Three quilts are also being completed. The final meeting of the group will be held April 26. The treasurer's report showed a balance of $76.04. The recording secretary, Miss Ruth Barns, and the corresponding secretary, Mrs. W. Tinker, also gave account of their yearly activity on behalf of the Association.

Plans begun for the 1944-45 season included the presentation of a film on handicrafts and the announcement of the 40th birthday celebration of the Club, to be held in March, 1945.

Y. W. C. A. Club Doings

Spring is in the air also a holiday spirit hang-over and much concentrated attention on the Gym Demonstration so that club programs are mostly informal open house affairs. How about some ping-pong, badminton, dancing, music, or just loafing?

The All Nations' Club which has adopted the new name of Canada Club seemed to suffer from the "busyness" of its members this week. The new name "Canada Club" means that its members are all real Canadians who have come here from other countries and who are anxious to learn all there is to know of Canada and its customs. Some of the members are embarking on a project of learning to write in English and we wish to say that if any more of our friends would like to learn to either read or write we will be glad to hear from them. It looks as if the next meeting on May 2 will take the form of a Community Night at the "Y".

Junior Business Girls on Wednesday held a recreational evening with ping-pong, dancing, and chatter.

The Thursday Supper Club met for the first time in this new season. Jane Gillespie presided in the absence of the president, Marley Jobbitt. There will be no meeting next week in order that the members may concentrate on the Collegiate Gym Demonstration. A hike is planned for the near future. The project this week was war work once more and the toys are underway with hopes of having a good number finished before the final meeting.

The Saturday Juniors had a merry time in a variety program last Saturday with singing games, and impromptu pantomime story "The Little Bird with the Broken Wing", the Carnival of the Animals, with sewing on Humpty Dumpties and knitting. We hope to develop our dramatic talent with more pantomime stories so come right along and show us what you can do!

The Tuesday Business Girls are holding a Bohemian supper meeting on Tuesday at 6 o'clock and will take part in a discussion on "Health" led by Eleanor Taylor. The club will then attend the Agnes Logan Green recital.

The '38 Club meeting scheduled for Wednesday has been postponed until May 10th when it is expected that all members will be present. However, an informal "Open House" has been arranged for members and their friends in the Green Room instead of the regular meeting.

CELEBRATES 101ST BIRTHDAY—Peterborough's oldest citizen, Miss Mary Nicholls, McDonnel Street, is today quietly observing her 101st birthday. Once again many of her ex-students, who attended her classes in Central School, are remembering her with personal visits and with cards and letters. Her keen memory and lively interest in their activities never ceases to amaze them. Although many are scattered throughout Canada and the United States, they keep in touch with the woman who for many years helped to mould the youth of Peterborough. Always interested in community activities, Miss Nicholls has welcomed Victory Loan salesmen and has faithfully subscribed to a bond on each canvass. Aside from a few colds this winter, Miss Nicholls is enjoying excellent health and is looking forward to the spring weather.

Bethany W.I. Reviews Year's Activities

BETHANY, April 21 — (ENS) — Bethany members of the Women's Institute were entertained at the home of Mrs. Wm. Phillips for their annual meeting this week. It was decided to send $10 to the Jam Fund for bombed Britons.

Four very interesting letters were read from local boys overseas. They were Lawrence Steer, Jack Smith, Wilfred Saunders and Ray Hayes. The letters expressed grateful thanks for boxes sent by the Institute.

Reports of the year's work were read from secretary and treasurer. Also from Mrs. H. H. Ryley from the auditors. Stating books were in a satisfying condition Miss Lily Thompson reported for Mrs. Price about the war work accomplished. She said another quota was completed and shipped to Red Cross headquarters in Toronto. Mrs. Thorndyke reporting for the quilt committee said 4 quilts were finished last month, two of these had been sold to accumulate the quilt fund treasury and two are ready for shipment to Red Cross headquarters. Four quilts are ready for completion at next meeting. Miss H. H. Ryley acted as presiding officer, Mrs. W. L. Rowan and Mrs. Clark Pomeroy as scrutineers for the election of officers. The election was as follows:

President, Miss Hannah Staples; 1st vice pres., Mrs. R. W. Price; 2nd vice pres., Mrs. Roy Jarvis; secretary, Mrs. A. H. Monk; treasurer, Mrs. Clara Armstrong; sick and visiting committee, Mrs. T. J. Jackson and Mrs. Ona Thorndyke; piano committee, Mrs. H. H. Ryley and Mrs. Clara Armstrong; cup and saucer committee, Mrs. F. W. Reynolds and Mrs. H. H. Ryley.

Standing Committees

Agricultural, Mrs. W. L. Rowan; citizenship, Mrs. Charles Reynolds; historical research, Mrs. H. H. Ryley; home economics, Mrs. Roy Jarvio; social welfare, Mrs. T. J. Jackson; war work, Mrs. R. W. Price.

Group Leaders

Group No. 1, Mrs. W. L. Rowan, Mrs. T. J. Jackson; Group No. 2, Mrs. Ona Thorndyke, Mrs. Clara Armstrong; Group No 3, Mrs. F. W. Reynolds, Mrs. Roy Jarvis; Group No. 4, Mrs. Hilliard Bristow, Mrs. C. Cumiskey.

Press representation, Mrs. A. H. Monk; district director, Mrs. Clara Armstrong; auditors, Mrs. H. H. Ryley, Mrs. Roy Jarvis.

Financial Statement

Bethany Institute receipts amounted to $226.87 with a balance from 1943 of $31.34, making a total of $1,257.91.

Expenditures listed were:

Victory Bond, $50; Boxes overseas, $54.60; Christmas cheer for British children, $10; Hospital for Sick Children, $10; Chinese Relief Fund, $21; Bank book for baby daughter of member, $1; Antiseptics and gauze, first aid kit, public school, $1.60; fruit and cards for sick members, $3.16; stationery for sick soldiers, $2; bank balance, $37.05 with two Victory Bonds of $100.

The May meeting will be held at the home of Mrs. T. J. Jackson with program and lunch in charge of Group No. 1. It is expected that the district president will be present.

Mrs. H. H. Ryley moved a vote of thanks to the hostess for use of her home and members of group 4 for the lunch.

RISKED THEIR LIVES

BRISTOL, England — (CP) — An R.S.P.C.A. inspector, a police sergeant and a railway inspector risked their lives to find a horse which disappeared into a 100-ft. pit caused by subsidence in a field here. Despite the danger of the new falls they climbed down lashed ladders and found the animal with its neck broken.

THIS IS FOOD FOR A FIGHTING ARMY—In a bakery somewhere back of the front lines in Italy these stacks of bread were baked to feed the Canadians fighitng "up front". Distributing food to units in action is no small job as these men of the Royal Canadian Army Service can attest. Passing loaves from truck to truck for delivery to the field kitchens of various units are Pte. M. Kuchurean of Sydney, N.S., and Pte. W. R. Haley of Ottawa.

MAKING HOME FOR WAIF HELPS

Childless Couple Will Give Country Fine Gift In Bringing Up Orphaned Little Ones.

AMONG my correspondents are a couple whose only flaw in their happy marriage is that they have no children. They are fortyish, highly respected by all who know them, comfortably well off, own their own home, but they are lonely in it because its walls echo to no childish laughter and there is no patter of little feet along its floors.

They have made strenuous efforts to adopt a child, but apparently the baby supply is not equal to the demand. Everywhere they have been met with the same reply: "We will put your application on file, but we have a waiting list a mile long and it may be two or three years before your number comes up and your request for a child can be considered."

Women Crave Children

There isn't a day that I do not get pathetic letters from women who have been denied motherhood, but whose arms ache to cuddle a little head against their breast, who ask how they can find children to take into their childless homes.

To these child-hungry men and women I would suggest a sort of Lend Lease Proposition, by which I mean taking as a paying guest some little human waif who, by the ill winds of chance, has been cast upon the shores of life, with nowhere to go and no one to care for him.

This service the Children's Bureau, which has a branch in every city, performs. Instead of sending these forlorn little ones to orphan asylums, as was formerly done, it tries to place them in homes in which they will grow up in the home atmosphere that is every child's birthright, and in which they will have the love and care and guidance of a good man and woman. For this privilege it pays the child's board in the cases in which he has no family, or the family has no money.

It seems to me that this offers a unique opportunity for people who want to adopt children, but who cannot get them, to satisfy their hearts' desire to have a baby to pet and cuddle, or smart youngsters growing about them. And it has this further advantage, that if the child and his foster parents do not click they can part, as they cannot do in the case of adoption.

People Perform Great National Service

The people who take in the little child boarders and who give them the pentup parental affection that has had no outlet before, not only add to their own happiness, but have a chance at doing a great work for their day and generation. For they have these children at the impressionable time of their lives, and when they give love to a lonely, love-starved child; when they hold high ideals of conduct before developing boys and girls; when they light the fires of ambition in unformed little minds they have given to their country the finest gift that is possible to make. They have done a great work.

Of course, the one objection to the Lend Lease Baby Proposition is that it is temporary, and it is often a heart-break when the foster parents have to give up the children they have learned to love so dearly.

But, in reality, none of us keep children with us very long. Life takes them from us. Before we know it they are no longer babies, no longer school boys and girls. They are gone from the home nest. But we have our happiness with them and we have our memories and their love. And the foster parent has that as well as the real one. Released by the Bell Syndicate, Inc.

Missionaries Returning From China Post

OMEMEE, April 22 — (ENS) — Following is a copy of an airgraph received this week by Miss Alice Veals, Omemee, from her brother, Rev. Howard J. Veals, missionary, who has been in China for the last six years, and who is to spend a furlough in Canada. Rev. Veals has another sister, Mrs. S. D. Vaughan, and a brother, W. C. Veals, also living in Omemee.

16 Elgin road, Calcutta, India, March 14, 1914.

Dear Alice—"You will see by the above address that we have arrived in India. We got here March 11 and after a good trip out (by plane). We will be able to tell you more about it later, but it was a very fine trip and one that it was a real opportunity to take.

It is much hotter here than in Chungking. In fact we came from early spring to summer weather, as it were, over night. We do not expect to be here very long but will be going on to meet Katherine and Marion in Central India from there. Eventually we hope to arrive in Canada, but I cannot tell you anything about that. Don't worry about us however, if it is a long time. Sometimes it is quick, sometimes it is slow. We are getting some clothes here as we were not able to bring so many things out with us and any way most of our summer things were done after all these years. I went to church twice yesterday, once to the English Methodist and once to the Church of Scotland. Both services were in English and both churches had pipe organs. This is certainly a busy city and a cosmopolitan one too, though not so cosmopolitan as Shanghai.

It was near this city that Carey did his work for India and one of the churches here was really founded by him. There is plenty to see here, but we shall not have much time to see it, and anyway there is a good deal of historic interest that one cannot see now. Many places are closed because they are being put to other uses. We hope to see a little of India, but the same thing will apply to other places of interest, I guess.

Get Statement

OTTAWA, April 22 — (CP) — Defence Minister Ralston today promised Gordon Gravdon, Progressive Conservative House leader, that he would make a statement today on notification of the relatives of returning servicemen so that the relatives might be on hand at the station when they arrived home. He said it was a matter of security which was not involved in the case of hospital ships, but which was involved in the case of ordinary troop transports.

For Sunday, April 23

SUNDAY'S horoscope gives high impetus to gay and festive functions of a domestic, social and romantic flavor, with the possibility of overspending lavishly and dangerously in this extravagance. It is a day for youth and youthful pastimes, and these might profit and find happiness with a little supervision as over-indulgence and excess might be carried to regrettable situations.

Those whose birthday it is may look for a lively and happy year, with celebrations and social, domestic or affectional affairs carried to overindulgence or excess. Some supervision is recommended. In a serious way it is a favorable time for making new contracts.

A child born on this day should be versatile, clever in music, poetry and other creative art. It may be improvident and pleasure-loving.

For Monday, April 24

Monday's astrological forecast is for a productive day, with contacts with diplomatic or political or fraternal groups, where subtlety and intrigue are employed. Well organized strategies will prove more lucrative than straightforward and direct methods. Social and home matters may be busy in celebrations of romantic affairs. Some menace of deception and undercover transactions is noted.

Those whose birthday it is may enjoy a successful and happy year by guarding against subtlety and deception; arising from peculiar sources. With the use of strategy and vigilance against misconstruction and treachery, there may be thriving business conditions and much social and romantic pleasure.

A child born on this day will have creative ability in many lines. It may be fond of pleasure.

Rural Service Extensions in Wartime

War demands come first. Many of the materials needed in providing Hydro rural service, that are plentiful in peacetime, are now required in the manufacture of war weapons. Likewise, many trained Hydro men have taken up war duties in the Army, Navy and Air Force. This results in a shortage of manpower, materials and equipment.

Although working under great difficulties, created by these wartime conditions, Hydro will continue to provide essential rural services as rapidly as possible. However, it can be readily realized that with smaller construction crews, coupled with the scarcity of supplies, it is not possible for Hydro to effect extensions of power lines and services to farms as promptly or on the same scale as in peacetime.

Hydro will make every effort to provide service to the more essential farm and other rural users connected with the production and processing of food. Those farmers and other users requiring electricity to assist in the production of food and for the replacement of labour will be given preference. Farmers located along existing lines will be given priority over those in areas where lines must be constructed. In any case, only extensions of limited length can be considered. All other rural residents on new or existing lines will be supplied with Hydro service as and when conditions permit.

Hydro trusts that this, along with the previous messages, will enable rural consumers to more readily understand the new uniform Hydro rural rates and the influence of wartime shortages of materials on power extensions. Upon your request, [illegible] on these matters will gladly be supplied by any [illegible] Superintendent.

Large Supply Of Plasma Needed By Soldiers On Invasion Date

With invasion plans and rumours increasing, the Blood Donors Clinic is hoping to augment the number of weekly donors. Officials pointed out that the blood plasma must be ready before the battle begins, not after. Since it takes five donations to make one transfusion, a tremendous supply is necessary.

This week there were 148 donors listed, 63 on Monday and 85 on Wednesday. Mrs. Madge Richardson, Monday, topped the list of women blood donors by making her seventh donation.

Donors on Monday were:

BARCLAY ON BRIDGE

UNIT OF TIMING VITAL

WHENEVER you see a long suit in the dummy, you see something which should be considered as a possible menace. Is the declarer likely to set it up and use one or more cards of it to discard losers of other suits? If so, are there entries in the dummy's suits, which may be required to aid in establishment of the long one, or to get at it after it is established? If your answers to these questions are in the affirmative, begin whacking at those side entries as soon as you can.

North: ♠ 9 8 7 ♥ A J 10 9 8 7 ♦ 6 2 ♣ 7 5

West: ♠ J 5 4 3 ♥ Q 5 ♦ A Q J 10 ♣ 9 6 2

East: ♠ K 10 2 ♥ 3 2 ♦ 9 4 ♣ A J 10 8 4 3

South: ♠ A Q 6 ♥ K 6 4 ♦ K 8 7 5 3 ♣ K Q

(Dealer: South. East-West vulnerable.)

South	West	North	East
1 NT	Pass	2 ♥	Pass
3 ♦	Pass	3 ♥	Pass
3 NT	Pass	4 ♥

Game could be made on this deal at No Trumps, whereas perfect defense would beat 4-Hearts, but the defenders did not do a perfect job. East started by laying down the club A, and the 2 from West impelled him to switch. He picked the diamond 9. South put on the K and West the A. Realizing that the dummy's diamonds, a card longer than his own, were dangerous and desiring to knock out dummy entries, West returned the spade 3.

After declarer won the spade K with the A, he led a second diamond from dummy, West winning with the 10 and returning another spade to the 10 and Q. A third diamond, from dummy, was ruffed by the heart 7, which East could not over-ruff; then, after a lead to the heart K, a fourth diamond was led and ruffed by the heart 9. This set up dummy's fifth diamond. Another trump dropped West's Q, and the club A remained in dummy for an entry to use the fifth diamond in discarding North's last spade. That assured his contract.

If East, after winning with the club A, had knocked out an entry from dummy with a lead of either black suit, the setting up of that fifth diamond and using it for a discard would have been impossible. Loss of one unit of timing proved vital.

Lauds Canada's Friendship With States

By ROSS MUNRO
Canadian Press Staff Writer

LONDON, April 21—(CP)—Canada never could belong to a policy-making body which might put her into conflict with the United States, Leslie Hore-Belisha told the House of Commons today.

Analyzing the dominion's role in the Commonwealth as he continued the debate on Empire affairs, the former War Secretary also spoke of the forthcoming London conference of Empire prime ministers, terming it "fitting" that they "should be here on the eve of the greatest military expedition that has ever left these shores."

He said it was necessary to appreciate Canada's geographical position as well as appreciating that in order to make the dominion more helpful to Britain she had interlocked her economy with the United States.

Canada has built great shipyards and intensified her agricultural effort to help Britain, he said, and, with the co-operation of the United States, is the fourth industrial power among the United Nations.

He pointed to the military agreement between Canada and the United States and said:

"It is obvious that Canada could not belong to any institution which might put the purposes of her foreign policy into conflict with the United States."

He felt this should not cause irritation in Britain but rather it should be recognized that despite this close affiliation with the U.S. Canada had trained and sent an army to serve with Britain. She had developed her fleet to serve in the Atlantic, had kept Britain supplied with food, and had given large sums of money. This statement was greeted with applause.

"Never has there been such an exhibition of loyalty, such evidence of imperial attachment existing in any part of our previous history," he said. "It is surely an advantage that Canada should be closely associated with the United States because she can act as a bridge between two great maritime democracies."

On the basis of population and resources it was obvious, said Mr. Hore-Belisha, that neither Britain nor the Dominions taken separately could stand on the same level as Russia or the United States. Some method was required at arriving at a position in which a number of separated communities could act act with spontaneity, coherence and efficiency of a single body.

The three most important considerations, he continued, were a single foreign policy, a coherent scheme of de[illegible]ce and a close, mutual understa[illegible]ing not only between governments but peoples as well.

Mr. Hore-Belisha suggested that in regard to civil aviation the Commonwealth would act imperially in negotiations.

"Let us be able to set down and pick up anywhere within the Empire as though it were a single country. It would be a retrograde step if the Empire were to lose its unity in this most important of all communications on which so much of our future success, strength and usefulness in the world depends."

Egg Receipts Climb Steadily

TORONTO, April 22. — An appreciable volume of receipts still continues to arrive on the egg market, with a gradual increase in the surplus being noted during the past few days. Local breaking houses are receiving sufficient supplies for the present through the Special Products Board.

Butter dealers are still hopeful of a faster rate of production in the near future. Although the present supply situation is sufficient to meet most needs, a greater volume could readily be absorbed.

Offerings on the cheese market are still extremely scarce

Acting Prime Minister during Mr. King's absence, the House was told before it adopted a bill ratifying Canada's participation in the United Nations Relief and Rehabilitation administration.

Hyde Park Declaration

Termination of the financial arrangements under the Hyde Park declaration of 1941 was announced by Finance Minister Ilsley, who said that there was complete understanding with the United States in respect to the financial arrangements which had their origin in the declaration.

Canadian and United States exchange holdings were such that United States permanent improvements to airfields in Canada now could be paid for and some of the United States war contracts in Canada would be cancelled, the Minister said. Special arrangements entered into last year have been ended.

Under the Hyde Park declaration, decided on by Prime Minister King and President Roosevelt, the United States agreed to make purchases of war supplies in Canada so that the Canadian foreign exchange reserves, then at a dangerously low level, could be maintained. In addition, the declaration provided for co-operation of war production of the two countries to prevent duplication.

Although the special financial arrangements had been terminated the close collaboration in war production still stood, Mr. Ilsley said.

Foreign Exchange.

Finance Department officials said Mr. Ilsley's statement could not be taken as meaning there would be early relaxation in foreign exchange restrictions, such as those limiting amounts Canadians may take to the United States.

Mr. King announced the international monetary fund agreement before he told the House that he expected to leave for the London Conference "shortly."

"Since I shall not be able to be in the House this evening, I would like to take this opportunity of making an announcement which is being made to-day in other capitals," said Mr. King.

Reaching of the agreement was announced simultaneously in London, Washington and Ottawa. Mr. King emphasized that the principles of the agreement had been agreed upon only by the financial experts of the United Nations and there was no commitment by any government.

Officials of the Finance Department said Canada's contribution to the proposed gold-based fund had not yet been determined.

Primary purposes for the fund were to promote international monetary co-operation through a permanent institution; to facilitate the expansion and balanced growth of international trade thus contributing to a high level of employment and real income; to give confidence to members by making resources available to them under adequate safeguards; to promote exchange stability and avoid competitive exchange depreciation; to eliminate foreign exchange restrictions, and to shorten the periods and lessen the disequilibrium in the international balance of countries participating.

Children's Need Subject Of Talk

HAVELOCK, April 22—(ENS). — With Easter as the theme, an interesting program was presented at the Home and School Association meeting. The pupils of Miss Locklin's room sang two songs, "April Rain" and "Easter Day." A playette entitled "Bunny Rabbit and the Old Turtle" was enacted by Shirley Seabrook, Eleanor Scott and Jimmy Chase. Part of the class gave a choral reading "Spring's Wakening," with Lois Wilde taking the part of the Snowdrop and Phyllis Wilde acting as the Sun. Marilyn Brunton gave a recitation "An Easter Greeting," and the class sang two numbers. Rev. J. W. Wilkinson told an Easter story taken from the Gospel of St. Matthew. An enlightening panel discussion on the CBC chart of child needs, as prepared by the National Committee for Mental Hygiene, was led by the health convener, Mrs. C. Price. Dealing with the six emotional needs of a child, then the character and social needs, nearly all parents and teachers present taking part. The remaining needs on the chart will be dealt with at the next meeting. A vocal duet by Mrs D. Kirk and Mrs. D. Holdcroft, "The Magdalene," closed the program. The attendance shield was won by Miss Locklin's room.

The president, Mrs. R. W. Goheen, presided for the business. A tea and rummage sale will be held in the school on May 5. Next meeting will be a Mother's Day program and election of officers.

Obituary

MISS ROSA J. GARDNER.

NORWOOD, April 22—(ENS). — The death took place this week in Whitby of Rosa Jane Gardner in her 57th year. She was the only daughter of George Gardner and Sarah Burgess of Dummer, and lived many years in Dummer before the family retired to Norwood.

The funeral service was held from the Tedford Funeral Home on Thursday afternoon at 2 o'clock, Rev. E. E. Pugsley officiating. Pallbearers were George Humphreys, R. Ferguson, Howard Gardner, A. Webster, John Gardner and L. Humphreys. Interment was in Norwood Cemetery.

HE IS "WANTED"—The back room of a tavern owned by Matt Capone in Cicero, Chicago suburb, was the scene of the slaying of James Daniel Larkin, former racehorse trainer and reputed to be a gambling syndicate collector. Matt Capone, above, brother of "Scarface" Al, is wanted by the police for questioning in the slaying.

Lawyer Given 30-Day Term

NEW YORK, April 22 (AP)—Attorney Edward V. Broderick was sentenced to 30 days in city prison today on a contempt of court charge resulting from his conduct at the start of Wayne Lonedgan's murder trial.

Judge John J. Freschi ruled the lawyer guilty on each count of a four-count citation and sentenced him to 30 days on each, the sentences to run concurrently.

Judge Freschi granted a 30-day stay, however, to permit Broderick to appeal the decision and sentence, or request a review.

The attorney's conduct resulted in Judge Freschi halting Lonergan's trial and dismissing the jury panel. Lonergan, a former R.C.A.F. aircraftsman, charged with slaying his heiress wife, Patricia, subsequently was convicted of second-degree murder before another judge and sentenced to 35 years to life in prison.

One count of the charge dealt with Broderick's failure to appear when the trial first was scheduled to be held last February. The others alleged that he made disparaging remarks about other counsel; that he made contemptuous remarks to Judge Freschi and that he made certain statements about District Attorney Frank S. Hogan.

Many Home Defence men who went to Kiska, including French Canadians are at Vernon.

At Ottawa last night Defence Minister Ralston said he wanted time to "think about it overnight" before making any comment upon Major-Gen. Pearkes' address.

(Maj. Triquet, who arrived in Ottawa last night, declined to comment on the statemnt of Mayor Howrie.

(Maj. Triquet's Commanding Officer, Brig. E. Blais, Officer Commanding Military District No. 5 (Québec) said "these comments from western Canada are sickening. It is time they were stopped. Maj. Triquet is a soldier from first to last. He was brought home for a rest and to visit his family.

("He will go anywhere in the interests of the war, but his greatest aim is to rejoin his comrades of the Royal 22nd Regiment overseas. That is all he wishes to say— and you can quote me as saying this for him.")

Why Not Get The Most Out of Life

"Too strenuous for me" you may say when you look at the illustration. But what a great difference there is between just living along and managing to get by, as compared to the exhuberent feelings which come with good health.

So why not get the most out of life—the most of health—of success—of happiness.

Unless you have some serious, chronic disease you can do much towards building up new energy and vitality by using Dr. Chase's Nerve Food.

Lack of energy and ambition, tired feelings, sleeplessness, irritability, depressed feelings and discouragement—point to nervous exhaustion. Lack of nervous energy, or motive power leaves the bodily organs weak in action, resulting in indigestion, constipation and torpid action of the liver and kidneys.

It is truly surprising the benefit that can be obtained by the use of Dr. Chase's Nerve Food. More than ever now, because of the addition to the formula of Vitamin B_1, the new vitamin which goes to build up nerve force and vitality.

For new pep and energy, for the vigor of mind and body that makes for health and success and happiness, use Dr. Chase's Nerve Food. You can depend on it to supply what it takes to restore tired, exhausted nerves, and to build up resistance against fatigue and disease.

ADDRESSES ON THE MOVE...

This Mail has PRIORITY

WHEN a man is wounded in action or seriously ill, he is rushed through field and base hospitals with all possible speed, to the place where most effective treatment can be given. Because of this rapid movement, his mail may not "catch up" for some time, yet, if ever he longed for a letter from home, it is at such a time.

To offset possible delays, a new "Short-Cut" mail service has been put into effect. A Priority Casualty Card is filled in and rushed by Air Mail to his friends or relatives with instructions to add the words "In Hospital" to the unit address they usually use.

Letters mailed from Canada bearing the words "In Hospital" are routed direct to the records office in the United Kingdom or the Central Mediterranean Force, as the case may be. They are given preference in transport, whether sent by Air Mail or regular mail. Thus they will reach the addressee faster than ever before.

It is inevitable that in tracing men who have been moved, or wounded, some delays occur. But you can rest assured everything that can mean speedier deliveries of letters to your men is being well and thoroughly done—and will be done.

When you get a Priority Casualty Card be sure the words "In Hospital" are added to the regular unit address when writing overseas.

Powerful 2-Way Air Attack Smashes Germany, Romania

Jap Threat To Railway Said Removed

More Paratroopers Flown To Reinforce Chindits

By THOBURN WIANT
Associated Press Staff Writer

KANDY, Ceylon, April 24.—(AP). Substantial Allied forces have been flown in to reinforce the Chindits already operating along a front scores of miles long behind the Japanese lines in Central and Northern Burma, Allied Headquarters announced to-day amid increasing signs that immediate danger to the Bengal-Assam railway from the Japanese invasion of India has been removed.

The air-borne reinforcements shoved into the jungle "beachheads" apparently were sent to clinch the Allied positions along the railway from Mandalay to Myitkyina which were seized several weeks ago in a move to shut off Japanese supplies to North Burma and the Imphal front in India.

Headquarters did not enlarge upon the announcement, however.

On the Imphal front the communique said, Allied troops have cleared the road from Kohima to the Bengal-Assam railway junction of Dimapur and relief of the Kohima garrison has been completed. Kohima is two-thirds of the way on the road from Imphal to the junction, and the relief of the garrison there appeared to have dissipated the possibility that the Japanese would drive on to the railway and cut the artery pumping supplies to Flt.-Gen. Joseph W. Stillwell's Northern Burma forces.

Battle Rage On.

A fierce engagement was fought yesterday for hill positions on the Palel-Tamu road to the southeast and the Japanese succeeded in taking two small hill features, the communique said.

Another Japanese attack was repulsed in the Bishenpur area to the southwest of Imphal but hard fighting was continping in the neighborhood of Kungpi, four miles west of Bishenpur.

Here the Japanese obviously were attempting to secure control of the road leading west to Silchar, Imphal's nearest railhead. The road can be travelled by jeeps but was never an organized line of supply for Imphal.

Hurled 37 Feet

BRADFORD, April 24—(CP). — Two residents of nearby Holland Landing were tossed 37 feet through the air in their car Saturday night when it was struck by a freight train but suffered only head injuries and bruises. They were Thomas Foaster and Sam Groger. Their car apparently skidded into the path of the train.

51 Hun Planes Shot Down Over Austria

NAPLES, April 24 (AP)—The Allied Mediterranean air arm destroyed 51 enemy planes and lost 12 heavy bombers and five other craft yesterday in 1,500 sorties which included heavy bomber assaults on vital Nazi aircraft factories in Austria, headquarters announced today.

On the ground in Italy, Allied artillery destroyed an ammunition dump in Cassino. Action generally was limited to patrol forays and artillery duels.

"Strong forces" of escorted heavy bombers blasted aircraft factories at Wiener-Neustadt, Schewchat and Bad Voslau and also bombed an airdrome north of Wiener Neustadt while other planes struck in Italy, in Yugoslavia and against shipping in the Aegean, a communique said.

Heavy and medium bombs took up the offensive again last night, blasting Genoa, Santo Stefano, Piombino and Parma in Italy, the Bulletin added.

Repulse 2 Attacks.

NAPLES, April 24.—(AP).— Allied troops have repulsed two German thrusts against the Anzio beachhead, Headquarters announced to-day as activity elsewhere along the Italian front remained limited to patrol clashes and artillery duels.

One of the unsuccessful thrusts against the beachhead was made in company strength around Carano in the central sector. The other was an infiltration attempt southwest of Carroceto, 21 miles below Rome.

West of Mount Marrone, mile-high peak 15 miles northeast of Cassino held by Italian troops. Allied patrols probed and engaged the Germans at a point where little opposition had been shown previously.

3,000 Planes Saturate Nazi Targets

Bucharest, Ploesti Friedrichshafen All Take Pounding

By AUSTIN BEALMEAR
Associated Press Staff Writer

LONDON, April 24—(AP).—In a two-way blow, an American sky force approaching 2,000 heavy bombers and fighters from Britain smashed German plane plants today while an armada of about 1,000 more struck from Italy at Bucharest and Ploesti, Romania.

In perhaps the heaviest co-ordinated attack of the war, Britain-based heavy bombers struck plane plants and other factories at Friedrichshafen and airdromes near Munich as a formation of perhaps 500 heavy bombers and as many protecting fighters roared out of Italy and attacked Balkan objectives.

Airmen said they had "considerable success" in their attack on the main rail yards at Bucharest in good weather. The attack on rail yards at the oil centre of Ploesti, highly important to Hitler's war machine, was made by big formations of heavy bombers.

Fire Plane Plants.

Other heavyweights bombed the Belgrade-Ikarus aircraft factory in Yugoslavia. Early reports said a number of enemy interceptors were destroyed by the Italy-based bombers and their escorts.

The resounding two-way offensive was carried out on the 10th straight day of American heavy bomber operations.

The assault on German objectives was carried out in good weather which gave the Germans a better chance to challenge these latest blows in the history-making campaign to drive the German air force from the sky.

The German radio claimed the American bombers and fighters were engaged by Nazi defenders even before they crossed the border and fierce battles were fought over southern Germany. Early official American reports did not mention today's losses.

Light and medium bombers and fighters joined i- the shuttle parade toward northern France, indicating Nazi cross-Channel installations, already pounded by 8,000 tons of bombs in the current offensive, were being hit for the eighth consecutive day following R.A.F. and R.C.A.F. night smashes at targets in Belgium and western Germany.

An Air Ministry communique said R.A.F. heavy bombers had pounded an important signal equipment depot at Vilvorde, six miles east of Brussels, during the night while speedy Mosquit--s lashed at the German industrial centre of Mannheim. R.C.A.F. planes laid mines in enemy waters.

Six planes, one of them Canadian, were listed as missing from the overnight operations.

Ford Deadlock Likely To Spread Further

WINDSOR, April 24. — (CP).— The Ford Motor Company of Canada, Ltd. to-day offered to enter into negotiations for a new collective bargaining contract with Local 200 of the United Automobile Workers of America (C.I.O.) as a work stoppage which halted operations at the company's plants went into its fifth day.

The company's offer, made in a newspaper advertisement, asked that the 14,000 employees who have been idle since last Thursday at 11 a.m., return to work pending negotiations. There was no immediate comment from the union.

The company statem ent said it had terminated the previous collective bargaining agreement last Thursday because in the two years it was in force there were three strikes "in direct violation of the contract with the union . . . pledged its members to uphold." The old contract was reached before there was any legislative machinery covering employer-employee relations. The company now was prepared to negotiate a new contract under the Federal Government's new labor code.

The statement further offered to submit to an impartial referee the dispute over grievances procedure which led to the work stoppage last Thursday.

The proposal that employees return to work was on the following basis:—

"The Company will immediately and in good faith enter into negotiations with bargaining representatives of Local 200 for a new contract to be negotiated according to Wartime Labor regulations, provided Local 200 undertake to select such bargaining representatives and have them certified under the same regulations, the Company to sign any new contract which may be negotiated only after such certification has been secured by the Union representatives.

"Local 200 must also undertake upon return of employees to work and during negotiations for a new contract to carry on with the Company interim arrangements for negotiation and investigation of grievances and appeals along the lines suggested to the Union by the Company last Monday, April 17."

Picketing was discontinued Sunday but was resumed today. There have been no reports of trouble or violence between pickets and workers.

Japanese Troops Gain In China

CHUNGKING, April 24.—(AP).— A new Japanese advance 22 miles southwest of Chenghsien, where heavy fighting is proceeding under cover of an enemy aerial umbrella, was reported to-night by the Chinese High Command. The latest Japanese push was west of the town of Mihsien.

Frontline reports called the position at Chenghsien "obscure," with the Japanese forces reinforced to more than 60,000 troops in their drive aimed at loosening the Allies from another leg of North China's communications.

Reds Massing For New Balkan Blow

Sevastopol Siege Slackens Garrison Trapped

By HENRY C. CASSIDY
Associated Press Staff Writer

MOSCOW, April 24.—(AP).—The Russians, who in 10 months have lifted the siege of Leningrad, struck into Romania and smashed halfway to Berlin in their 500-mile overland march from Kursk, are massing a new campaign, front dispatches indicated to-day.

As a relative calm prevailed along the long front for the second straight day yesterday, the dispaches said that rearguard services were being moved forward to new bases, required after the winter advance. The pause was expected to be short-lived.

The spring lull last year continued until July 5 when the Germans launched their ill-fated Kursk offensive and subsequently were routed westward.

(In London and Berlin itself the conviction was growing that the Russians would strike soon on the Polish-Romanian fronts, perhaps co-ordinating their offensive with Allied blows in the west and south.

(The German-controlled Scandinavian Telegraph Bureau quoted a Berlin spokesman as saying the German High Command 'expects a general offensive which will demand superhuman efforts by German soldiers.")

The Russians said yesterday that local German counter - attacks southeast of Stanislawow, in pre-war Poland and southwest of Narva on the Estonian front had subsided after infantry forces, with relatively small tank support, failed to make any significant gains.

The Axis Crimean garrison, crowded behind its fortifications at Sevastopol, is offering no offensive threat to the Red army. Having slim chances of escaping through the Black sea fleet and the Red air force blockade, the Germans and Romanians apparently were being left to expire slowly at a minimum cost to the Russians.

Frances Perkins Addresses I.L.O.

PHILADELPHIA, April 24—(AP)—Labor Secretary Frances Perkins of the United States said to-day the United Nations should regard as "a matter of international concern" the maintenance of high levels of employment and national income within every nation.

Speaking before the 26th International Labor Organization Conference, she said the United States I.L.O. delegation will recommend that the United Nations "agree in principle" on this attitude.

Miss Perkins also said the I.L.O. should discuss economic matters—previously barred from the organization's agenda.

President Roosevelt told the conference last week that the organization must be the agency "for decision and for action" on social and economic matters affecting working people.

Miss Perkins recommended the establishment, "on a "universal basis," of labor standards now prevailing in the United States.

Navy Spearheads Victory Loan Topping Quota

OTTAWA, April 24.—(CP).—With the armed services and individual Canadians providing the early highlights, Canada's Sixth Victory Loan aimed at $1,200,000,000 got under way to-day as an army of 150,000 began selling Canadians a share in the coming victory.

As the three weeks' drive opened the Royal Canadian Navy had the honor of reporting the first unit over the top—the Corvette 225, featured in the motion picture of the same name, which put to sea with a total of $8,100 worth of bonds purchased of an objective of $3,500.

From the Middle East, the R.C.A.F. told of a few Canadians, serving with an R.A.F. bomber squadron, who purchased $6,000 in bonds on the first visit of the Victory Loan liaison officer.

Workers in industry were matching the buying done by the armed forces. F. A. Stephens of Thorold, Ont., first vice-president of the International Brotherhood of Pulp, Sulphite and Paper Mill Workers (A.F. of L.) announced that union would purchase $50,000 in bonds. The five manufacturing plants across Canada of the Massey-Harris Company reported they had sold $720,000 on an objective of $678,000.

From London, Ont., came announcement of a $15,000,000 purchase by the London Life Insurance Company and another of $1,750,000 jointly by the Erie Mortgage Corporation and Canada Trust Company.

Another purchase in the large brackets was that of the Robin Hood Flour Mills Limited of Moose

Finland Rejects Peace Proposals

STOCKHOLM, April 24 — (AP) — Russian peace terms have been rejected for a second time after "taking into account the future of this country," the Finnish government said last night in a communique issued at Helsinki.

(The Russians, announcing Saturday night that negotiations were ended, blamed German domination for Finland's refusal.)

The bulletin said the decision was made "according to the democratic system." It declared that Premier Edwin Linkomies told a secret session of parliament April 12 that Russia's conditions in the form received "cannot form any basis for peace" and parliament accepted the government's recommendation after the Easter holiday.

Andrei J. Vishinsky, Soviet Vice-Commissar of foreign affairs, announced in Moscow Saturday night that revised Soviet conditions for an armistice had been rejected by the Finnish government, bringing negotiations to a close.

Vishinsky told a press conference that the Soviet government had advised the British and United States governments and that Britain had approved the Russian reply which declared that Finland's reasons for rejecting the armistice terms were "unfounded."

Glider Troops Complete Hazardous Job

WASHINGTON, April 24 (AP)—The war department disclosed today that the airborne invasion of Japanese-held Burma by British forces and American airmen was planned at the Quebec Conference of Prime Minister Churchill and President Roosevelt and Anglo-American military leaders last August.

The official announcement of the planning and carrying out of the invasion last month served to emphasize the long interval necessary to blueprint, train and equip the complicated operations of World War II—in this instance, almost eight months.

The idea of having a specially trained "air commando force" fly the jungle fighters of the late Maj. Gen. Orde C. Wingate over the heads of the enemy and land them behind the Japanese lines was inspired by Wingate's earth-bound expedition into Burma in the spring of 1943, the department said. Wingate's columns in that operation were supplied by air—the new idea was to take them in by air, supply them and literally set up a beachhead in the interior, rather than on the edge of enemy territory.

Arnold At Head

Gen. H. H. Arnold, A.A.F. commander, was given the go-head at the Quebec Conference. His first action was to appoint Col. Philip G. Cochran and Col. John R. Alison, both already famous veterans of air fighting, to organize the mission and to issue this one terse order:

"To hell with paper work. Go out and fight."

In a Washington hotel room, the two colonels began creating their air commando force, then flew to England to co-ordinate their air plans with Wingate's ideas.

The glider men were picked from volunteers assembled at Seymour Johnson Field, Goldsboro, N.C., late in 1943, the nucleus of the air commando force left for India. There, for months, officers and men sweated in heat and soaked in rain

50 Plane Carriers With U.S. Fleet

WASHINGTON, April 24 (AP) — The super-size battleship New Jersey is in commission, a report by Admiral Ernest J. King, commander in chief of the United States fleet, disclosed today.

King included the 45,000-ton New Jersey among six battleships which "have joined the fleet" since the United States entered the war.

He said the others were the South Dakota, Indiana, Massachusetts, Alabama and Iowa.

As another indication of the growth of the fleet, Admiral King said: "By the end of 1943 more than 50 carriers of all types had been put into service in our navy and in addition a large number of escort carriers had been transferred to Great Britain."

When she recovered she was brought back and also sentenced to 3 years in penitentiary.

Mr. and Mrs. Gillis were convicted last week by an assize court jury on the manslaughter charges on which they were tried jointly. The children died of suffocation in a fire while alone in their home at Schumacher in the Timmins district.

140,000 Japs Neutralized in Pacific

New Landings Recapture First Dutch Territory Since War Began

BY DEWITT MACKENZIE
Associated Press Staff Writer

The American landing in Netherlands New Guinea stole a fair amount of the invasion limelight during the week-end, though there was enough Allied glory in both European and Pacific theatres to go around.

The landing of American troops at Hollandia and Aitape on the north coast of New Guinea, after a fierce advances Gen. Douglas MacArthur, Allied southwest pacific commander, a big step nearer his heart's desire—recapture of the Philippines. Once Holandia's airfields are in Allied hands, they will provide bases from which heavy bombers can reach the Philippines.

The landings also isolated another 60,000 Japanese who face annihilation. This makes a total of 140,000 enemy troops which are neutralized in the area from New Guinea to the Solomons—all that are left of the quarter million originally intended for invasion of Australia.

This first recapture of Dutch territory lends emphasis to the statement by Admiral Ernest J. King, Commander in Chief of the United States fleet, that the present situation is as dark and threatening to Japan as it is full of promise for the Allies.

In Europe, German military experts profess to believe the invasion of France can come at any time now—and so do a lot of other folk.

One of the most encouraging developments is the Allied announcement in London predicting early destruction of the Nazi air force. The attack on the Nazi aircraft industry, now reaching a climax, is termed a success, though "not yet a complete one." For three months the German fighter force has lost more planes than its plants could manufacture.

That's geat news, because one of the major pre-invasion essentials has been to render the Luftwaffe sufficiently impotent so that the Allies will have control of the air.

This doesn't mean that the Hitlerites aren't holding a considerable fleet in reserve for defence on D-Day. They dare not face the opening of the invasion without it and may be expected to fling everything they have into the air when the big show starts.

Hitler's newspaper, Voelkischer Beobachter, believes the Russians are preparing a new offensive which will synchronise with the invasion of Western Europe, and takes the grim view that the Reich faces the hardest and bloodiest battles of all time this summer.

He did not give any details.

Says Welfare Services Doing Grand Job

TORONTO, April 24 (CP)—Pensions Minister Mackenzie said here today that the "all-pervading purpose and determination" of the Canadian Legion now is to ensure that Canada shall be worthy of the sacrifices which her men in the armed forces have been and now are making.

The minister said that in providing welfare services "nothing has been more far-seeing than your establishment through your war services organization of the Canadian Legion educational services." This work has a definite relationship to the post-discharge careers of soldiers, sailors and airmen.

Two Islands Invaded By Americans

60,000 Japanese Facing Total Annihilation

By C. YATES McDANIEL
Associated Press Staff Writer

ADVANCED HEADQUARTERS, NEW GUINEA, April 24.— (AP).— Under cover of a tremendous naval and air blasting, thousands of American troops established beachheads at Hollandia and Aitape on the strategic north coast of New Guinea Saturday, and to-day 60,000 more isolated Japanese faced annihilation.

Gen. Douglas MacArthur, who witnessed the gigantic operation, termed it Bataan in reverse.

MacArthur's communique to-day said 140,000 Japanese troops stretching from New Guinea to the Solomon Islands are thus "neutralized and strategically impotent." These Japanese are all that remain of a force of 250,000 established on these islands for the invasion of Australia, he declared, adding:

"Time and combat will be required to accomplish the annihilation, but their ultimate fate is certain.

"Their situation reverses Bataan"

The 60,000 Japanese are caught between Hollandia and Madang. The other 80,000 are on New Britain, New Ireland and Bougainville.

The Japanese, caught far off base by feints in the direction of Wewak and Madang to the southeast, offered little opposition to the powerful forces which poured ashore on both sides of Hollandia and at Aitape, 150 miles southeast.

Immediately the troops drove toward the airdromes at both bases with tractors and bulldozers to make serviceable the excellent airstrips which are a little over 1,000 miles from the Philippines—within bomber range.

No Ships Lost.

General MacArthur watched the Hallondia landings from the deck of a bombarding cruiser and went ashore with the second wave of troops, which established a beachhead at Tanahmerah Bay west of Hollandia at dawn.

The landings, which in the case of Hollandia in Dutch New Guinea meant the first recapture of Netherlands territory in the war, bypassed the Japanese base of Wewak with its four airfields and the other enemy air bases of Bogia, Alexishafen, and Madang along the north-east New Guinea coast.

The campaign swept the New Guinea front 500 miles up the coast from the Madang sector.

A strong force of Central Pacific warships including Australian naval units participated in the pre-invasion shelling.

The naval armada did not lose a ship to the weak and ineffectual shore fire and not a single interceptor rose from the bomb-cratered airfields.

37 Arrive Safely.

Two landing targets were considered; one finally used.

The jump-off from India was at 6.12 a.m., on March 5. Twenty-six C-27 transports with multiple tows of CG-4A gliders were in the first wave. Of 54 gliders dispatched that night and not recalled, 37 landed at the selected spot, eight came down in friendly territory and nine in enemy-held areas.

The gliders, carrying fighters, engineers and bulldozers, landed in the rough opening in the Burmese jungle in the dark.

Thirty men were killed and 33 injured; almost all the gliders were damaged or destroyed; four bulldozers were landed, but one was put out of commission in the landing.

A radio was set up and orders went back to stop a second waves of two planes and gliders.

More than 500 men had been landed by the gliders. The engineers and the bulldozers went to work. By the following night an airfield had been built and 62 trips by big C-47 transport planes had added hundreds of more men to the garrison. For seven days, thousands of men (the original plans called for troops "up to a strength of a division") climbed out of an uninterrupted chain of planes shuttling from India to the jungle beachhead. A half-million pounds of supplies, 1,183 mules and 175 ponies were on the ground.

Italian Front Soldiers Top Bond Quota

OTTAWA, April 24 — (CP) — News that soldiers of the Canadian Corps in Italy already have over-subscribed their objective by more than 60 per cent spurred convassers who today began their rounds with the objective of having Canadians invest $1,200,000,000 in bonds of Canada's Sixth Victory Loan.

With a quota of $2,500,000, soldiers in Italy, representing every formation in the Canadian Corps, have so far raised $4,093,550 for the Loan, and late returns will boost the total still higher.

Their campaign—an 11-day drive—as a preview to that opening in Canada today.

"Zolid support" of every Canadian for the campaign was asked by Graham Towers, Chairman of the National War Finance Committee, in an appeal from Halifax. Mr. Towers said he regarded the present Loan as 'one of the most critical Loans in the whole five years of the war."

Unless every Canadian does his or her part, he said, the objective cannot be reached. "I realize that there will be many instances where the purchase of Victory Bonds will mean real self-denial, but I urge every Canadian to do this in the same spirit as our boys who are fighting in Italy, on the high seas, and in the air, offer their lives. They have given us an example to live up to."

In the last autumn's Fifth Victory Loan, the objective of which was also $1,200,000,000 a total of $1,383,000,000 was subscribed, $603,000,000 of this amount coming from individuals.

Same Objective.

Overseas Challenge Starts Loan Campaign

COBOURG April 24.— (ENS.)— As far back as anyone can remember, there has been a good-natured rivalry between Port Hope and Cobourg, particularly in sports. Now the ball and hockey players of the two towns are overseas engaged in a more deadly work. But overseas from Italy has come a challenge from ex-Mayor Jack Ewart of Cobourg and in the challenge he is backed up by the rest of the lads from Cobourg.

This challenge was communicated Sunday afternoon by Mayor Jack Burnet of Cobourg to Mayor Charles Stephenson of Port Hope, during the course of the Victory Loan flag raising ceremonies at Port Hope. Mayor Burnet told Mayor Stephenson that he was pleased to convey to the Port Hope mayor, the challenge of ex-Mayor Ewart in Italy, that Cobourg could trim Port Hope in the Victory Loan campaign. Communities across Canada already were going over the top before the Loan opened. Temiscouata, the home county of Maj. Returned Men Aid.

The New Brunswick island of Grand Manan, a community of 2,200 people, exceeded its quota in the first few hours of the drive. All announced new and increased objectives.

This morning, 150 members of the armed services back from active operations started visiting factories, business concerns, and other organizations from coast to coast, telling of the importance of the Canadian dollars with which they buy Victory Bonds. These men all returned form overseas within the last 10 days.

Members of the armed forces all had messages before them from their ministers, urging the fullest participation in the loan.

"You know at first hand that victory must be paid for—in dollars as well as in blood," read a message from Navy Minister Macdonald.

In a message addressed to all ranks of the Canadian Army in the Western Hemisphere, Defence Minister Ralston listed seven "good reasons" for buying bonds, adding:

"Your comrades overseas, both men and women, are back of this loan to the hilt. They are pledging both their lives and their money for Canada. I ask and I advise every man and woman in the Canadian Army to dig down deep and put the last dollar he or she can spare into Bonds of the Sixth Victory Loan."

Air Minister Power said the need for more money for Canada's war effort was "never greater."

"We are steadily nearing victory, but it is still distant and much fighting must be done before our troops and airmen reach Berlin and Tokyo, or our naval forces steam into enemy harbors. Let us all put our best foot forward this time. Let us buy every bond of which we are capable."

Peterborough Touch.

Sixty Jaapnese shifted from their homes in British Columbia to cut lumber in an Ontario camp near Port Arthur have made bond purchases averaging $100 apiece, the camp foreman, Lars Lahti, a Swede reported. Lahti said it took little persuasion to make the Jap lumberjacks see the wisdom of buying bonds.

Because she wants her husband back home in Canada with the least possible delay, Mrs Bernice Nicol, a worker at the Canadian General Electric Company plant at Peterborough, Ont., invested savings amounting to $700 in bonds.

"I'll match that," said her friend and co-worker, Mrs. Ione Collins, and she produced $700.

Fire Destroys Hastings Home

HASTINGS, April 24 (ENS) — Two soldiers wives, Mrs. J. Ryder and Mrs. Walter Warner, who had established homes for themselves and their families in Hastings while their husbands served overseas, were driven from their dwelling, Victoria street, at 2 o'clock Saturday afternoon by a fire which defeated all efforts to save the building.

This fire of unknown origin was a cruel blow to Mrs. J. Ryder and her two children, Betty and Junior. It is the third time in five years that devouring flames have deprived them of a home which they have struggled to maintain until the father of the family can again take his place in a civilian world of peace.

The two-storey frame house which was one of the oldest in the village, about 100 years old, was inhabited by two families. The upper flat was occupied by Edward Mouncey, his two sons, Donald and Bill, and his daughter, Mrs. J. Ryder and her children. The lower flat was occupied by another soldier's wife, Mrs. Walter Warner, her three daughters, Irene, Ruth, Doreen, and one son, Arnold.

The fire broke out in the upper apartment occupied (by Edward Mouncey and family. Mrs. James Ryder being the only one upstairs, opened the back door to find the porch all in flames.

Shortly after the blaze broke out the Hastings Volunteer Fire Brigade arrived and worked under the leadership of Fire Chief Iden Bonds, Jr., but the frame building was devoured as easily as cardboard. Mrs. Warner was more fortunate than her neighbors upstairs. With the help of friends and neighbors, she managed to salvage most of her household equipment, which was only slightly damaged. Mrs. Ryder was able to rescue only a few personal belongings. The house was owned by Dr. W. E. Milson.

42 Canvassers Start 6th Victory Loan

Twenty-four city canvassers and 18 county workers set out this morning for their first collections in the 6th Victory Loan. Only a few reports had drifted into Headquarters at noon today, but all emphasized the favorable attitude of the people they approached.

Two of the canvassers, Stan Darling and Douglas Anderson, had made quite a few calls, and they reported getting a real welcome. At most of the homes they visited they received subscriptions and a few requested that they call back since they wanted to think the matter over. Gordon Hancock, canvassing in Smith, reported a quiet morning, but said he was not prepared to make a report yet.

Reports show that to date in the present loan, the Payroll Savings is showing better progress than in the 5th Victory Loan. The first bulletin issued last October listed two industries well on the way to reaching their quota. This time the names of seven appear.

One of the most faithful canvassers of past loans, James Skinner, has had to turn over the job to James Juby, because his wife was suddenly stricken ill. Mr. Juby is well known in the West End where he will be calling and Lionel Brown, city sales director, is confident that he will be able to carry on successfully.

Buying a Bond

Mrs. Irene Chambers, Hunter street, is setting an example for many of the women of Peterborough in the Loan. Her husband has been honorably discharged from the Army, and she has been working Saturday afternoons at the C.D.S. store. Out of the salary she receives, she is turning over $2 each week for the purchase of a Victory Bond.

Several mass meetings were held today in the factories and two speakers, Flt. Lieut. Ross Cameron of Trenton and A. E. Lowery, have been rushing to keep several appointments.

Flt. Lieut. Cameron, arrived this morning from Toronto where he is on loan from his station at Trenton. He addressed the Nashua Paper, Canadian Sealright, Peterborough Lumber and Peterborough Canoe company employees.

The R.C.A.F. officer pointed out to his listeners that had they been living in conquered lands they would be bearing a taxation far more grievous than that being born at the present time. He cited Norway as an example where each family is assessed for $500 a year and in addition explained that they were subjected to the cruelties and indignities of the military authorities.

He said that the United Nations are struggling for freedom which is in our possession because our forefathers sacrificed, fought and labored during a century or democracy. In a long war, he declared, shining ideals become dimmed and are sometimes lost from view.

"Because we believe in Canada and Christian democracy, because we believe in our sailors, soldiers and airmen, who are giving everything, we ought to invest our money in Victory Bonds. Because we believe in a good sound investment and because we want to ensure a just, permanent peace, Canadians ought to invest in Victory Bonds."

Mr. Lowery, who has taken part in most of the Victory Loan drives, addressed the Outboard Marines, Westclox and the Canadian Raybestos. He is returning to the Outboard Marine to speak to the night shift, and James Wharry of the Quaker Oats, spoke at Ackerman's this morning.

The Camp Borden R.C.A.M.C. Band, under the direction of Mr. Albert Croasdale, W.O.1, arrived in Peterborough today and began a strenuous itinerary by appearing at the Outboard Marine before 12 o'clock. They gave a concert at the Canada Packers at 1 o'clock and performed for employees of the Western Clock at 4.30. This band also took part in a ceremony at Port Hope over the week-end.

Show Enemy Film

COBOURG, April 24.—(ENS).— Sponsored by the payroll section of the local Victory Loan organization, a private showing of captured enemy films was shown on Friday night to employees of the various plants in Cobourg. About 350 witnessed the impressive film. The force of the pictures was enhanced by the comment from Major G. A. Welsh, D.S.O. Chairman of the evening was Dick Parker, chairman of the payroll saving section of the Victory Loan.

Rotary Club Holds Annual Ladies' Night

COBOURG, April 24.—(ENS).— —Annual Cobourg Rotary Club ladies' night was held recently in the form of a banquet at the British Hotel. President Reuben Freeman was chairman. A. R. Willmott proposed the toast to the armed forces and the reply was given by Major G. A. Welsh, D.S.O., who took a unit overseas earlier in the war. Major Welch told of the fine work being done by the Canadian boys overseas and urged that more than ever, the response to the Sixth Victory Loan must be wholehearted.

Mrs. Edgar Hayden, who was a delegate to the Red Cross convention in Toronto, gave a talk on the annual meeting there and of the work being done by the organization. The evening closed with a humorous quizz contest conducted by Mrs Hayden. There were about sixty in attendance.

CHEMISTRY SERVES CANADA

FIRE-POWER
(The word is probably not in your dictionary)

THE word "Fire-Power" occurs frequently in war news and articles. Roughly it means the volume of ammunition which can be discharged in a given time by a unit of the Armed Forces. The wide modern use of automatic, and semi-automatic weapons, with their very high rate of fire, has brought this term into common usage.

High rate of fire demands vastly increased supplies of ammunition—particularly for small arms. At the start of this war, manufacturing facilities to meet Canada's part of this great demand were very far from adequate. Yet, today, Canada can turn out more small arms ammunition in one working day than pre-war facilities could have produced in one month.

C-I-L was able to make possible a great part of this increase, through its subsidiary, Defence Industries Limited*, by the extension of the peace-time plant of the "Dominion" Ammunition Division and the construction and operation of three great new Government-owned plants.

In the happier days of peace, "Dominion" Ammunition produced shot shells and metallic cartridges for sporting use, for hunters and trappers, and for the R.C.M.P., and the police forces of the country. Its knowledge and techniques were, at the outbreak of the war, immediately made available to the Government, including expert personnel, and machinery and equipment originally designed for peace-time production. Not only did the increased output call for greatly increased production facilities, but also for the training of a veritable army of workers.

Canada's great achievement in meeting the unprecedented demand for small arms ammunition, in which "Dominion" Ammunition Division has played its part, is another example of how C-I-L serves Canada.

*Defence Industries Limited (wartime subsidiary of C-I-L), has built and operated munitions plants for the Government in this war. These plants have produced such items as TNT, cordite, smokeless powder, small arms ammunition, smoke producing chemicals, filled shells, bombs, mines and depth charges.

Seymour West Institute Names Officers

CAMPBELLFORD, April 24 (ENS) —The Seymour West Women's Institute, whose year ends April 10, reviewed their work of the past twelve months at their annual meeting when Mrs. R. A. Rutherford was named to continue in office as president for her fourth term. There were twenty-seven members present at the meeting which was given over almost entirely to business with the president in charge.

Mrs. Mac Waddel gave a report on the girls' club activities and announced their plans to take part in the Achievement Day to be held in Brighton on May 20. The splendid work done by the Blood Donors' Committee was reviewed by Mrs. Ray McCulloch, who revealed that five car loads had been arranged and sent to the Clinic in Peterborough by the Institute which had defrayed transportation costs at the rate of $1.00 per person. Approximately 25 township residents, who otherwise would have been unable to take part in this vital work, had made their contribution to the blood bank.

The secretary, Mrs. F. McCulloch, read a communication from the I.O.D.E. Bemersyde Chapter containing an outline of their salvage program with which the Institute was urged to assist, and it was decided to co-operate by leaving contributions of paper in Campbellford for collection. A motion was passed authorizing the secretary to write Miss A. Young, superintendent of Nicholls Hospital, Peterborough, confirming the date of their May meeting, at which she was to be the guest speaker. A letter was also read from Paratrooper James Russell thanking the Institute for a parcel he had received while convalescing.

Mrs. F. McCulloch gave the annual report of the secretary-treasurer which disclosed a total of 28 members on the roll. There had been twelve meetings during the year with an aggregate attendance of 345. Total receipts amounted to $272, plus $25.78 carried over from the preceding year. The chief source of revenue was the annual social held at Connelly's School which netted $151.70, while donations and collections at meetings made up the balance. Expenditures during the year were as follows: Replenishing first aid kits at 4 rural schools, $4.70; transportation for blood donors, $25; contribution to Red Cross, $20; Christmas boxes and ditty bags, $57.51; wool, $34.56; sewing material, $13.22; contribution to the Navy League, $10; to the Christmas Cheer Fund, $5; Poppy Fund, $1; C.N.I. for the Blind, $1; T.B. Fund, $1; district fees (including part 42-43), $12.80; emergency fund of the F.W.I.D., $3.05; Seymour Agriculture Society, $5; membership pin, $2; leadership training class, $5.70; convention expenses, $32; rent, $1.50; postage and stationery, $17.93. This made total expenditures for the year $252.97, and left a balance on hand of $44.05. There was a balance of $26.99 on hand in the cemetery fund and grass cutting and general maintenance had been attended to during the year according to the secretary.

Mrs. Reg. McCulloch presided during the election of officers, with the following being named: President, Mrs. R. A. Rutherford; Vice-President, Mrs. R. W. Free; 2nd Vice-President, Mrs. Mac Waddell; Secretary-Treasurer, Mrs. F. McCulloch; Directors: Mesdames Robert Waddell, Ernest Fairman, Reg. McCulloch; District Director, Mrs. Howard Clark; District Delegates: Mesdames R. A. Rutherford, Raymond Free, Fred McCulloch, Howard Clark; Home and School Committee: Mesdames John Kelly, Garnet Curle, Allan Lewis, Ed. O'Connor; Red Cross convener, Mrs. James Waters; Auditors, Mrs. Douglas Rutherford and Mrs. Gordon McCulloch.

The program feature of the meeting was a moving picture on the Canadian Navy shown by the publicity committee for the Sixth Victory Loan. Following a contest by Mrs. Ray McCulloch refreshments were served by the hostess.

IF YOU THINK THE WAR IS OVER

... TAKE A TRIP OVER BERLIN

Maybe the war does look good — from a distance; from a comfortable well-paid job; from a warm, well-lighted home . . . Oh, sure, we'll win the war in '44 . . . nothing can stop us now!

But the enemy who man the flak batteries on the Unter Den Linden don't seem to have heard about it . . . They still have plenty of shells to fire, plenty of searchlights to operate . . . And they still make plenty of hits.

Ask any Lancaster Pilot as he rolls his flak-riddled bomber to a stop while the ambulance screams up to take away his wounded . . .

What was the score for last night? 79 . . . 28 . . . 36 planes lost. Those figures weren't yards gained at a football game, or minutes of overtime in a hockey match. Each one of those planes held eight or nine lads who won't come back . . . The war is ended for them.

If you think the war's ended for you, take a trip over Berlin . . . Or ask a Lancaster Pilot . . . He'll tell you "Sure it's all over . . . All over but the fighting . . ."

Let's Cut It Short

The Victory Loan campaign will continue for three weeks, and to some people that may seem to be a generous length of time. But it is actually a very short time for the amount of work involved, and no salesman or Loan official has any time to waste. In this district, therefore, we might be well advised to make our motto for the next three weeks: Short and Sweet.

The majority of the subscribers do not need to have the praises of Victory Bonds sung to them at great length by the salesman. They have bought Bonds in previous Loans; they know what the Bonds are, how they are paid for, what interest they pay, and what they are worth both to the owner and the Dominion of Canada. What is more, the habitual subscriber knows pretty accurately how many Bonds he can buy this time, and how he is going to pay for them. Let us all try, therefore, to save the salesman's time by getting the buying over as quickly as we can.

The salesman will need time to explain his mission and the purpose of the Victory Loan to people who have not bought Bonds before, and who may not be eager to buy them this time. There are many such people; they have money, and could buy Bonds in substantial numbers if they would do so; it is the salesman's job to persuade them to take that step. In order to do so he may have to talk to them at length, visit and re-visit them, and give special attention to their problems and doubts. It is up to those of us who are "sold" already not to waste his time.

Out Of Cold Storage

There are great sums of money in Canada which, so far as the war is concerned, are in cold storage. They are kept in savings accounts which have been growing for years, and the prudent owners of those accounts have made their banking a strictly one-way business. The time has come for that money to be taken out of cold storage, warmed through, and used. The country needs it.

Thrift is a fine quality, and a country's prosperity may be judged in a great measure by the number of savings accounts which are kept in its banks. But there is more than one way of being thrifty; money invested in Victory Bonds brings double the interest of money which is kept in the bank, and it is just as safe. It is not thrifty to cling to one and a half per cent. interest when three per cent. interest is yours for the asking.

Some people have maintained savings accounts for so long that they have almost forgotten what they are saving for; the money in the bank, they know, is to give them security against sudden loss, illness or reverse of fortune, and it is the inheritance which they will leave to their heirs when they die. But they do not think of their money as an active substance at all. They do not think like business men, but like misers.

Money is very lively stuff. It can go to war. It can fight in tangible form with the men who have gone from Peterborough county to crush our enemies. And money can wax and increase if it is put in the most advantageous place to do so.

The Victory Loan offers you the best security that can be given for your money, and will give you three per cent. on your investment. Think seriously: why not get it out of cold storage and put it in the sun for a while? You will be doing a favour to your country and to yourself.

Unfit For Service

On Monday last the Minister of Labour, the Hon. Mr. Mitchell, told Parliament that of 1,014,498 men who had been examined under National Resources Mobilization more than half—562,150 to be exact—were unfit for active service and of these 285,045 were in category 'E', and thus unfit for any service whatever.

The Ottawa Journal, in discussing this matter, expresses its surprise "that in a young, vigorous country such as Canada more than half a million men between the ages of 19 and 35 are unfit for military duty". Certainly this report seems startling. But we must remember that the standard for the armed services is really very high—higher than it has ever been at any previous time in history. Think of the men who fought at Waterloo, for instance; what sort of examination were they given before they took the King's shilling; were they examined at all? Accounts of Marlborough's armies tell us how many starveling wretches were included among the troops. We know that when the Duke of Wellington opposed the French troops in the Peninsular War he declared that half the Frenchmen could not see to shoot. Until quite recently any man could become a soldier who had not some obvious and gross physical defect. Nowadays a man cannot get into combat duty unless he is really in first-class condition.

But this still does not explain why so many young Canadians are not in first-class condition. We wonder if some of the blame should not be laid on our climate? We assure ourselves that it is healthy and bracing, but is it really so? The extreme cold of our winters may brace some people, but it depresses others, and people past middle age find it very trying indeed. After all, this country has not been inhabited by white people for such a very long time, and it may well be that we have not yet learned how to get on with our climate. Perhaps we try to live too strenuously in a climate which makes the mere act of survival strenuous; perhaps our eating habits are not right for our great yearly variation in temperature. Perhaps our national temperament is not conducive to health, for health and attitude of mind are closely allied. But certainly the rejection figures announced by Mr. Mitchell should make us think.

Mining The Wounded

John Gunther, in a recently published account of the Sicilian invasion, tells a few new details about the German method of making war. The Germans have become extremely expert and ingenious in the use of mines which they conceal everywhere, and which have cost hundreds of lives among Allied troops. They have frequently planted mines near the bodies of their own dead, so that Allied searchers for identification papers or orders are blown up as soon as the bodies are touched. Such action, revolting as it is, can be understood.

But Gunther tells us that the Germans have taken to mining the bodies of own our wounded, so that when the stretcher-bearers lift them to carry them to shelter the whole party is blown up. He tells of one officer of a Highland regiment who forbade anyone to touch him for this reason.

What procedure could be more logical, more ingenious or more hellishly repugnant to every humane instinct than this? And what could be more characteristic of the German military mind as it has been revealed in the Franco-Prussian war, the First Great War, and in the present struggle? When the Germans fight they put every instinct of chivalry behind them. A man who can no longer fight is not to be counted out of the battle. He still has a use; he may be turned into the bait of a trap which will destroy four or six others.

In considering such tactics hatred and pity contend in the mind. The contempt for decency, the cynical rejection of human dignity and the cruelty revealed in mining the body of a wounded man may fill us with rage, but with our anger there must also be pity for men who have wantonly stifled every civilized trait in themselves. And it must be clear, too, that any easy-going treatment of the Germans when they have been defeated will merely serve to encourage them in their ingenious and brutal courses.

NOTE AND COMMENT

A sports writer tells us that race horses do not eat the day before the race. And those who bet on them sometimes do not eat for days afterward.

Item from a weekly paper: "At the wedding reception the bride cut the cake with the groom". Was he one of those gay young blades?

"Crowding and shifting of the population" are said to be increasing the bedbug problem in Canada. Frankly, we don't care how many troubles a bedbug has.

De Valera has written to President Roosevelt to ask the Americans to spare Rome. Why didn't he take the easy course and make the same request to the German legation in Dublin?

The Kitchener Record wonders what Chinese music would sound like if played on the bagpipes. This request comes from the sort of man who would suck cold air into an aching tooth, just to see if it could be worse.

Farming News and Views

By
HON. DUNCAN MARSHALL

WE have in Canada some ceiling and floor prices and by means of them we have not only kept inflation at arm's length, but we have established business conditions in Canada which are so much superior to those across the line that everyone who visits the United States and our country as well, comments upon them. Price fixing is difficult to do fairly and you may be sure the seller will never be satisfied. There has been considerable complaint about cattle and the recent demands to ship our beef across the line cannot be complied with unless the U.S. is agreeable, and at present that country is not, and any effort, on our part, for compulsion would not succeed now, and could only make future difficulties for us.

As I have said before, we have only two beef markets of any consequence—the United States and Britain. In the case of the British people they have for many years been large importers of beef, and they always will be. They want our beef now because they are in a life-and-death struggle to preserve their liberty and ours, and our men are with them on the battle front and must eat to live and fight, and in the face of the present trials of human force, when men are preparing to move into the enemy's stronghold, it is not too much to ask that while men hold the battle line, we hold a few thousand head of cattle on their behalf, and Britain will still be a beef market when the German Army is smashed and strewn by the wayside.

The other market in the United States can frequently get along without any imported beef. That country has found it expedient to shut out all beef from the Argentine except a small amount of canned stuff. It is well to keep these things in mind, over and above the exigencies of a condition of war which should settle the matter out of hand.

WHILE spring is as reluctant to arrive as it seems at time of writing this April 17, the frequent falls of snow have been very comforting to the fall wheat and clover fields. It will add a little moisture, but will serve its best purpose by covering the crowns of plants that have come through winter with a blanket, that will leave the grass greener when it melts.

NOW that we have enjoyed, or suffered under "floor" and "ceiling" prices, there are quite a few people demand "floor" prices for farm products after the war. There is no demand from the same people for ceiling prices. I suppose the sky is their limit from that end. No one can more than estimate how long we will require regulation of prices after the war, but surely no one seriously contemplates "fixed prices" based on "cost of production" such as some are writing about. Costs are regulated so much by soil, climate, the intelligence of the operator, his willingness to toil and his capabilities in many ways, that cost of production becomes too complicated. Who can estimate the cost of production of a saddle horse or a heavy draughter, or who could fix a price on either? What we must do on farms after the war is to produce something people want and in unexcelled quality, then we can sell. To fixed prices would require almost one third as many officials as there are producers and most of those who are proposing to fix prices have very little idea of values. There is no knowledge more important to farmers than to know values.

At an excessive cost we might make a stab at fixing prices in our home market, but what about the surplus. Our farmers can produce a great deal more bacon than we can eat, that has been proven. What about an effort on our part to fix a price in the country that wants to buy from us? We wouldn't get very far. Australia tried bonusing farm exports and was met immediately with a statement from Britain about the unfairness of sending subsidized products to compete with that of the British farmer. There are going to be quite a group of countries to be satisfied with trade conditions when the waste of money in war is ended and no one country such as Canada can set up a plan that is self-sufficient.

PEOPLE engaged in agriculture, by trying to set up fixed prices of their own, only make excuses for allowing cartels to plan further schemes for exacting high prices, and this is one of the things from which farmers have suffered most. The Assistant Attorney General of the United States, in a recent address, made the following comment on cartels: "In general, car restrict rather than promote trade. Cartels typically engage in such practices as dividing fields of operation and market areas between members so as to eliminate competition, restricting production by agreement, and fixing prices so as to avoid price competition. They also promote various kinds of patent licensing contracts which enable them to control and limit the use of new inventions and thus restrict the benefits of technological advance. The effects of these practices include reduced production and employment, higher prices and profits, retard spread of technological improvements and a new standard of living."

Some few years ago when discussing commercial fertilizers with a manufacturer, he complained that they had no control whatever of the prices they had to charge as the different ingredients of mixed fertilizers were all controlled by "cartels" and they determined just how much of each you could buy and what prices you would have to pay, and he expressed a pretty harsh opinion of "cartels" and the tolls they levied on the purchasing public. I thought then it was a fine idea to call these organizations by the new name of "cartels," rather than designate them as "combinations," or "monopolies," though their plans had gone further and been made more effective than these had ventured to be.

At the time I looked up the definition of Cartel in a dictionary that I had for some forty years and found it to read, "Cartel, a writing or agreement between states at war, for the exchange of prisoners, or for some mutual advantage; a challenge to single combat." One can fancy the cynical purpose that chose this name for these organizations. They were surely to be for "mutual advantage levy" made by the cartel. This is the thing we must fight and defeat in trade when the war ends, and any effort upon the part of farmers to practice such a levying of increased prices on their customers will only play into the hands of those who can now and always will be able to beat the farmer at this game. I don't believe farmers can be so foolish.

WHY cannot farmers play this game even if they wished to? Simply because while handlers of products such as the component parts of comercial fertilizer, such as I have mentioned, can hold their products off the market, as also can manufacturers of certain articles or machines, the farmer cannot hold the seasons back. He can have no harvest if he does not take advantage of seed-time, and when the season arrives he must sow if he hopes to reap when perchance the harvest is profitable. He may graze his farm animals in the summer season but he must provide for winter feed or he goes out of business. He may threaten to go on strike, but he knows if he does so in the spring he will have no occupation to return to at harvest time. The farmer cannot profit by any of these smart schemes; fair dealing is the breath of life to him, and his effort should be directed to the establishment and the maintenance of this principle and the elimination of special privileges.

KEEP IT UP ADOLF—YOU'RE BRINGING THE HOUSE DOWN

Roll Out the Barrel

(RENFREW MERCURY)

IT is practically assured that by midsummer or probably at an earlier date Ontario breweries will be in a position to supply the demand and that beer as a political factor will not bulk so large in the public mind. Already "the tumult and the shouting dies" and queues outside warehouses have already departed. In a few days there will be an increase in the amount of draught beer available in beverage rooms and we will be able to get on with the war in a more vigourous way.

It is announced from the headquarters of the Liquor Board that the queues as a matter of fact were due to "panic buying" and were not based on actual facts. The crowds in the larger centres, however, were actual enough and even now it will be some time before the breweries will be delivering full increased supplies in a properly-aged condition due to the short supply of essential components to the manufacturing and bottling processes. Until such a period elapses there will be no increase in the monthly ration to home consumers.

It seems that in other provinces, notably Manitoba, there is an overplus of the "aged commodity" quite sufficient to keep an aged toper mellow from day to day. There is one fly in the ointment so far as Ontario is concerned. There is to be a reduction in the amount of native and imported wine available to the consumer. "To develop the maximum equality of distribution of the available supply" as ornately stated by the board, native win purchase is reduced from two bottles per week per individual to one bottle and imported wine is cut from four bottles monthly to two bottles. Just how this is going to better the beer situation is hard to say as to the man on the sidelines the whole set-up seems somewhat mixed.

Those Lend-Lease Rumours

(NEW YORK TIMES)

THE Russians do not use American lend-lease butter to grease their boots. (No sensible man would use salted butter for that purpose, anyhow, no matter how plentiful it was.) The Russians do not trade American lend-lease planes to the Japanese in exchange for rubber. The British do not re-label American lend-lease goods and sell them to other countries. Allied purchasing missions do not give banquets in Washington hotels with lend-lease money. Australian women are not being provided with nylon hose at our expense. We have not lend-leased 50,000 refrigerators to England, though we are allocating 3,760 refrigerators this year to the entire British Empire, mainly for hospital use. We are not selling gasoline at 2 cents a gallon to allies who resell it to our own Army at 42 cents. We are not sending alcohol to England on lend-lease, to be returned to us as whisky. We have not robbed our own babies of their diapers in order to provide North African chiefs with head-dresses—the diaper cloth that actually went to North Africa was paid for by the French.

No one with the brains of a gnat would have believed such stories in the first place. No one with a 10-year-old's sense of responsiblity would have spread them about without some evidence that they were true. Some of them may have originated in fertile imaginations whose proud owners had nothing else to do. Some were invented in Tokyo and Berlin and broadcast for obvious reasons. Now Director Leo T. Crowley of the Foreign Economics Administration has had to take time out to deny them in a statement to the House Foreign Affairs Committee. A new crop of rumours will spring up presently. Sensible persons will recognize them for what they are—if innocently spread, a proof of silliness in those who spread them; if otherwise, part of an Axis attempt to win the war by creating dissensions among the United Nations.

Culled From Our Contemporaries

What Convoy Service Means

What convoy service means to those performing it at this time of the year is not always conveyed by the bald language of official announcements. For instance, those who have visited the mess decks of a destroyer in harbor do not realize that throughout a 25-day cruise (for the last part of which there is certainly nothing but canned food left) water from condensation is usually inches deep; that there is a never-ceasing roll, which may be as much as 50 degrees; and that nobody can take his clothes off at sea, for "Action Stations" may sound at any moment, calling for instant readiness by all hands. The captain never goes further from the bridge than to his 9 ft. by 5 ft. sea cabin just below it.—London Times.

Silly Suggestion

It is sometimes amazing how well-meaning persons can make ridiculous suggestions. Dr. Clarence H. Benson of Chicago, founder of the Evangelical Teacher Training Association, notes that 70 per cent of all children in the United States get no religious instruction for, he says, 75 per cent of all church members are recruited from Sunday schools. Among his suggested remedies is legislation to require children to attend Sunday School. What price religious freedom?—Owen Sound Sun-Times.

Ours, Too

Allied soldiers in the European theatre have been ordered to turn in their diaries, because these books could give away valuable information if they fell into hands of the enemy. It might comfort Hitler, for instance, to learn how our boys feel about their top sergeants.—New Yorker.

For Pedestrians

Ontario Highways Minister Doucett says his Department is studying the possibility of constructing flight strips adjacent to highways, for the convenience of private aircraft in the post-war period. If the minister would also give consideration to constructing pedestrian walks at the side of these roads, the move would reduce the death rate.—Brantford Expositor.

Base Of All Things

Voices have been raised in the Canadian Senate seeking reform not only of teaching but of our attitude toward education. Senator John T. Haig of Winnipeg delivered a speech which is at the same time a plan of action. He sought, as the first improvement, that school commissioners give more importance to those who teach the pupils than to the construction and furnishing of schools. He also proposed that the Federal Treasury make grants to the provinces for purposes of education in the same way as these are granted for farming and cattle-raising. The Senator hopes to instil in the minds of the people a real concept of values; he cannot understand how we can spend millions for social security programs, health insurance and unemployment insurance while at the same time we disinterest ourselves in the one fundamental security, that of furnishing the mind with instruction. He insisted on another point, that the splendour and richness of educational institutions are of little value if the teachers are not up to their jobs; and so that they may be better equipped he suggests that they be better treated and voluntarily given salaries commensurate with their status and merit.—Quebec L'Evenement-Journal.

A Bible Message

If ye then he risen with Christ, seek those things which are above, where Christ sitteth on the right hand of God. Set your affection on things above, not on things on the earth. For ye are dead, and your life is hid with Christ in God. When Christ, who is our life, shall appear, then shall ye also appear with him in glory.... Lie not one to another, seeing that ye have put off the old man with his deeds; and have put on the new man, which is renewed in knowledge after the image of him that created him. (Col. 3: 1-4, 9, 10.)

Be not thou therefore ashamed of the testimony of our Lord, nor of me his prisoner: but be thou partaker of the afflictions of the gospel according to the power of God; who hath saved us, and called us with an holy calling, not according to our works, but according to his own purpose and grace which was given us in Christ Jesus before the world began, but is now made manifest by the appearing of our Saviour Jesus Christ, who hath abolished death, and hath brought life and immortality to light through the gospel. (II Tim. 1: 8-10.)

"Well, dinnae worry yourself tae much," replied the Scotsman with a pronounced burr; "you're nae ginna start noo."

The Insurance Issue

Addressing a political meeting in a small Saskatchewan town Wednesday night, M. J. Coldwell, leader of the C.C.F. Socialists in the House of Commons, argued that life insurance companies should be brought under Government ownership and control. It seems Mr. Coldwell needs to be reminded again that all insurance companies operating in Canada have long been under Government control, and that certain lines of insurance business are already under Government ownership. In this matter of insurance, however, Mr. Coldwell's speeches have raised one debatable issue, and that is whether he and his political comrades-in-arms, would, if given the opportunity, prove more expert and capable insurance administrators than are now on the job. For it is to be remembered that men do not gather grapes of thorns or figs of thistles.—Sydney Post-Record.

Land of the Short Grass

On the plains, as the Indian chief put it, "Grass is the head chief of everything."

From the Saskatchewan River in Canada southward for 1,500 miles, a strip of country averaging some 500 miles in width extends almost to Old Mexico—country once covered with an unbroken mat of buffalo grass, grama, mesquite. These are all short grasses — rarely even six inches high. Of these, the buffalo grass is most abundant; spreading over the ground with runners like a vine, curling back upon the earth, and looking rather like over-size moss.

But this vast area is not a unit. Differences of climate, of soil, of population, and of custom, together with a divergence of the Oregon and Santa Fe trails, divided it. By the Short Grass Country we mean the Southern section of the region, the High Plains....

The Short Grass is a spacious land of great variety: the land of Buffalo hunts and county-seat wars; of roundups, rodeos, and barebcues; of cattle, wheat, and oil; of prairie fires, tornadoes, cloudbursts, northers, and dust storms; of barbed wire, windmills, and branding irons; of boots and saddles, war-bonnets and steel helmets—and of the men who wore them....

The Short Grass has a flavour and individuality, a history and folklore all its own. And folkways, too—was of thinking, feeling, and doing, habits and patterns of life not found everywhere or elsewhere.—From "Short Grass Country," by Stanley Vestal. (New York: Duell, Sloan and Pearce.)

put Victory first!

MAKE no mistake about it—Canada's fighting men are "Putting Victory First"! They are risking life itself to preserve our freedoms and protect our homes! Many hundreds of thousands are serving far and near—without counting the cost or reckoning the reward. Already more than two thousand of them—from every service and every province—have received awards for gallantry in action. Nearly twelve thousand have made the supreme sacrifice . . . thousands more have been wounded, are missing or are in enemy prison camps.

What less can we do than strive to match their patriotism? What less can we do than back their valor with our dollars? What less can we do than support Canada's new Victory Loan to the limit of our resources? "Put Victory First"—by putting this latest and greatest Victory Loan over the top.

I think we're all going to have more fun with this little league than we ever dreamed of"...Before long the Jedge may be worrying over the possibility that "independent local ownership" will find these kid leagues more entertaining and less expensive than supporting a minor pro club?

A Rookie A Day

Andy Seminick, Phillies' catcher: Quite a slugger last season and ranked fourth in circuit's most valuable-player voting. Once hit a ninth-inning homer with bases full to win a game and last season when he belted one in the 12th to beat Memphis, Memphis fans collected a $104 bonus for him. His first Philly hit last fall also was a homer, but if they paid off on his .181 batting average in 22 games, he must have wintered in Shibe Park.

Maier Hits .429 In Three Games

By the Associated Press.

If Rookie Bobby Maier keeps up his hitting, the Buffalo Bisons are sure to be a chief contender for the International League pennant.

To date Bobby has made six hits in 146 times at bat for an average of .429. He has also batted in four runs, at least one in each of the three games Buffalo has played.

In Buffalo's 4-3 victory over the Syracuse Chiefs yesterday Maier pounded out three hits and fielded flawlessly at third base. Veteran observers are unanimous in the opinion that the newcomer, who batted .360 for Hagerston in the Interstate League in 1943, will be up in the majors next year.

Buffalo won the game in the ninth inning on an error, two sacrifices and Second Baseman McNabb's single.

Outfielder Goodie Rosen, oldest Syracuse player in point of service, lined out three hits for the losers, including a double and a triple. He scored two runs and batted in another to account for all of the Chiefs' runs. The second game was called off due to rain.

The Toronto-Newark, Jersey City-Montreal, and Rochester-Baltimore twin bills also were postponed because of inclement weather.

Lively Card Certain At The Brock

The wrestling card at Brock Street Arena tomorrow night, featuring the main bout clash between the popular Earl Moose McCready and the rowdy Strangler Bob Wagner of Portland, Ore. looms up as one of the liveliest cards of the season.

Wagner who turned the bout with Yvon Robert last week into a riot will probably try to give McCready the same kind of treatment he gave the good-looking Frenchman. And the general feeling is that if he does the battle should be a thriller for the Moose is one of the outstanding wrestlers of the day and he had frequently demonstrated his ability to quell the bad boys of the mat game. If Wagner tries his usual tactics he'll probably run into large gobs of trouble. In any case the tussle should be one of the season's best.

A new bad man looms up on the scene in the semi-final with Vernon Baxter, one of the stars of the last Toronto card clashing with Toar Morgan. Baxter is another of the Wagner and Davis type and in the battling Marine he will meet an adversary who has shown all kinds of courage and skill in his local bouts. It should be a lively half-hour.

Tony Leoni, the Italian-American from Hollywood who met Jan Gotch last week will be back for a battle with another rough-and-ready performer, the irrepressible Bunny Dunlop. They meet in the opener and should get the bill away to a lively and exciting start.

LAWN BOWLING

By HERB MARTIN

During the last two weeks the different committees in connection with the organization of the Peterborough Lawn Bowling Club have held many meetings and these meetings are now beginning to bear fruit.

In both the ladies' and men's sections the membership has increased and many new members will be seen on the greens this summer.

The ladies' games committee has met several times and they have drawn up an extensive schedule for the coming season. As for the men's games committee they meet tonight to put the finishing touches to their work and then everything will be ready to begin work on the schedule book; this in itself takes up a lot of time and it means no small amount of work for a few.

As for the green's committee, they have been doing their bit; they have already done one week's work on the greens and we can add that they came through the winter in fine shape.

And now just so that the bowlers will know more about the working of the committees, a joint meeting under the chairman of the membership and games committee is being arranged for next Friday night, at the Club House on McDonnel St., at 8 p.m.

This is a wide open invitation to all bowlers and it is to be hoped the boys turn out in goodly numbers.

We could relate all the different changes in the rules, etc, etc. We could tell about the proposed changes and system of running the Friday night tournaments, but this is what this joint meeting is for, so come on out and listen to what the chairmen of the different committees have to say.

SPORTS—Day by Day

By FRED D. CRAIG

The Oshawa Generals made a lot of new hockey history Saturday night when they walloped the Trail Smoke Eaters 11 to 4 in the fourth and last game of the final series. In the first place they became the first team in Memorial Cup play to win the title in four straight games. They also established themselves as the first club to win the Memorial Cup three times since the competition was first established in 1919. This year's triumph was probably the most hollow win on record in the junior classic. Oshawa, on top of winning four consecutive games grabbed them by the biggest scores in the annals of the Memorial Cup series. The Motor City team was too big, too powerful and too experienced for the British Columbia kids and piled up a goal total that will be a mark for future finalists to shoot at. Reinforced by three of the St. Michael's good junior outfit Trail hung on gamely for most of the distance Saturday night and with less than seven minutes to go were down only 5 to 4. Then a fluke Oshawa goal upset the Western Coast champions and inside of six minutes the Generals drove in five more counters to win going away. Seven of the winning team are donning the blue of the Navy at once. It is too bad for their sake that the winning of the Memorial Cup this season should have been shorn of a lot of the usual glory because the competition was so weak.

* * * * * *

Incidentally the situation that arose at the end has exposed the folly of the C.A.H.A. replacement rule so effectively that surely the hockey governors themselves must recognise that there is nothing more unusual in Alice in Wonderland than that seven members of a club that had been defeated in O.H.A. competition should be found lined up with the two finalists in the last round of the Memorial Cup competition. With four of St. Mike's with Oshawa and three more with Trail that is surely one for the book. The rule that allows branch winners to add four more players to their lineup should be scrapped. There was never any sound reason for adopting it. Similarly the military replacement rule should be thoroughly reviewed and confined to regular players who leave their clubs during the playing season to join the armed forces. There is no reason why a replacement should be allowed for a player who has never seen any action on the ice. Either make the teams go through with the players with whom they began the season or else scrap the present system and pick an all-star east and an all-star west team and let them battle for the Memorial Cup. The present system is a travesty on sport.

Three Unbeaten Clubs

Although a number of fixtures were washed out there was considerable activity on the baseball front over the week-end and the net result is that there are three unbeaten clubs in the two loops. The St. Louis Cards and the New York Giants have triumphed over all opposition in the National League, winning five straight. In the American League the surprising St. Louis Browns, emulating their National League fellow-citizens have gone undefeated in six battles. There were a number of highlights in the week-end card and most notable perhaps was the one-hit pitching masterpiece delivered by Jim Tobin of the Boston National Leaguers. Tobin came up with a three-hitter opening day and was beaten because his teammates failed to hit behind him but Sunday the Boston bats were ringing a merry tune and he won the argument 5 to 0, allowing the Phillies only one safe blow. With any luck Tobin should be up at the top of the heap with the two-game winners, Max Lanier of the Cards, Bill Voiselle of the Giants and Kramer of the Brownies. Lanier won an easy victory over the Cubs yesterday 11 to 3. The Cards backed him with 16 hits and he never had much to worry about. Kramer triumphed over Bill Dietrich and the Chicago White Sox 5 to 2 in picking up his second triumph of the season.

* * * * * *

Another feature of the Sunday bill-of-fare was the fact that the Detroit Tigers who had failed to register a win before yesterday turned on the Cleveland Indians and took them in both ends of a double-header. Dizzy Trout won the first game 6 to 2 but the second was tighter, the Tigers finally coming home in front 4 to 3 with Gentry and Mueller doing the heaving. Saturday when the New York Giants won their fifth straight game, beating Brooklyn in a tight tussle 2 to 1 Bill Voiselle, rookie from the International grabbed off his second win of the season. He got his first on opening day. Spud Chandler started on the rubber for the Yanks in Saturday's game with the Senators but Spurgeon failed to go the route and Atley Donald took over the pitching chore and got credit for the win when the Yanks took the decision 6 to 3. And old Bobo Newsom made his debut with the Philadelphia Athletics a complete success by shutting out the Boston Red Sox, stopping them cold with a masterly five-hitter.

Rules Save Longson

Whipper Billy Watson came close to lifting the world championship away from Wild Bill Longson in St. Louis Friday night but the title-holder is too old a campaigner to be caught out without a parachute and apparently he has saved himself by a Missouri Commission rule. The Whipper, in his best form, climaxed a sterling performance by tossing Longson all over the ring with a series of whips and finally tossed him over the ropes. The champ hit the floor of the arena with a jolt that must have been felt out in his old home town of Salt Lake City and he lost any interest he might have had in the proceedings. The referee counted Longson out and Watson was apparently the winner and the world champion. Then they dug out the joker. It seems there is a Missouri rule which enacts that a wrestler who deliberately tosses his opponent out of the ring shall be disqualified. That forgotten bit of legislation will probably keep Longson on top of the heap. However he cannot avoid giving the Whipper a return bout and the Canadian will try to do it all over again with the tossout eliminated. Incidentally 13,800 St. Louis fans, a sellout attendance crowded the arena to see the clash. Watson is a prime favorite in the stamping-ground of the world title-holder.

This week should see softball in Peterborough well-organized for the season. The Church League has already had its organization meeting and the Public School League is all set for the opening on May 1, with its schedule issued today. The Industrial League has had applications from several new clubs and it will soon line up its plans for the summer. Tonight the City Softball League will hold its annual meeting in the Duffus Board Room at 8 o'clock and all clubs intending to enter are asked to be represented at this gathering at which officers will be elected and other arrangements for the campaign made. Just what teams will make up the loop this season is not certain yet but it is hoped to have a well-balanced league with plenty of competition. The Ladies' Softball League will hold its annual meeting Wednesday night at Duffus' Board Room and it is expected that most of the clubs which played last season will again be represented.

LEAFS TAKE BALL OPENER FROM JERSEY CITY—Two newcomers to Toronto Maple Leafs ball team, Alexander Mustaikis, right-handed pitcher, and Centrefielder John Zontini, both pictured above, were the men responsible for the Leafs' 8-1 victory over Jersey City Little Giants at the opening game of the season in Jersey City. Mustaikis who comes from Elmira where he won 20 games last year, was in command throughout the game. Zontini lofted a 370-foot first-inning homer over the left-field wall. The drive was good for two runs.

Softball Games To Start May 1

The Public School Softball League is all organized and ready for the season and the schedule which begins on May 1 is given below.

In addition to the regular inter-school league a novel experiment is being attempted this year, the purpose being to make it possible for a much greater number of boys to take part.

Each school is to organise its own league made up of all the boys in the upper grades. A single schedule will be played in each school and the top team in each case will represent that school in a series of playoffs with other city school winners.

Five of the schools have decided to try this plan and the city has been divided into zones as follows:

Zone 1—Central vs. King George.
Zone 2—Prince of Wales vs. King Edward.
Zone 3—Queen Alexandra, a bye.

The winner of Zone 1 will meet the Zone 2 winners in the semi-finals and the team emerging from that clash will meet the Zone 3 winners in the finals.

It is expected that each of the participating schools will have at least four teams and thus approximately 200 boys entered in the new league, with every boy given the hope of a chance to represent his team in the playoffs.

The regular school league will be carried on as usual with each school picking its strongest line-up, and the schedule for the loop is as follows:

May 1—King George at Queen Alexander. R. K. McKee and C. Bullock.
May 3—Central at King Edward. E. G. Wagar and J. Telford.
May 4—Prince of Wales at Queen Mary. G. Ball and R. Rutherford.
May 8—Queen Alexandra at Central. R. K. McKee and R. Rutherford.
May 10—King Edward at Queen Mary. G. Ball and C. Bullock.
May 11—King George at Prince of Wales. E. G. Wagar and R. Scrutton.
May 15—King George at King Edward. A. Noftall and R. Scrutton.
May 17—Queen Alexandra at Prince of Wales. E. G. Wagar and A. Olmstead.
May 18—Queen Mary at Central. C. D. Munro and A. Noftall.
May 22—King Edward at Prince of Wales. C. D. Munro and A. Olmstead.
May 24—Queen Mary at Queen Alexandria. J. Telford and A. Norall.
May 25—Central at King George. C. D. Munro and A. Olmstead.
May 29—Queen Alexandra at King Edward. G. Ball and R. Scrutton.
May 31—Prince of Wales at Central. J. Telford and R. Rutherford.
June 1 — Queen Mary at King George. R. K. McKee and C. Bullock.

St. Louis Browns Take 6 Straight Wins

By The Associated Press

Off to a fast start with six straight victories, this could be the year the surprising St. Louis Browns will win their first American League pennant.

Not since 1922, when they finished second by one game to the New York Yankees, have the Browns been a pennant contender, but unless all signs fail, they should be in the thick of the scrap all the way this campaign.

They polished off the Chicago White Sox in both ends of a Sunday doubleheader at St. Louis yesterday, 5 to 2 and 4 to 3. Pitcher Jack Kramer helped himself to his second victory in as many starts by blasting a two-run homer in the opener. Effective relief twirling by the veteran George Caster accounted for the nightcap.

Chandler Enlists.

Sharing interest with the Browns' six-game winning streak was the announcement that Spud Chandler, 20-game winning pitcher of the Yankees, had been ordered up for induction into the army on Friday; the one-hitter of Jim Tobin, of the Boston Braves, against the Phillies; the St. Louis Cordinals' double win over the Chicago Cubs to tie the New York Giants at the top of the National League; and the scheduled pre-induction physical exam at Camden, NJ., to-day for Mel Ott, manager of the undefeated Giants.

The Cards made it five in a row with their 11 to 3 and 5 to 4 triumphs over the Cubs at Chicago, although it took Whitey Kurowski's three-run homer to subdue the Bruins in the nightcap. Southpaw Max Lanier won his second straight game in the opener.

Tobin's one-hitter against the Phils at Boston gave the Braves their first win, 5-0, but they promptly took it on the chin again when Southpaw Gerheasuer of the Phils, blanked them, 3-0, with six hits in the second game of a twin bill.

Detroit ended a four-game losing streak by beating Cleveland twice at Cleveland 6-2 and 4-3, behind the pitching of Dizzy Trout and Hal Newhouser. A three-run homer by Rookie Catcher Hank Miller won the nightcap.

Rain and cold weather forced postponement of all other scheduled games.

FAIR SEX SHARES IN MARINES RODEO—The marines of the 2nd Division, invaders of Guadalcanal and Tarawa, were accustomed to the shots, but not to this cowgirl who appeared at their barbecue and rodeo.

The steer won this engagement but not before Pfc. Emil A. Hilner of Wichita Falls, Texas, front, and Lieut. John A. Bell, Jr., McAllen, Texas, rear, gave it a hard ride at the rodeo and barbecue staged for U.S. Marines on a southwest Pacific island.

Choose Stir Up For Big Derby

NEW YORK, April 24—(AP)—It's Stir Up against the field in the historic Kentucky Derby at Louisville, Ky., a week from Saturday.

The decisive victory of Mrs. Payne Whitney's three-year-old gelding in the first division of the Wood Memorial at Jamaica cut his odds in the Derby winter books from 4 to 1 to a slim 8 to 5.

The winner of the Flamingo at Hialeah, Stir Up scored by three lengths over Mrs. Ethel D. Jacobs' Stymie before a crowd of 41,412, who contributed to racing's first $3,000,000-betting day.

Col. C. V. Whitney's Pukka Gin, the early winter book favorite, finished a disappointing fourth behind A. A. Baroni's Autocrat.

Although George Widener's Lucky Draw romped to an easy triumph in the second division of the Wood, he ran the mile and one-sixteenth in 1:46 4/5, two seconds slower than Stir Up.

Stir Up will be shipped to Churchill Downs tomorrow, with indications that Lucky Draw will be on his way before the week-end.

HERE AND THERE IN SPORTS

By The Canadian Press

The Eastern Canada women's intermediate basketball championship was won in two straight games by Toronto Oakwoods when they defeated Montreal Y.W.C.A. 30-20 in the second encounter to take the series at Montreal by total points of 73-35.

Hollywood Wolves, winners of the Southern California Hockey League, won an unofficial United States championship Saturday night at Los Angeles by taking the fifth and deciding game 5-2 from Boston Olympics, victors of the Eastern U.S. League.

At the final session yesterday in Philadelphia of the annual meeting of the National Football League announcement was made of a 10-game schedule for next fall commencing Sept. 17, with the championship playoff to be staged Dec. 17. Chicago Cardinals and Pittsburgh decided to merge teams for the season.

Planning to operate teams in three series, the Preston, Ont., Baseball Association Saturday elected Frank Popeck to the Presidency. The Preston Industrial Softball League also decided to operate again this summer.

Take Basket Title

TORONTO (CP)—York Belting disposed of Ottawa College with comparative ease Saturday night to earn the Canadian Intermediate "A" basketball championship in two straight games, the score of the concluding fixture being 60-45 to give the Toronto team a 115-78 decision in the combined scores. Wib Nixon of the losers was leading scorer with 16 points while Hal Axon and Harry Mayzell counted 12 points each for the Yorks.

Canadian Sport Snapshots

By SYD THOMAS
Canadian Press Staff Writer

TORONTO, April 24.—(CP).—Selection of U.S. Army Engineers, by the backdoor method, as Western Canada representatives in the men's senior basketball finals creates an interesting comparison between the attitude of Canadian and United States authorities towards sports.

Engineers were trimmed decisively by Patricia Bay R.C.A.F. Gremlins in the western play-offs, but since the official ruling forbids Air Force teams from taking part in inter-provincial or inter-sectional sport activities, the Gremlins had to withdraw from further competition.

That left the American team, a good bunch of guys it must be admitted, as contenders for the Canadian crown while the legitimate contestants cool their heels on the sidelines.

Purpose of the original services ban on sports was to allow the men to devote their time exclusively to preparing for the task of "carrying the ball to Berlin." As Defence Minister Ralston phrased it. So that, indirectly, accuses our cousins to the south of neglecting that important duty of allowing their men to indulge in the frivolities of sport.

That, as we all know, is very far from the truth, so it must be that the Americans place more value on sports than our Canadian authorities do. At any rate, if the U.S. teams does win the Dominion title, it will place Canada in a very anomalous position, with her best team barred because its members have to fight a war while a foreign team of soldiers take the glory.

Incidentally:

The long-dragged-out amateur hockey play-offs have inspired numerous writers to comment It's pointed out that the professional leagues wound up several days ago but the simon-pures (?) still linger on, and some citizens are so uncharitable as to suggest it's because the boys want to cut in on any loose gravy and fan-money that may be lying around. Bob (Calgary Herald) Mamini points out that early workouts start in August and the play-offs drag practically to May. Says Bob: "That leaves only June and July for summer sports. Rising in defence of the grand and ancient practice of betting on the oat-chewers H. I. Phillips writes heatedly and pertinently to Dink (Montreal Gazette) Carrol as follows: "I gotta chance of making some (money) or breaking even. What chance have I of breaking even if I go fishing of a Saturday afternoon? Whoever heard of a fish paying 50 to one?"....That, Mr. Phillips, is indeed a $64 question.

Aces, Pt. Arthur Meet Tonight

QUEBEC, April 24—(CP)—This French-Canadian centre was close today to gaining the Allan Cup for the first time in the history of the trophy that denotes senior amateur hockey supremacy.

Quebec Aces take on Port Arthur Shipbuilders tonight in the third game of their best-of-five final series. And unless there is a tremendous reversal of form, tonight's game will wind up the series.

Winners in the first game 6-1, Aces swept through the Ports repeatedly for a lop-sided 15-4 win in the second contest Friday.

For Quebec fans, the edge went off the final series after the first game when it was pretty evident Aces weren't likely to be stopped. A record-breaking crowd of 7,300 jammed into the Coliseum for the opening tilt, but the number was cut to around 6,000 in the second contest. It was considered doubtful if there would be more than 6,000 tonight.

Oshawa Juniors Capture Memorial Cup

TORONTO, April 24—(CP)—Oshawa Generals clinched the Memorial Cup in smashing fashion here Saturday night as they unleased a six-goal drive in the last six minutes of play to crush Trail Smoke Eaters 11-4, taking the best-in-seven series four straight in one of the most one-sided junior hockey finals on record.

Smoke Eaters held the proud and powerful General on early even terms up to those last few, fatal minutes. The score was tied 3-3 at the end of the first period, with two Oshawa goals counted while Trail was a man short, and Generals led 4-3 at the end of the second. The final period was strictly no contest after Generals turned their big guns loose.

Blond Ken Smith, one of the six Oshawa players who are due to enter the Navy now that the series is over, fattened his scoring average by sinking three goals and assisting on three others. That gave him 10 goals and eight assists for a total of 18 points in the series.

His nearest rivals were Bob Love with seven and three, Bill Ezinicki with four and five and Floyd Curry with six and three. These three also are slated for the Navy, along will Bill Barker and Jack Taggart.

Each Get Two

Curry, Love, and Ted Lindsay each scored two goals in the final game, with Ezinicki and Don Batten counting the others.

Scorers for Trail were Roy Kelly, Dick Butler, Bobby Schnurr and Johnny McCormick. Schnurr and McCormick, along with Jim Thomson, were St. Michael's College players added to the Westerners after injuries forced three of their best men from the series.

The first half of the game produced some of the best hockey of the series and many of the 7,929 fans were sure the Westerners would pull a win out of the fire. The first period was fast and thrilling, but Trail started to crumble a little in the second.

In the final 20 minutes, Generals' superior speed and smooth play told, and Smoke Eaters were left in the rear after the first few minutes.

Generals roared out fast in a sustained gangplay that finally caused Bev Bentley to crack in the Trail nets. Smith banged in two, followed by Lindsay with two more and it was all over. Bentley was left virtually unprotected as Trail sent every man up the ice, and the speedy easterners broke through for two more goals before the game ended.

By The Associated Press

Ray Sanders, George Munger and George Kurowski, Cardinals—Sanders smashed three doubles in first game to drive in three runs; Munger relieved Harry Gumbert in second inning of second game after Cubs had scored four runs and held Chicago to one hit and no runs rest of way; Kurowski hit home run with two on to win final.

Jim Tobin, Braves and Al Gerheauser, Phillies—Exchanged shutouts. Tobin allowed one hit in opener and Gerheauser six hits in nightcap.

Paul Trout and Hank Miller, Tigers—Trout limited Indians to seven hits in opener to register first Tiger win of season. Miller hit three-run homer in eighth inning of second game to sweep twin bill.

Jack Cramer and George Caster, Browns—Kramer batted and pitched Browns to victory over White Sox in opener, giving up two unearned runs and hitting home run with one on. Caster pitched fine relief to receive credit for second victory

Jamaica Fans Bet 3 Millions

NEW YORK, April 24 — (AP) — The Eastern contingent for the May 6 running of the Kentucky Derby narrowed to eight or nine Sunday as horsemen reviewed the performances of their horses in Saturday's Wood Memorial at Jamaica and the Sagamore Purse at Pimlico.

And while the horsemen talked of the outstanding performance of Mrs. Payne Whitney's Stir Up in the first division of the Wood and the triumphs of George D. Widener's Lucky Draw in the second section and Warren Wright's Pensive at Pimlico, the average race goer marvelled at the $3,176,553 betting spree staged by 41,412 fans at Jamaica.

Pouring $1,039,391 through the pari-mutuel machines of the Wood run in two divisions because of the large field, New York fans set up anew wagering standard with the first $3,000,000 day in turf history and hung up a record Daily Double pool of $150,242. In addition, they wagered $537,362 on one division of the Wood for a new single-race handle in New York State.

Stir Up, winning his 1 1-16-mile test in 1:44 1-5, definitely established himself as the Derby favorite. He'll be shipped to Louisville Tuesday. Slated to accompany the Greentree gelding are A. A. Baroni's Autocraft, third behind, Stir Up and possibly Mrs. D. H. Peter's Bull Dandy, who wound up seventh after setting the early pace.

Marmora Church Damaged By $5,000 Fire

MARMORA, April 24 (ENS) — Fire of undetermined origin discovered in the furnace room in the basement of the church wrought damage to St. Andrew's United church, Marmora on Sunday morning to the probable figure of $5,000.

G. W. Henderson, caretaker, had lit the fire and was dusting upstairs when he became aware of smoke in the basement. He immediately rang the church bell and with St. Paul's bell also ringing, a crowd of residents were soon on the scene. The dense smoke made extinguishing efforts difficult, although residents gallantly helped with the hose pipes and chemical engines. It was over an hour and a half before the fire was controlled.

The basement, which is used as the church hall, presents a pitiable sight, as does the interior of the church. The new organ was found to be a total loss and the choir loft and other furnishings ravaged by the smoke and flames.

The bay of the church with its beautiful memorial window was undamaged.

CORVETTE K-225 BUYS VICTORY—Spirit of the famed Canadian Corvette K-225 is exemplified in the wide grin of Cox'n Lawrence Amburg, R.C.N.V.R., of Saint John, N.B., as he signs up for the Sixth Victory Loan. Nursing Sister Alice Cutting of Hamilton is doing the collecting. In two hours Corvette K-225 subscribed $6,500. By the next day she had gone over $8,000, thus more than doubling her quota and winning two Victory Loan pennants.

Sparks Start Fire At Baptist Church

LAKESHORE, April 24 —(ENS)— Firemen, who have been called out no fewer than five times in the past three days to combat grass fires, had their first serious blaze in a month Sunday afternoon. A blaze on the roof of the Baptist Church at the corner of George and Garry streets brought them to the scene in a little more than two minutes and their prompt action saved the building from serious damage.

Sparks that reached the roof in some unknown manner had set it blazing in two places but a nearby resident, F. R. Dennis saw the fire from his back yard and sounded the alarm before it had gained much headway.

Fire Chief Williams had a single stream of water played on the roof of the building which worshippers had left less than an hour before, while other members of the department climbed a ladder inside the building to pour chemicals on the under side of it. Rev. H. R. Bryant, pastor, had left less than fifteen minutes before the outbreak that will necessitate the building being at least partly re-roofed.

Support Strikers

CHATHAM, April 24 — (CP). — Thirty-five representatives of U.A. W.-C.I.O. locals throughout Ontario Sunday expressed themselves as whole-heartedly behind the striking union workers of the Ford Company in Windsor. The delegates, representing 35,000 auto workers in Ontario, came to the decision only after a discussion of the grievances on both sides leading up to the strike.

Sulpha Poisoning

TORONTO, April 24 — (CP). — Chief Coroner Dr. Smirle Lawson last night announced investigations are under way in connection with the deaths of two persons Sunday from sulfa drug poisoning. Mrs. Rose Goodman, 68, and AC. Dewi Wyn Williams, 21, English volunteer Reserve recruit with the R. C.A.F. here, died in hospital. Dr. Lawson said the deaths bring to 12 the number who have died in Ontario in the last year from sulfa poisoning.

$525,00,000—and the quota for municipalities, provincial governments, pension funds, unions and railway brotherhoods' insurance companies and industrial organizations remains unchanged at $675,000,000.

Lt.-Gen. A. G. L. McNaughton, former commander of the Canadian Army overseas, said in a statement marking the opening of the Sixth Victory Loan drive that it is the "first duty" of Canadians to see that their troops have every advantage against the enemy in battle, and adequate supplies of all the "countless stores" to meet the day-to-day requirements of an army in the field.

"The Sixth Victory Loan is the measure of what our people will pledge to accomplish in the coming year," he said in commenting upon the record of the few Canadian Army units actually engaged in battle in the Italian theatre at the time of the Fifth Victory Loan.

The Canadian troops then contributed well over $1,000,000 to the loan despite the fact that only the "most limited facilities" were available for completing forms and other documents required.

The armed forces, which raised a total of about $35,000,000 in the Fifth Victory Loan, now have completed their organization for the current drive and swing into action today to canvass personnel.

on the smashes at Laon and Duesseldorf. Nine Canadian planes failed to return. Forty-two R.A.F. planes were lost.

Canadian fliers returning from the Dusseldorf raid described it as "a typical Ruhr show." They could see the glare from fires started by their bombs when they were as far as 250 miles away on their trip home.

3. From Italy, between 500 and 750 American heavy bombers skimmed the Alps into Austria Sunday, pounding the aircraft production centres at Wiener-Neustadt and Schwechat and the Bad Voslau airfield, all near Vienna. Losses were not immediately announced.

4. Virtually unending streams of Allied medium, light and fighter-bombers and fighters passed back and forth from Britain to Europe's western fringe yesterday, blasting coastal anti-invasion defences, at least seven widely separated airbases in France and Belgium, the Belgium rail centre of Námur, and many targets of opportunity.

Resistance was negligible during the Sunday daylight operations from Britain. Allied fighters ranged from the Dutch coast to Bremen and the Ruhr valley for four hours without finding a single German fighter aloft. Flak brought down one American fighter. Seven others failed to return from the attacks on the French and Belgian airfields.

German planes showered incendiaries on an unidentified town along England's southwestern coast last night and early today, setting fire to a number of houses but the damage was officially described as slight. Five of the raiders were shot down.

Recruiting Slow On West Coast

VANCOUVER, April 24 —(CP)— The Vancouver Province in a newspage story Saturday said that "pleas from military officials for volunteers for overseas duty are making very little impression on the more than 16,000 home defence troops in British Columbia."

The newspaper added:

'Since the campaign to raise a volunteer brigade from troops of the 6th Division to be sent overseas in the near future was launched early this month, about 500 draftees, or less than three per cent, have gone active.

"Approximately 3,000 men are needed to reorganize the 13th Brigade so that it can be sent to one of the fighting fronts. Army officials had expected that troops of the units in the brigade, having tasted a sample of warfare at Kiska last summer, would be eager for the opportunity to get into action.

"So far the enlistments have fallen far short of these expectations.'

"The stirring plea of Major Paul Triquet, the French Canadian V.C., to men of Le Regiment de Hull, netted exactly 40 volunteers from the 700 men.

"On Thursday, 'General G. R. Pearkes, V.C., G.O.C. in chief, Pacific Comand, begged Vernon home defence troops to 'go active.'"

VICTORIA, April 24—(CP)— No man should wear "that khaki uniform unless he is willing to wear it anywhere," Maj.-Gen, G. R. Pearkes, general officer commanding-in-chief of Pacific command, said in an address to a group of Pacific Coast Rangers here Saturday.

"Many young soldiers are quite satisfied to say they are doing their duty by defending this coast," Gen. Pearkes said. "That is not 100 per cent service. The appeal has gone out to every soldier to volunteer heart and soul to support his comrades who are ready to launch the invasion."

Do You Suffer From Headaches?

It is hard to struggle along with a head that aches and pains all the time.

A headache need not be an illness in itself, but it may be a warning symptom that there is intestinal sluggishness within.

To help overcome the cause of headache it is necessary to eliminate the waste matter from the system. Burdock Blood Bitters helps to remove the cause of headaches by regulating the digestive and biliary organs, neutralising acidity, regulating the constipated bowels and toning up the sluggish liver, and when this has been accomplished the headaches should disappear.

SOLDIER FINED

Pte. Henry Waugh of the Military Training Centre, arrested in a restaurant here Saturday night, pleaded guilty to a drunk charge in police court this morning and was fined $10 and costs by Magistrate O. A. Langley, K.C. The fine was paid.

WIN PRIZES.

There were no Peterborough and district winners in the Chinese War Relief Fund draw made recently. The first prize, a $500 Dominion Government Bond, was won by Ivan Hitoff of London; the second, of a woman's black persian lamb coat, valued at $550, was won by Gerald Shute, Halifax, and the third prize, a woman's Hudson seal coat, was won by Donna Martin, Springfield.

AIR FORCE CASUALTIES

Ten men are reported killed, six of them in Canada and the United States, in the latest casualty list of the R.C.A.F. Nine men, previously reported missing on active service overseas, are now presumed dead; and four others are known to be German prisoners of war. In addition, the list carries the names of 12 men who are missing after air operations overseas. There were no airmen in any of the categories from Peterborough or district.

SEA CADET PARADE.

Nearly 150 of Peterborough's Corps of Sea Cadets, and 10 of their officers, marched with their band in a smart parade to St. John's Church Sunday morning. The boys were addressed by Canon W. P. Robertson, who spoke of the importance of their making good cadets and emphasized that religion was for the young as well as for those who are older. The Catholics attended high mass at St. Peter's Cathedral.

IN OVERSEAS FORCES—Pte. Gordon Henry of Fraserville, son of Mr. and Mrs. Martin Henry, is serving overseas. The young soldier enlisted in Peterborough in 1942, took his basic training here and then went to Trade School in Hamilton for six months. Prior to joining the Army, he was employed at the Western Clock Company.

SCHOLARSHIP WINNER

At the recent convocation of Knox College in Toronto it was announced that William Moorhead son of Mr. and Mrs. W. J. Moorhead of Peterborough had won the McClure Scholarship in Hebrew. Mr. Moorhead is studying for the Presbyterian ministry.

LICENSE PLATES FOUND

A number of car and truck license markers found on the streets or highways and turned into the police station are awaiting owners. The list is as follows: 3-N-383, 970-K-7, 646-Z-1, 836-A-3, 67-T-5, 2N-687, 9-C-222, 61918-C, 67198-C, 67121-C, and 26855-C.

SECOND OFFENDERS

William Davis, Haultain and Gordon Armstrong, London street, both of whom pleaded guilty to drunk charges in police court this morning and admitted previous convictions were each fined $50 and costs or a month in jail by Magistrate O. A. Langley, K.C.

CARS DAMAGED

Cars belonging to Joseph H. Hewitt, Walkerfield avenue and Charles Keliele, Bonaccord street, were damaged considerably when they met in collision at Sherbrooke and Stewart streets as Keliele was driving north on Stewart and the other motorist east on Sherbrooke street.

MUST KEEP STREETS CLEAR

Because of the Victory Loan parade Tuesday night the police department has issued orders that no cars may be parked on either side of George street between Simcoe and King streets and on either side of Charlotte street from Water street to Louis street from 6 o'clock until the parade is dismissed.

A LONG ADJOURNMENT

Charles Young, charged with failing to send his two children to school, was given an adjournment in police court this morning and School Attendance Officer Fred Revoy was agreeable. By consent the case was adjourned until May 22 and Young promised to see that his children went to school in the meantime.

GIVEN AN ADJOURNMENT

At the request of his counsel, W. J. Arthur Fair, who said that the accused would make proper provision for his family if given a chance to go to work, John Walsh, Indian River, charged in police court with refusing to work and support his family was given a month's adjournment to see how he conducts himself. Chief Thompson intimated that if the accused looked after his family during that time the charge would be dropped.

LAKEFIELD AUCTION.

First of the farm auctions sponsored by the National War Finance Committee comes off Tuesday night at Lakefield. The time is 8.30 p.m., the place the Memorial Hall, and a wealth of valuable articles will be auctioned off to the highest bidders in war bonds. Late J. J. Turner Paid Tribute St. George's Day

As a man works, walks and lives during his days on earth, so is he remembered by his associates long after life for him has passed beyond the veil. This is an inscrutable fact to which few give much thought while passing along life's highway, well worth some consideration by the man who wishes to justifiably feel that life for him has not been spent in vain, and that through his way of life someone else is all the richer because he too had had lived.

St. George's Day, like others of similar note, came into being because of the life this warrior saint lived, the deeds of valor he performed during his life on earth, in protection of those in distress, besides his final sacrifice to a martyr's death in defense of the Christian faith, attracting and ever inspiring countless others down through the ages to deeds of heroism both for country and humanity's sake.

Only a few years ago, no St. George's Day celebration in this city would hardly have seemed complete, without the late J. J. Turner, who was amongst the foremost to ever remember all that the patron saint of England stood for, and as such he will be held in honored memory by those who knew and worked with him in the days gone by.

It is perhaps significant that the employees who labored under him in the years that are now past should assist in keeping his memory green on this notable day, by doing a deed of kindness for others in distress to honor his memory, for which there is no doubt they would receive every approbation were it possible to be given by him.

On this day of note in the English calendar, through the leadership of Robert Hendry, who worked many years beside J. J., the sufferers from enemy air raid attacks over Britain have had the employees of the J. J. Turner Co., Ltd., come to succor their distress through the local and district fund which operates for that purpose, their contribution of $14.00 appearing in today's receipts, repeating an effort of a like nature also inspired by the same leadership, one year ago today.

Odd Nickels Appear Again

The induction motor test department of the Canadian General Electric Co., Ltd., comprises very few people indeed, being the smallest of any single group in this large industrial plant, and in their case it might be suggested that in the art of doing good works there might be some truth in the expression that quality, not quantity, often counts the most.

This perhaps might have some bearing on the fact that their 15th donation for $5 appears in this day's list for the fund, which only represents but a part of what they have been doing under the steady persistent leadership of Miss A. McCracken to help along the war effort.

Another regular supporter in the person of Mrs. William Shannon is also again credited with the regular donation of $3.00 today, her steady sacrifice for others in distress most appropriately appearing in conjunction with others to mark the observance of England's day.

Body Of Woman Found In Lake

COBOURG, April 24 (ENS) — The body of an elderly woman, identified as that of Mrs. A. F. Pollack, was found in Cobourg Harbor this morning by F. Murie, a railway employee. Missing for several hours from the residence of her daughter-in-law, Mrs. Robert Harvey of Cobourg, it was not reaveled wha happened but police stated that no inquest is to be held.

Mrs. Pollack, who was known to have been in poor health, was over 60 years old. He husband died last fall at Oramstown, Que. Surviving are three sons, Prof. H. S. Pollack, Queen's University, Kingston; Dr. Allan Pollack of Owen Sound, and Robert, with the R.C.A.F. at Saskatoon. There are two step-daughters, Mrs. Robert Harvey of Cobourg and Mrs. H. Sneak Thieves Loot Car Outside C.G.E.

Sneak thieves looted a car parked outside the new C.G.E. Plastic building on Saturday night and got away with considerable loot.

Oscar Driscoll, 487 Murray street, Mr. and Mrs. R. McCallum, 176 Charlotte street and Miss A. Feeley, Braidwood avenue were attending the dance held to mark the completion of the new building and had left a number of articles in Driscoll's car, parked outside.

After the dance they discovered that Driscoll's new top coat and purses belonging to Mrs. McCallum and Miss Feely had been stolen. Mrs. McCallum's purse contained $7 and the other around $14.

Paper Salvage Nets 40 Tons

Between 40 and 45 tons of salvagable paper was the hail of school children last week, and all of those who took part succeeded in bringing more than the 20 lbs. required to get a ticket to the special movie held through the co-operations of the city's three theatres Saturday morning. In fact, there was an overflow crowd, and as a result another theatre party is to be given next week, taking in the Immaculate Conception, St. Peter's and Confederation schools.

The total of paper gathered in during the week is exclusive of the Confederation School, whose collection started late and is not yet complete. Compared to the regular drive which ended as the children started their campaign, the outcome was a particular success. The regular appeal to householders and merchants, second of its kind undertaken this year, showed "very poor results", the Peterborough Women's Services reported today.

For every large bundle brought to their schools, the children received one ticket on a lucky draw for 50-cent pieces. There were many who went well over the minimum objectives, and one boy was able to report a handful of 36 tickets. At the Capitol theatre Saturday morning 12 draws were made; and at the Regent and Centre each four more. Further draws will take place at each of the movie houses next week, and will continue to be financed by the Women's War Services Committee.

Community Concert Association Plans Extra Concert By Local Talent For Members

The Peterborough Community Concert Association takes pleasure in announcing that an additional concert will be given on Friday, May 19, at 8.15 p.m., in the Collegiate Auditorium. All members for the 1943-44 and 1944-45 seasons are cordially invited to be the guests of the association.

The entertainment will be provided by some of the musically talented members as follows:

Vocalists—Mrs. Ross Williamson, Miss Orma Lacheur; Miss Phyllis Cowie, Mrs. W. B. Brown; Mrs. Ford Turner; Miss Alicia Langley, Miss Margaret Westbye, Mrs. Cutting (trio).

Chorus—Normal School students, directed by Q. S. McKinney.

Pianists—Miss Marion Best, Miss Elsie Chambers, Miss Catharine McDermid.

Violinists — Miss Mary Jane Wharry, Cecil Searles.

Reports from Kitchener indicate their members' concert is one of the highlights of the year. If we have the same success, it will possibly become an annual feature, giving the members an interesting extra concert.

The annual membership drive will be from April 24 to 29, with headquarters at the Y.M.C.A. New applicants and 1943-44 members are urged to assist the committee by subscribing early. A filled auditorium is anticipated this season, so avoid disappointment.

If not canvassed personally by one of the workers, apply at the Y.M.C.A. or phone the campaign chairman, Mrs. Ford Turner. No applications can be considered after the campaign closes on April 29.

Plastic Plant Of CGE Opened On Saturday

The largest plastic piece made in Canada up to the present was a product of the Townsend street unit of Canadian General Electric Company, Ian F McRae, works manager, told the employees and their wives and friends at the social assembly in the new Wolfe street factory Saturday night.

Steadily increasing use of plastics during the war years, Mr. McRae said, indicated a prominent place for products of the comparatively new material in post-war industry. Potential expansion seemed to be assured by the many phases of service and utility in which plastics were now established, and the future seemed full of promise.

Plastics have been manufactured by C.G.E. enterprise in Peterborough since 1928, but generally it is regarded as a comparatively new industry. Even so, it is keenly competitive, Mr. McRae said, probably implying that efficiency of the staff is an important factor in the business.

Mr. McRae was introduced by H. A. Gadd, Superintendent of the Plastics and Porcelain, who also announced receipt of a beautiful bouquet from the factory architects, Beck and Edie, Toronto.

The members of the committee in charge of the program were: Misses Jean Foster, Rita McLean, Jean Curtain, Ruby Pearse, Lois Fleetwood, Ethel Rogers, Barbara Stephenson and Thomas Stewart, Jack Copping, Leo Gough and Robert Batley, chairman.

The committee of employees of the plastics and porcelain departments presented an interesting program of various games together with euchre and dancing, and the house-warming of the new building, its interior brilliantly illuminated with flourescent lighting, was a delightful affair which everybody enjoyed.

Among those present with Mr. McRae from the executive branch were J. E. Girven, Tom Glover and W. C. English, with A. E. Bennett and I. G. Goddard of plastics commerical department, Toronto; also J. H. Eastwood of the Eastwood Construction Company, contractors, and Mrs. Eastwood.

300,000 Out

MONTREAL, April 24 —. (CP) — An estimated 300,000 persons crowded Montreal streets yesterday to watch a five-mile-long parade of the armed services that officially launched the Sixth Victory Loan in Montreal. Central figure of the parade was Maj. Paul Triquet, V.C., hero of the Italian campaign.

HE'S SEEN THE WORLD — S.P.O. Clifford Moore, R.C.N.V.R., son of Mr. and Mrs. Gordon Moore, 208 Rubidge Street, has been serving for 3½ years and is now home on furlough. In that period he has seen a great deal of active service aboard a corvette and has been stationed in many parts of the world. S.P.O. Moore trained at Kingston and Halifax, and before enlisting was a stationary engineer at the Brinton Carpet Company.

SPEAKING HERE — Thirty speeches in three days is the routine work for Albert E. Lowery when he is addressing meetings in Peterborough on behalf of the Victory Loan. Mr. Lowery has been well known as a public speaker for 25 years. During the pre-war period he studied the careers of Mussolini and Hitler together with the totalitarian system of government compared to the democratic. During the war he has been widely known for his willingness to participate in any appeal for united war effort to win the war in order to protect the rights of democratic citizenship and to support those who are facing the supreme sacrifice of life itself to preserve democracy.

Council To Name New Committee

Actual appointment of a city planning committee is contemplated by the council's sub-committee of which Alderman Dutton is chairman, following the recommendation from the discussion stage at a public meeting last week.

The council's idea of several months ago is taking direction and form. First Tracey LeMay of Toronto was invited to Peterborough for a talk on city planning, and on that occasion some of the citizens who heard him chatted informally with him afterward indicated their interest in the subject and its practical approach.

Finally last week the council was advised by the meeting of about forty citizens to proceed with the nominating of a special committee of citizens to co-operate with the council by assuming details of survey and enquiry and generally helping through a preliminary stage of planning, the scope of which is largely left to the committee itself.

The council has a fairly busy week as indicated on its appointments board in City Clerk Outram's office. It begins Tuesday afternoon with a meeting of the Fire and Light Committee at the Fire Hall. One of the proposals to be considered is sale of two old pieces of machinery and their replacement by a light truck. Another subject is the widening of Aylmer Street to permit more freedom in swinging the ladder apparatus from the hall into a quicker start in each direction.

Parade To Mark Raising Of Thermometer

The combined military units of Peterborough are staging a Victory Loan parade Tuesday evening, which is expected to surpass their efforts of previous years. Each unit will be accompanied by its own band and all will meet at the corner of George and Charlotte streets for a presentation.

Men of the Training Centre will parade up behind the R.C.A.M.C. band from Camp Borden under the direction of Albert Croasdale, W.O.I. They will leave the Training Centre shortly after seven o'clock, and are expected to reach the meeting place at 7.30. For the next half hour the band will give one of its popular concerts.

The Reserve Army, War Veterans, the Air Cadets and Sea Cadets and Grove School Sea Cadets, with their respective bands, wil gather at the Armouries and will parade at 8 o'clock to George and Charlotte streets. On their arrival, Mayor J. Hamilton is expected to present a Victory Loan plaque to Gordon Matthews, chairman of the Victory Loan, on behalf of the citizens of Peterborough. The thermometer will also be raised for the first time in the 6th Victory Loan insignia with the numerals VI in large red figures and the wings attached a vivid blue. It has not been decided yet, where the plaque will be hung.

Other activities also organized for the week consist of: The first Farm Auction Sale and dance in Lakefield Tuesday night, under the chairmanship by Gordon Hancock. Beginning Friday night at 8 o'clock, CHEX will broadcast the first of three weekly shows under the direction of Brenda Davies. Two school choirs, Central and King George, directed by Miss Musa Cox, will perform and the soloists will be Miss Margaret Westbye and her sister Mrs. Harlow Cutting. Gwen Craw will be accompanist.

A special play entitled "The Mysterious Adventure Of The Armchair Strategist" will be presented. Those taking part will be Alene Holt, Lucy Jane McClellan, Quirt McKinney, R. L. Hale, and Robertson Davies. The script was specially written by Samuel Marchbanks. The final broadcast, May 9, will be held at the Collegiate and will be open to the public.

YOU CAN GET A $100 LOAN
if you can pay back $9.46 a month
No endorsers needed—Quick, private service—Both men and women invited to apply for $20 to $500

SHORT OF CASH? Get a personal loan at Household Finance in a quick, simple transaction. To apply for $100, $200 or any amount up to $500, just give us a few facts about yourself and your job—and choose a convenient payment schedule. We require no endorsers or guarantors, no recommendations from friends or relatives. Household Finance loans are made largely on character and earning ability. If you have a job or other source of steady income, you are invited to apply to Household for the loan you need.

Loans over $300 at reduced rate

Notice the choice of plans for repaying your loan. The shorter the time you take to repay the less your loan costs. A $100 loan repaid in twelve monthly instalments of $9.46 each—a total of $113.52—costs $13.52. If repaid in six monthly instalments a $100 loan costs only $7.10. Charges on loans of more than $300 were recently reduced. Notice that a $500 loan repaid in four monthly instalments costs only $22.40. Payments shown in the table include both principal and costs. You pay nothing more. We have no hidden charges of any kind.

Arlie M. Connell Becomes Bride Of Harvey Martin

Palms and ferns formed a lovely background in George Street United Church Saturday, for the wedding of Arlie Margaret Connell and Harvey E. Martin. The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John B. Connell, 719 Aylmer street, and the groom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. T. A. Martin, of Napanee. Rev. H. L. Roberts officiated. Mrs. Charles Renaud played the wedding music, and Mrs. A. M. Patterson sang "O Perfect Love".

Given in marriage by her father, the bride was charming in a gown of white satin, with a long skirt, a slight train and a brocaded bodice was made with a sweetheart neckline, buttoned down the back, and long sleeves coming to a point over each wrist. Her finger-tip veil of white tulle was caught to her head with a coronet of seed pearls, and she carried a shower bouquet of roses. Her only jewelry was a pearl necklace which her mother had worn at her wedding.

Miss Zola Warr was bridesmaid, and little Miss Edna Martin, sister of the groom, was flower girl. Miss Warr wore a gown of turquoise blue lace, on lines similar to that of the bride. She wore lace mitts and a headdress of roses and turquoise net, and carried talisman roses. The dainty flower girl was dressed in floor-length pink taffeta, with ruffled neckline and sleeves, matching headdress, and a nosegay of rosebuds.

Mr. Ross Long was best man, and Mr. Clare Connell, brother of the bride, and Mr. Robert McQuaig, were ushers. The groom' gift to the bride was a string of pearls. The bridesmaid received a brocaded evening bag, and the flower girl, a locket and chain. The groomsman's gift was a tie set, and the ushers received money belts and gold chains.

At the reception, held later at the Kawartha Club, the bride's mother received, in dusky rose silk lace, navy accessories, a navy straw hat, and a corsage of white roses, carnations, and forget-me-nots. Also receiving was the groom's mother, in navy sheer, with matching accessories and a matching straw hat, and a corsage of red roses.

For a trip to Toronto, Niagara Falls, and Buffalo, the bride chose a two piece suit of rust crepe, brown accessories and a beige coat. On their return, they will live at 719 Aylmer street.

Rally Is Held By W.M.S. Of St. James'

The influence from many missionary conventions working toward a year of special missionary endeavour, was present yesterday, when Mrs. S. J. Gray, past-president of Cobourg W. M. S. Presbyterial brought a challenging message to St. James' United Church at their W. M. S. Easter Thankoffering service. Mrs. F. W. K. Harris, president of Peterborough Presbyterial, introduced the visting speaker in gracious words of welcome.

"After Easter—What?" was the subject of Mrs. Gray's stirring address which she based upon the 28th Chapter of St. Matthews gospel. "He is not here, for He is risen—go quickly and tell.

Over the door of Stanley Jones dwelling in India is the motto, "Here we enter a fellowship." This same spirit characterizes the W. M. S. a group of missionary-minded women, who recognize that God has given us a great command out of which comes a great claim— a great comfort.

In a word to the non-members, Mrs Gray said "We meet with many excuses for non-interest to-day. Chief of which is the influence of war, but, did Jesus withdraw His command for the duration? Jesus, our great example overcame this tendency for withdrawal when difficulties come for He steadfastly set His face to go to the Cross. May we decide that we too are willing to face our responsibilities. Is it true that we are more often content with our decisions, when we should rather contend with them.

The message of Easter is really a double message, first, doubt and dismay,—"He is not here," followed by one of hope and confidence, "He is Risen."

This was followed as ever by a missionary command "Go quickly and tell."

Why quickly? 1. Because strange rumours may have been around Jerusalem concerning the resurrection. Here is a lesson for us. There are many strange isms abroad. We need to study the word of God as never before in this day of anti-religious literature? We wonder why so many Chrisitian women of our church fail to read our missionary monthly, or our blue-book.

There is a great zeal for military things to-day. Why not in the army of God? The second reason why we should go quickly and tell is that we may go in the ardor of our first love. Thirdly—we must go quickly because we need, like the early disciples, to see Jesus.

The world is one in love of art, and science and philosophy, yet these things have not the dynamic power and He will do it if we consecrate ourselves wholly to His work of missions.

Assisting in the morning worship, was the pastor, Rev. F. W. Craik who conducted the devotions, which included special missionary hymns, under the direction of Cecil Lapp. The choir sang the anthem "Whosoever Will" and Mrs. E. Johnston sang the beautiful solo, "Go and tell others of Jesus."

The church was filled with baskets of flowers as memorials to Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Lee and to Mr. Oscar Scott.

Ladies of St. James' Auxiliary received the Easter offering and acted as ushers.

Group Honors Bard of Avon

Mr. and Mrs. Robertson Davies were hosts Saturday evening to a group of students and teachers of the Peterborough Collegiate, for an observance of Shakespeare's birthday, which falls on April 23. The guests included Mr. and Mrs. R. L. Hales, Miss Margaret White, Miss Helen McGregor, and Miss Isobel Weddell, and members of the cast of the annual Dramatic Club play, and the executive of the Club, Misses Jean MacTavish, May Colby, Clara Ruskin, Dorothy Hicks, Agnes Weddell and Messrs Leslie Fowlie and Jim Airth.

During the evening members of the Club presented a short scene from "As You Like It." A group of charades was also enjoyed, and Mr. and Mrs. Davies played recordings of famous scenes from Shakespeare. When refreshments were served, Mr. Hale proposed a toast to Shakespeare and a large birthday cake was served.

Soldiers Honor Mrs. J. K. Hughes

Winners of the long distance 'phone calls at the weekly bingo held at the Uptown Recreation Centre, were Pte. J. A. Gillen, of Ottawa, who won the call donated by Miss O. Haskill; and Pte. Joseph St. John, of St. John, N.B., who won the call sponsored by Loftus' Ladies' Wear. Pte. J. Gaudet of Cornwall, was also a winner, receiving cigarettes given by Payne's Drug Store.

Mrs. J. K. Hughes, chairman of the Entertainment, Hospitality and Recreation committee of the Citizens' committee, is retiring from office, and to show their appreciation, the boys presented her with a beautiful bouquet of American Beauty roses. Mr. H. Mowry expressed the feelings of all the soldiers, when he extended a most sincere "thank you" to Mrs. Hughes.

Recent Bride Guest At Showers

Prior to her marriage to Harvey Martin, Miss Arlie Connell was guest of honor at several showers given by her friends. While on a visit to Hamilton the bride-elect was entertained when three of her aunts, Mrs. Richardson, Mrs. Pickard and Mrs. Edwards, were joint hostesses at the latter's home at a miscellaneous shower. Over forty guests, including friends and relatives, were present. Miss Lareta Sedgwick, 769 George Street, was hostess at a miscellaneous shower. The Misses Zola Warr and Helen Ballard were joint hostesses at a crystal shower held at the latter's home, 594 Stewart Street. Mrs. E. Patterson and her daughter, Mrs. Vera Johnston, entertained at their home, 90 Hunter Street West, when the bride-elect was presented with a wall mirror. Her associates of the office staff of the Brinton Carpet Company presented the bride-elect with a Sarakun rug.

Mrs. J. B. Connell, 719 Aylmer Street, recently entertained at a trousseau tea in honor of her daughter Arlie. The guests were received by Mrs. Connell and daughter in the living room which was tastefully decorated with gay spring flowers. The guests were ushered to the tea-room by Mrs. Irma Koleada of Aylmer, where tea was poured by Mrs. Ray Edwards of Hamilton, aunt of the bride-elect, and Mrs. Ruth Reynolds. The tea table was lovely with a lace cloth centred with a bouquet of daffodils and tall coral tapers in silver holders. Tea assistants were Mrs. K. Currie, Mrs. D. P. Dickson, Mrs. Vera Johnston and Miss Crystal Hendry. The gifts were shown by Miss Helen Ballard and Miss Lareta Sedgwick, and the trousseau was shown by Miss Zola Warr.

THE TEA HOUR GOSSIP . . . .

There are a few foods, which can do much the same work in building up and maintaining a sound body that is done by meat. These are the foods which should be used as an alternative to meat. The group includes poultry, fish, cheese, eggs, beans, and, when they are available nutmeats. Extra milk is also helpful Today we are going to give you some recipes that will give you a few new ideas as to how to serve fish.

Codfish Loaf

This versatile loaf is good served hot with a brown sauce or cold with a salad. It is well to have dried fish flakes in mind or left overs of any home cooked fish.

1 cup soft day-old bread crumbs 2 cups flaked cooked codfish, ½ cup milk, 2 eggs, 1 teaspoon salt, few grains pepper, 1 teaspoon scraped onion, 2 tablespoons chopped pimento (when available).

To the breadcrumbs add the codfish (or any other fish, such as salmon, halibut, whitefish, etc.) combine thoroughly. Beat the eggs slightly, add to the fish mixture. Mix in the milk, seasonings and pimento. Turn mixture into rather small loaf pan that has been thoroughly greased. Place the loaf, containing the mixture into a pan of hot water. Bake in rather a slow oven 325 degrees about 40 minutes or until set so a knife inserted in the centre comes out clean. Unmould on a heated platter and garnish with parsley. Serve with such vege-

DOROTHY DIX . . . .

High School Girls Should Put Off Marriage For Several Years For Happiness.

DEAR DOROTHY DIX—We are a bunch of high school girls who are very much in love, and we are thinking about quitting school and getting married. What would you do?

HIGH SCHOOL STUDENTS.

ANSWER—Perhaps if I were as young and unsophisticated and knew as little of life as you do, I might be foolish enough to think about quitting school and getting married, but being older and having seen so much of the misery that comes from early marriages I would urge you by everything that is in my power to say to put off your weddings for five or six years.

There is no more tragic figure than the girl who marries too young; who is tied down by babies and wrestling with cooking and washing and ironing that she does not know how to do, trying to live on an income that is little above the starvation point, and quarreling with her husband over the bills they cannot pay. Believe me, my children, such a one never sees the girls of her own age, who are still carefree, who have pretty clothes and dates and who can step out at night instead of walking the baby, without envying them and thinking what a fool she has been.

Don't marry until you are grown up, girls, and had your playtime. Don't do it for your own sakes, and don't do it in justice to the boy you are thinking of marrying. Wait until you are ready to take on the responsibilities of marriage and are strong enough to bear its burdens. And wait until the man you marry is making enough money to support a family and enjoy it, instead of being crushed by it.

You may be bored with school, but you are not bored with it as much as you would be with being a household drudge. You may think you are in love, but just remember that you thought you were crazy about some other boy a few weeks ago and now you can't bear him. You would tire of the boy you married now just as quickly, but if you were tied to him you couldn't drop him and look around for another boy friend.

If the boys you are thinking of marrying are in your own age class, they have no way of supporting a wife and you would have to go back to Mother and Father to live and foist your husband on them. And that is playing it pretty low down on the parents who have been so good and kind to you. Don't do it. Marriage is for adults, not for children. Wait until you are grownup before you try it.

Common Sense Cures Jealousy

DEAR DOROTHY DIX—I have been married thirteen months and love my husband dearly and he is devoted to me, but I am so jealous I am making both of us miserable. David will be a doctor in eight months and doubtless will have many women patients, and I feel that I cannot bear it. He has a way of looking at women that sets me raging. In fact, I rage if he looks at a girl at all. I have tried to make him jealous by telling him compliments that men pay me, but it doesn't bother him at all. Can you tell me any way to help the situation?

MRS. G. D. H.

ANSWER—The only remedy that I know for jealousy is to use a little common sense, and that is something the green-eyed never seem to possess. You know perfectly well that if you accuse your husband of philandering with all his women patients, it will ruin his career as a doctor, and that you will kill his love for you. But you are going to keep on indulging in your jealous fancies in spite of knowing the consequences.

A curious thing about jealousy is that jealous husbands and wives always believe that they are married to men and women who are devoid of every sense of honor and decency. It must be that they judge others by themselves.

DEAR MISS DIX — We are 3 elevator operators working in a down-town office building, and we would like to know if a monotonous job like that could drive us insane?

THREE DEPRESSED GIRLS.

ANSWER—All work by which we earn our daily bread gets to be monotonous. We get interest and excitement out of our work just in proportion to what we put into it. The whole human drama goes on under you eyes. Look for it and you will no longer find your job monotonous. It will be full of thrills and comedy and tragedy.

With The Boy Scouts

Arrangements for the annual Scout Craft Show are under way in the Market Hall and every officer is asked to be on hand to get things into shape.

To-morrow at 8 p.m. sharp, it is expected that Mayor Hamilton will declare the show open and the first Packs will get into action.

Although we have not been able to complete the display tables just as we should like them, we can assure everybody that the layout is far better than in previous years and we have visions of better thing to come.

The Club programmes for the three nights are as follows:

Tuesday April 25, 1st. George and Murray street on the Guide Badge 2nd. St. Andrew's demonstrate 1st. Aider Badge, 3rd. Park Hill community shows how messages are carried.

Wednesday April 26, 1st St. Luke's and the House orderly Badge, 2nd. St. John's in Action through Signal, 3rd, Mark Street in the light, 4th. St. Paul's and the Union Jack.

Thursday, April 27th, St. James' and Sacred Heart in the 2nd. Star Athlete, All Saints' and St. George's on the Athlete Badge.

The Scouts will follow the Cubs on all programmes.

8th. Peterborough Wolf Club Pack

The 8th. Peterborough Cubs held the regular meet on April 17 in St. Andrew's Sunday School hall at 6.30 p.m. Sixers Greer Elcombe, Bill Frisken, and Bob Hutchinson led the jungle dance.

In the course of the meeting the banquet was discussed which it to be held on Friday next, Cubs taking part in the Cub Craft show practised.

The Tawny Six won the second competition The following are members; Greer Elcombe sixer, Fred Russell seconder, Bob Reader, Gary Patterson, Joe Mathews, James Ridyard.

The meeting closed with Grand Howl led by sixer Bob Hutchinson, Lord's Prayer, Cub Silences and God Save the King.

The Scouts: News has been received from the much travelled Scout trail that the Troop was not hibernating as first suspected, in fact they have doubled their numbers and are working hard toward advancement.

Scouter Johnson is very pleased with the Troop as it is now and it looks as though it will be soon up to its old standard. Since the last report was received there have been four investitures at which Harold Grafstien, Alex Archibald, Garth Jopling and Keith Shields joined the world Brotherhood of Scouting.

2nd Armour

The Pack met in the Jungle with Bobby Payne leading the Grand Howl. After inspection and marking attendance, Ronald Fuller was invested and welcomed into the Brotherhood of Scouting. On Monday all cubs are to meet at the Church with models at 6:45 to take over to the Market Hall. On Tuesday their will be a regular Pack meeting at 7.00 o'clock. The Cubs that are performing at the Craft Show are asked to bring their things so a rehearsal can be practised for the show on Wednesday. On Wednesday night the cubs will meet at the church at 7.00 o'clock sharp for to go to the Craft Show. parents are asked to keep Wednesday night open to visit the Scout Craft Show.

St. John's

Sunday evening was one of fun and sorrow for the Pack. It was the occasion of bidding good hunting to Raksha (Mrs. Kay Baxter) who is leaving the city to take up a new position. The evening opened with the renew of the Cub Promise taken in Heart formation with Akela, Baloo and Raksha as the apex and every Cub completing an unbroken shape as each stood with left hand on the right shoulder of the lad in front of him, repeating the Promise with their officers closing with the words "and may this our promise, go with thee Raksha, wherever you travel along the Trail."

Instruction followed in preparation for the coming Scout Craft show. The games "Wash day relay" "Newspaper Game" and "Mail Delivery" were played with the visitors taking part in the last game. Canon Robertson spoke a few words of commendation on the departing leader following which Akela called upon the smallest Cub Suggeema (George Franks) to present Raksha with the gift of a Scout five haversack from the Pack, following which Baloo (Peggy Lawless) presented Raksha with a Cub ring with the best wishes of the Officers and Members of the Pack. The high light of the evening was the occasion of the presentation to Mrs. Baxter of the Gilwell Certificate and Woods Badge by Assistant Commissioner A. Hope. The Certificate was signed by the Governor General the Earl of Athlone.

The Mothers Auxiliary served refreshments of Chocolate Milk and Doughnuts.

A. Buckton Passed Collectors badge, Folding clothes and Cleaning boots. Jack Fowley passed Cleanliness.

The Troop

It was a night of games in the Troop with the Scouts wandering all over the town.

Don Searles completed his tenderfoot tests in passing Scout Staff knotts and whipping.

On Saturday several members of the Troop hiked to the Scout grounds where several small trees were secured to decorate the Scout Craft Show.

More Reports Wanted

We miss the reports from the Sacred Heart and other units. The report of the Park Hill received this week was a copy as received last week with no new news.

Don't Forget the Scout Craft Show.

THE STARS SAY . . .

By GENEVIEVE KEMBLE

For Tuesday, April 21

ACCORDING to the lunar directions this is a most propitious time for adventuring forth, with initiative, determination and well-organized programs for reaching into new pastures or into fresh channels of opportunity for enlarging the field of operations or for cherished objectives of scope and significance. This effort at putting the talents, new ideas, and testing novel formulas is bound to warrant the cooperation of interested persons, whose funds and approbation are wanted for promoting bright new projects, where study and training seek practical encouragement. But shun erratic urges or chimerical experiments.

Those whose birthday it is may be assured of a most auspicious year for putting their most ambitious talents and skills into operation, and with the substantial support of those in financial position and influence for promoting propositions out of the regular or routine run of the mill ideas. New and original or ingenious programs should find proper backing if not too radical or impractical. Be constructive and not swayed by overweaning ambitions. Much pleasure and progress should await this.

A child born on this day may have much versatility, skill, originality and ingenuity, attracting support from influential persons. It should not, however, be carried away by wild or impractical schemes.

Huns May Use Gas

TORONTO, April 24.— (CP).— Lt.-Gen. A. G. L. McNaughton, former commander of the Canadian army overseas, said Sunday in address to more than 2,000 ex-servicemen there is "every reason" to expect that Germany in this war will try a surprise similar to use of gas at Ypres in the First Great War when the battle "might have gone decisively against us" Gen. McNaughton spoke at the opening service of the 10th biennual convention of the Canadian Legion's Ontario Provincial Command.

Premium Cured!

It's good news for Canadian housewives when Prem is to be found on dealers' shelves

How convenient it is to have a tasty, economical cured pork food on hand when unexpected guests drop in.

That's why it's always good news when Swift's famed premium-cured pork-in-tins appears on your dealer's shelves. Before wartime needs cut down supplies, thousands of housewives made a practice of never being without a tin or two in the house. Prem is such a versatile meat, versatile as it is delicious! Cold with salad it's a tremendous favourite and ready in a jiffy. Hot . . . fried, baked or broiled . . . it's a fine main meat dish. And of course for sandwiches there's absolutely nothing like it!

Look out for Prem on your dealer's shelves and try to keep a tin on hand for emergencies.

PREM 'N EGGS
Slice the Prem ¼ inch thick; fry slowly in a well-greased pan. Serve with fried or scrambled eggs for a delicious 'brunch' or supper dish.

Grass Fires Plague Firemen

A series of grass fires occupied the attention of firemen Saturday, and there were periods when two and even three of the department's trucks were out at the same time following up alarms.

The afternoon began with one in a vacant lot at Armour Road and Dufferin street at 1.16 p.m.; and ten minutes later another occurred at the back of 84 Douro street in a vacant field. The pace livened further when a grass fire broke out in the large field belonging to Curtis' Bros. on Park Hill road and the canal at 1.51 p.m.; followed a minute later by another on Auburn near the C.N.R. tracks.

Firemen were forced to return to the Curtis Bros. field at 2.30 p.m. when the wind that was blowing started up fires again in rubbish heaps. At 3.41 p.m. they were called to the corner of Conger and Barnardo for still another grass fire; and at the same time a truck was sent out to the River Road, where a spark from the C.N.R. train to Lakefield set grass on fire and reached a shed standing between the residence of Miss Feronine and F. Bissonette, threatening both houses with destruction. Some damage was caused, but the homes themselves were saved from the flames.

There was a chimney fire at 9.30 a.m. Sunday at 173 London, home of G. Head; and at 9.40 a.m. burning rubbish was put out at 22 Manning avenue, home of D. J. McEwen. Chimney fires also occurred at 748 Stormont, D. Fenn, at 12.49 p.m., and at 161 Hunter street east at 7.49 p.m.; while a frame shed at 222 King street, residence of S. Ayotte, caught fire, due to burning matches, at 1.14 p.m.

This morning the department received its first call from 68 Sophia street, R. Lee, where chimney and pipes trouble developed at 8.14 a.m. tables as carrots, peas or a leafy green one.

This dish is an excellent alternative to meat because it includes generously eggs, cheese and milk, which are all tissue-building foods. 2 cups hot cooked macaroni, 1 cup grated cheese, 1½ cups white sauce, 6 eggs. Place cooked macaroni in a greased baking dish. Make six hollows in the macaroni mixture, break an egg into each hollow. Cover baking dish and bake in a rather slow oven until eggs are set (20 to 30 minutes). Watch eggs very carefully and do not overbake. Serve very hot.

Fish Balls

Freshened salt cod-fish flakes make excellent fish-balls. Any left-overfish or drained canned fish may be used.

2 cups fish, 2½ cups mashed potatoes, 2 eggs, 2 tablespoons melted shortening, few grains cayenne, ¼ teaspoon scraped onion, seasoning as required.

Combine the fish with mashed potatoes, the well-beaten eggs, the shortening and the seasonings. Have your shortening for frying at 390 degrees in a deep frying kettle. If you have a wire frying basket, put a few of the fish balls in at a time and lower into the fat, otherwise a slotted spoon is convenient to put in the balls and turn them as they brown. When the surface is richly golden, lift the fish balls from the fat and drain on crumpled absorbent paper.

You will enjoy all of these recipes. Try them all and you will be delighted with the results.

Spring Tea Held In Y.W.C.A. By Local Council Of Women

A lovely tea table, a well filled home cooking table, fortune tellers in gay costumes, and a white elephant table filled with odd and useful articles—all were features of the Spring Tea, sponsored by the Local Council of Women, at the Y. W. C. A. Saturday afternoon. The rooms were bright and the delightful spring day brought a great many guests.

Mrs. H. T. Rehill was general convener, assisted by Mrs. M. Drysdale, Mrs. A. J. Boorne, Mrs. J. E. Middleton, Mrs. H. Tremaine, and Mrs. W. H. Morton. Mrs. W. Addyman was entertainment convener, and arranged the centrepiece for the tea table. It represented a woodland scene, and made of moss embedded with tiny blossoms. Long frothy stems of fern were set in the centre to represent trees, and tiny brilliantly colored birds were placed in the branches. The home cooking table also had a centrepiece of bright spring flowers.

The fortune tellers were clothed in gay and colorful costumes, and each had a separate booth, made of bright covers draped over wooden frames. Other members of the entertainment committee were Mrs. J. C. Larmer, Mrs. E. Wand, Mrs. W. H. Morton, Mrs. W. White and W. Wheeler.

The reception committee consisted of Mrs. W. H. Morton, Mrs. M. Drysdale, Mrs. D. A. Loomis, Mrs. J. C. Larmer, Miss M. Ferguson, and Mrs. F. Merritt. Mrs. E. Chambers was in charge of registration, and Mrs. K. Simpson was treasurer.

The home cooking table attractively set with delicious pastries, was convened by Mrs. J. C. Larmer, assisted by Mrs. C. A. Olaveson, Mrs. A. W. Nelson, and Mrs. W. Downer. Mrs. E. Wand convened the popular white elephant table, assisted by Mrs. A. Leach, Mrs. C. H. Crowe, and Mrs. J. Cridland.

Yellow and green tapers flanked the unusual cetnrepiece on the tea table, which was set with silver. Mrs. W. G. McLaren, Mrs. N. Higgins, Mrs. F. Horton and Mrs. J. A. Dutton pouring tea. Mrs. G. Harris was in charge of supplying the table, and the servers were Mrs. E. Jones, Mrs. W. Carter, Mrs. T. Malby, Mrs. A. Boorne, Mrs. I. Moldaver, Miss F. Rahmel, Miss M. Edwards, Miss M. Stevenson, Mrs. A. Sollitt and Mrs. W. Blackwell. A great deal of time and effort was required for the arranging and carrying through of this tea, and the members of the various committees are to be congratulated on its success.

Honor Roll Is Unveiled At St. Luke's

A twofold, solid meaning lies in the fact that victory for the United Nations is now assured and almost in sight, it was said Sunday by Rev. A. J. Arthur, rector of St. Luke's Anglican Church, speaking before a large congregation at the annual Church Parade of Branch 52 of the Canadian Legion. This was, the minister stated, that God has ordained that freedom and justice shall not perish, and that the British Commonwealth of Nations shall still survive."

"It is God's will," Rev. Arthur said in his St. George's Day sermon, "that Canada should become a great nation. To this end, we should be inspired by the sacrifices made by our soldiers in this and other wars and work with unabated energy and singleness of purpose to fulfill the Lord's will. We must remember that our future welfare will depend upon the welfare of our service men who come back after victory is won, and we must do all in our power to see that they are properly taken care of."

Members of the Legion, 200 or more strong, marched to the morning service behind the Salvation Army band. They occupied the middle pews in the church, and their standard was laid upon the altar during the course of the service. In military history the day commemorates the battle of St. Jude, when, 29 years ago, Canadians stood up against the first gas attack unleashed by the Germans on the Western Front.

A feature of the service was the unveiling of the Parish honor roll, containing the names of 48 men who have answered the call and gone to war. The list, Rev. Arthur pointed out, is not as yet complete, including only as many names as it was possible to assemble in the time available. The record itself is simply of a preliminary and temporary nature, since the church plans to instal a permanent plaque after the war.

The special service was brought to a close with the singing of the commemorative hymn, "O Valiant Hearts, who to your Glory came."

Beer Coupons Valid In April

TORONTO, April 24—Ber coupons for May will be valid from April 26 in all outlets selling beer in Ontario, Victor T. Goggin, chief commissioner for the Liquor Control Board, announcd last night. Coupons one to four bearing the May imprint will be good for not more than 24 pints of beer or its equivalent. April coupons will remain valid until the close of business April 29.

Recent surveys conducted by the board, he said, had indicated queues and short store hours had been the result of "panic buying." The fact "the queues have almost entirely disappeared, and that practically all the outlets are remaining open full hours, while there has only been a slight increase in the amount of beer available for sale, tells the whole story," Mr. Goggin declared. "The buying was largely 'panic buying,' and was not in most cases the result of short supply. As soon as people found there was beer in the outlets when they wanted to come and get it purchasing became an orderly process, the same as that of any other commodity."

Early each month, he said, when new coupons became valid, there was naturally "a great congestion in our outlets for a few days by reason of this first-of-the-month demand. There could easily be a return to the difficulties fortunately just now overcome in regard to queues and short store hours. To spread the time over a longer period for these early comers the Liquor Control Board has made May coupons valid as of April 26. It is hoped that this action on the part of the board will, by extending the time for purchasing by these early buyers, prevent the congestion usually prevalent in the outlets on the first of the month."

Hon. C. McTague Chairman Of Tory Party

OTTAWA, April 24 — (CP) — Posts with the Progressive Conservative Party have been accepted by Hon. C. P. McTague and Henry Borden of Toronto, party headquarters announced last night on behalf of John Bracken, national leader.

Mr. Bracken said in a statement that Mr. McTague's acceptance of the position of National Chairman of the party for Canada is "of national importance," and paid tribute to Mr. Borden, who will serve as its general adviser.

Mr. Bracken said it is "impossible to exaggerate" the importance of the work done by Mr. McTague during his term as chairman of the National War Labor Board and as a Justice of the Supreme Court of Ontario.

Mr. McTague's resignation as chairman of the N.W.L.B. was announced in the House of Commons March 16, and later the appointment of Mr. Justice M. B. Archibald of Halifax as chairman of the Board was announced.

It was understood the Mr. McTague's resignation from the Ontario Supreme Court Bench, submitted to the government last week, has been accepted by the Cabinet.

Resumes Practise

At the time he resigned from the N.W.L.B., Mr. McTague—then Mr. Justice McTague—said he was anxious to return to his legal connections. In a letter to Prime Minister Mackenzie King, he said his decision to resign "is not based on any differences with the government nor the Minister of Labor personally."

He said, however, that he felt his work with the Board had been completed to a point where someone else could take over, and added:

"If some of my public statements have proved ambarrassing at times I am sorry but I still think I must have been right."

Mr. Bracken said the people of Canada were fortunate in enlisting through the Progressive Conservative party the services of Mr. McTague and Mr. Borden.

He said Mr. McTague's notable work as head of the N.W.L.B. was "freely acknowledged by the Prime Minister of Canada when he relinquished that position," and that he had commanded the respect of the bench, bar and workers of Canada through his work on the Labor Board and on the bench.

Of Mr. Morden, formerly co-ordinator of controls for the Munitions Department, Mr. Bracken said his education, legal training and practical experience "eminently fit him for the advisory work he now is undertaking."

Fortunate Choice

"The people of Canada," Mr. Bracken's statement concluded, "may consider themselves fortunate when men of the calibre of Mr. McTague and Mr. Borden at great personal sacrifice are willing to devote their time and talents to the service of the nation."

In announcing Mr. McTague's resignation, Prime Minister Mackenzie King read an exchange of correspondence between himself and the then Labor Board chairman.

Mr. MacTague—then Mr. Justice McTague—said he was anxious to return to his legal connections.

In a letter to the Prime Minister dated March 8, he said to avoid any misunderstanding he wished it understood that his decision to resign "isn't based on any differences with the government nor the Minister of Labor personally.

"While the new Wages Order and the new Labor Code are perhaps not as I would personally devise them, I recognize the government's responsibility for them," he said.

The new Code on labor relations represented "a milestone in labor relations" and was "an excellent start." Mr. McTague said he felt the work he had undertaken in connection with the Board had been completed to a point where someone else could take over.

In a statement issued at Toronto, Mr. McTague said he proposes to take a "really active part" in Progressive Conservative affairs and that he will contest a seat in the next general election.

He said it was his firm conviction the present government will be defeated in the next election. The people were "sure to insist on a return to the democratic government." He was alarmed by the "unwarranted, ill-advised and unnecessary tendency towards a socialistic state fostered by politicians of the extremist type."

Mr. McTague said he felt Mr. Bracken presents the "one platform and is the one person on whom the common man must rely for a new deal and true democracy in government."

Mr. Borden in a brief statement said he was convinced Mr. Bracken's policy of "national reform" will provide "the fullest possible measure of employment for our people and will maintain the highest possible national income through maximum production of agricultural and industrial products." A Progressive Conservative government, he said, would be the "only alternative to the chaotic political situation now existing—or socialism."

WHY FALSE CARDING?

UPSETTING the card reading of an opponent is the purpose of false carding. By means of the card which you play or lead to a particular trick, you make it appear to that opponent as if his partner holds a certain other card or cards really in your possesion, or else make him think you have a certain card or cards his partner actually holds. As a consequence, you may be able to fool him into playing as you wish.

That same contract was tried at two tables of a duplicate. In each case North led the spade 5. One declarer was set and the other made the game.

At one table, the dummy's spade 9 was covered by the J and won by the Q. The declarer went to dummy with the club K and finessed the diamond Q, losing to the K. North realized that spades were virtually hopeless, with the declarer still having the A for a stopper, and doubtless also the 10, so he switched to the heart 5. Four prompt tricks in that suit beat the contract.

At the other table, after the 9 and J were put on the spade lead, West took the trick with the A, not the Q. He realized that the hearts were dangerous, and he wanted to prevent a switch to that suit. By using the spade A on the first trick, he made it look to North as if he did not have the Q, that therefore South had it. Sure enough, North fell for the ruse. When he got in by means of the diamond K, he led the spade 2 to his partner's Q, as he thought, but West had it and then was able to run his game, scoring two tricks in spades, three in diamonds and four in clubs.

Allies Ready To Feed Greeks

CAIRO, April 24—(CP-Reuters)—Working in the Middle East desert heat, a band of British and American officers and men are perfecting plans to feed, clothe and give medical attention to the Greek people whenever they are liberated from the Germans.

Immediately there is a chance of landing Greece spearheads of the Allied military liaison Headquarters (Balkans) will sail and make contact with the Greek authorities and carry out a quick survey of the conditions of the beople.

They will then radio back the results of their observations and, with all speed, ships will be loaded with food, clothing, farm seeds and medical and veterinary supplies.

Similar plans are being prepared for Yugoslavia and Albania.

Oppose Subsidy To Newspapers By Government

WASHINGTON, April 24—(AP).—The American Society of Newspaper Editors on Saturday called for world-wide freedom of communications and of the press, declaring a free press is vital to the prevention of future global wars.

After taking this stand by resolution, the society voted to establish a committee to work with government agencies toward carrying out this statement of principles.

The decision to appoint such a committee was on motion of Dean Carl W. Ackerman of the Columbia University School of Journalism, who said government agencies are working now, and have been since the last war, to obtain greater freedom of press and communications throughout the world.

In brief debate before action on the resolution, Nathaniel R. Howard of the Cleveland News obtained an amendment which he declared would make clear that the society did not approve government subsidies of the press anywhere.

Concern over the future of news distribution internationally was matched by admonitions that a ceaseless struggle must be waged at home to preserve what freedom the press now has.

David Lawrence, editor of the United States News, told his colleagues in a prepared speech that the first amendment to the constitution, which forbids Congress to abridge the right of free speech and free press, had ceased to be "adequate protection for the freedom of the press in America." He urged that consideration be given to the adoption of a new amendment more specific and specifically designed to counter modern encroachments on press freedom.

Roy Roberts, managing editor of the Kansas City Star and society president, urged the editors to take the lead in efforts to obtain international agreements for a free flow of news, and his action apparently foreshadowed the main resolution to put the society on record to that effect.

Sailors Defy Japanese Gunners And Rescue Pilot

By EUGENE BURNS
Associated Press War Correspondent

ABOARD AN AMERICAN CARRIER OFF SABANG, Sumatra, April 19—(AP)—(Delayed)—Under the smoking guns of Japanese coastal batteries, a British submarine made one of the most dramatic rescues of the war today, picking up an American pilot, Lieut. Dale Christian (Klondike) Klahn, shot down in the Allied task force blow against Sabang and Lhonga.

Klahn's plane—the flier's home is at Laramie, Wyo.—was the only one downed by the Japanese during the smashing 15-minute raid.

Twelve Hellcats meanwhile spread an umbrella over the little yellow life raft and the rescuing submarine, nailing down the Japanese air force.

A Japanese destroyer which tried to close with the surfaced and comparatively slow-moving and unmanoeuvrable submarine was stopped "dead in its tracks" by these Hellcats.

For one solitary pilot, the Royal Navy submarine risked its entire personnel, closing within point-blank range of a coastal gun, while 12 fighter pilots risked their necks for 90 minutes to dive upon the Japanese, strafe, the Japanese destroyer, and explode aircraft warming up on a nearby field. When the fighters ran out of ammunition they simply made threatening runs.

The fighters remained, said one pilot, Lieut. Earl B. Crawford, Stamford, Tex., "until Klondike waved his hand and disappeared into the sub while six-inch shells boiled the water around the crash-diving submarine."

This dispatch gave the first definite word that an American aircraft carrier participated in the raid. The communique on the operation described the force as an Allied fleet but presumably most of the warships were British.

Victory Loan Workers Organize For Canvass

MILLBROOK, April 24—(ENS)—The objective for Cavan and Millbrook in the Sixth Victory Loan is the same as last year, $115,000. The organization includes practically the same workers: Dr. H. A. Four-Motored Liberator Bomber Crashes In Montreal, Killing Nine

Pre-Invasion Air Blows Grow Daily

1,000 U.S. Planes Hit 3 Airfields; At Nancy, Metz, Dijon

By AUSTIN BEALMEAR
Associated Press Staff Writer

LONDON, April 25—(AP)—Well over 1,000 American bombers and fighters bombarded three German airfields in France today, the 11th consecutive day of the war's greatest aerial offensive. The German radio said other Allied raiders had penetrated into the southern sector of the Reich.

A preliminary announcement of daylight activity, which appeared again to be on a gigantic scale, said heavy bombers from Britain smashed at German airdromes at Nancy, Metz and Dijon in the continuing all-out efforts to humble Hitler's air forces ahead of the western invasion.

The daylight attack followed last night by probably 1,000 planes of the R.A.F. and R.C.A.F. which blasted industrial Munich and Karlsruhe.

The night operations cost 30 planes, including eight Canadian. The main Canadian participation was a heavy blow at Karlsruhe while R.A.F. Mosquitoes hit Dusseldorf and other raiders pounded the rail depot of Chambly 20 miles north of Paris, a link in the battered rail network supplying the German Atlantic wall. Mines also were laid in enemy waters.

Waves of planes of all types drove forward the campaign that has poured 40,000 to 50,000 tons of explosives on Hitler's war machine since Mid-April, and shortly before noon the German radio reported strong bomber formations over the southern, western and south-western portions of the Reich.

Canadian bombers were understood to have participated in great strength in the overnight attack of Karlsruhe.

An Air Ministry communique announced to-day the R.A.F. lost 30 planes in the widespread operations during the night, which also included an attack on a railway depot at Chambly, 20 miles north of Paris.

The R.A.F. night bombers struck following Monday's record concerted assaults by more than 3,000 bombers and fighters from Britain and Italy against factories and air dromes at Munich, Friedrichshafen, Bucharest, Ploesti, and Belgrade, which also tore new gaps in Nazi fighter strength.

The Monday armadas from Britain sent down 103 German planes in air combat and wrecked 49 more aground for a toll of 152, against losses of 38 bombers and 17 fighters.

Karlsruhe, big Rhineland industrial city of 145,000, 150 miles north-west of Munich, produces machinery, engines, locomotives, chemical products, and other war materials. It was last hit by the R.A.F. in September, 1942.

Munich, Nazi Party birthplace, is the fourth largest city in Germany, with a population of 828,000 and is a prime manufacturing and

Nazis Move To Curb Sabotage Across Denmark

By ROBERT N. STURDEVANT
Associated Press Staff Writer

STOCKHOLM, April 25—(AP).—Hitler's special deputy and Minister to Denmark, Werner Best, said today the Germans were moving swiftly against Danish saboteurs and underground elements affecting German interests.

Denmark was virtually isolated from Sweden and Best's statement before Danish press chiefs was the first tangible evidence of the reason. The country was cut off late yesterday afternoon.

Best asserted that Denmark was "swarming" with underground workers and it therefore was Germany's task to "attack swiftly and sternly." He said the Nazis would show no mercy toward saboteurs, indicating they would be summarily shot when caught. He expressed hope "conditions would stabilize" and that Danish public opinion would react against the recent increase of sabotage.

The belief was prevalent in Stockholm that Denmark was isolated so the underground could be cleaned

Air Force Tightens Blockade Against Sevastopol

By HENRY C. CASSIDY

MOSCOW, April 25—(AP).—The Red Army has smashed a German attack west of Duobno, 85 miles northeast of the big communications centre of Lwow, which at first had succeeded in driving the Russians out of two localities, a Soviet communique said today.

More than 400 Nazis were slain in the Russian counterblow which dislodged the enemy from both places and "restored the situation," the bulletin declared.

In the Carpathian foothills more than 100 miles to the southwest, more than 200 Germans were officially reported killed after they crossed a stream southwest of Stanislawow by night and were routed by Soviet troops in the morning.

Except for these actions, however, a stalemate continued along the land front as the Red Air Force tightened the blockade of Sevastopol, blasting ships which attempted to carry Axis troops out of the encircled Black Sea base.

The communique said the warplanes sank seven transports totalling 16,000 tons as well as a landing barge, a torpedo cutter and three patrol boats between Sevastopol and Romanian ports.

Russian planes also struck "concentrated bombing and strafing blows" against Axis troops in Sevastopol itself, causing heavy losses, the communique said. Thirty-seven German aircraft were reported destroy-

Birdsall Flier Beats Death In Air Battle

WITH THE R.C.A.F. IN ITALY, April 25 — (CP). — A souvenir which FO. Murray Thomas of Birdsall's, near Peterborough, Ontario, won't sell at any price is his "quick release box" — the device which divests a Spitfire pilot of his parachute after he has bailed out and come down safely on land or water.

Thomas, Canadian member of a crack R.A.F. Spitfire squadron now in Italy, was in the middle of a dogfight over the Anzio beachhead recently when a hole suddenly appeared in the side of his plane's cockpit. At the same time, he felt a heavy blow to the stomach.

Though shaken, he flew on, expecting momentarily to feel the onset of pain or weakness. Experiencing no pain, he joined his reforming comrades for the trip to base, where he found a German armor-piercing machine-gun bullet jammed in the twisted metal of his "quick release box."

The box, made of metal and quite massive, is worn over the diaphragm of Spitfire pilots.

Murray Thomas is the son of Mr and Mrs. Walter Thomas of Birdsall and his father is section foreman on the C.N.R. at Birdsall Station At the time this flier received his wings he was the youngest student to be winged to that date.

Great Ship Bound For Britain Flattens Buildings Fire Sweeps Ruined Homes

Whole Area Thrown Into Scene Of Horror
Bodies Soon Charred By Flames
Entire Crew Of Five Lost In Crash

MONTREAL, April 25—(CP).—At least nine persons were killed, when a four-motored Liberator bomber crashed this forenoon into a number of old brick buildings in downtown Montreal. The bomber, operated by the Royal Air Force Transport Command, had just taken off for the United Kingdom.

Its entire crew of five, the only persons on board, were among the killed.

The name "Poland" was on the charred uniform of one of the victims and it was believed at least three of the crew were Polish. Next-of-kin have been notified and names will be issued shortly.

The whole area was thrown into a scene of horror, as the great ship flattened several buildings into ruins, and crushed their inmates into shapeless bodies which were soon charred by flames.

Men, women and children ran about the streets hunting for their families. One woman screamed that she had lost two daughters. Finally, women and girls, some shocked into silence and others in a state of hysteria, were taken to a nearby school for care.

The wrecked group of some 14 dwellings is located in a block bounded by Shannon, Smith, Colborne and Ottawa streets, near the Canadian National Railway's old Bonaventure station. Three of them were flattened into debris and the others badly damaged.

Two of the victims were identified as Edgar Forget, of Farnham, Que., who was in one of the dwellings, and Constable Philippe Lemieux of the Montreal police force, who was killed as he patrolled his beat when struck by the plane's fuselage.

Many eye-witnesses said that the plane was a twin-motored craft, but a high air official said the wreckage was from a Liberator. Two motors could be seen on the streets, but the official said two more were in the debris of the buildings.

Accounts Differ

Eye-witness accounts varied, some stating that the bomber exploded before she struck, others that she struck and then blew 50 feet into the air, her wreckage settling back onto the ruined buildings and adjoining streets.

A qualified investigator told this story:

The plane was first seen flying low over Mount Royal and to the southward, off the departure course she would ordinarily be taking. While the bomber seemed to be flying normally, it was thought the pilot knew he was in trouble and trying to reach the St. Lawrence River for a forced landing.

The ship was seen to take a sharp dive at an angle of about 75 degrees and then just before she struck, "she opened up like an envelope," wings and fuselage falling separately. Some reports said she was on fire.

A Cargo Ship.

She was stated to be a cargo ship and among the wreckage was a machine gun.

After the crash, which occurred about 10:30 a.m., security officers prevented photographers from taking close-up pictures of equipment, and early this afternoon the area was shut off from the public.

Most eye-witnesses agreed upon the horror of the impact as the dwellings went down like packs of cards. Survivors ran out of the

British Income Skyrocket; Living Costs Up

LONDON, April 25 — (CP). — Britain's invasion year budget, calling for expenditures of £5,887,000,000 (about $26,691,500,000) was presented to the House of Commons to-day by Sir John Anderson, the Chancellor of the Exchequer, who proposed taxation produce slightly more than half, but announced no new taxation.

Sir John placed the total estimated tax revenue for 1944 at £2,102,000,000—£195,000,000 more than last year—leaving the rest to be raised by borrowing.

"It is not necessary for me to propose any additional taxation on this occasion," he told the House before taking his seat after speaking an hour and three-quarters. "The prescription is a mixture as before."

Taxable Capacity.

Thus the Treasury apparently took the view that the nation, now paying 50 per cent tax on income and 100 per cent on outright luxuries, virtually has reached its taxable capacity. The amount to be produced by taxation amounts to roughly $300 from every man, woman and child in Britain.

Although Sir John announced no new taxation, he did increase the beer duty by a penny a standard barrel. He specified, however, that the increase is not to be passed to the consumer.

The Chancellor reported the cost of living had increased until it was 29 per cent above pre-war and still rising despite Government expenditure of £190,000,000 last year alone on stabilization.

He informed the House, too, that personal incomes last year increased by £600,000,000 above 1942.

R.A.F. Tricked Nazi Airmen

LONDON, April 25 — (CP) — The R. A. F. announced today it had tricked the German Air Force last night by sending Munich-bound Lancasters in a feint across the Alps to northern Italy. The heavy bombers came within a few miles of Milan before they turned northeast to Germany.

This meant a round-trip of nearly 2,000 miles from British bases, but the absence of night fighter opposition over Munich made it worthwhile. The Germans appeared to have spread their fighter cover far and wide over Southern Germany.

Subscribe Over 74 Millions Opening Day Of War Loan

OTTAWA, April 25—(CP).—Canadians subscribed a first-day total of [illegible]276,150 in Sixth Victory Loan Bonds yesterday, $6,000,000 in excess of the same day in the fifth campaign, the National War Finance Committee announced today. Officials [illegible], however, that figures in this loan are difficult to compare with those of previous loans.

The results, of course, show that the people are behind the loan 100 per cent," one official said. "However, there are a number of factors that enter into yesterday's report. Our organization, for instance, was perfected much earlier in this loan. The result was that reports began coming in to headquarters much more quickly.

"The armed services, due to the war situation, began their canvass well in advance of the opening day of the loan. The fact that the Canadian Army overseas ran up a total of $6,803,800 before the loan even opened is indicative of this faster canvassing and reporting."

However, from Nova Scotia to the Yukon Territory reports showed that support of the loan by individuals of all classes was good.

Aged Squaw Helps.

At Fort Nelson, B.C., an aged squaw, Mary-Ann Dearriver, trekked 60 miles with 69 pelts of martin, lynx, mink and fox which she instructed the Hudson Bay trader to sell in barter for Victory Bonds. She runs a 110-mile trap line along the edges of that northern wilderness.

New Canadians from the war-torn areas of southeastern Europe are giving strong support to the loan.

In Hamilton, the 18 adults and two children in the Serbian National Shield Society purchased $6,500 worth of bonds, the two children being down for $50 bonds apiece. Moreover, the society voted $1,000 from its funds, and the Serbian Orthodox Church another $500.

In Windsor, Ont., the Canadian Serbian Society gathered 66 applications worth $25,000. In the same city, the Canadian Southern Slavs Democratic Association, which includes Croats, Slovenes and Serbs, netted $18,200 from 89 of their group while the Canadian Ukrainian Association came up with 33 applications for $5,000.

Chinese Units Face Entrapment

CHUNGKING, April 25—(AP).—Converging [illegible] columns have narrowed [illegible] miles the escape corridor [illegible] of Chenghsien where sizable Chinese forces are threatened with entrapment, the Chinese indicated today.

This represented a five-mile advance. The enemy pincer was reported yesterday within 15 miles of closing.

The Chinese asserted the invaders were paying a high price for their northern [illegible] Province offensive, claiming that the enemy had suffered more than [illegible] casualties in battles April 20 and 21. The Chinese have declared that more than 60,000 Japanese troops have been thrown into the fighting.

Canadians Impatient To Get Going

By ROSS MUNRO
Canadian Press War Correspondent

WITH CANADIAN ARMY INVASION FORCES IN GREAT BRITAIN, April 25—(CP Cable).—Waiting is the worst feature of these pre-invasion days for Canadian troops based in Great Britain.

Everyone is tense. They are all impatient to get going, but are amazingly steadfast in this ordeal of suspense as the grim game of calculated mystification is played by the Allied High Command to deceive the enemy.

The Canadians know a lot is expected of them. They know, too, they have trained hard and thoroughly. They know they have excellent weapons and reliable leaders. They have a lot of sound confidence in themselves. Yet they wish those first few days of the invasion attack were over.

These soldiers have not been in battle before, although much of their training has been as tough as actual campaigning. They naturally wonder how they will react to the first shock, to the excitement, noise and uncertainty of the front line, to the stark realities of battle.

The Canadians want the second front to start, and it is a matter of personal pride with them that they are invasion troops. For months they envied the Canadian forces in the Mediterahean, and it was hard on them to hear of the battles in which their comrades were engaged while they kept at regular training.

But their chance is coming now and they know it will be bigger and probably more hazardous than anything the Mediterranean has seen. Still they feel they are ready. They are not going into it waving flags, though. It's all business with them now—grim business.

It is this waiting which is so intolerable. I have been spending the last few weeks with the Canadian invasion troops, seeing one formation after another, and anticipation is hard on the nerves. You feel you are sitting on the rim of a volcano which is boiling and bubbling but not yet erupting

The big consolation is that it is far harder on the Germans. Frantic predictions from continental radio stations of the invasion date give one indication of how much the Allied-sponsored war of nerves is haunting the Germans with the menace of gigantic mass landings at any time.

Cancer Prevention Lagging

Dr. G. S. Ca[illegible] Says No Developed Plan

TORONTO, April 25—(CP).—Dr. B. T. McGhie, Ontario Deputy Minister of Health, [illegible] told a meeting sponsored by the Canadian Society for the Control of Cancer, that provincial ex[illegible] for the control of cancer [illegible] kept pace with the problem.

In the last 30 years the Ontario death rate from cancer has more than doubled, and [illegible] accounted for 12.8 per cent of the deaths in the province, second only to heart disease. The cancer death rate was five times that for [illegible] at 2.8 per cent.

"All adults should [illegible] some knowledge of the disease and of reasonable steps that can be taken to safeguard against it," he said. "There should be special efforts to educate women over 40 to the necessity of periodic physical examinations, and to the knowledge that chances of complete recovery are good if the disease is caught in its early stages."

Dr. G. Stewart Cameron, Peterborough, president of the society, said the province lacked a fully developed plan whereby "the maximum benefit of treatment can be offered to every victim or potential victim of cancer." He added that treatment centres established by the Government had proved of definite value.

Million Nazi Troops Guarding Coast

Believe Big Russian Offensive Will Be Synchronized With Invasion In West

BY DEWITT MACKENZIE
Associated Press Staff Writer

Finland's action in rejecting Moscow's peace terms on the eve of the great invasion and, according to informed sources in Stockholm, gambling that Hitler will achieve a stalemate inthe war, won't of course weaken our confidence in Allied success but it's a sharp reminder that Germany still possesses great strength and that a terrible conflict is before us.

Berlin newspapers are saying that "the greatest battle in the history of the world will take place along the Atlantic," and certainly that may prove to be true. Anyway, the Nazis are standing at alert and we should be foolish not to accept their statement that they "are ready for a hard fight."

Finland's ill-advised move, made in the face of strong possibilities that the United States would sever diplomatic relations, probably represents a decision of desperation. Still, the Stockholm sources say it was based on the conviction that the Reich has sufficient strength so that it may stand off the Allies even though it cannot win a clean-cut victory. This belief must be fairly strong, since the Finnish government is making its gamble despite the recent assurances of its Commander in Chief, Baron Mannerheim, that the little country has not the strength to stand up against an all-out military offensive by Russia.

Berlin frankly admits that the Allied bombing has weakened Germany's ability to counter the invasion, but boasts that the Allies won't be able to attain their objective of knocking out the Nazi air force. The German agency DNB points out that many of the Reich's airplane factories are underground—something which Allied observers long have accepted as a fact.

Underground Hangars

DNB also says the Luftwaffe is holding a reserve for action when the invasion starts, and there's no reason to doubt that. Anxiety to preserve a reserve for the big day undoubtedly accounts in part for the comparatively light resistance being offered by Nazi fighter planes to the bombings.

Latest figures of German army strength, as available in Madrid today, give the Germans a possible total of 319 divisions all told. It's certain that many of these divisions aren't up to strength, and we can only guess that they may represent some 3,500,000 to 3,750,000 men. Ninety-six divisions—perhaps something over a million troops—are available to meet the invasion in Western Europe.

That's a lot of men, but too few to handle the onslaught which Hitler will have to meet simultaneously on the eastern and western fronts. The Russians are said to be massing troops for offensives to synchronize with the invasion in the west.

New Plan Became Effective On April 15

OTTAWA, April 25—(CP)—Air Force headquarters announced toda ythat effective as from April 15 a retiring oficer or discharged airman or airwoman will be transferred to the city or district in which he or she lived before enlistment or is establishing residence, and will be referred to the Pensions Department for rehabilitation before doffing service uniform.

Teh statment said discharged personnel will be informed of opportunities under Canada's rehabilitation program and will have been in touch with lical representatives of the Pensions Department and Canadian Pensions Commission while still in the service.

National Selective Service and Unemployment Insurance Commission authorities will assist in returning discharged personnel to civilian employment. At local Employment and Selective Service centres officers will register them for employment.

These officers also will inform those leaving the R.C.A.F. of their rights to Unemployment Insurance acquired during service. The statement said a complete mbedical examination, with further observation and attention if needed, will help to establish problems in connection with pensions at the time of discharge.

Allied Drive Unchecked At Hollandia

Jap Air Force Whittled By Lightning Swoop

By C. YATES McDANIEL
Associated Press War Correspondent

ADVANCED HEADQUARTERS, NEW GUINEA, April 25—(AP)—American and Netherlands invaders, slowed more by mud and mountain than by disorganized Japanese resistance, closed from two sides today on three airfields in a 350-square-mile area of Dutch New Guinea around captured Hollandia as Netherlands civil officials came ashore.

A fourth airfield, seized by another invasion force against sniper opposition 150 miles to the southeast near Aitape, was expected momentarily to be in use by 5th Air Force planes.

Even while the new invasion was going forwards, it was announced that Netherlands civil officials had landed at Hollandia, preparing to organize a resumption of Netherlands rule.

Thousands of invading troops the bulk of them Americans, were landed at three beachheads Saturday, protected by the guns and dive bombers of a naval armada which Admiral Chester W. Nimitz credited with wiping out 101 Nipponese planes, all but 13 on the ground.

Reports today by General Douglas MacArthur and advices from the field by Associated Press war correspondents told of a steamroller, impeded largely by the terrain, overrunning territory within bombing range of the Philippines.

Nowhere in the Hollandia area, less than 1,200 miles from Mindanao, was there any word of organized fighting by the 14,000 Japanese estimated to comprise the defending force.

On the west flank, American soldiers, last reported within five miles of the main Hollandia airfield, told AP correspondent Murlin Spencer that some Japanese "didn't even have guns." This invading force,

Knox Y.P.U. Plans Fireside Services

Beginning on Tuesday the regular meetings of the Young People's Union of Knox Church will be held every Tuesday evning instead of after the church service when fireside services will now be held. This was announced at the regular meeting of the Union held in the church parlors, and a committee, consisting of Wilma Baumhower, Hazel Hoy, Phyllis Kidd and Marjorie Lewis, was put in charge of the fireside meetings.

Since the Union was given the topic, "Recreation," to study for the Youth Council, it was decided that the four conveners would each take up a partial study of the topic during the coming month. Warren Trotter, the citizenship convener, was in charge of the meeting, and led the first of the discussions on recreation and Peterborough's needs along that line. Several points were brought up for recommendation to the Youth Council.

During the business period, Glen French was elected as the culture convener. Hazel Hoy read the scripture for the devotions and Bob Edwards led in prayer.

Workers' Union, Local 22, at Kitchener, Ont., was the first union in the Twin Cities area reported as going over the top with an average of $150 per worker.

Rather than rebuild the schoolhouse at Drayton village in Western Ontario, recently destroyed by fire, the School Board decided a permanent building could be dispensed with for the time being, and invested insurance proceeds of $25,000 into Victory Bonds. The local township fund available for road, ditches and bridge maintenance and improvements is also being diverted into bonds at Drayton village.

Cornwall Leads.

Cornwall basic training centre already has a strong grip on the challenge shield donated for loan competition by Brig. F. Logie Armstrong, O.B.E., officer commanding M.D. 3. The centre won the shield in the fourth and fifth loans, and four days before the Sixth Victory Loan opened had secured 112 per cent of its objective.

Announcement of purchases of $6,803,800 by the troops overseas, for 181 per cent. of their original quota, was seen by Lt.-Col. G. H. Rainville, army loan chairman, as "an example that both army and civilians should follow."

On the east coast, the Navy reported 13 ships and 11 Fairmiles over their quotos. First shore establishment to go over the top was H.M.C.S. Kings, the officers' training centre. Northwest Atlantic Command, including civilian dockyard personnel, has been allotted a quota of $2,000,000.

Among large purchases were Province of New Brunswick, $1,500,000; Canadian Celanese, Ltd., $1,750,000; Royal Trust Company, $1,000,000; Credit Foncier Franco-Canadien, $1,000,000.

Reports of an encouraging response by communities and organizations across Canada were reaching Ottawa headquarters as canvassers set out for the second day of the drive to raise $1,200,000,000 — same objective as for the fifth loan.

British Income

A range in the cost of living index of 30 to 35 per cent over pre-war should be substituted for 25 to 30 per cent laid down in 1941, the Chancellor of the Exchequer said in his budget speech.

Sir John, presenting his first budget since succeeding the late Sir Kingsley Wood last September, told the House that of the 1943 increase in income more than half was paid out in additional taxes and part of the remainder, £221,000,000, went into additional savings. The rest was spent.

Government Control

Without steadily increased government expenditures toward stabilization—mostly in subsidies—the cost of living would have increased to about 45 per cent over the pre-war figure and might have reached 50 per cent, Sir John said.

"I am disturbed at the trend of these figures," he told the House. "I am afraid we can no longer regard the cost of living figure of 25 to 30 per cent above pre-war as sacrosanct."

Sir John said wage rates had risen 11 per cent more than the cost of living to date.

"It is the firm intention of the government to maintain the stabilization policy so long as we have the vital co-operation of all sections of the people—and continue it on the same conditions during the transitional period when we turn from war to peace," he said.

Borrowed Less

Sir John reported that Britain last year borrowed £2,750,000,000 (about $12,375,000,000) or £54,000,000 less than in the previous year. The chancellor said also that the newly-instituted pay-as-you-earn income tax method has been successfully launched.

Sir John said the government does not intend to reduce the 100 per cent excess profits tax so long as hostilities last. Post-war credits of excess profit tax represented a fund which was growing at the rate of £40,500,000 a year, he said.

The chancellor announced an increase from 360,000 to 400,000 tons in the quota on sugar admitted from the colonies at a special preference and said the present margin of preference on sugar will be continued for two years after August.

2 Large Stores Oversubscribe Victory Bonds

Two stores operating under the Group Payroll Section, A. Comstock & Sons and Robert Fair Company, have reached and passed the 100 per cent quota asked of them. At 11:30 this morning, word was flashed to Loan Headquarters that Comstocks had subscribed to 109 per cent of the sum required—$1,600, and had signed up to purchase $1,750 in Victory Bonds.

The Comstock employees are 11 in number and have worked hard to hit the 100 per cent mark, their canvasser declared. The Robert Fair Company, with 14 employees, has achieved 100 per cent of their total, $1,300. It is too early yet to have a clear picture of the Payroll Savings division, Headquarters announced.

Elliott's Drug Store, which was too small to be given a quota, has set an example for other firms in the matter of Loan support. With only four employees, they subscribed $1,300 in Victory Bonds.

Heads the List.

Leading the canvassers in the first day's work, is W. H. Giffen of Norwood. His bailiewick is the village of Norwood and he reported bonds sold to the amount of $4,100. Two of the city canvassers, W Kinlin and W. Metheral, had reports showing they were not far behind. Mr. Kinlin had bond sales totalling $3,500 and Mr. Metheral $3,300. Three other canvassers, J Arnold, J Harkness, and James Juby, the latter's first day replacing J. Skinner, found a warm reception at the homes where they called. There were number of callbacks reported and Mr. Juby said that he had not been turned down at any home he had visited.

Mrs. Annie Whatman, who lives on Sherbrooke Street, has become quite well known through her support of previous drives. This time when the canvasser called she was ready to take a $50 Bond. She receives $40 a month from a son overseas, and from this amount she saves enough to cover the bond.

Organizes Saving.

Jack Curtis, canvasser, reported that one of his customers truly realized the importance of financing the country's war effort. A woman who is receiving only $30 a month as a pension, was waiting with $50 in cash, which she had saved up out of her monthly cheque for her bond. Mr. Curtis is working in a section in the northern part of the city.

A slight mixup occurred about two of the salesmen canvassing in Smith Township. Gordon Hancock is covering the section of Smith south of the 8th Concession, west of the Middle Line, and north of the 8th Concession. Charles Hunter will handle that part north of the 8th Concession and east of the Centre Line.

Although not directly connected with the Sixth Victory Loan, Flt. Lieut. Ross Cameron, who has been addressing a number of industrial employees, appeared at the Collegiate to-day to thank the students who have exceeded their quota in the sum set to buy a Hurricane fighter.

Their objective was set at $5,000, and the school has gone well past that, he said. He thanked them for their part in the war effort to date, and urged them not to relax their efforts in behalf of the sale of the War Savings Stamps. He was accompanied by Gordon Monkman, who spoke briefly and they were introduced by A. Shearer, the acting director of the Commercial Department.

Douglas Hammond, secretary at the Victory Loan Office, said today that while it was difficult to make a day-by-day comparison with other loans, that the Sixth Victory Loan results compare about the same as the Fifth for the same period of time. It was also announced that the Mystery Lady contest is being overlooked by a number of citizens. The prize is a $100 bond, in answer to the question, "Who is your canvasser?" At the end of the Loan campaign, a name will be drawn from the correct answers turned in and the bond will be handed over.

up as a pre-invasion security measure. Similar action was expected in other occupied countries, many Swedes believed.

Salient facts of the situation were:

1. Germans, Finns and Norwegians were forbidden to travel to Denmark from Sweden by ferry.

2. Swedes were not directly forbidden but state railways refused to sell tickets to Denmark.

3. Telephone services between Sweden and Denmark has been shut down completely since last night except for official calls which still are coming through from Copenhagen.

The usual early ferry left Malmo this morning for Denmark without passengers other than 10 carloads of German sick and wounded transferred last week through Sweden from the northern Finnish front. The Danish General-Consul in Stockholm was unable to communicate with Copenhagen.

Similar isolation developed Aug. 29, 1943, when the Germans took over control of all Denmark.

S.O.E. Members Honor St. George

"St. George and Merrie England" rang the toasts in the Sons of England Hall Monday evening, when about 15 soldiers from the local Training Centre were entertained by an equal number of members of the S.O.E. Lodge, in a celebration of St. George's Day.

After an evening spent in playing cards, billiards and Chinese checkers, members served refreshments, and all joined in singing "Auld Lang Syne." George R. Coleman gave a solo and also led in a singsong, with George Groombridge at the piano. The soldiers responded by singing the popular "I've Got Sixpence," to the great amusement of the members.

The soldiers were welcomed by the president, Dave Leether. George Benton was in charge of the entertainment committee, which also looked after the refreshments. The group thoroughly enjoyed its St. George's Day celebration, and the soldiers, in expressing their thanks said that Peterborough was still one of the best cities for real entertainment.

Sir P. Duff Warns Self Sacrifice Will Win Peace

LINDSAY, April 25.—(ENS).— A message of faith in Britain's ability to meet her post-war problems was voiced by Sir Patrick Duff, K.C.B., deputy high commissioner to Canada, addressing the Lindsay Rotary Club and municipal officials here Monday.

"It will be as hard to win peace as it was to win the war and we will need the same spirit of self-sacrifice," Sir Patrick stated. "We lost the last peace because the nations failed to work for it with the same spirit they had fought to get it."

A note of warning was sounded by the speaker in regard to the continued strength of the Axis nations. "We are on the eve of great events and expectancy hangs tense upon the air," he said. "But we must be prepared for greater sacrifices than have been made as yet. Despite heavy losses the enemy can still muster between 200 and 300 unbroken divisions and we should be in no error as to the difficulty of the task we face and of the length of time it might take to accomplish it."

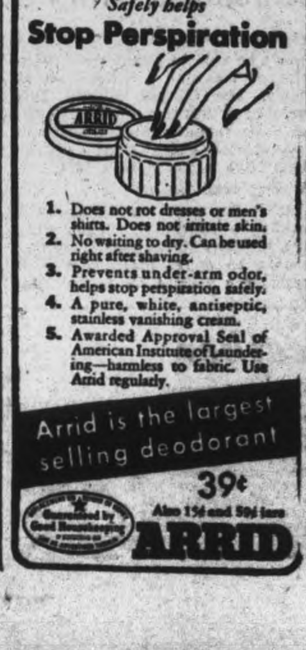
Sacrifice Must Continue.

The speaker stated that the same spirit of sacrifice must prevail in the British Empire following the war. Part of our armies must be maintained to allow no repetition of what occurred after 1918 and Canada is no longer isolated by oceans and must play her part accordingly. Post-war plans must include the rehabilitation of wasted areas and aiding of stricken people prostrated in spirit and who will have to be guided and aided for years to come.

"If our empire stands together intact," Sir Patrick said, "no limit can bet set for what we can accomplish in collaboration with other nations toward benefitting mankind." Britain so far from being weakened has every chance of being stronger economically. We are paying as we go, restricting civilian consumption and generously supported by Canada. New industrialization in countries like India, he said, would not dampen trade but would foster it, as the people were being taught higher standards of living and would require additional products.

Sir Patrick told of his own experience in England during the heavy air blitz.

"I saw such a manifestation of common effort by common people that makes me certain that nothing can defeat them. They have lived, sacrificed and thrived on rationing which can be realized when it is known that the death rate in 1942 was the lowest since 1930 and infant mortality the lowest ever recorded. The speaker was introduced by Bruce McNevin, M.P. and a vote of thanks extended by Rotarian Newton Smale.



Britain Halts Much Travel; Nazis Confident

LONDON, April 25 — (CP). — Britain halted all but the most urgent travel overseas in another invasion-secrecy step to-day, while the Germans predicted the invasion hour was near and declared their most seasoned troops stood ready to meet the assault.

The travel ban, "except for business of urgent national importance which cannot be postponed," will run indefinitely and was taken "for military reasons," a Home Office announcement said. It followed orders restricting movements of diplomats, tightening control over coastal areas, suspending travel to Eire, and other recent steps to prevent leakage of information.

Persons now holding exit permits can use them to leave Britain until midnight on Tuesday. Thereafter only 'urgent' permits will be issued. No permit to leave the country will be valid unless issued on or after April 19.

Berlin broadcasts told the German people to expect the invasion at any moment, and boasted of defence and counter measures.

Experienced German troops from the Russian front now are guarding the Atlantic coast, one German commentator declared, and they "are ready for a hard fight."

D.N.B., the German news and propaganda agency, said the Allied air blows had weakened "potential German countering strength," but that the Luftwaffe "with many of its plane production factories underground, will not be knocked out" and is "planning a second front of its own — adding reserves to use only when the curtain raises."

Another broadcast said preparations had been made to counter Allied parachute landings, and that the Germans would "meet surprise with surprise."

Montreal Minister Speaks At Theatre

The "After Church" service in the Regent Theatre on Sunday evening drew a large audience. The soloist for the evening, Charles Baxter of Toronto is well known to the theatre audience and they enjoyed the three numbers he contributed during the service.

The speaker, Rev. A. G. Bentley of Montreal, formerly of Peterborough, took as his subject, "Heaven, is it a Place or a State?" Basing his discourse on the last two chapters in the Book of Revelations. The answer, he said, is that Heaven is a place. The Bible definitely states that "God created Heaven and earth. There is the heaven of the stars and planets. Visible to us all but beyond and above that is a Heaven that is the dwelling place of God, where God sits on His throne, the symbol of authority and around him are the Angels.

The speaker pointed out that Heaven is always described as "up." "Stephen looked up." Elizah was carried up. The Son of God came down from Heaven. When death separates soul from body it is absent from the body, but present with the Lord.. Not only present with the Lord but at home with the Lord. The speaker enumerated many of the negative facts that apply to this Heaven. There will be no tears, no pain and no sorrow there he declared. There is no need of sun or moon. In conclusion the speaker asked the question, "Are you on your way to Heaven? There is only one way. Jesus said: I am the way... no man cometh unto the Father (who is in Heaven) but by me."

The speaker and soloist next week will be Fred May of Toronto. Mr. May will bring several of his musical instruments and will provide not only a musical treat to those who come but will preach and sing the gospel. This is the last of a series of 30 services which have been held during the past winter under the auspices of the Christian Business Men's Committee of Peterborough.

A program of summer services to be held in towns and villages adjacent to Peterborough will be announced later.

Soldier Is Fined For Missing Drill

Pte. Wilfred Joseph Connors of the Prince of Wales Rangers, Reserve, was found guilty in police court Monday with failing to attend drills of that unit and on each of two charges was fined $5 and $1 costs by Magistrate O. A. Langley, K.C.

Two other similar charges against Connors were withdrawn by Major V. M. Eastwood of the Rangers who prosecuted the cases.

Connors admitted that he had not attended drills for several years and pleaded that he was not physically fit. He submitted a certificate from a doctor that he was not up to par.

Major Eastwood said that the records of the unit showed that an examination by the medical officer of the Rangers indicated that Connors was fit for duty in a reserve unit.

Teachers Given $100 Raise By School Board

CAMPBELLFORD, April 25 (ENS) —Confronted with the prospect of again being caught in the rush for teachers next fall, members of the Board of Education Monday night took action that they hoped would keep their present staff of public school teachers contented.

The question of raising the present $1,000 maximum was raised by Trustee Richardson who pointed to advertisements already appearing in the press offering from $1,400 to $1,500. "I think we should raise the maximum at least $100," he said. "If we had to replace any one of those with experience we would have to pay $1,100 to $1,200." He told the Board that graduates on leaving the Normal Schools were being instructed to apply for no less than $1,000.

Trustee E. C. McKeel thought this was too much money and suggested girls could not step out of business college and demand $1,000 a year from any manufacturer. In his opinion, the newly graduated teacher was getting experience at the Board's expense during her first two years, and he recommended that the question be shelved till the next meeting.

Demands Action

"I think we should do something this month," urged Dr. Richardson, adding that some of the teachers were just waiting to see what thev Board intended to do on the salary matter before they moved. "We will have enough left over in our budget to do this." A hundred dollar raise beginning in September would only cost the Board another $280 on their 1944 budget.

Chairman A. J. Armour reminded members they had carried over $1,900 balance in 1944 and would therefore have a safe margin if they "carried on with the same budget."

On motion of Richardson and McArthur a $100 raise was granted to each public school school teacher with the initial payment on this to begin September 1.

Turning to the salaries paid to the High School staff which range from $1,600 to $2,500 members were less able to see need for any upward revision. Strongest opposition to any change there was voiced by Trustees Locke and McKeel who reasoned, that with only 154 pupils for teachers the per diem cost was too high already. Mr. McKeel suggested that if one teacher could be disposed of a raise for the others would be in order. Principal E. H. Greig explained that the wide range of subjects and options offered necessitated the present staff.

"Our per pupil cost (of $1.40 a day) is already more than the Legislative allowance and the only way we can raise High School salaries is to let one teacher go," said Mr. McKeel. Trustees Bonnycastle and Farrell brought the discussion to a conclusion with a motion referring the question to the Finance and Internal Committee to bring in a report at the next meeting.

Property chairman Locke reported that fire extinguishers ordered for the Public School had not yet arrived and listed a number of repairs and changes at the High School which the Board authorized him to have done. These included moving an electric water heater from the auditorium of the High School to the teacher's room; repairing a jacket heater and replacing grates in the boilers. He felt the Board should begin now to consider what they intended to do at the Public School. Re-decorating the top floors and basement and painting the roof of the main building were chief items that required attention.

Chairman Armour agreed that something would have to be done to the roof "this year" and a motion by McKeel to have the Property committee enquire into the prices of doing the re-painting job was passed.

Car Strikes Child Causing Head Cuts

HARWOOD, April 26 (ENS) — Wayne Kelly, four-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Harry Kelly of Warkworth, was hit by a car on Saturday evening on the main street at Harwood, receiving injuries to his head. He was taken to Cobourg General Hospital, where he is under the care of Dr. W. Wade. He is progressing favorably.

HOW TO RELIEVE
PILE TORTURE
QUICKLY AND EASILY

If you are troubled with itching piles or rectal soreness do not delay treatment and run the risk of letting this condition become chronic. Any itching or soreness or painful passage of stool is nature's warning and proper treatment should be secured at once.

For this purpose get a package of Hem-Roid from McDermid & Jury or any I.D.A. or other drug store and use as directed. This formula which is used internally is a small easy to take tablet, will quickly relieve the itching and soreness and aid in healing the sore tender spots. Hem-Roid is pleasant to use is highly recommended and it seems the height of folly for any one to risk a painful and chronic pile condition when such a fine remedy may be had at such a small cost.

If you try Hem-Roid and are not entirely pleased with the results your druggist will gladly return your money. —(Advt.)

Major Welsh Praises Arsenal Workers Says Shells Did Good Job Against Nazis

LINDSAY, April 25 (ENS) — Major Aerhue "Tiger" Welsh, D.S.O., Belgium Croix de Guerre, just back from Italy, had an exceptionally busy day during his stay in Lindsay, his old home town. He addressed 2,000 people in the Lindsay Armoury Sunday night; At midnight he addressed a shift of 400 at the Dominion Arsenal; today Major Welsh addressed two more shifts at the Arsenal, as well as the employees at Knitters Limited and at Allenbury's Limited.

At each meeting he was accompanied by the R.C.A.F. band from Camp Borden, which turned in a splendid performance at all meetings.

"You have a splendid record" said Major Welsh, adressing the Arsenal employees "and the shells made right here in Lindsay, have been used by our Battery in Sicily and Italy. When I say that they never once missed fire, well that's just how important you people are in this war."

Speaking of the over optimism in Lindsay and Canada Major Welsh said: "I have been there, I know how good the German fighting forces are; In my opinion the war will not be over in 1944, or in 1945."

Major Welsh complimented the workers in the various plants, especially at the Arsenal, where "you have subscribed over 150 per cent on the first day of the Loan. That's wonderful."

Engineering Students Testify Against Son Of Deputy Minister

COBOURG, April 25—(ENS)—Four charges of obtaining money under false pretenses were read in county court Monday against James H. Marsh of Toronto, son of the deputy-minister of labor for Ontario. Marsh was charged in connection with the sale of stationary engineering courses and pleaded not guilty. The case, which was heard by Judge J. C. M. German continues today. Harry Deyman appears for the Crown and A. R. Willmott is acting for the accused.

Marsh is charged with obtaining the sum of $50 in February of last year from Roy McCracken of Port Hope, by false pretenses; obtaining by false pretenses in April and June of last year, the sum of $37.50 from W. T. Budd of Port Hope; $40 by false pretenses in February of last year from A. W. Trotter of Port Hope and $20 in July of 1943 from Gilbert Doey at Bowmanville.

Roy McCracken testified that he paid $50 for 96 lessons which were to enable him to try examinations for second class stationary engineers certificate. He received lesson three to seven in practical mathematics, which he sent to the Engineering and Technical Service school in Montreal, later receiving them back corrected. When he expressed dissatisfaction with the lessons, Marsh told him they were only trial lessons and that the regular course would be along later.

Wrong Books

However he only received 29 lessons in all and after writing to see what was the trouble he received two books in November with a sheet of lesson assignments inside. The books bore no reference to the course he was taking, he said, and he dropped it. Witness said that he wrote Marsh in September and later after that but received no reply. He recalled that when Marsh interviewed him about the course. Marsh had said that he was the son of the deputy-minister of labor and that he had inside information as to what would be required for examinations.

Questioned by Judge German, the witness testified that he was not quite sure of the exact words used by Marsh. He recalled the expression "inside information" but as to the exact wording of the rest he was not sure, although he had inferred that it meant that Marsh had inside information in regard to what was necessary for the examinations.

Questioned by Mr. Willmott, the witness declared that by the time he received the two text books, he had come to the conclusion that the course was no good to him and that the books did not apply to his line of work. He had talked with others who had taken the same course and their opinions agreed with his. Had the courses continued to come on in July and August he might have continued the work, McCracken said.

W. J. Longeway of Toronto, chairman of the publications committee of the Institute of Power Engineers, testified that he had examined the 29 lessons received by McCracken and on being questioned by Mr. Deyman in detail, he said that the lessons lacked continuity and relevancy to the subjects dealt with and that in some instances the subject matter was very elementary. Much of the material in connection with electricity and steam boilers was of historical nature. As far as the text books were concerned they bore little information to the subject of stationary engineering, he said.

No Help To Student

In reply to a question from Judge German, the witness said that a correspondence course would assist a man in passing the examinations for a second class certificate but that insofar as these 29 lessons were concerned, they contained very little of a helpful nature. Witness told defence counsel that it was a difficult task to devise a course which would be efefctive for all students and that it would take the average man from two to two and one-half years to properly assimilate a correspondence course.

A. W. Trotter of Port Hope testified that he purchased a 77-lesson course for $40 with the object of getting a third class stationary engineer's certificate. He stated that all he received was 11 lessons and heard no more from Marsh and that he didn't bother any more about it.

Albert Godfrey of Peterborough, holder of a third class certificate, testified that he signed on last year for a 96-lesson course for $50 with the view of getting a second class certificate. He received only 21 lessons, including a book. The lessons didn't come in any plan or order and he pointed out that the mathematics part of the course was incomplete and that when he started on screws and screw gears he had not had the mathematical training in decimals to handle it.

Lessons Said Lost

S. W. Gilmore of Peterborough testified that he contracted for a course last year at a price of $57.10 for a 96-lesson course but only received 12 lessons and that when he saw Mr. Marsh in Toronto about the failure to receive any more lessons, Marsh had told him that they must have gone astray.

"I declined to take any more lessons or pay any more money on the course," testified Gilmore.

Kenneth Jaquith of Peterborough told of taking a 96-lesson course at a price of $57.10 of which he received only part of the course and the same book as the other students. Gilbert Doey of Bowmanville contracted for 132 lessons for a first class certificate but only received seven lessons and the text book.

J. B. Morton of Peterborough testified that he had been approached by Marsh but had not taken the course. In all cases, Marsh said he was a representative of the Engineering and Technical Service of Montreal, witness testified.

New Potatoes To Get Ceiling

OTTAWA, April 26 (CP) — The Prices Board said today that an order will be issued shortly setting ceiling prices for shippers or producers of domestic new potatoes.

The highest shipper and producer prices will involve a maximum consumer price of about five cents a pound.

The order will provide a ceiling price for shipper or producer of $3.75 per hundredweight f.o.b. Harrow, Ont., and Vancouver, B.C., from the time at which domestic new potatoes become available to July 15; or $3.50 from July 16 to July 29; of $3.25 from July 30 to Aug. 12; and $3 from Aug. 12 to Aug. 3.

Provision will be made in the order that the delivered price to all distribution centres in Canada shall not exceed the base price indicated plus transportation charges not to exceed 40 cents per hundredweight.

Wholesale and retail mark-ups will remain the same as in the present potato order.

In order to make the best use of available food supplies it is not intended to grant permits for the importation of new potatoes so long as there are reasonable supplies of good quality old crop potatoes still available.

School Choirs Sing At Loan

COBOURG, April 25.—(ENS). — Cobourg school children, accompanied by teachers and school board members turned out en masse on Monday at noon for the raising of the Victory Loan pledge flag at the town hall. Directed by Mrs. Lettice Bingham the combined choirs of the three schools sang, "O Canada," "Infantry Songs" and "Onward Christian Soldiers." Joseph Goldring and his band supplied the music. Dr. A. R. Richards, county public relations chairman, was in charge of the program.

On the platform were Mayor Jack Burnet, Dr. Richards, Fred Slade, county chairman; Mrs. Margery Pewtress, Cobourg public relations chairman; Mrs. Kathleen Spooner, chairman of the public school board; Ed. Burns, chairman of the separate school board, and Miss Madeline Rooney. Three school children, Betty Greer, Shirley McMahon and Patricia McMurdo were also on the platform.

Dr. A. R. Richards in a brief speech, told the crowd assembled it was essential that the war be financed and the intention was to bring the war to the earliest successful termination possible.

Mrs. Pewtress, in presenting the Victory Loan shield to Mr. Slade, pointed out that it was a replica of the one presented in Ottawa by Mr. Ilsley and it was a symbol of confidence in the county chairman that the shield was presented to him to lead the county over the top in the campaign. Mr. Slade, in reply, told his listeners that the committees, workers and salesmen were 100 per cent. behind the loan and that he was confident of its success.

Mayor Jack Burnet spoke briefly and declared that he had communicated to the mayor of Port Hope that the Cobourg boys in Italy, including ex-Mayor Jack Ewart, were challenging Port Hope to a race to see which town bought the highest percentage of bonds.

Flag Raising Opens 6th Loan

CAMPBELLFORD, April 25. — (ENS). — An impressive flag raising and dedication ceremony in front of the post office marked the opening of the Sixth Victory Loan campaign in Campbellford on Monday. More than 500 school pupils took part in the program which was arranged by the local Publicity Committee with the co-operation of military and school officials.

The Midland Regiment Band, headed by Warrant Officer E. C. Dolman of Peterborough, led the parade that formed up on Ranney Street where Public and Separate School pupils were joined by the smartly uniformed High School Cadets. It was the third time the High School Cadets (boys and girls) had paraded together for a civic ceremony and their appearance and marching was a tribute to the school. The band also was in excellent form and drew warm praise from spectators who lined streets at the noon hour.

The ceremony before the post office was brief, but served its main purpose of bringing home the urgency of supporting the loan. Rev. J. P. Collins gave the keynote address declaring that the freedom of democracy was so dear "that our boys are giving their own life blood overseas." Surely if it means so much to them we can respond to

I RESOLVE TO PUT VICTORY FIRST

TO RESOLVE is easy, but without planned retrenchment few of us can wring from overburdened incomes the increased savings this crucial year demands. To cut corners, trim spending, and eliminate every item of waste and extravagance—these are imperative. To some these ways to victory may be of little significance, unless beyond victory they foresee the future security that thrift will mean to each of us in the post-war world.

Shape for yourself a new pattern of security after the war by spending less now. Until victory is won none of us can feel secure.

It Is Time We Woke Up

Boys who have seen service overseas are returning home to Peterborough every week or so. These lads have not been away on a pleasure trip, they have taken part in a great war and they are entitled to the most rousing welcome that grateful citizens can give. They have risked their lives, risked never again seeing those they love and care for and risked never seeing the peace they fought for. Our whole attitude toward these men needs to change. It has been too much, "He went overseas, he is back—so what?"

From now on more and more boys will be returning, and it is time to give a little more serious consideration to our duty and privilege in welcoming them home. On account of security reasons there was little opportunity to give them a proper send off, except in the case where units or portion of units left the city. But today there are boys returning just slipping into the city as they slipped out several years ago.

Civic officials are not to blame for they have not been advised in advance. The Public Relations officer in Kingston has attempted to notify the newspapers and the relatives but often their stay has been so short at the depot that very little could be done. What we need is more accurate advance information as to the coming of men from overseas, so that as a city we can give full recognition of the fact that he has done his bit and is back home again.

In the last war the mayor was always notified and it fell then to the organization which he set up to give the proper welcome home. We do not want it said here that Joe enlisted in 1940. He served in Italy. He came back this year. He got his discharge. Apart from his name in the paper and a discharge badge he has never known whether his services were appreciated or not.

It is time we woke up. Let us do something and make every man feel that his fellow citizens know about his services and are glad he is back.

We Need Them Now

A rather significant paragraph appeared yesterday in the 'How Time Flies' column. It tells of how the late Magistrate D. W. Dumble told a number of youths brought before him in police court 30 years ago for playing games on the street advised the youths to petition the council for adequate playgrounds. That was in 1914. Today Peterborough is much larger; there are a lot more children but in the matter of adequate playgrounds we are not much better off than we were three decades ago. Perhaps we are not even as well off for a lot of vacant lots that served the youngsters of 1914 as makeshift playgrounds are now covered with buildings and no longer available.

For some years Peterborough had supervised playgrounds and they served a useful and desirable purpose. Unfortunately the plan was finally scrapped and there is nothing to take its place. More than that the development of softball has created a demand for the use of what playing areas are still at hand by older youths and men and the youngsters have been more or less pushed out of the picture. It is not a situation in which we can take pride. Adequate playgrounds are an even greater necessity now than they were in Magistrate Dumble's time and it is not stretching the truth to intimate that the lack of such facilities may be playing a part in creating the juvenile delinquency that is causing such general worry.

Martyrs Of The Warsaw Ghetto

A year ago at this time, the Jews of the Warsaw Ghetto fought for thirty-five days against strong German forces. The Jews were not strong in numbers; they had no weapons except a few rifles and pistols: but they opposed, in all, 6,000 German troops armed with every weapon, including tanks and incendiary bombs and planes. When the battle ended the Jews had lost about 5,000 fighters, and the Germans something over a thousand.

Of course the Germans won. But that is not what makes the battle significant in the history of human freedom. The battle is glorious in Jewish history and in the history of human freedom because men and women fought with little more than their bare hands against the full might of a trained enemy for freedom, and the right to live, and the right to be treated as human beings and children of God.

The terrors of the Ghetto battle will never be fully known. From the German point of view the resistance of the Jews was outrageous impudence; it was a defiance of a conqueror's command, and nothing brings out the bad blood and the bad heart of the German people like defiance. The order had gone out that Ghetto Jews should be deported, and one of the moves in the campaign to exterminate the hated race. When the Jews resolved to die on their feet rather than on their knees the German rage was indescribable. The Ghetto massacre is one of the dirtiest pages in the dirty book of German military history.

Doubtless when the freedom of Poland is restored a monument to the Jews who fought in the Ghetto will be set up in some appropriate place. But their real monument is built already, and may be found in the hearts of all people who really love freedom for mankind, and not merely for a few of the more powerful races.

Exporting Eggs

Export of Canadian farm products since the commencement of the war has increased to such a degree as never expected and the big question being asked today is just what portion of this business will Canada be able to keep. We will lose much but a great deal depends on the farmers themselves and whether they are able to produce the farm products that are demanded by the importers. We have heard a good deal about the quality of bacon being shipped to Britain, and considerable doubt has been expressed as to whether such bacon is meeting the demand of the British buyer. In wartime he has to take what he can get, but it will be an entirely different story in the post-war period. Now is the time to give him the quality he wants and then it will be much easier for us to keep him after the war as a buyer.

Canada exported last year $15,000,000 worth of eggs more than in 1939. Before the war our annual export was only about $300,000.

China for years exported eggs to all parts of the world. They were especially suited for baking owing to their golden yokes, but the Japanese took over China and the egg business vanished. Chinese eggs even found a market in Canada. They were cheaply produced and the Chinese farmer would only get a few cents a dozen.

Canadians are now making an honest effort to retain this egg market and producers and wholesalers in Canada have been studying the trend hoping that they can work out methods whereby at least a large portion of the egg export can be retained. However, quality eggs will still be in demand just the same as other good farm produce, and it is here where the Canadian farmer can cash in and keep his share of the market.

Soviets Snub I.L.O.

Russia has refused to participate in the International Labour Conference, affiliated with the League of Nations. There is only one meaning that can be taken from this snub and that is that a new society or association of nations will have to be formed if Russia is to take her proper place in post-war matters. The old league is out of the picture as an effective international machine and this has been the general feeling for years. New machinery must be set up, perhaps based on the Atlantic Charter or a United Nations Council, and it is only through this that Russian co-operation may be assured.

The Conference is meeting in Philadelphia and the Russian boycott is believed due to her expulsion from the League in 1939 after she went to war with Finland. Since then she has had nothing to do with a league agency and the I.L.O. is one of them. Its constitutions were written by the Versailles Treaty which set up the League.

However the hope is still held that the great administrative machinery which has been set up and as far as the I.L.O. is concerned has worked fairly satisfactory, will be salvaged.

Deep-seated economic and social evils cannot be cured by the action of any one nation alone and the interdependence of nations is being driven home more clearly every day. We got to have some kind of an international organization but it must be organized on a different footing, if it is to meet with success in the post-war world, than the old League of Nations.

A Reconsideration Of Belief

(A review of "What Can a Man Believe?" by Rev. Dr. J. D. Smart of St. Paul's Presbyterian Church, Peterborough, which was published yesterday by Ambassador Books).

By SAMUEL MARCHBANKS

IT is often said by laymen that the church today is in an intellectual muddle, and that its impotence in worldly affairs springs from this cause; it is less usual to hear the charge made by a clergyman. But Dr. Smart's book "What Can A Man Believe" is not a jeremiad; it is an attempt, rather, to clear away some of the accretions which time and the vagaries of Protestantism have smeared over the face of Christian belief, and to explain a number of essential Christian doctrines in terms which a layman can understand. From the welter of doctrines, devitalized theologies, and what can only be called "notions" which are to be found in the church today he has chosen those which he thinks a Christian should accept, and which he thinks an intelligent Christian could accept.

◇ ◇ ◇

MUCH Protestantism can be described either as Cheery Religion or as Gloomy Religion. Cheery Religion is a compound of shallow Common Sense, Shallow Psychology and Pollyannaism; it is acceptable only by people of undeveloped spiritual nature, and it fails when any serious demand is made upon it. Gloomy Religion puts its faith in the ability of repressions and prohibitions to make men godly; it is the religion of Conscience, and what Dr. Smart has to say about Conscience is one of the best passages in his book. Neither Cheery nor Gloomy Religion encourages spiritual development, and Dr. Smart is convinced that a faith which does not evolve is not truly Christian; Christianity, in his opinion, is a lifelong pilgrimage which, in spite of its gregarious and social aspects, is essentially lonely; no man makes his way to God through another man's exertions.

◇ ◇ ◇

MANY popular expositions of religion are published these days, but they satisfy only readers who are content with trivialities. One of the best-sellers of last year was Harry Emerson Fosdick's "Being A Real Person," which was a forceful and attractive presentation of Cheery Religion. Dr. Smart's book, though written for a popular audience, does not truckle to popular taste. Some passages in it will be uncongenial to readers who like their religion with jam on it; for instance, he attacks with vigour (and in the reviewer's opinion with complete success) the popular belief that God reveals himself everywhere and through everything. Dr. Smart stands firmly for Revelation through the Scriptures, and will make no compromise with other and misleading revelations. People who will accept anything that seems to them to be good as a revelation of God are on the straight road to dangerous self-deception. One of the most spirited and controversial aspects of the book is the attack it makes on those who, without knowing what they do, accept their own wishes, desires and prejudices as aspects of the Will of God.

◇ ◇ ◇

THIS book is written for laymen, and the judgment of a layman upon it will therefore possess some limited value. From the literary point of view, it is a first-rate exposition of a coherent and noble attitude toward the spiritual life. But what if the layman does not consider Christianity the only coherent and noble attitude toward the spiritual life? A Taoist, or a Buddhist, or even a Confucian might nod his head approvingly over most of what Dr. Smart says, and yet see no reason to become a Christian. Brilliant as much of the book is, there is a hint of "the dominie wi' the tawse' lurking in all of it; take the tawse away from the dominie and he may be a more convincing man, and perhaps a better Christian. It might also be said that the arguments used in the book are of extremely uneven merit; some of them are magnificent but others might be rudely dismissed as pulpit bluster. Dr. Smart did not write his book to controvert atheists and agnostics, but certainly he treats their point of view shallowly. He can knock down Russell, Huxley and Lippman at a blow, for they are pygmies in doubt. But he does not mention Sir James Fraser's "Golden Bough," or Dr. Freud's "Future of An Illusion"; when fighting giants it looks well to fight the biggest ones. But he is writing for average laymen, and average laymen are likely to have read the books of average atheists only.

◇ ◇ ◇

THE reader, however, who accepts Dr. Smart's initial premiss that Christianity is the one true faith, and that salvation can only be found in it, will probably have to go with him the whole way and accept all of his opinions. This book should be of the greatest value to churchmen who are, in their hearts, not happy about their own spiritual state; they consider themselves Christians, they support Christian institutions with money, they take part in certain organized Christian "good works," but their hearts are empty and their minds are confused. "What Can A Man Believe" will clear their minds and then they may, if they have the resolution and the wish to do so, find something to fill their hearts. And emptiness of heart and confusion of mind are the chief diseases of our day.

What's Coming?

How long will the United States last? Not longer than 7000 A.D., says Dr. William J. Humphreys, retired meteorological physicist of the Weather Bureau at Washington, in an interview. By that time most of the United States will be so dry as to be unfit for human inhabitation.

For 50 years, says Dr. Humphreys, the weather has been getting warmer. This means that the world is emerging from an ice age. More ice is melting every year than is being made. As the ice decreases, so does the rainfall. More and more parts of the United States will resemble in dryness New Mexico and Arizona.

Nor will the coast cities be any better off. The melting of the world's ice will bring an average rise of 150 feet in the ocean level, and a flooding of great coast areas. Only the tops of skyscrapers will protrude above the sea.

If it is any comfort to Americans, much of Europe and Asia will be in the same fix.—Abilene Chronicle.

Victuals To Come

There ought to be a lot of good eating in the homes of Canada after the war. All the signs suggest that when the fighting ends, bigger and better meals will be consumed by more and hungrier people. Thousands of women, reunited with their sons and husbands, will joyfully slave over a hot stove (utilizing their discarded ration books as potlifters), preparing dishes calculated to make the surliest stomach warble like the nightingale.—Calgary Herald.

FORESHADOWING HIS 56TH —By Rube Goldberg

What Did Lord Halifax Say?

(OTTAWA JOURNAL)

AT a packed political meeting in England some years ago a man in the front of the hall kept shouting at the speaker: "What did Gladstone say in 1885?" A burly policeman finally seized the interrupter and threw him out of the building, after which he said to him: "I'm curious about that question of yours; what did Gladstone say in 1885?" Said the man: "I'm damned if I know; but I had to get out of that crowd somehow."

Judging by the controversy that's going on about it in the newspapers and Parliament a good way to get thrown out of a political meeting in this country from now on will be to keep on shouting: "What did Lord Halifax say in 1943" Because nobody seems to agree about it. No sooner does Mr. Bracken rise to say that the noble lord said one thing than up stands Mr. King to declare that he really said another thing; whereupon all the papers or most of them jump into the argument, with quotations and citations and interpretations, the whole thing reminiscent of a war among the theologians over what John said, or Luke or Mark.

The odd thing about it all is that the average man, making up his income tax, or with some other worry, hasn't the foggiest notion of what Lord Halifax did say, and, what is more, doesn't care. He just reads the headlines in his paper and wonders vaguely what all the row is about.

Which is the way, we fear, with a lot of those hectic controversies which politicians, publicists and pundits imagine to be history-making, but which in the end don't matter at all. The publicists, pundits and politicians get themselves all worked up, and imagine that all the rest of us are worked up, too, when the truth is that the "man in the street" is blissfully unconcerned. We venture to say, for example, that if we walked up Sparks street this afternoon and asked every second man we met what Lord Halifax said he would look at us blankly and ask: "When did he speak?"

The truth is that we ourselves, who read the Halifax manuscript, don't remember very clearly now exactly what was in it. We wonder if Halifax himself does.

Are Australians Shirking?

(FINANCIAL POST)

HAS Australia done her share in the war? Is Australia shirking the crises ahead when she announces a reduction of 90,000 in her Army strength during the next 12 months?

At least one U.S. Congressman who declared Australia was shirking has now publicly retracted.

Here are the best available estimates from official sources.

Australia's population is about seven millions.

There are 850,000 in her armed services or 12% of her total population.

Canada's population is about 12 millions.

There are 868,000 in armed services or, about 7%.

Britain's population is about 40 millions.

There are 5,500,000 in the armed services, nearly 14% of population.

American's population is about 130 millions.

Her armed services total about 8 millions or about 6% of population.

Casualties, killed, wounded, prisoner, etc., are listed with the per cent of casualties to total population.

Australia	74,388 or	1.1 %
Canada	19,697 or	.16%
Britain	387,996 or	.97%
U. S.	165,061 or	.13%

The really important consideration in total war, however, is not how many of a nation's people are in the armed services but how well is that country doing the job which nature, and the state of the war best fits it to do.

In the early stages of the war, when there was critical fighting to do in eastern Europe and North Africa, Australian troops made epic history for themselves and this Commonwealth.

Following Pearl Harbor and the devastating southward sweep of the Japs, the Australians had a job defending their own continent.

Now, with giant Allied forces gathering in the Pacific, Australia has a new set of priorities on her capacity to serve the cause of freedom.

Supplies that can be produced for the Pacific war in Australia are infinitely cheaper in dollars, manpower and lives than supplies produced anywhere else. It is estimated for instance, that in addition to her own seven millions, Australia has to feed another five millions of United Nations personnel.

The Australian War Commitments Committee recently completed a survey which indicated Australia needed an extra 100,000 men in order to do her best job for the common cause. These are to be secured as follows: 20,000 by special release from the Army; 30,000 from the services by routine discharges; 20,000 from munitions industry where changing war needs permit and 30,000 women from less essential production.

All the available evidence suggests that Australians have done an extremely creditable performance.

A Challenge To Canada

(KINGSTON WHIG-STANDARD)

STARTING this week the people of Canada will be called upon to reply to an appeal for money essential to maintain the Dominion's war effort. It will be the eighth time since the present war began that such a call has been made. The First and Second War Loans were floated in 1940, and since then five Victory Loan campaigns have been concluded successfully. Beginning Monday, the Sixth Victory Loan campaign will run for three weeks, with an objective of $1,200,000,000 — the same minimum amount asked in the Fifth. It is a far cry from the comparatively modest $200,000,000 sought in the First War Loan.

Of this objective of $1.2 billions, individual subscribers are asked to invest $525,000,000, the balance to be made up by corporate, institutional and "special name" purchasers. In the last loan the two goals set were substantially surmounted. There is every reason to believe that the record will be equalled, if not surpassed, and the main reason for this belief is found in the fact that Canadians in general are fully aware that the necessity for money is greater than ever, in view of the forthcoming invasion of Europe.

Economic experts point to various factors as contributing to the success of the Victory Loans. They note that savings resources and earning power in the Dominion are at the highest levels in history. They remind us that Victory Bonds are an attractive and convenient investment, secure as the nation itself. All this is true—most emphatically true—but we firmly believe that a very great number, if not a majority, of individual subscribers buy Victory Bonds because they know how vitally necessary it is to provide money to back up the fighting men overseas. Canadians are buying these bonds primarily to help Canadian soldiers defending this country. All the other reasons are secondary.

That is why we have little hesitation in predicting that the objective in the Sixth Victory Loan will be met, even surpassed. But we cannot be complacent about it. It will take just as much effort, just as much thought, and involve just as much sacrifice as it did the last time. The extension of time for the payment of income tax balances was a move which allowed many people to reconsider their financial position, in order to subscribe to the Sixth Victory Loan. Even this relief, however, does not assure complete success for the campaign about to open. That can only be assured by an answer to the challenge from every Canadian who can possibly budget for a bond. Canada needs as many subscribers as last time—or more. Canada needs just a much money as last time—or more. The people of Canada can meet the chalenge as they have met like ones in the past. On Monday the challenge will be offered; the week-end is a good time to think about ways and means to take it up.

A Bible Message

And in process of time it came to pass, that Cain brought of the fruit of the ground an offering unto the Lord. And Abel, he also brought of the firstlings of his flock, and of the fat thereof. And the Lord had respect unto Abel and to his offering: but unto Cain and to his offering he had not respect. And Cain was very wroth, and his countenance fell.... And Cain talked with Abel his brother: and it came to pass, when they were in the field that Cain rose up against Abel his brother, and slew him.

And the Lord said unto Cain, Where is Abel thy brother? And he said, I know not: Am I my brother's keeper? And he said, What hast thou done? the voice of my brother's blood crieth unto me from the ground. And now art thou cursed from the earth, which hath opened her mouth to receive thy brother's blood from thy hand....

And Cain said unto the Lord, My punishment is greater than I can bear....

And Cain went out from the presence of the Lord, and dwelt in the land of Nod, on the east side of Eden. (Gen. 4: 3-5, 8-11, 13; 16.)

Dealing With a 'Pip-Squeak'

On Thursday, Prices Board Chairman Donald Gordon picked up his newspaper, read a demand by Toronto's Controller Fred Hamilton that Property Administrator Russell Smart, of Ottawa, be fired "if it is true that he is tripping around Florida and now going to California while families are being thrown out on the street." Mr. Gordon, a patient man, yet a terror when aroused, rose up to his full, towering height and shot from both hips:

"It is absolutely scandalous that a pip-squeak like Controller Hamilton should make this sly implication about a man who has served this Board and the people of Canada as well and unselfishly as Mr. Smart has been doing.... Mr. Smart has been serving the Board absolutely without remuneration, and will continue to do so. He is in California on business for his firm with my full knowledge and consent. Mr. Smart, whose health recently has not been of the best, deserves gratitude for his work, not ill-informed sniping."

To this, "pip-squeak" and all, the people of this country should say "Amen." For among afflictions of our times are the ignorant critics, the flannel-mouths and phonies, who go about reviling men who, often at great sacrifice to themselves, are doing good work for the country. They are the sort of people who like to deal in "they say," who don't know evidence from an elephant, and who when they are not wallowing in gutter gossip or damning with innuendo are crushing with open calumny.

For such people, character-assassins, this country should have no use, whether in wartime or at any time. Fair criticism, manly attack, we must have; but this "pip-squeak" business, with little men attacking people whose shoes they are not fit to lace, is a vile thing, a sore on the face of democracy.

Donald Gordon is to be commended for the way he has handled this particular example of it.—Ottawa Journal.

2 People Die After Overdose Of Sulpha Drugs

TORONTO, April 25—Two more deaths from "sulfa" poisoning occurred here yesterday, bringing the Toronto total for the past six months to 20. The deaths are being investigated by Chief Coroner Smirle Lawson, who stated last night that 17 of the deaths reported to the Coroner's Office were in one Toronto hospital.

The alarming situation will be investigated April 26 at the inquest on Durwood Freeman, who died in Toronto General Hospital after receiving sulfa drug treatment.

Dr. W. L. Robinson, pathologist, has been working with Dr. Lawson in investigating the deaths. All autopsies performed were made by Dr. Robinson and his findings were forwarded to the chief coroner.

The two most recent victims of the drug were treated for conditions not regarded as critical. AC. Dewi Wyn Williams, 21, of Wales, a member of the R.A.F., died yesterday morning in Christie Street Hospital. Williams suffered an attack of acute tonsilitis while at Manning Pool, and on April 1 and 2, was given 9 grams of sulfathiazole. He later became very ill and was transferred to Christie Hospital. An autopsy was held yesterday afternoon and Dr. Robinson reported finding definite evidence of sulpathiazole poisoning and acute nephritis.

Suffered Cold

The second death of the day was that in Mount Sinai Hospital of Mrs. Rose Goodman, 68, of 16 Russell St. Mrs. Goodman, Dr. Lawson learned, had a cold in the head and was given a dose of the drug. A short time later she became critically ill and on April 11 was removed to the hospital. Everything was done to try and save the woman, Dr. Lawson stated. The autopsy showed terrific damage had been done the kidneys by the sulfathiazole, and in Dr. Robinson's finding death had been caused from sulfathiazole poisoning.

"I am making a thorough investigation of the deaths from sulfa drugs and all the facts will be brought out at the inquest on Durwood Freeman, who died of sulfanilamide poisoning in Toronto General Hospital," Dr. Lawson declared last night.

To Guard Patients

Dr. Lawson said he was quite certain that the medical profession would take steps to guard the use of this drug except under scientific supervision where tests are made as to whether or not it is safe for the patient to have it. He also felt that under the able and efficient Provincial Department of Health, operated by Dr. R. P. Vivian, steps will be taken to safeguard the people of the Province.

Investigation into the use of the drugs has been in progress for some time and, according to doctors who have been following its progress, it is hoped to obtain information which will warn the general public not to "fool" with the sulfa derivatives. It is also believed some people are more affected than others by their use; that in some cases the sulfa drugs do considerable damage to human organs. The inquest is also expected to show doctors the drugs must be handled with extreme care.

Packing Plants Face Shortage

REGINA, April 25. — (CP).—Packing plants and cold storage warehouses, faced with an acute labor shortage of almost 1,000 men, will urge the Federal government to permit employment of soldiers who can be spared temporarily from their training. Some plants were reported unable to accept new marketings for several days.

The manpower situation was discussed at a week-end conference here attended by 50 representatives of producer organizations, packing plants, the Manitoba and Saskatchewan governments and the United Packing Workers of America.

A survey by The Canadian Press showed that in Edmonton, a surplus of about 12,000 hogs are at packing plants to be killed. Fear of creating another serious congestion has prevented plants in the Alberta capital from re-opening gates for new marketings.

Similar labor shortage conditions also were noted in Winnipeg, Moose Jaw and at the Regina stockyards.

Edmonton packing plants disclosed that the manpower has caused a reduction from 12 to 20 per cent. in seaboard shipments of processed bacon and frozen beef in the past fortnight.

Seymour Hog Producers Given Demonstration

CAMPBELLFORD, April 25 — (ENS)— A dozen Wiltshire sides which ten days earlier had assumed a more familiar form in the hog pens of Seymour farmers, were the focal point at a hog producers' meeting here on Friday afternoon.

H. D. Scotchmer, Toronto, a Senior Field Man of the Federal Division, described to an intent farmer audience of perhaps 100 men, the desirable qualities of an A grade hog which were visually compared to the less desirable characteristics of the B and C grade porkers.

The main reason for the meeting, held in the Cooperative Building, was to explain the complicated system of combining sales cheque and subsidy, and to acquaint the producer with the type of hog that would make the biggest profit. The Wiltshire sides strung across the front of the room represented part of a shipment of animals marketed by 49 district farmers and dressed in Peterborough ready for overseas shipment.

Mr. Scotchmer, who was assisted in the open forum discussion by Agriculture Representative R. C. Banbury, explained the singeing process that removed the epidermis and tightened up the skin leaving the carcass a tan colour and from an "A" grade side showed the importance of a uniform depth of back fat. While there was bound to be some variation in A grades, he emphasised the virtue of a flat sided animal in contrast to a barrel shaped pig.—"The packers don't want to pay for red meat and get lard."

Producers Present.

Making the meeting more valuable was the fact that producers of the various carcasses on display were present. Archie Hatfield, a Seymour West farmer, who got 6 A's out of the same number shipped had done the trick in his case.

Showing a B grade carcass, Mr. Scotchmer pointed to the heavy development of fat on the ham and side and declared the black hairs showing through the skin of this particular breed were another undesirable feature peculiar to certain breeds of hogs. It was a Berkshire hog that had this marked characteristic and J. F. Bennett, a member of the audience, suggested that less than ten per cent of the farmers would know they stood to loose on this breed of hog, "and it takes a long time to change over from one breed to another," he added.

Mr. Scotchmer hastened to explain not all Berkshire hogs bore this particular characteristic, and went on to add encouragingly that 44 per cent of the local shipment of 235 hogs on April 11, had been A grade. This compared favourably with the district's yearly average of 35.6. To the plaint of one producer who had been docked on a hog that was one pound over weight Mr. Scotchmer asserted "You've got to set a limit somewhere." An A grade hog can range from 140 to 170 pounds which in his opinion was a fairly latitude.

2 Northern Villages Buy Fire Equipment

LINDSAY, April 25 — (ENS) — Just two years ago the business section of the Village of Kinmount was entirely wiped out; and a month or two later one half of the business section of the northern village of Minden was also destroyed by fire. It was not until this week that the village equipment of a pumping engine and 1,500 feet of fire hose arrived.

Several meetings were held and the money necessary was raised by public donations and contributions from the County Council of Haliburton and the Village Conucil of Minden. Extra ladders and other fire-fighting equipment are also being purchased and new buildings will be erected to house the new equipment.

Montreal Gunman Loses Life In Winnipeg Alley Gunfight

WINNIPEG, April 25 — (CP) — Sgt.-Maj. Edward Sewell of Winnipeg was recovering in Military Hospital today from a shoulder wound and an alleged long-time burglar, Martin Silver, 43, of Montreal is dead following a week-end attempted robbery and gun battle with a police posse in a back alley in downtown Winnipeg.

Sgt.-Maj. Sewell, former caretaker of the Albany Block on Edmonton street, where the shooting started late Saturday, was injured while assisting detectives endeavoring to apprehend Silver, wanted in Toronto on an attempted murder charge.

When Detective James V. Ayres entered a window of the suite, police said Silver shot at him and then dashed through a door where he encountered Sgt.-Maj. Sewell and shot him in the right shoulder during a scuffle. A few minutes later Silver was shot and killed instantly during a gunfight with Constable Alex Jamieson in a back alley two blocks away. An inquest will be held Wednesday night.

Silver had lived in Montreal, Quebec City and Toronto in the last two years.

Toronto police said he was the man wanted for wounding John Garbutt, caretaker of a apartment block in Forest Hill last July 7. There was a bullet scar on Silver's cheek, believed to have resulted from a gunbattle with a Forest Hill policeman.

Silver was wanted for 40 break-ins here, they said.

81 Five Pinners Hit Average Over 200 Mark

The averages for the 90-game schedule of the Men's City Five-Pin Bowling League which ended a couple of weeks ago show that 81 trundlers rolled at the rate of 200 or better per game. Doug. Abraham, the new champion, set the pace with 248 for the Cleanrites team in 87 games. Bud Weese of Jay's finished second with 247 for 79 games and Fred Martin of Jay's, third with 242 for 90 games. Four other trundlers were above 230, Bob Dyer finishing with 239, Gene Reynolds 238, Jack Playford 237 and Tick Caccavella 230.

For winning first honors from a field of bowling stars, congratulations are in order for Abraham. After the closest race in the history of the league he ended the six-year old reign held successively by members of the champion Jay's team and came through with 869 and 821 scores on the final night of bowling to overtake Bud Weese. His fine 248 average is five points above Jack Playford's 243 of last year and only four below Fred Martin's 252 all time local high of 1941-42. Previous winners were Playford with 241, Martin with 247, and Weese with 249. Although records are not at hand at the moment it is thought that the late Angelo Cremasco of the Bowlrites was top man in 1937-1938.

A review of the records shows that the sixteen teams rolled out the long schedule without a postponed match and twenty-six trundlers bowled the full quota of 90 games. Two teams almost equalled Chief Gimblett's record of using only five men throughout a season. Stags were forced once to break up a five-man combination, while Freeman's were stopped on the final night when Ross Hopkins sat out both ends of the doubleheader. Only seven dummy games appeared on the score boards and the prize money collected amounts to an even $600.00.

In addition to the near perfect attendance the men piled up a grand aggregate count of 1,533,037. Jay's team hit 103,979 and Cleanrites 102,648, while Fred Martin was the individual champion in this last respect, having the satisfaction of seeing 21,780 pins go down in his 90 games.

Outstanding scores for the season were Jay's 3860 team total on March 30 and Cleanrites 1476 single game on February 17. Individual high three scores included Bud Weese's 960 hit March 2 and a 959 and a 919 by Tick Caccavella, a 932 by Roy Suddards, a 917 by Doug. Abraham and a 912 by Jimmy Herron. Two great singles were chalked up. The first was 431 by Roy Suddards, while the other was Tick Caccavella's never-to-be-forgotten 445 of December 16. He was robbed on that occasion of a perfect game and a $100 prize when the five pin remained standing after a perfect hit with his twelfth ball.

Although Jay's as city champions were the best team, the last place Westclox outfit should take undisputed honors as being the league's best sports. The Clockmakers were blanked on the opening night and then absorbed a string of nineteen straight losses. When they finally broke their jinx they made things tough for all and sundry but were never able to overcome the tremendous handicap of the first points they lost. However, they never quit and turned up with a full team each night.

The annual banquet for the league will be held at the Canadian Legion Hall next Thursday evening, April 27 at 6:30 o'clock. Prizes for the year will be presented on that night.

5 Teams Enter Senior Softball League

Dave Leether, second vice-president of the Ontario Amateur Softball Association and long a leader in the game in Peterborough was elected president of the City Softball League at an enthusiastic annual meeting of that body in the Duffus Board Room Monday night.

The unfortunate windup of last season's activities was forgotten as the officers and representatives of five clubs made plans for the coming season.

The treasurer's report for last season was adopted and it was decided that the matter of drafting a constitution for the league should be left to representatives of the teams.

There were five entries at Monday night's meeting, Military Training Centre, Switchgear, and Plazas, formerly the 4th Battery of last season's membership and two new clubs, De Laval and U.E. Locals 534 and 537.

The following officers were elected:

Hon. Presidents—Mayor James Hamilton, Ald. Floyd Curtis and Gordon K. Fraser, M.P.

President—Dave Leether.

Vice-president—Fred Griffin.

Secretary-treasurer—left open.

Executive—A representative of each club with three other members to be named by President Leether.

Fred C. Scates, veteran secretary-treasurer of the organization, asked to be relieved from his post and no appointment was made to fill the position for the time being. References to the valuable services the retiring official had rendered to softball were made by President Leether.

It was decided to leave the entries open until the next meeting which will be held on Wednesday of next week.

A request from Reg. Kingdon, secretary of the Church Softball League for financial assistance for that organization because it is no longer possible to carry on the older divisions which formerly raised enough funds to operate the league was promptly acted upon and a motion to donate $15 to the Church League to assist in financing the loop was carried unanimously.

HERE AND THERE IN SPORTS

By The Canadian Press

The first clash for the Canadian senior basketball championship last night at St. Catharines developed into a tight heavy-scoring struggle which Hayes Steel of Merritton managed to win in overtime 63-61 from U.S. Army Engineers from Edmonton, representing the Canadian West. It was a stirring performance all through with thrills galore in the extra session which became necessary with the rivals locked in a 56-all score at the finish of regular time. It's a best-of-five series and the games are scheduled on successive nights.

Following a severe attack of influenza, with complications, Joe McCarthy, head of the champion New York Yankees, has been forced to retire to his farm at Amherst, N.Y., it was announced at the American Baseball League club headquarters yesterday. On top of this development, Spud Chandler, 20-game winner of the Yankees last season, left for St. Petersburg, Fla., yesterday to join the U.S. Army.

NEW YORK, April 25—(AP)—The Giants lost the pennant yesterday . . . Of course, not even the most enthusiastic Mel Ott fans were claiming the pennant on the strength of five straight victories, but most of them will concede that the Giants haven't a chance with Mel in the army . . . and the news was considered so important here that it even was sent on the Dow Jones financial ticker . . . Anyway the game of trying to name Ott's successor should be livelier than trying to pick a football coach for the Boston Yanks.

A Rookie A Day

Joe Wood, Jr., Red Sox pitcher: son of "Smoky Joe" Wood, Red Sox speedball king of another era and a pupil of his dad at Yale . . . Played Sunday ball at Scranton last summer, between stints in a war plant, and won seven games . . . was an outfielder until his senior year at Yale, when he turned pitcher and fanned 13 Harvards in a 1-0 victory. Followed that up by attending a Harvard dance and cutting in on a Harvard man's girl . . . They were married the following summer . . . If he tried anything like that with the Yanks, Charley Devens may make a comeback.

Tid bit extracted from the Sporting News Baseball Guide (the only one since Jedge Landis failed to get paper to publish his official book)—when Rhody Wallace, Cincinnati Reds' scout, made out a "prospect" card on the manager's grandson, Bill McKechnie III, he filled each space easily until he came to "position" . . . Rhody thought it over and wrote: "horizontal."

SPORTS-Day by Day

By FRED D. CRAIG

The City Softball League had one of its best annual meetings in the history of the loop last night and prospects are bright for a good season, a fact that will cause rejoicing among sport-loving Peterborough citizens who have seen no team competition since the end of the last softball campaign. Five teams, the Military Training Centre, Switchgear and Plazas, the latter squad playing under 4th Battery sponsorship last season, thus making three of the 1943 roster in line, and two new clubs, the DeLaval and U.E. Locals 524 and 527 have already entered and it is possible there may be a sixth entry before the next meeting of the league to be held a week from Wednesday. The meeting chose an excellent president in Dave Leether and the only regrettable feature was the announcement from Secretary-treasurer Fred Scates that he proposed to retire from that position. He has done a lot for softball and for the City League and if he can make that retirement stick will certainly be missed by the loop. The league is to be congratulated on its promptness in answering an S.O.S. call from the Church Softball League for financial assistance, owing to the older divisions of the church loop not functioning. The meeting unanimously decided to vote $15 to the Church League to help carry on this season. After all as one of the members put it last night, "You get your players from the minor loops."

The public schools of the city are to be congratulated upon the novel experiment they are making this season by which it is hoped to get every boy in the upper grades who is physically fit, actively engaged in softball. The School League will operate as usual with each school selecting its strongest team to represent it but in addition to that five of the six public schools have agreed to organize leagues within the schools. It is expected that at least four teams will be operating in each school, making a total of 20 and providing organized softball for some 200 youngsters. These school leagues will declare winners and the teams to finish on top in each school will have the honor of representing their school in a secondary playoff so that in addition to the regular Public School League for the school championship, there will be this new competition as well, with the result that there will be opportunities for all the bigger boys in the schools. That is certainly a long step forward and the result of the experiment will be watched with interest. It is the most ambitious mass effort to encourage sport among youngsters that has been launched here and deserves to succeed.

Old Rocking Chair

Will old rocking chair get Strangler Bob Wagner in the main bout at the Brock St. Arena tonight as Promoter Frank Tunney sends six of his stable of heavyweights into action? That is the question wrestling fans are asking and they are a unit in hoping that the answer is in the affirmative. "Old rocking chair" is Earl McCready's most spectacular and most effective hold and he has used it repeatedly to subdue a flock of battlers who started out with the same idea as Wagner will carry into the ring tonight and that is that they could beat the Aurora farmer by outslugging him. Once the Moose gets those powerful legs of his wrapped around the victim and starts to roll him up and over in the rocking chair cradle grip awarding the fall to McCready is merely a formality. Of course McCready has other effective grips too. There is no one in the business who can apply a flying scissors with more dexterity than he can and it usually ends in a fall. And he can call on a lot of other wrestling lore to tame the bad men of the mat game. Local fans don't care much what tactics he uses on Wagner so long as they are effective. Biffing Bob has got the goat of the wrestling enthusiasts here by the violent manner in which he hands out abuse to his opponents and they want to see McCready give him a lacing tonight that might teach him that the way of the transgressor really is hard.

* * * * * *

Wagner is not the only bad man on tonight's bill. Tunney is offering a chance to look over another of those mat villains who are careless about the way they treat their opposition and usually save their worst stuff for use against the cleaner exponents of wrestling. The new comer is Verne Baxter and his rowdy style made him a standout in Toronto last week in spite of the fact that a flock of other mat rough-necks had places on the card. Baxter meets the popular Toar Morgan in the semi-final tonight and the bout will not be under way long, we imagine, before everybody in the house will be shouting for the former Marine to give the battling Baxter the well-known works. Incidentally Morgan is the bird who can do just that if the going gets rough. There is another stormy petrel in the opening bout in the person of Al Bunny Dunlop who will probably try to rip Tony Leoni, of Hollywood to pieces. He may find it a tough job. Jan Gotch tried the same thing last week and found that the Italian-American was a ball of fire when he really got started. The bill is one of the best in weeks and should pack them in.

Some Great Trundling

Official averages of the City Five Pin League promulgated today by Vince Fitzgerald make interesting reading. Furthermore they indicate that the league has completed a season that was outstanding for high-class trundling with 81 bowlers hitting an average of 200 a game or better. Perhaps the feature was the feat of Doug Abraham of the Cleanrites in capturing first place in the averages with 248 for 87 games, a fine record that was within four pins of the all-time high, established two years ago by Freddy Martin. For six year's Jay's team which again captured the team honors this season had monopolized the high average record. Jack Playford of Jay's was the winner last season with 243, Freddy Martin topped the league in 1941-42 and before that Playford with 241, Martin with 247 and Weese with 249 had been winners. The individual highlight of the season was furnished on the night when Tick Caccavella came within one pin of a perfect game and a prize of $100. Caccavella rolled eleven strikes in a row and his twelfth effort was another perfect hit but somehow or other the five pin remained standing and he had to be satisfied with 445, five points off the possible. The league will wind up a great season with a banquet at the Canadian Legion Hall on Thursday night.

"It took a world war to do it, but Kingston has the unusual record of a sports club paying bond-holders a profit," says Bill Walshe in the Kingston Whig-Standard. "It has been known in the history of sport when shares in a club had a market value of more than the original cost but not very often, in fact they are generally used to paper walls with some of the gilt edged mining certificates of the boom days. Shareholders in the Kingston Badminton Club are the fortunate supporters of a sports organization who are receiving unexpected returns from what they formerly considered donations. In the mail at present are cheques for Badminton Club bonds, which originally sold for $25 and are being redeemed at $33. The strange switch in sports finances was the result of the Canadian Navy purchasing the Badminton Club building for a barracks. There are 564 shares to be paid off with different shareholders holding most of the stock. The officers mess of the old RCHA is the biggest shareholder which will probably cause a little legal discussion as the RCHA is now the RCA. Shareholders live in all parts of the world and many of the bonds are included in estates. When the club was originally formed from the original Garrison Badminton Club shares were sold and were practically considered donations. While the shareholders may be happy at the windfall of fresh funds the group of men who were on the bank note on the club are rejoicing at being relieved of a rather risky venture."

Durocher Still Looks For Fights

BOSTON, April 25—(AP)—Baseball will last through the 1944 season and there will be no disarmament in the opinion of Leo Durocher, manager of the Brooklyn Dodgers who brought his hired hands and his whip-lash tongue to Boston for the first time this season.

As far as disarmament and Mr. Durocher are concerned, it is apparent that the National League umpires had best watch out for themselves in the clinches.

As the Dodgers arrived, Leo consented to an interview.

"How about my 1944 attitude to umpires? I think the fans want to see good baseball. I'm sure they want to see winning baseball, anyway.

"So I'm going to go along as I have always gone along. I'm going out to win every game and I'm going out to fight for my rights on every play."

Bigger Crowds Attend Baseball Games

By JACK HAND
Associated Press Sports Writer.

Baseball moguls made out to the ball parks to-day with some spare change jingling in their side pockets because 250,969 customers gave the game a vote of confidence in the first week of the new season.

It's still too early to draw any line on what to expect when the hot weather and night games come along, but there's enough business in the house to top the 1943 opening week turnout by 35,000 paid.

Although figures are a little out of line because they include the banner opening crowds the attendance has been more than 8,500 a game. Anything resembling this average throughout the season would surpass last year's total of 7,714,638.

While the statisticians were at work on opening week figures, the athletes enjoyed a day of rest as the only game scheduled, Cincinnati at Pittsburg in the National League, was called off.

With a shift of scenery the unbeaten New York Giants and St. Louis Cardinals go back to work to-day, Mel Ott's team at Philadelphia and the Cardinals in Cincinnati, Brooklyn at Boston and Chicago at Pittsburg complete the National calendar.

Those St. Louis Browns keep their victory streak intact for at least another day as they are not scheduled, but Philadelphia invades New York, Boston goes to Washington, and Detroit visits Chicago for the first time in a three-game American League chart.

Quebec Captures Allan Cup For First Time

QUEBEC, April 26 (CP)—Quebec City held the Allan Cup for the first time in history today, but Quebecers had been expecting that for some time and today they did most of their talking about the fighting display of Port Arthur Shipbuilders in a losing cause last night.

The Ports lost out 9-6 in the third game of their final series against Quebec Aces, and to the extent that Aces won, the game was true to expectations. But the thing that surprised a slim crowd of 4,000 was the way the powerful Quebec team had to stave off the inspired Ports to win. Aces took the first two games 6-1 and 15-4.

Aces turned on full power in the final minutes to score three times and clinch things.

Rollie Rossignol, who like the rest of the Aces doesn't call Quebec his native city—he hails from Edmunston, N.B.—led the Quebec attack with three goals and set up the play for two others. Lude Check bagged a couple, and Doug. Baldwin, Eddie Bruneteau, Bill Robinson and Rosie Rozzini got one each. Bruneteau also contributed four assists, the same number as Nils Tremblay.

Cup Presented

Stan Robertson and Bill McKenzie sank two goals each for the Ports, with the others going to Pete Wymrot and Jo-Jo Gollatt. Norm Larson and Norm Wright each bagged two assists.

Secretary - Treasurer Alphonse Therrien of the Quebec Amateur Hockey Association presented the big silver trophy to Goalie Lionel Bouvrette, captain of the Aces, right after the game.

The Ports made a game of it all the way with a display of aggressiveness that surprised those who had seen Aces pretty well dominate affairs in the first two games. They were a goal down at the end of the first when Bruneteau fired one home for Aces late in the period following a split on the first pair of goals.

They went three down early in the second then came back with two quick ones only to have Aces make it 5-3 with another late-period counter. They got one back and gained a split on the next two goals to leave it at 6-5 for Aces with 11 minutes to go. Aces cracked on the power then, however, and slapped home three goals in a row before McKenzie came back with Port Arthur's sixth goal and the final tally of the series.

Lineup:

Port Arthur—Goal, Hill; defence, Sinclair, Backor; centre, Robertson; wings, Larson, Koivisto; subs, Dinning, Collatt, Eaton, Wywrot, McKenzie, Wright.

TORONTO, April 25— (CP). — Vancouver seems almost certain to take a fling at double-A professional baseball as soon as the war is over. That is indicated in a letter Ken (Vancouver Province) McConnell received from President Clarence Rowland of the Pacific Coast League.

In his letter, Mr. Rowland pointed out that Vancouver's bid for a franchise recently was turned down because of wartime transportation difficulties, and the distance between the Canadian city and the southern members of the league like San Francisco and Los Angeles. However, he added that Vancouver should be in line "at some time in the very near future" for a league franchise.

Poor fish, anyway.

Betting on horse races has a staunch defender in H. I. Phillips, a citizen who wrote to Dink (Montreal Gazette) Carroll about goings-on. Said Mr. Phillips: "Maybe in a day I lose 12 or 14 seeds. But I gotta chance of making some or breaking even. What chance have I...If I go fishing of a Saturday afternoon? Whoever heard of a fish paying 50 to 1?"

Perhaps you have something there, Mr. P.

Early Hurlers Back On Job

(By The Associated Press)

Opening day pitchers are due again today after four days of rest as the International Baseball league resumes operation on four fronts if Jim Konstanty, Alex Mustaikis and Tom Sunkel go to the hill and repeat last Thursday's performances, the Double A fans are in for some fancy chucking.

Manager Burleigh Grimes of Toronto Maple Leafs appears to have the makings of a staff that will make his team tough to beat in its bid for a second straight flag. Mustaikis and Tommy Ananicz, who worked the first two winning affairs, have allowed a total of one run.

The Leafs, who open and close a series in Newark today, have been banging the ball hard, blasting out 15 runs, but they give way to Buffalo in that department. The Bisons have picked up 16 scores but their ineffective hurling has given back 15 of them.

While Toronto is at Newark today Buffalo will be finishing up its business in Syracuse and Montreal will be ending a Metropolitan district four-day stay in Jersey City. Tonight Baltimore entertains Rochester.

Aces Too Strong Coach Laments

QUEBEC, April 25—(CP)—It was a business-like finale to the Allan Cup series last night and Quebec's Aces, who brought the big silver trophy here for the first time since it was put up for competition in 1908, declined to get excited over their feat.

"It was in the bag after that 15-4 defeat we handed Port Arthur last Friday," said playing coach Billy Reay, as he stood in Quebec's dressing room, admiring the ribbon-decked emblem of Canada's senior amateur hockey crown.

"Ports played rougher tonight and the 9-6 score shows it was a better game. We had too much power—all-around power—for them, though. They haven't the league out there that we have here and a good league goes a long, long way towards conditioning a team for the Alan Cup trail."

Coach Hugh O'Leary, of Ports, who had conceded his club's elimination after last Friday's game, said the Shipbuilders would leave today for Port Arthur and that they would stop off for a day at Toronto enroute.

"Aces were far too strong," he said. "We did our best, but..."

Fraser Queries Minister On Woman's Salary

By JAMES McCOOK
Canadian Press Staff Writer

OTTAWA, April 25.—(CP).— The Commons yesterday paused for a moment to look at the long trail of legislation ahead and then gamely put its shoulder to the wheel with brisk discussion of salaries and women's work.

Finance Minister Ilsley said he hoped to bring down the budget—which usually signifies the red letter day of any session—shortly after the middle of May.

Prime Minister Mackenzie King, answering Gordon Graydon, Progressive Conservative House leader, said the government would bring down legislation dealing with housing, family allowances, a floor under farm prices, insurance or guaranteeing of export credits, surplus war assets, an air transport board and rehabilitation. Measures of health insurance and contributory old age pensions are probable.

The sharpest debate of the day arose on payments totalling $9,190 to Miss Helen Doherty, special assistant to War Services Minister LaFleche, who received a lump sum of $7,090 in pay for her work in the department from 1940 to August, 1942, after her salary had been delayed from month to month by what the minister called "a series of events."

Why Lump Sum

She had gone to the department when it was being organized and the staff had not been built up.

G. K. Fraser (P.C.-Peterborough West) said he wondered why a lump payment should have to be made to Miss Doherty and he asked why it was necessary for her to visit the House "quite frequently." She had visited Liberal members and Senators.

Gen. LaFleche said he believed Miss Doherty had been calling at his office to deliver reports, as did other members of his department. She had gone to the department in 1940 on the understanding she was to head a division.

This did not materialize, and she finally was paid at the rate of $10 a day for the time she spent in the department, later being appointed special assistant at $3,600 a year.

She had recently gone to the United Kingdom with three other women to make a report for the department on the work of women's organizations there.

Pinard Objects

Mr. Fraser said the minister should say how the four women who went to the United Kingdom—Miss Doherty, Miss Agathe Dore, Montreal, Mrs. Jules Laine, Toronto, and Mrs. Gordon Konantz, Winnipeg—were chosen.

"I would like to know what difference there will be, so far as the interests of the general public are concerned?" asked J. A. Pinard (L.—Ottawa East). ". . . Do the people ask you to find that out?"

Mr. Fraser: "The people of Canada certainly need to know where their money is going . . . The honorable member who has just spoken had made a very peculiar statement.

"It is a statement which will go down with this government, and will put the government absolutely out of power when the next election comes along. The honorable member who has just spoken knows perfectly well that money is being spent which should not be spent."

Mr. Pinard said Mr. Fraser criticized small items, but would "let fillions go by without interference." Anyone who had worked was entitled to remuneration.

"Possibly you made the recommendation for her appointment," said G. J. Tustin (P.C.-Prince Edward-Lennox).

Mr. Pinard: "Well, why not? I did not. She is not in my riding, and there was no question of politics as far as her appointment was concerned....All members of this House are trying to render the best service they can, and yet here we have an honorable member making so much fun about an expenditure of five, six or seven thousand dollars when much more money is thrown away...."

"Opposition members applauded.

"....By organizations directed by Tories, commissions, and all that kind of thing."

The War Services Department had not "thrown away one five-cent piece.'

Mr. Fraser said that when the Opposition asked information on large amounts the Government would not give the answers.

Gen. LaFleche said the four women who went overseas were chosen not as individuals representing any particular group but as representatives of the Department Each one had been "highly recommended'" to him. Mrs. Laine had said she would make no claim for expenses and he would seek information for the House on the expenses of the others.

Lt.-Col. Arthur Ross (PC-Souris) said he had "dozens if not hundreds of letters" from many parts of the West about Miss Claire Wallace, a radio speaker who assisted the sale of War Savings Certificates, and was reported to receive $200 a week and expenses. People questioned whether she was worthy of her hire. People were making the matter an excuse to refrain from buying Victory Bonds.

Gen. LaFleche said Miss Wallace was not employed by his Department or the Canadian Broadcasting Corporation, but he believed she had been given some work by the War Finance Committee.

Seize More Maps

STOCKHOLM, April 25.—(AP).—Several thousand German large-scale maps of the whole of Scandinavia were confiscated by Swedish customs agents yesterday when a ferry arrived from Sassnitz, Germany. It was the second such seizure in a week. The maps are being examined by Swedish military authorities.

Action Sporadic Across Italy

NAPLES, April 25—(AP)—American troops occupied a house 1½ miles west of Carano in the central sector of the Anzio beachhead after a brisk fight yesterday, headquarters announced today.

Another small Allies force also improved its position on the beachhead, occupying some woods two miles south of Cisterna, important German communications hub, as well as points along a road to the south.

Artillery and mortar duels continued in Cassino. One Allied patrol in the central part of the front crossed the Sangro river.

Mud Slows Yanks.

On the east flank, red mud which caked the troops from head to foot was the chief deterring factor in a mile and one-half push from Humboldt Bay into the wreckage of Hollandia village Sunday.

AP Correspondent Asahel Bush, writing his dispatch amidst the ruins of the community's 150 buildings, said only sprawling bodies of dead enemy stragglers were found after naval guns, dive bombers and mountain mortar raked the village.

At Aitape, the story was the same. The enemy garrison of between 500 and 1,000 fled, leaving 98 dead and a few prisoners around seized Tadji airfield.

Royal Australian Air Force engineers worked at night under floodlights, disdainful of the enemy air arm, to repair the bomber and fighter strips while the troops moved on Aitape village five miles north.

"Landing craft brought a never ending flow of troops and supplies to the beachhead from Liberty ships and transports," reported AP Correspondent Spencer Davis.

At each expanding perimeter from Aitape to Hollandia, bulldozers and tractors tore into the jungle, building roads for transporting the supplies piling up on the beaches.

Some 4,000 tons of bombs were rained on Nazi targets yesterday in the blows from the west and south.

Allied fighters and fighter-bombers escorting the heavy bombers to Friedrichshafen and Munich, sent down 66 enemy planes, and bomber gunners accounted for 37 more.

The bombers blasted factories at Friedrichshafen and airfields in the Munich area, and a U.S. communique declared "bombing results were generally satisfactory."

Twelve American bombers landed in Switzerland after the Friedrichshafen raid, and two others crashed in that neutral country, the Swiss announced. One was shot down by Swiss fighters when it failed to obey landing signals.

German planes flew over parts of Eastern and South-eastern England last night, bombing one place, but there were no casualties, an Aair and Home Security communique said.

PRICES STABILIZED

The cost of living in Canada increased by less than one per cent during 1943; in the similar period in the First Great War prices rose by about 10 per cent.

4,900 Japanese Die At Imphal

KANDY, Ceylon, April 25—(CP)—Allied forces have slain more than 4,900 Japanese troops around Imphal since the enemy launched his offensive against that key town in Northern India, a British military spokesman declared today.

The figure, he said, does not include enemy soldiers slain by artillery fire and probably represents less than half the total Japanese losses.

"As the Japanese are most determined to get their wounded away," the spokesman declared, "it is likely that the total number of killed and wounded is double this figure."

Field dispatches, meanwhile, disclosed that Allied troops had now cleared the Japanese from the road running northeast from Imphal to Ukhrul — a distance of 30 miles. Small isolated parties of the enemy were reported being mopped up.

Not Mr. X

TILLSONBURG, April 25—(CP).—Many thought "Mr. X" was in town as greenbacks fluttered in the breeze and pedestrians scurried to scoop them up. All were hastily reclaimed, however, by an alarmed merchant, who had been on his way from the bank when a sudden gust of wind carried them from his grasp.

PTE. CHARLES BOOTH — SGT. RAYMOND BOOTH

BROTHERS MEET—A happy reunion was held in Lindsay recently when two brothers met for the first time in almost a year. Pte. Charles H. Booth, 19, had been invalided home from England, and his brother, Sgt. Raymond Booth, R.C.A.F., had arrived home on furlough only a short time before he arrived. The boys are the sons of Mr. and Mrs. H. E. Booth, 37 Sussex Street North.

Main Street Topics

SPARE TIRE STOLEN.

Leslie Randell, 12 New Chamberlain street, left his car parked in front of the Peterborough Lumber Company plant on Monaghan road, he reported to the police Monday and when he returned he found that his spare tire had been stolen.

BOOTY IS SMALL.

A break-in at the office of McCarthy and Johnston, Hunter street east during Monday night, produced little in the way of booty. Entrance was gained by forcing a rear door, but all the intruders got for their trouble was 15 or 20 cents.

JOINS THE NAVY.

Gordon Ivor Brook, son of Captain and Mrs. G. P. Brook of this city, has joined the Canadian Navy. His brother, P.O. Stanley Brook, recently escaped from an enemy prison camp and is again flying bombers and his father is on active service with the Canadian army at Pembroke.

WELCOME RAIN.

The rainy weather, subject of gloomy, discouraged comment by most people, has proved a first-class boon to the Fire Department. Harassed by nearly a dozen alarms for grass fires, some of them verging on the serious, over the week-end, firemen have not been called out to extinguish any blazes since early Monday morning.

JACK SINCLAIR RESIGNS.

Jack Sinclair, who has been acting as voluntary rentals appraiser in Peterborough under the Wartime Prices and Trade Board has resigned it is announced to-day by G. A. Mackey, Peterborough representative of the board, and his duties will be looked after by Thomas D. Thomson of the local office of the W.P.T.B.

R.C.A.F. GRADUATES.

Sgt. E. F. Forsythe, 649 Downie street, graduated recently as an air gunner at No. 3 Bombing and Gunnery School, Macdonald, Man. Graduating as a pilot at Yorkton, Sask., was Sgt. H. E. Mason 515 Cross street. Another pilot to receive his wings was Sgt. R. H. Turck of Port Hope, who concluded his flying studies at Souris, Man.

ARRIVES SAFELY

Miss Shirley Whittaker, a popular war guest who spent almost four years in Canada with Mr. and Mrs. R. Whalon, 585 Homewood avenue, has just cabled news of her safe arrival at her home, Bridgenorth, Shropshire. She attended the Collegiate, and her many friends will be pleased to learn of her safe arrival in England.

BLOOD DONORS.

Donors numbered 78 at the Clinic on Monday, with 27 from the G.G.E. and Genelco. Other plants represented included the H. B. Taylor Coal Co., Quaker Oats, Canada Packers, Westclox, and the Nashua Paper Co. There were also groups of donors in from Lakefield and Havelock. Mrs. Thelma Yelland of the Canada Packers gave a seventh donation.

AIDING WAR EFFORT

In connection with the paper salvage drive held in co-operation with all the Public school children last week, the three local theatres, the Capitol, Centre and Regent, donated their theatres and staffs completely without charge as their contribution to toward this vital war effort. This coming Saturday morning the Capitol Theatre only is giving another free show to take care of the children that were unable to be accommodated last Saturday.

"V" FOR VICTORY.

Col. A. V. Thorne of Cavan township says that in the last few months two Durham cows of his have given birth to three calves and every calf had the "V" sign in one of its ears.

MORE CASUALTIES

The R. C. A. F. casualty list reports today that 24 airmen previously reported missing are now presumed to be dead. Six others are listed a missing, following air operations.

ON TWO COUNTS.

On written pleas of guilty J. C. Plumpton of Peterborough was fined on charges of careless driving and driving without an operator's license in police court today. He was fined $5 and $2.50 costs on the first count and $10 and $2.50 costs on the other. The charges were laid by Provincial Constable Archie Grayling of Havelock.

UNVEILED HONOUR ROLL.

Of particular significance in the ceremony of unveiling St. Luke's parish honour roll at the Sunday morning service was the fact that it was done by Mrs. Fred Legon, 182 Sophia street. Mrs. Legon, who sings in the church's choir, has been bereaved in two wars, having lot a son in the First Great War and another son in this.

PRISONER OF WAR

Flying Officer Jack Maher, nephew of M. J. Maher, of the Examiner circulation department, is now a prisoner of war in Germany. The airman was reported missing the latter part of February after a big raid on the Third Reich. Although he enlisted in Owen Sound, his father, T. J. Maher, lived in Lindsay for several years, and is well known there.

MILITARY PARADE

Men of the Training Centre are expected to parade up to the corner of George and Charlotte streets at 7.30 tonight behind the R.C.A.M.C. band, which will give a short concert following its arrival, weather permitting. The Reserve Army, the naval cadets from Lakefield, the veterans and the sea and air cadets will move off from the Armouries after 7.30 and parade down to Charlotte street for the civic presentation.

Individual subscriptions numbered 15,137 yesterday compared with 12,346 for the comparable period of the last loan.

The Ontario objective in the Sixth Loan has not been announced.

Five Pin League Makes $32 For War Victims

All sports associations are a splendid asset to any community, they provide healthful recreation to the individual, besides creating pleasuer for those who participate, in addition to being the means of providing pleasure to others who may be best described as interested onlookers.

All true sports have a real love of fair play, which itself engenders a real sympathy for those who have had hard luck, this extending itself beyond the limit of their sports to others who have been unfortunate in the game of life in other ways.

This spirit of helpfulness has been demonstrated by many in a practical manner towards those who have been stricken by air raids over Britain, through the Peterborough and District British War Victims Fund, some of them even going to the extent of making it an annual occasion ever since the fund commenced to function, and thus they spread the happiness or pleasure which can be most appreciated by the recipients.

Among these, the Men's City Five Pin Bowling League takes its place, their latest annual event for this purpose being held last Thursday night under the leadership of Harold Freeman, their president, and Vince Fitzgerald, their secretary-treasurer.

In this they were well supported by their members, besides others who belong to the Y. M. C. A., Mercantile and Industrial Leagues, who joined with them for this occasion and they were very grateful indeed to Senator J. J. Duffus who arranged the free use of the Duffus Bowling Alley's, the scorers and the pin boys, all of which materially assisted in making a larger sum available to take its part in their name, in this effort to extend the happiness their sport gives locally to others beyond the seas who are in need.

This was further enhanced by all of the evening's prizes being donated, so that in all the nice sum of $32.50 is credited in this day's receipts for the fund, this being presented by their president to the secretary of the fund in the presence of many who had given a hand towards helping the money to be raised.

The fund management would express it thanks to all who assisted in any way to make this annual event the success it was in giving a nice boost for the objects which the funds seeks to serve.

Alfred Marshall Faces Charge

Alfred Marshall, arrested Monday night, was charged in police court this morning with assaulting a young girl and pleaded not guilty.

"I would like to have an adjournment," the accused told the court.

"I am asking for a remand in this case," said Crown Attorney V. J. McElderry, K.C., "and I think the bail should be $500."

"After all this is merely a case of common assault," pointed out Magistrate Langley. "The object of bail is to ensure the presence of the accused when the case is tried. I think that $200 bail would be sufficient."

Bail was accordingly set at that figure and Marshall was remanded until Thursday.

Students Reach Objective At Collegiate

Students of the Peterborough Collegiate and Vocational School passed their war savings objective of $5,000 on Monday, April 24. The drive has been going on for thirteen weeks and the sales at the school averaged $385 per week.

Pep talks by the form teachers, a large display board showing the progress of each class towards its quota, the showing of the film, "The Bombing of Malta," and finally the visit to the city last Thursday of Flight-Lieut. Gerry Wooll in the latest model Mosquito, when he roared over the Collegiate at almost tree-top height, maintained the interest right to the end of the campaign.

At the end of this week, many students will be leaving school to take positions in offices, to work on the farms, or to enlist in the armed services. They leave with a feeling of accomplishment regarding the two main objectives of the school year: the presentation of a piano to the crew of the corvette Peterborough, and the raising of $5,000, through war savings, toward the purchase of a fighter plane for the Royal Canadian Air Force.

APRIL 25, 1940 — Allied troops in Norway withdrew from Steinkjer and Lillehammer as British War Office denied reports that British forces had been "cut to pieces." Nazi troops reached Roros in drive to join other enemy forces holding Trondheim.

Plans Complete For Police Dance

All arrangements are complete for the ball to be held by the police department in the Brock street Summer Gardens on Friday evening of this week and it is expected that there will be a very large attendance at the affair.

The proceeds of the ball will be devoted to the police benevolent fund, as will the returns from the sale of tickets from the draw which will take place during the dance with His Worship Mayor Hamilton oficiating.

Tickets for the draw have been on sale for several months and have had a ready sale. The demand will undoubtedly keep up until Mayor Hamilton begins to do his stuff. The prizes are a nine-tube radio, donated by the C. G. E., an outboard motor by the Outboard Marine Company, a $100 Vctory Bond donated by friends of the department, a silver tea service, donated by the C. D. S. store, a rug donated by the Peterborough Brinton Carpet Company, a mantel 8-day chime clock, donated by the Wetern Clock Company, a walnut dropleaf table donated by the Home Furnishing Company and a pair of skis and a toboggan donated by the Peterborough Canoe Company.

Sicily Rehearsed For Months Before Canadians Moved In

"It wasn't a matter of chance that Montgomery chose the 1st Canadian Division for the 8th Army" declared Major Bramwell Welbourn of the Salvation Army and auxiliary services supervisor with the Cnadian Army overseas in an address to the Peterborough Rotary Club at its regular meeting in the Empress Monday.

"The Canadians were chosen because they were a crack division" said Major Welbourn." They had been drilling for several years to be fit when the call came and for two months previous to being sent to Sicily had been rehearsing just such an attack on islands in the north of Scotland. Remember too, they had to make the long trip from Scotland and go directly into action, instead of landing in Africa first as other troops had done."

Major Welbourn who only returned from overseas in January was loud in his praises of the manner in which the Canadians had measured up to the test, pointing out that they had been given one of the toughest roads through Sicily and then through Italy to attack along. The speaker told of how the auxiliary forces had finally won their point and had been allowed to land in Sicily with the assault troops.

Wells Poisoned

It was no sinecure for the Canadians when they first landed, Major Welbourn asserted. They had to face a situation in which they found the wells poisoned, Italian soldiers abandoning their uniforms and donning civilian clothing to snipe at the invaders, intense heat and lack of supplies but the members of the 1st Division had shown splendid morale and met every test.

The speaker told how the auxiliary services had contributed to that morale by keeping as close to the front line as possible and doing everything they could for the soldiers, including the staging of picture shows only two miles back of the advance positions.

In a word on behalf of Victory Bonds Major Welbourn pointed out that the time of the invasion was near. "Very many of your boys are not coming back you can be sure of that" said the speaker "but we can help to make sure of bringing a lot of them home if we back up the Victory Loan drive.

Warning About Japs

The speaker spent many years in Japan and in conclusion warned his hearers that the Japanese would prove tough adversaries. "They have a wonderful army and they have been taught to fight" said Major Welbourn, "and behind it there is a religious background that makes them even more difficult to defeat because they believe that if they die fighting they will return to this world at a higher status. In a word they believe that they have nothing to lose by dying while we do our utmost to live."

Major Welbourn was introduced by Rotarian T. J. Carley, K.C., who referred to his work in the Orient and with the Canadian troops overseas while Rotarian William Cowell moved the vote of thanks.

Rotarian Fred L. Roy, reporting on the visit to Fenelon Falls for the charter night of the village Rotary Club, said that a party of 30 Peterborough representatives had made the trip and complimented Ward Smith on the work of the color party which presented a flag to the Fenelon Falls club.

Clare G. Collins was introduced as the baby member of Rotary. Rotarian David T. Diplock doing the honors and President G. A. Gillespie welcoming the new member.

Wallace Barton Dies In Crash At Sea

WING CMDR. BARTON

GUELPH, April 25—Wing Cmdr. W. S. Barton, D.F.C., R.A.F., son of the late Albert Barton of Peterborough and Lindsay, and Mrs. Barton of Guelph, who was reported missing on July 21, is now presumed to have been killed when a Halifax transport plane in which he was travelling from North Africa to Britain crashed into the sea. According to the Air Ministry in London, Wing Cmdr. Barton had been on a special mission to North Africa and was returning to London to make a report when presumably the plane was attacked by German fighter planes. He was a graduate of Pickering College, Newmarket, and attended public school in Peterborough.

His brother, PO. Russell Barton, was killed on the same date in a previous year when a Wellington bomber crashed in England. Their mother is awaiting permission from Ottawa to return to her home in England.

Westman Plea Is Not Allowed

A conviction by Magistrate O. A. Langley, K.C., in December against Williard Westman, North Monaghan on a charge of careless driving arising out of an accident on the Warsaw Road near the Curtis Bros. brickyard was confirmed by Judge S. L. Smoke Monday when an appeal entered by the young driver against his conviction was dismissed with costs against the appellant.

Westman had been charged following a traffic mishap when the car he was driving west on the Warsaw road collided with a car owned by W. O. Jardine of Lindsay, parked on the south side of the road. Provincial Constable Price Morris who investigated charged Westman with careless driving and when the case was heard in the local police court Magistrate Langley registered a conviction and fined Westman $15 and costs.

The evidence in the case was heard again by Judge Smoke yesterday and he then dismissed the appeal.

Hon. G. N. Gordon, K.C., acted for Westman while the interests of the Crown were looked after by Crown Attorney V. J. McElderry, K.C.

Lost Husband Overseas Wife Buys Bond

Not content with making the greatest sacrifice any woman can make, that of sending her husband overseas to a land from which he will never return, Mrs. Annie Betts, an employee of the Outboard Marine is doubling her part in the 6th Victory Loan, so that it will swell the total needed to wage war. Victory Loan canvassers are find that those who have given the most are much more eager to sacrifice than those who are sliding along on as little as they can get by with.

Mrs. Betts is the wife of the late Pte. Andy Betts, who was killed in England during one of the German blitzes. He enlisted when war broke out and went overseas in 1939 with the 1st contingent as a member of a Western unit. He died in July 1942.

A. E. Lowery of Toronto made a dramatic appeal to both the day and night shifts at the Johnson Motors, and many of his listeners impelled by his appeal, increased their original subscriptions. Among them was Mrs. Betts. Last Friday, after her department canvasser called, she signed up for a $100 bond. After hearing Mr. Lowery, Mrs. Betts went to her canvasser, Larry Maguire, again Monday afternoon and sought to increase her subscription by the same amount. Now she is buying $200 worth of bonds.

Another employee of the same company, also felt the need of buying as much and more than her share. Mrs. Annie Robbins is a grandmother, who has three sons serving overseas. Following the address she increased her subscription. A second mother whose son has just wanted to make sure that when her boy puts to sea to wage war against German planes and U-boats, he'll have the equipment to do the job. She is Mrs. A. J. Crowe, and her son, Robert Crowe, familiar figure in junior softball, will be leaving shortly.

Following his address on Monday, Mr. Lowery, reported great enthusiasm in the industrial plants. He declared that everyone seemed to be full of the idea that the Loan would go over the top. The Payroll Section, he continued, looks as though it will be better than ever and the workers expressed their determination to back up the boys in the coming invasion.

Flt. Lieut. Ross Cameron, padre at the R.C.A.F. station at Trenton, spoke at five plants on Monday too. He commented on the enthusiasm of the workers which was particularly noticeable at the Peterborough and Canadian Canoe Companies. He commented how knowledge of the Loans had improved the set-up of the organizations.

Two Officers Watch Traffic

With two traffic officers on the job, one during the daytime and the other working at night, motorists who are careless in their driving habits are likely to find themselves checked up.

In police court this morning there were two cases of speeding. Alvin Butterworth entered a plea of guilty to driving at a greater rate of speed than 30 miles an hour on Park Hill road and was fined $5 and $2.50 costs by Magistrate O. A. Langley, K.C.

A similar fine was imposed in the case of Morris Dafoe who entered a written plea of guilty to exceeding 30 miles an hour on George street.

Harvey F. Sanderson who pleaded guilty to not bringing his motor vehicle to a stop before entering a through street was fined $2 and $1 costs.

Women Suffrage

HAMILTON, Bermuda, April 25. —(CP Cable.)— Women's suffrage moved a step nearer to reality in Bermuda yesterday when the House of Assembly — the Legislature's Lower House—approved it by a 20-13 vote. The measure, for which island women have been fighting for generations, now goes to the Legislative Council, where it is believed assured of passage by a one-vote margin.

Rambling Reporter

RECALLS OLD TEACHER.

Burt Peters, of Galt, a former resident of this city, reading that Miss Mary Nicholls was celebrating her 101st birthday, has related the following incident to the Examiner. "As a pupils of Miss Nicholls, I recall an incident at the time of the Boer War. The class was rehearsing for the May 24 demonstration. Miss Nicholls noticed that Angus Lowden was not singing, so she wanted to know why. Angus replied that he could not sing but Miss Nicholls claimed that was ridiculous as everyone could sing. Angus then got the shakes and started to cry. Then I said, 'Teacher he can not sing, he can not even whistle for I play with him and I should know." Miss Nicholls replied. 'Since you know so much about singing you can sing it yourself. So I sang it and got a hand from the class. Anyway I butted Angus out of a spot.

GETS NEW POSTING — AC.1 Clare Johnston, son of Mr. and Mrs. Elmer Johnston, Young's Point, is reporting to a new post following his furlough. He has been stationed at St. Thomas taking a course on precision instruments. AC.1 Johnston enlisted in August, 1943, and is 18 years of age. The young airman is an honor graduate of Lakefield High School.

Electric Rates Reduced By Utilities

Announcement was made today by the Utilities Commission of a reduction in electrical rates, the first to be made since 1937. Elsewhere in this issue appear details of the new plan as it applies to household and commercial consumers. The new rates will result in a 10 per cent. reduction in Domestic Lighting revenue, 5 per cent. for Commercial Lighting and 5 per cent. for Power. The total reduction will come to a little less than the surplus created in 1943 by the Electrical Department, $33,223.

The present rates have been in operaton since 1937. Early this year it became evident to the Commission that a considerable profit might be expected from the operations of the Department in 1944; and for this reason it was decided to ask for a reduction in rates. A new schedule of rates was suggested to the H.E.-P.C. of Ontario, and they have now been authorized.

The Commission will start billing Domestic consumers on May 1 and these bills will go out att he new rates. Commercial Lighting consumers will be billed at the new rates for consumption in May, and the same applies to Power consumers.

An example of what the lower rates will mean to domestic consumers may be illustrated by the fact that in using 100 kilowat hours in two months' time, the householder will save 36c. If he uses 200 kilowatt hours over the same period, the saving affected will be equivalent to 29c. For a 500-watt flat rate water heater, the reduction in expense will amount to 18c a month.

Consumers of Commercial Lighting will save approximately 5 per cent., but on account of the complexity of the rates for this class it is not convenient to give example Former Power rates were based on an average cost of $18 per h.p. per year, which the new schedule reduces to $17 per h.p. per year.

Canadians Fit, All Set For Invasion

By ROSS MUNRO
Canadian Press War Correspondent

WITH THE CANADIAN ARMY IN GREAT BRITAIN, April 25—(CP Cable). — In training areas on this island, Canadian forces are polishing up their invasion tactics.

These troops have been on endless manoeuvres stretching back two and three years and now they can see the end of their training days in sight and they are putting all their energy into a final spurt on the practice courses.

They have made many landings on the English coast with naval support and this problem of scrambling ashore, establishing bridgeheads and unloading tanks, guns, and vehicles and stores, is becoming training routine.

On land they have been constantly on exercises in areas so crowded with troops that regiments frequently line up to use the training zones which have been plowed by thousands of shells fired on schemes of the last few months.

I have been on a number of these invasion manoeuvres recently and you never saw Canadian troops prepare for battle so thoroughly or with such excellent equipment.

Have New Weapons.

They have everything they need. The newest weapons in Allied arsenals are in the hands of the Canadians, including some American equipment. No Canadian force ever has had such striking power.

If they get ashore on the Continent without too heavy losses on the beaches, they will do just as well as the magnificent 1st Division in the Mediterranean. And that is what they are aiming to do. They want to surpass the shining record of the 1st Division.

Their commanders are all young. You are struck, too, by the youth, the fitness and the enthusiasm of the troops. They have had so long to prepare for this campaign that they have shaken out the wrinkles in organization.

The other day a high British officer who knows the invasion plan and the role the Canadians will play told me: "I doubt if there are any troops in Britain better trained for the invasion party. You can count on them doing well."

The big impression you get in the training camps jammed with men, equipment, tanks, vehicles and guns is that the Canadian civilian army has become professional.

The Canadians are well versed in the tactics which won Allied victories these last 18 months and they have not wasted their time in training.

In the weeks ahead it will all pay off on the battlefields of Europe.

U.S. Voting System 157 Years Old

By C. R. BLACKBURN
Canadian Press Staff Writer

WASHINGTON, April 25—(CP)—America is oiling up the most complicated election machinery in the world in preparation for the balloting in next November's presidential and congressional contests.

The method of choosing presidential candidates, and the voting system of the United States, dating back with few changes to 1787, baffles outsiders and remains a puzzle to many who use it every two or four years.

This is an attempt to describe it in capsule form.

The 435 members of the House of Representatives are elected for two-year terms. The 96 senators are elected for six-year terms so arranged that one-third of the total is elected every two years.
